

Read The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 4211

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 4211-The flames were as huge as a Superworld, illuminating the pitch-black sky. Thea looked at the burning ball of flames and said, "This area has been burning since the Primordial Realm's age. I never thought that they would still exist in this age. This is a restricted area. As all the energy of Heaven and Earth is gathered and burned, few living beings would be here."

James stared at the flames before him. Just like Thea said, this ball of flames is the combustion of many galaxies combined. This was energy of the entire Red Flame Realm burning at the same time.

The Red Flame Realm was a powerful universe. The combination of all the energy of Heaven and Earth in this universe was extremely terrifying and would even surpass a Caelum Acmean.

James also realized that as the Red Flame Realm burned, they would transform into the purest of all Ignis. Upon sensing this, he could not help but exclaim, "Did the Compassionate Path Master ignite the Red Flame Realm himself? Did he do all this to obtain a more powerful Ignis?"

Thea shook her head and said, "I'm not sure. There weren't any records in the ancient texts. So we don't know when the Red Flame Realm began burning nor do we know when the Compassionate Path Master left the Red Flame Realm."

Then, she looked at James and asked, "What do you plan to do now?"

"Hold on, let me observe the situation for now."

James had yet to comprehend the situation. In the records of the Flame Art's Three Fire Transformation, it was written that Ignis was the most powerful fire of Heaven and Earth in the Greater Realms. Ignis was extremely terrifying. Even an Acmean could be killed. Could it be that the Compassionate Path Master tried to create a more powerful Ignis because he felt that the flames were not powerful enough? Was that why he used a Supernatural Power to ignite the Red Flame Realm?

Standing before the ball of flames, he used his Divine Sense to pierce through the flames. Under the sensation of his Divine Sense, he could clearly sense a pure and concentrated Ignis inside the flames. This Ignis was even purer and more powerful than the one he absorbed in the Compassionate Palace on Planet Desolation.

He took a deep breath.

“What’s wrong?” Thea asked.

James pointed toward the depths of the flames and said, “I can sense the purest Ignis in the depths. It’s much more powerful than the one I absorbed previously. If I’m not mistaken, the flames were created by the Compassionate Path Master to obtain better Ignis. However, an accident occurred, causing the place to fall into ruins. Ever since then, the flames have been burning.”

Thea did not suspect James’ hypothesis.

“Stay far away,” James ordered.

“What are you going to do?” Thea asked.

James said, “There are still too many impurities in the flames. I plan to refine them once more and expel the impurities so that only the Ignis remains. In the end, I will absorb the Ignis here. I believe the power of my Ignis will increase by leaps and bounds.”

“Alright.”

Thea nodded, and her body flashed. She then appeared a distance away.

James, on the other hand, flew toward the burning flames straight ahead. This was a burning flame formed by countless galaxies that stretched tens of billions of light-years.

James appeared in the central region of the flames and scanned his surroundings. Then, he catalyzed the Flame Art’s Three Fire Transformation and immediately entered the First Transformation – Flame God Incarnation. He radiated a white flame.

At that moment, he seemed to be the master of all flames and could control all flames in the world. As his mind stirred, the flames inside his body shredded through the air and entered the burning flames below.

The galaxies began to burn.

With the support of James' Ignis, the burning accelerated, and countless galaxies were reduced to nothingness. Then, they transformed into threads of white flames. These were the purest of all Ignis.

Read The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 4212

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 4212-The Red Flame Realm was too huge. Countless galaxies had been burning for a very long time ever since the Primordial Realm's age. No one knows how long more would it continue to burn. Just when the burning was nearing its end, James arrived. With a little help, the Red Flame Realm would be reduced to nothingness. Nothing would remain except for some Ignis.

"Thea, leave the Red Flame Realm for now."

James helped burned some galaxies. Upon obtaining some Ignis, he immediately contacted Thea via telepathy.

Thea, who was in a faraway region, immediately flew out of the Red Flame Realm.

Now, only James remained. He had already entered the First Transformation—Flame God Incarnation. His body was covered in white flames. At that moment, his mind stirred, and his Divine Sense enveloped the entire realm in an instant. Apart from the central region, the other regions were devoid of all things. James used his power and began to compress the Red Flame Realm's area. Under his compression, the realm began to diminish in size. In the beginning, there was no matter in the void. However, after being compressed, matter began to emerge, and the asteroids levitating in the void gathered together because the Red Flame Realm's area had diminished. These tough and indestructible asteroids gathered to form a galaxy.

James continued using his power to compress the Red Flame Realm's space. Under his constant compression, the Red Flame Realm began to decrease in size. As the realm was vast, compressing it to its central region would require a long time. Now, only millions of years remained till the Dooms' gathering. James set up a Time Formation around him and began to compress the Red Flame Realm inside. He wanted to compress the realm and use his Ignis to completely burn the Red Flame Realm. Then, he would refine the red flames contained inside. By then, his power of Ignis would increase substantially.

James left the Dooms through the front door.

The Dooms were divided into many different factions. All of them had sent powerful individuals to stalk James.

In the main hall of the spiritual mountain where Youri the Great Elder resided...

Youri was sitting on the throne. Below, a man in black was kneeling on one knee, reporting on the situation that was happening in the Red Flame Realm.

“Oh?”

Hearing this, Youri froze. As he stroked his beard, he murmured, “The Red Flame Realm has long been desolate. It has been burning since the beginning of time. Now that it is nearing its end, why would Wynnstan head there and use his power to compress the realm? What is he up to?”

Even someone as powerful as Youri could not understand what James was up to. He did not think about Ignis or the Flame Art’s Three Fire Transformation created by the Compassionate Path Master.

“Watch him closely. Report to me if he does anything unusual,” Youri ordered.

“Understood.”

The man in black nodded and disappeared from view. In the distant Red Flame Realm, James kept catalyzing his power to suppress the realm in the Time Formation. In the beginning, it was easily compressible. However, the further he compressed, the more difficult it became. world was full of Greater Paths and Heavenly Paths of great power.

Even though the Red Flame Realm was abandoned, it was nonetheless a powerful world in the distant past. This

Read The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 4213

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 4213-The Greater Paths consist of everything. So, the greater the compression, the greater the energy of the Greater Paths. At the moment, the Red Flame Realm's size had been compressed to one-tenth its original size. Even so, the area was vast.

James stopped and looked at the Red Flame Realm, contemplating, "If I continue at this pace, I won't be able to fully compress the realm no matter how long I do it."

He scanned his surroundings and catalyzed Ignis. As he waved, Ignis shredded through the air. As they burned in the realm, everything Ignis passed through was reduced to nothingness. All matter in the space evaporated, and only threads of white flames were left behind. As the Ignis burned, many matters were purified, and the space weakened once more.

James continued to compress the realm.

After some time, the entire galaxy was in flames. The temperature had gotten so high that even a Quasi Acmean would be burned to a crisp in an instant. Meanwhile, the interior of the realm was even more terrifying. Even an Acmean would not last for long inside.

James, however, was unaffected. That was because he had cultivated Ignis and the Flame Art's First Transformation. He had merged with Ignis. He was Ignis, and Ignis was him. So, the flames here had no effect on him.

James stood before the burning flames. As his mind stirred, the flames inside his body shredded through the air and enveloped the burning realm. Then, he began to refine the matters inside the realm and burned everything. The burning realm began to diminish in size. After some time, it had become the size of a basketball field. This was the purest of all Ignis called the Rubrum Flamma. As James sat in a lotus position in the void, he began to absorb and refine these flames.

This ball of flame was even more powerful and violent than the ones he absorbed in the Palace of Compassion. Upon absorbing this ball of flames, his might would increase substantially.

From afar, Thea was watching this scene unfold before her eyes with a smile. Images of her saving James from the sea of fire surfaced in her mind. Back then, James was still a nobody. However, in the blink of an eye, he was already a figure so powerful that he could destroy a Superuniverse with ease.

Now, James was considered a powerful individual even in the Greater Realms.

Meanwhile, word of James' every move reached the Dooms. Many Sect Elders of the Dooms knew about this.

"Refine the Red Flame Realm?"

"How can this be? Even if the Red Flame Realm is abandoned, it's still very terrifying. How can a mere Quasi Acmean like Wynnstan be able to refine the entire Red Flame Realm?"

"We have to get to the bottom of this."

...

Upon learning what James did, Youri and the Sect Elders panicked. When they heard that James had refined the Red Flame Realm and transformed it into a ball of flames, they were at a loss for words.

Read The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 4214

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 4214-In Dolph's library on the main peak of the Dooms, Dolph was holding an ancient text in his hand, on which the words 'History of the Greater Realms' were engraved.

"Patriarch."

A man was standing before him. Wearing a grey robe, the man looked ordinary, and he did not exude any aura.

"The Young Master has headed to the Red Flame Realm. He compressed the space of the realm and refined it into a ball of flames. Not only that, it seems that he has mastered Ignis."

The man told about James' actions in the Red Flame Realm.

Hearing this, Dolph's expressions remained unchanged. Wynnstan possessed the Thousand Paths Holy Body, a bodily characteristic blessed by the Heavenly Paths. After he made his escape, he went into hiding and cultivated for some time. In the meantime, he could have obtained all sorts of providence.

Pleased, Dolph murmured, “Wynnstan has grown to be a reliable man. Once the gathering and the succession of the Patriarchship are over, I will hand over my authority to him.”

...

At that moment, James was concentrating wholeheartedly on refining Rubrum Flamma. The Rubrum Flamma the size of a basketball field continued to be refined and in the end, became the purest energy inside his body.

Refining Rubrum Flamma was a slow and tedious process. However, as he was inside the Time Formation, time in the outside world passed slowly as well. Unknowingly, the Rubrum Flamma had been completely refined.

James dispersed the Time Formation and scanned his insides. His limbs were full of flames that circulated in his blood. He dispersed the Flame Art’s First Transformation, the flames slowly returned to the elixir field, and he suppressed his overwhelming aura. The Red Flame Realm was completely gone, compressed into a Rubrum Flamma, and absorbed by James.

At that moment, James was in the Chaos Space. Thea walked toward him and said with a smile, “Congratulations.”

James smiled faintly and said, “I came here to cultivate the Flame Art’s Second Transformation—Everlasting Flames. However, I obtained another Rubrum Flamma, thereby increasing the Ignis inside my body.”

James suspected that the burning of the Red Flame Realm was brought about by the Compassionate Path Master. Perhaps the Compassionate Path Master wanted to create more Rubrum Flammias for his own sake. However, an accident occurred, thereby allowing James to reap the benefits.

Even though James was currently at the Quasi Acme Rank, he was no longer afraid of Permanence Acmeans after using his Ignis. He could even destroy them with ease.

He sensed the time and said, “I don’t have time to cultivate the Second Transformation, but I couldn’t care less now. With my strength, I can overwhelm against all odds and obtain the Chaos Sacred Lotus by myself.”

James sensed the time and realized that there were only tens of thousands of years left till the Dooms’ gathering. He would not be able to cultivate the Second Transformation in time. The only thing he could do now was leave.

Thea asked, “What do you plan to do when you return?”

James smiled and said, “To participate in the Dooms’ gathering, of course. I will spread my fame far and wide, defeat Hoder and Manley, secure my position as the Minor Patriarch, and become the next Patriarch. By then, things would be much easier to deal with.”

“Mhm, I await your good news. Once the opportunity presents itself, I will launch my operation.”

“Let’s return for now.”