The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 4067-As long as he broke the formation, he could easily enter the dungeon and rescue the villagers without alerting anyone.

James returned to his room and continued to rest.

Suddenly, there was a knock on the door.

James responded to the knock, saying, "Come in."

A middle-aged man entered the room, closed the door, and sat on a chair.

It was Balchae's confidant. After James had returned from the Space Realm, this confidant had updated him about almost everything.

"What's wrong? Is something the matter?" asked James.

The confidant said, "I heard a powerhouse from the Heaven- Eradicating Sect has appeared in the Soul Realm."

"Oh?" James' curiosity was piqued.

Dahlia repeatedly told him the Heaven-Eradicating Sect would never rescue any of their members that were taken captive by other races. So why did a member of the sect show up in the Soul Realm?

James asked, "Who is it?"

The confidant replied, "According to the news from the Heaven-Eradicating Sect, the person that showed up is their Deputy Leader. Apparently, he's the brother of one of our prisoners."

"Oh, I see." James nodded lightly.

'Someone's brother, huh? It's no wonder the deputy leader would break the rules. Who could ever sit idly as an enemy captures their siblings?' thought James.

James knew he had to act before the Heaven-Eradicating Sect's Deputy Leader. Otherwise, it would add one more person to the list of people he had to rescue. However, the time was not right to take action yet. James wanted to get Dahlia to find the deputy leader and convince him not to act rashly.

With James' current cultivation rank and his attainments, even if he could not leave Mount Carslegh, he could still contact Dahlia who was outside of the Soul Realm.

James sent away his confidant.

Then, he sat in a lotus position on the ground and used a mysterious cultivation method. An invisible sigil appeared, floated out of the room, and zoomed away from the Soul Realm.

This whole time, Dahlia had been waiting for James' news. Suddenly, a sigil appeared before her. The sigil transformed into a figure that looked exactly like James.

"I've already slipped into Mount Carslegh and already have a plan to rescue your villagers. However, I just learned that the Heaven-Eradicating Sect's Deputy Leader has come to the Soul Realm. If you want to save your grandfather, find the deputy leader, and tell him not to act recklessly. I don't want to have to save your grandfather, and then go back and rescue him."

Once the message had been delivered, the figure disappeared.

"Granduncle is here?"

Dahlia was overjoyed.

Right after, she suddenly calmed down and said, "No. I can't let Granduncle take any chances. I shouldn't let him disrupt James' plan."

She entered the Soul Realm without hesitation and began searching for her granduncle's whereabouts using her intelligence personnel along with the special symbols used by their sect to leave behind secret messages.

After James relayed the message to Dahlia, he closed his eyes. He used the sigils he left in the dungeon to scan and study the formation. The formation was highly complex, making it hard for ordinary people to break it. However, it was only slightly challenging for James and would only take 100 years to unravel.

James set up a time formation around his body and began studying the formation. It did not take long for him to have a thorough understanding of the formation.

“I already know how to undo the formation. It’s time to act.”

James dispersed the time formation and stood up. He walked toward the door, pushed it open, and left the room.

It was already nighttime, and the sky was full of stars.

James strolled through Mount Carslegh, avoiding the guards stationed around it, and gradually made his way to the dungeon.
