The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 4081-Three million years seemed like an eternity.

However, it was not very long.

Powerhouses would spend Epochs in seclusion to cultivate.

James nodded and said, "Alright.I'll make preparations right away.Then, I'll head to the Angel Race's territory and figure out something to buy the Herb of Reclusion from the auction.I'll snatch it if I can't get it through the auction."

James wore a solemn expression.

The Angel Race was one of the Ten Great Races, making them one of the culprits that caused the Human Race's doom.

Thus, James did not have a good impression of them.

Dempsey said, "Alright.I've already inquired about the price.Even if we have to spend all our funds, we'll have to successfully obtain the Herb of Reclusion.Who would you need to come with you to the auction? Go ahead and choose whoever you'd like to accompany you."

James scanned the hall, observing everyone present.

Eventually, his eyes fell on Dahlia.He pointed at her and said, "She'll do.I've already taught her a cultivation method that can help hide her human aura.It'll be safer to have her accompany me."

Dahlia stood up and said enthusiastically, "Alright! I won't let you down, James!"

Dempsey said, "You should rest for a while more, James.Although the Herb of Reclusion isn't a highly sought-after treasure, it's still pricey.Our sect has always been lacking in resources, and we'll need some time to prepare."

"Okay."

James nodded.

After a brief discussion, James returned to his spiritual mountain to rest.

Dahlia followed after him since they would have to discuss the details.

After reaching the back mountain of Mount Behemoth, Dahlia began to brief James about the Angel Race.

“Although the Angel Race’s strength isn’t ranked very high in the Ten Great Races, they’re quite powerful for them to have become one of the Ten Great Races. Moreover, the Angel Race has extraordinary power. We’ll have to be very cautious while in their territory. Our goal is to obtain the Herb of Reclusion, not to fight with them. After we obtain the herb, we leave immediately.”

James said smilingly, “Don’t worry. I know when to stop and won’t act recklessly.”

Dahlia nodded and said, “Good. The Angel Race has many Acmeans. From what I know, there are about five of them. As one of the Ten Great Races, they have incredible resources. Thus, it’s difficult to know how many more powerhouses they have that are choosing to remain hidden.”

James also had a general understanding of the Ten Great Race’s strengths.

Among the Ten Great Races, those ranked higher in strength had more Acmeans, whereas those ranked lower had less.

Acmeans were terrifying existences.

Any race with an Acmean would gain a great status in the Greater Realms.

Take the Bug Race as an example, an Acmean had been born in their family, and it gave them the courage to attack the Cloud Race.

Dahlia explained everything in detail. She shared information about the Angel Race’s Acmeans, their weapons, and their Supernatural Powers.

After listening to her for a while, James had a general understanding of the Angel Race.

To successfully purchase the Herb of Reclusion from the auction, Dempsey gathered all of the Heaven-Eradicating Sect’s available sources and handed them over to James.

Dempsey met James in the main peak's hall and said, "I won't be accompanying you this time, James. I'm leaving everything in your hands. Our sect has a few intelligence personnel in the Angel Race's territory. When you arrive, you can contact them for information."

James replied firmly, "Alright. I'll make sure to obtain the Herb of Reclusion. Even if I fail to purchase it, I'll snatch it."

Then, he looked at Dahlia and said, "Let's go, Dahlia."

After speaking, James strode into the distance. He appeared in the Chaos outside of the small world in just a few steps.

Dahlia followed closely behind him.

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 4082-The Angel Race was located in the Great Realm's Thala Realm.

The Thala Realm was very powerful and was ruled by the Angel Race.

After James and Dahlia left the Heaven-Eradicating Sect's headquarters, they rushed toward the Thala Realm without stopping.

They disguised themselves instead of using their actual appearance.

James transformed himself into an average-looking man. His appearance was ordinary, allowing him to easily blend into crowds without drawing much attention.

Dahlia, on the other hand, turned into an elderly woman with a cane.

While still in the Chaos, Dahlia said, "The Thala Realm is just ahead of us."

Dahlia pointed to a planet in the distance.

The planet was still very far away and looked like a speck of light from its current location.

The two moved forward, and the light slowly enlarged.

From the size of a ping-pong ball, it enlarged to the size of a basketball.

Eventually, they found themselves surrounded by dazzling galaxies.

The two appeared outside of the Thala Realm.

Dahlia reminded him, saying, "Remember our mission, James. We came to the Thala Realm for the Herb of Reclusion. No matter what happens, please refrain from acting recklessly."

James touched his nose and asked, "Why? Did I give you the impression that I'm an impulsive person?"

"No, but I just wanted to remind you. Throughout the years, many people have been sacrificed due to their anger and impulsiveness. You're the hope of the Human Race, and I don't want anything to happen to you."

"Let's go. I know the boundaries."

James strode into the Thala Realm Universe.

The two quickly traveled through the Thala Realm Universe.

Soon, they arrived at a dazzling galaxy.

Almost every planet in the galaxy had terrifying Empyrean Spiritual Energy and was a suitable place to cultivate.

Soon, the two arrived outside a huge planet.

The planet was massive and bigger than some stars in major galaxies.

Dahlia pointed at the planet and said, "That's the core region of the Thala Realm Universe, Thala Realm. It's also the Angel Race's headquarters. The Angel Race's auction would be held in the Thala Realm."

"Okay."

James nodded lightly.

The two gradually entered the Thala Realm as they spoke.

James immediately sensed the abundant Empyrean Spiritual Energy. It was far different from the other Empyrean Spiritual Energies he had encountered in the past. It had potent energy, which was unfamiliar to him.

James used his cultivation method and tried to absorb the power.

The power entered his pores and was refined to become his own power.

“The energy here is amazing. It’s very suitable for humans to cultivate,” said James.

Dahlia smiled and said, “The Human Race could rise up in the Greater Realms and instill fear in the other races because we’re very special and can adapt to any kind of power.

“Only creatures from the Angel Race can absorb and refine the energy of the Thala Realm.

“However, we, humans, can easily refine any kind of power as long as we have the right cultivation method.”

Dahlia gave a brief explanation.

“Oh, is that so?”

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 4083-In the universe he was from, any living being could cultivate Empyrean Spiritual Energy.

The Dark World’s creatures were the only exception.

The Dark World’s creatures could not absorb the energy from their universe.

Meanwhile, their universe’s living beings could not refine the Dark World’s power, as it would cause them discomfort and corrode their flesh.

James murmured, “I never knew the Human Race was so extraordinary.” The Human Race was powerful and had great potential.

Thus, they quickly adapted and grew stronger in the Greater Realms in just a short period.

This made the other races feel threatened.

Ultimately, they decided to unite and get rid of the humans.

“The Human Race will definitely rise again.” James looked at the colossal planet before him and said with determination, “One day in the future, we, humans, will also have a headquarter.

We’ll be able to freely roam the Greater Realms without fear and proudly announce our race.” Dahlia felt emotional at James’ words and choked up slightly.

“Every one of us hopes for the same thing.

Every generation of the Human Race has worked hard to achieve this common goal.

We struggled and made sacrifices in hopes of achieving our dreams.” James comforted her, saying, “Alright, let’s put this sad topic aside and get going.” Since James did not live in the Primordial Realm Era, he did not understand the events that happened back then.

He also could not relate to the feelings of the humans that survived the Primordial Realm Era, nor did he know how much they had suffered throughout the years.

James stepped into the Thala Realm.

Mount Spirit was where the Angel Race’s headquarters was located.

Near Mount Spirit was a prosperous city called Farahstead.

James and Dahlia came directly to Farahstead because it was where the auction would be held.

The Angel Race had already announced their auction, and many powerhouses from all over the Greater Realms had come to Farahstead.

Even those without high cultivation ranks came to join in on the fun.

The Angel Race was one of the Ten Great Races.

Since they were holding an auction, they would be putting out a lot of rare treasures.

Even though they could purchase the treasures, these creatures were happy just to have seen them.

Many creatures gathered outside of Farahstrad, queuing up in an orderly manner to enter the city.

The auction held by the Angel Race was a large-scale event.

Afraid races with ulterior motives would cause trouble during the auction, the Angel Race had very strict security outside the city.

Everyone would have their identities checked.

James and Dahlia saw this coming, so the Heaven-Eradicating Sect had already prepared reasonable identities for both of them.

The two got in line and waited for three hundred years.

Three hundred years later, it was finally their turn to enter the city.

With their fake identities, they easily entered Farahstead.

After getting into the city, the two found a place to stay temporarily.

Now that they had reached Farahstead, they needed to find a way to obtain invitations to the auction.

A great number of creatures had come to participate in the auction.

Unfortunately, it was impossible to accommodate everyone.

Those without prominent backgrounds or status were not eligible to receive invitations to the auction.

The Heaven- Eradicating Sect did not have the connections to obtain invitations, so it was up to James and Dahlia to get themselves invited.

Within the city of Farahstead was a spiritual mountain called Mount Humberlane.

Mount Humberlane was one of the Angel Race's properties, and they rented out most of the independent courtyards on the mountain.

James and Dahlia also rented an independent courtyard on Mount Humberlane for three million years until the auction ended.

Inside the courtyard, James sat in a resting area.

Dahlia stood beside James.

She looked at him and asked, "What should we do now? Now that we've arrived at the city where the auction will take place, how will we get in? We're humans and are enemies with the Angel Race.

We'll never be able to get an invitation.

Moreover, our fake identities won't be able to obtain invitations either." James rubbed his chin pensively.

Then, he said, "There are still three million years before the auction.

Don't worry.

We'll be able to think of something eventually." Dahlia asked, "Do you have a rough plan in mind?" James shook his head and said, "No." James looked at her and said, "By the way, you should know the Heaven- Eradicating Sect's intelligence personnel in Farahstead, right? Get in touch with them and see if there are any ways to get an invitation." "Alright." Dahlia nodded.

James reminded her, "Be careful." "I know." As a member of the Heaven - Eradicating Sect, Dahlia had always been cautious while moving around the Greater Realms.

She would not do anything recklessly.

Dahlia turned and left the courtyard house.

James waited for her.

The courtyard house where he was located was a property of the Angel Race.

A formation protected each courtyard, preventing outsiders' Divine Senses from penetrating the area.

Its secrecy measurements were excellent.

James tried to sense the situation of the outer courtyards, but all of them were protected by formations, and he could not detect what kind of creatures were living there.

For now, James had nothing to do and could only wait in the yard for Dahlia to return with information.

Dahlia left to gather information and returned a month later.

As soon as she returned, James hurriedly asked, "How was it? Did you discover anything?" Dahlia replied frustratedly, "I met up with a few of our intelligence personnel in the Angel Race, but they didn't know much.

They only knew that powerhouses were eligible to participate in the auction.

"With your strength, you'll definitely be able to acquire an invitation letter.

However, we're humans.

If you go to the Angel Race to ask for an invitation, I'm afraid you'll be killed before you can even get close to their headquarters.

"What should we do now, James?" Dahlia was anxious.

James gently waved his hand and said, "There's no need to panic.

We have enough time.

Let's figure something else out." "Alright." Dahlia nodded.

Dahlia could only rely on James to get them invitations.

Afterward, James wandered Farahstead, looking for information about obtaining invitation letters.

A million years passed in the blink of an eye.

Unfortunately, James still had not found a way to obtain invitations to the auction.

One million years had passed, and there were only two million years left before the auction.

Although it seemed like a lot of time, it was not really much and would pass in the blink of an eye.

James also became anxious.

At night, James sat on the grass of the yard.

He chewed on a straw and looked at the starry night disappointedly.

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 4085-He immediately got up from the grass and asked, "What is it? Did you get any news?" Dahlia said, "Princess Leilani from the Angel Race will be holding a gathering to meet the powerhouses that have come to the city on Farahstead's Mount Eden." James frowned and asked, "What does that have to do with the auction's invitations?" Dahlia explained, "Leilani likes to make friends with other races.

If we can become friends with her, it'll be easy for her to get invitations for us with her status in the Angel Race." James fell into thought.

It was the only available option for now.

"I need every detail about her," said James.

"I've already investigated everything about her." Dahlia said, "Leilani was the Angel Race's princess and had a very influential status.

Her father was the Angel Race's Lord.

According to rumors, she's a very strong Quasi Acmean.

According to the Angel Race's ranking system, she is a Nine- Winged Angel." She began sharing information about Leilani Amani.

After learning this, James asked, "When will she be holding this gathering? Are there any requirements and restrictions?" Dahlia replied, "It'll be in thirty thousand years.

There aren't any restrictions.

As long as you've mastered a unique Supernatural Power, you can head to Mount Eden.

She'll be holding a competition.

The competition will not be about one's cultivation strength but the uniqueness of your Supernatural Power.

If you can rank in the top three, you'll have the chance to become a friend of hers.

Then, it will be easy to ask for an invitation letter." "Thirty thousand years?" James frowned.

30,000 years was a long time for ordinary people.

However, it would pass in the blink of an eye for powerhouses.

It was not a competition about cultivation strength, but Supernatural Powers.

James mastered many Supernatural Powers and Secret Arts.

Many of which were Forbidden Art.

However, most of them were Supernatural Powers unique to the Human Race.

If he used them, his identity would be exposed.

In the remaining 30,000 years, he would have to create a unique Supernatural Power to outshine the other contestants.

Even if he could not obtain a good ranking, his goal would be achieved as long as he could catch Leilani's attention.

"T see.

Alright, you're dismissed.

Let me think about this for a while." James lightly waved his hand.

"Alright." Dahlia nodded and turned to leave.

She had already done everything she could to help James, and the rest was up to him.

James lay down on the grass and looked into the starry sky pensively.

He began brainstorming ideas to catch Leilani's attention.

"Oh, I know!" James' face immediately lit up.

He suddenly thought of Blossoming, the Forbidden Art used by Emperor Jabari.

Emperor Jabari did not perfect Blossoming.

However, James perfected it after learning it.

Although it was nothing impressive in the Greater Realms, it was one of the most beautiful Supernatural Powers.

Since Leilani was a woman, she would love beautiful things.

Thus, James concluded he could attract Leilani's attention if he cast Blossoming in the competition.

Otherwise, he would have to find another way to obtain invitations to the auction if he failed.

After coming up with a plan, James waited for the competition with peace of mind.
