The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 4276-While James cultivated inside the formation, he also paid attention to his external environment.

Suddenly, he noticed someone approaching his location. He quickly put away the Primal Mantra and dispersed the formation.

As soon as the formation dispersed, a beautiful woman came to him.

Wyot's wife, Yemima, appeared in front of him.

"I must've disturbed you cultivating."

Yemima walked over with a charming smile.

James got up and stretched out his arms to embrace her. He said smilingly, "I'm so close to reaching the Acme Rank. Finally, we'll be able to do the deed."

Yemima smiled faintly in response. She did not continue the topic but instead said, "Here's a letter for you."

She took out a letter and handed it over to James.

James took the letter puzzledly and asked, "Who's it from?"

Yemima shook her head and said, "I'm not sure. While cultivating in my room, I suddenly detected a strange aura. I chased after it but didn't find anyone. I only saw this letter flying toward me from a distance."

James opened the letter, and magical inscriptions flew out. He reached out and caught them in his palm. Suddenly, a voice message played from the inscriptions.

"Meet me in the Chaos outside of the Doom Realm."

James was the only one able to hear the message.

The voice was very mysterious and faint, making it hard to tell the gender of the sender.

Yemima asked, "What was it about?"

James replied truthfully, "Someone asked me to leave the Doom Realm and meet them in the Chaos. I'm not sure who sent the message either."

His brows slightly frowned.

Yemima said, "Only members of the Doom Race are allowed to enter Mount Doom. I'm not sure who would notify you like this, but the sender must have something important to tell you. Maybe it isn't safe to show up and relay the message on Mount Doom."

"Mhm." James nodded.

"Then, I'll go see what it's about."

After James finished speaking, he hid his aura and entered a state of invisibility. Then, he quietly left Mount Doom.

Unless someone was spying on him and watching his actions, even Youri would not notice he had left Mount Doom.

James left the Doom Realm and entered the Chaos, heading toward the meet-up location mentioned in the letter.

Soon, he arrived at the location.

James scanned the area for the mysterious messenger.

Swoosh!

Suddenly, a figure appeared before him.

"Xezal?"

James looked at the shadowy figure before him in shock. He asked, "It was you? What did you call me here for?"

Xezal parted her lips, and her pleasant voice sounded. "I have something important to tell you."

"What is it?" James looked at her and listened attentively.

Xezal said, “On the night before we held the conference, Youri attacked and killed our Grand Patriarch. The Grand Patriarch’s servant, Lada, is impersonating him right now.”

James immediately frowned at her words.

Xezal continued, saying, “The Grand Patriarch has already predicted a calamity would befall the Doom Race. He knew it would be closely related to Youri and that he would be attacked by Youri as well. Thus, he made preparations in advance. He set up a large formation on the holy site that could deceive everyone. Although his soul lamp has been extinguished, he’s still alive.”

James asked, “Since he’s still alive, why didn’t he show up to prevent Youri from becoming the Grand Patriarch?”

Xezal shook her head and said, “He couldn’t stop it from happening. Moreover, if he were to show up, it would’ve caused a huge internal commotion. It didn’t matter who won the internal struggle. The Doom Race would’ve suffered great losses, and our luck would decrease drastically. This would result in the humans gaining more luck, accelerating their rise.”

James asked calmly, “So, what’s the Grand Patriarch’s plan?”

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 4277-Xezal shook her head again and said, “The Grand Patriarch wanted me to inform you that the Doom Race must stay peaceful during this period. You and Youri are the Doom Race’s hope. If Youri successfully obtains the Blithe Omniscience and enters the Caelum Acme Rank, we’ll be able to suppress the humans again. If you also rise, then the two of you can join forces to create a prosperous era.

“Naturally, this is the most ideal outcome. However, the Doom Race’s luck isn’t enough to support both you and Youri rising simultaneously.

“To have both of you become powerhouses, Youri must rise before you so he can suppress the Human Race and take their luck. After strengthening the Doom Race’s luck, you will also have a chance to rise.

“However, it’s almost impossible to achieve such a perfect outcome. Thus, it’s necessary for one of you to be sacrificed.”

James listened carefully, and his expression gradually became solemn.

He was not from the Doom Race. Thus, their luck would not affect him.

The Doom Race's luck was very strong and still on the rise.

As a result, a peerless powerhouse would surely rise in the Doom Race very soon.

'Who will it be? Is it Yuri, or...'

James thought about Wyot, who was still imprisoned in the Heaven-Eradicating Sect's headquarters.

Supposing that it was Wyot, things would get very troublesome.

James asked calmly, "Who's the Grand Patriarch supporting?"

Xezal replied, "Both of you. Yuri's chances of breaking through are higher right now. The Grand Patriarch wishes to resolve the catastrophe without internal conflict. For now, he'd like to support Yuri. If Yuri can collect the tokens and obtain the Blithe Omniscience, he can enter the Caelum Acme Rank. He'll also be able to suppress the Human Race and seize their luck, allowing you to rise as a powerhouse as well.

"If Yuri fails, the Grand Patriarch plans to get rid of him and support you to take over the Doom Race.

"I only have a general idea of things, which he asked me to relay to you. As for the details, he didn't explain it to me."

After Xezal finished speaking, she disappeared from James' sight.

James floated in the glowing Chaos with a solemn expression.

Afterward, he returned to the Doom Realm and silently sneaked back onto Mount Doom.

Things were no longer progressing in the direction he wanted.

He needed the Greater Realms to be in chaos. Thus, he had to start a war.

At the same time, James was worried about Wyot.

After briefly thinking about it, James secretly sent a message to Thea and left Mount Doom.

Thea had not left Chaos City yet.

After meeting with Thea, he brought her to a spiritual mountain under the Doom Race's banner. The spiritual mountain was a property rented out to outsiders, like hotels on Earth.

James set up an ancient formation after arriving at an independent manor on the spiritual mountain. His comprehension of the Formation Path had improved significantly after he studied the Primal Mantra. Thus, he could easily set up an ancient formation.

Inside a room, Thea asked, "For you to have taken such a huge risk to see me, something must've happened, right?"

"Yeah." James nodded.

He explained the current situation of the Doom Race in detail and expressed his concerns.

"I'll devise a plan to deal with the Doom Race's situation. I'll do everything possible to provoke a war between the Dooms and the other races. Meanwhile, you must return to the Heaven-Eradicating Sect's headquarters and bring Wyot elsewhere without being detected. Then, you must keep him under strict supervision. Before the Human Race rises, he can't escape. However, you can't kill him either. Otherwise, his soul lamp will extinguish, putting me in danger."

"Alright." Thea nodded.

James felt relieved to have Thea handling the situation.

After all, Thea was a formidable powerhouse of the Human Race during the Primordial Realm Era. She reached the Terra Acme Rank's peak and was even nicknamed the Human Race's matron.

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 4278-James met with Thea and discussed the Doom Race's internal affairs.

Thea had been staying in Chaos City for some time and had a rough idea about the situation.

James looked at Thea and asked, "By the way, do you have any plans for the future?"

Thea had been secretly planning and arranging for the Human Race's comeback for a long time. If she had not survived the Primordial Realm Era, the Human Race would not have achieved so much, nor would they ever have a chance to rise again.

James wanted to know her following plans.

Thea said solemnly, "I need chaos to break out in the Greater Realms. I thought there would be a huge battle between the various races. However, it didn't happen. Things are looking terrible for us. You must find a way to provoke a war between the Greater Realms' races. Only then can I find a chance to eliminate the Watchers of the Dooms in the Dark World. Then, my main body can reappear and complete the Human Race's new universe.

"During this period, I can't have the Dooms, or the other races, to have time to deal with us."

James asked, "What about Soren? Should we rescue him, or ...?"

Thea replied, "Soren is indeed the Human Race's strongest powerhouse. However, he's closely watched by the major races of the Greater Realms because of his strength. It's impossible for us to rescue him with our current strength. It's more crucial that we complete the forming of the new universe. Once it's completed, the Human Race's luck will increase significantly, and we'll surpass the Ten Great Races, becoming only inferior to the Doom Race."

"Alright, I understand."

James gently rubbed his temples. Although he had a high status in the Doom Race, it would be hard to provoke a war between the various races.

"By the way..." James cast a glance at Thea's stomach.

When they met, he was focused on dealing with the various problems and did not take notice of Thea's changes.

Only now did he realize that Thea's belly looked slightly unusual. After a brief shock, he immediately lit up with joy and asked, "You're pregnant?"

Thea nodded lightly as she touched her belly, saying, "Yeah. We're having a son. I've been pregnant for some time, but I don't want him to be born so soon. I'd like to wait until the new universe is complete. I hope his birth will bring good luck to the Human Race."

"Alright." James beamed with a bright smile.

The two spent some time together in the room before they parted ways.

James returned to Mount Doom.

Meanwhile, Thea left the Doom Realm and headed toward the Heaven-Eradicating Sect's headquarters.

James knew Wyot posed a huge threat. Thus, he needed Thea to quietly move him and keep him imprisoned somewhere else.

They could not have him escape before the Human Race's new universe was completed. Otherwise, their previous efforts would be in vain.

After James returned to Mount Doom, he noticed Yemima's bizarre expression. He smiled awkwardly at her.

Yemima glared at him and snorted.

James said smilingly, "You wouldn't let me touch you for so long. I had no choice but to find someone to vent my pent-up desires, right? If you mind it so much, how about letting me have you?"

He held Yemima's hands tentatively, attempting to take off her clothes.

However, Yemima avoided his advances and said, "Sir Youri is looking for you. Hurry and go. Don't delay important business."

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 4279-After speaking, James left. He headed to the main peak and entered Dolph's previous study room.

Countless ancient books were stored inside the study room. Youri was not qualified to read them in the past. Now that he was the Patriarch, he had the right to go through them as he pleased. At that moment, he was reading the ancient books from the Sky Burial Age inside the study room.

Knock, knock, knock.

He heard a knock on the door and said, "Come in."

James pushed open the door and entered the room. He walked over to Youri and greeted him respectfully, "Sir Youri."

Youri pointed to a chair on the side and said lightly, "Sit."

James sat down and asked calmly, "Is something the matter, Sir Youri?"

Youri put down the ancient book in his hand, looked at James, and asked, "What do you think our next steps should be?"

James stood up instantly and said, "I'd like you to give me a group of elites to command. I'll go to the other races, forcibly seize the tokens, and destroy them. Then, we'll acquire the Blithe Omniscience."

Youri said lightly, "That's a very reckless plan. Calm down and sit."

James sat down, grinned, and said, "It's not reckless, Sir Youri. It's just the most straightforward plan. With our current strength, we can easily crush any other race. Even if they unite, we don't have to be afraid. We should strike first, destroy them, and seize their lucks. By doing so, we'll be able to compete with the Human Race's luck."

Youri gently tapped on the table and fell into thought. He, too, had considered James' suggestion as well.

After destroying the other races, they could forcibly seize their luck. As a would spike, and many powerhouses would rise in their race.

However, Youri was worried the other races would join forces to resist them. Ultimately, everyone would suffer significant losses. Meanwhile, the humans would gain even greater luck and rise faster.

He gently waved his hand and said, "That won't work. As soon as manage to destroy them, we'll suffer tremendously.

Then, the new luck we'd obtained would be useless as we'd be more focused on recovering. While we're recuperating, the humans would have already grown stronger than us."

James recomposed himself and asked calmly, "Then what do you say we do, Sir Youri?"

Youri said, "The Chaos Sacred Lotus is about to mature very soon. Then, I'll let you lead our elites to collect the other race's tokens.

"But, remember, our goal is the tokens. Avoid provoking fights with them not cause them any trouble as long as they hand over the tokens."

James asked, "What if they refuse to hand over the tokens?"

"Then, destroy them," Youri said with a grim expression.

James replied respectfully, "I know what to do, Sir Youri. If there's nothing else, I'll take my leave first."

"Go ahead. Remember to be prepared. Once the Chaos Sacred Lotus matures, I'll have someone send it over to Mount Doom."

"Thank you, Sir Youri."

James stood up, bid farewell to Youri, and left the study room.

After leaving the main peak, James suddenly had other plans in mind. Since he could not provoke a war, he considered collecting the tokens and leaving the Dooms. Then, he could release Soren.

Soren could lead the humans of the Greater Realms to suppress the Ten Great Races. He should be able to buy enough time for Thea to complete the merging of the new universe.

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 4280-Since provoking a war was not feasible, James thought of saving Soren.

However, saving Soren was much more complicated than starting a war.

James immediately thought of another plan. He could try to head to the Cloud Race to check out the formation the Ten Great Races set up.

Previously, he could not even break the formation's outermost layer. He only managed to succeed after Soren gave him some advice. The innermost layers of the formation were even more profound.

Theoretically speaking, the formation could only be opened with the ten tokens.

However, James had acquired the Primal Mantra.

Although the Primal Mantra was complicated, he could definitely find out how to break through the formation if he studied hard enough.

James headed back to Mount Doom while in thought.

Before he knew it, he had arrived back on Mount Doom.

He entered his room and smelled a pleasant fragrance permeating the air. James looked around the room and saw the beautiful Yemima in a bathtub filled with petals inside the bathroom.

Suddenly, Yemima stood up and walked out of the bathroom. She approached James and stood right in front of him.

James looked at the beautiful body before him.

Her skin was white as pearls, and water droplets dripped down her body. She had a voluptuous figure and was very seductive.

James was slightly taken aback. Back then, he was just playing his part as Wyot and did not really mean what he said.

He never expected Yemima to really have washed up, waiting for his return.

'What should I do now? Do I do it or not?' thought James.

Doing it with her meant a tie would form between him and the Doom Race, especially with Yemima. However, refusing her now would be out of Wyot's character, and his identity would definitely be questioned.

"Do you like what you see?" Yemima's pleasant voice resounded in the room.

"It's a great sight," James replied honestly.

Yemima was indeed a charming woman. She was perfect from head to toe.

"Then, what are you waiting for? Are you not going to carry me into bed?"

"Huh? Oh, right. You're being very proactive today, and I'm not used to it yet. It's making me nervous," said James.

With his words, Yemima became even more proactive. She took elegant steps toward James, wrapped her arms around his waist, and pulled him over to the bed.

Under such circumstances, James could not refuse her.

'I've no choice but to do it. I'll be able to deal with whatever Karma comes my way after I gain control of the Greater Realms anyway,' thought James.

James made up his mind to go against his morals for the Human Race's future and prosperity.

The next day, James woke up in bed with Yemima in his arms.

"I believe in you, Wyot. Sooner or later, you'll definitely overthrow Youri. We'll have to be patient for now."

Yemima's voice sweet voice rang in his ears.

James was still trying to process what he had done. He had betrayed Thea.
