The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 4301-James sat down, and Louis took a seat opposite him.

“It’s not without reason that the Dooms have become the foremost race in the Greater Realms.” Louis sighed.

Although the Angels were one of the Ten Great Races, the disparity between them and the Dooms was immense.

“You’ve concealed yourself quite well too, Mr. Louis. The Greater Realms are unaware of the existence of an Overworld Outsider like you within the Angels,” James spoke up.

Louis, on the other hand, waved it off and said, “What sort of Overworld Outsider can I be considered? I’m merely someone with deep attachments and a longer lifespan, nothing more.”

Louis never considered himself an Overworld Outsider. His realm was only at the Eternal Boundless Supreme Path Rank. He still lagged far behind compared to the other races’ Overworld Outsiders who had reached the peak late stage of the Terra Acme Rank.

His strength can barely be considered on par with the middle stage of the Terra Acme Rank.

James could not help but ask, “What was your obsession, Mr. Louis?”

Louis sighed helplessly and said, “It was the ambition to push further in the Boundless Rank back then. I wanted to go even farther within the Boundless Rank, but it ended up delaying my cultivation. Otherwise, I’d have definitely carved out my own place in the Greater Realms.”

Louis had immense talent, surpassing any prodigy of his era. He was unrivaled during his time, much like how Wyot was unmatched by any prodigy in this era.

“However, it’s a pity,” Louis continued, “It’s because of this obsession that I have never been able to break through to the Terra Acme Path.”

‘The cultivation and attainments you possess should grant you entry into the Terra Acme Rank at any given moment,’ spoke James. ‘Since you’ve lingered in the Eternal Boundless Supreme Path Rank for a considerable period, you have accumulated and refined your power. Your cultivation will rapidly ascend once you step into the Terra Acme Rank, and in the later stages, your power will be able to overwhelm living beings of the same realm. Once you reach this realm, you will undoubtedly secure a place for yourself within the Divine Rank.’

‘I am capable of stepping into the Terra Acme Rank at any time, but I have already lingered in the Eternal Boundless Supreme Path Rank for such a long time. It is truly unwillingness that holds me back from making that leap into the Terra Acme Rank.’ Louis sighed and shook his head slightly.

James couldn’t help but ask, ‘What exactly is the true nature of the Boundless Rank?’ He came to this place to understand the essence of the Boundless. He had already learned some information from Deshawn, but he wanted to know more.

‘Boundless...’ When James mentioned the Boundless Rank, Louis’ expression became solemn.

‘Boundless means infinite,’ Louis explained, ‘Breaking through the barriers of realms allows for limitless power advancement.’

‘Breaking through the barriers of realms?’ James seemed to grasp the concept but wanted further clarification.

Louis explained, ‘Realms pose the greatest obstacles to power advancement. For example, even if the power in the Hensl Supreme Path Rank is formidable, it cannot compare to the might of the Terra Acme Rank.’

‘That’s the obstacle of realms. Even if someone is at the late stage of Permanence Acme Rank and possesses great strength, they cannot defeat someone at the early stage of Terra Acme Rank.’

‘Of course, what I mentioned is under normal circumstances. There are still some geniuses who pursue perfection in each realm. For such geniuses, their power is still formidable even if their realm is lower than other living beings.’

“However, they can only surpass one or two minor realms even if they are strong.

‘Take you, for example. You are indeed strong at the Quasi Acme Rank. Even without the Flame Art’s Three Fire

Transformations, your own power is comparable to the Permanence Acme Rank. However, you still cannot rely solely on your own power to battle against someone at the Terra Acme Rank. That is the obstacle of realms, the differentiation of power based on realms.

‘The Boundless can break through the obstacle of realms. Even at the Quasi Boundless Supreme Path Rank, one can contend with the peak of the Terra Acme Rank or even the Caelum Acme Rank.

“However, this is only theoretical. Throughout history, no living being has ever achieved such a feat.” Louis spoke some words from his heart.

He did not hide anything from James, who was impersonating Wyot.

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 4302-However, no living beings ever considered whether it was possible to achieve limitless power without advancing to a higher realm within the same realm.

Deshawn had pondered over this question, and so had Louis. While their understandings may have differed to some extent, they generally shared similar views.

After hearing this, James could not help but ask, “Mr. Louis, you stayed in the Eternal Boundless Rank for countless ages, but did your strength not improve much during those long years? How can the Eternal Boundless Supreme Path Rank only be on par with the middle stage of the Terra Acme Rank? Mr. Louis, you were once a genius. Even in the late stage of the Permanence Acme Rank, you would be able to battle against ordinary early stages of the Terra Acme Rank, even the Overworld Outsiders from the middle stage of the Terra Acme Rank.”

Louis explained, “The lower the cultivation realm, the more common it is to engage in battles against higher realm opponents. However, once the realm is higher, it becomes increasingly difficult to fight against opponents of higher realms. Although the difference between the Permanence Acme Rank and the Terra Acme Rank seems small, the disparity in power is significant. Throughout history, very few living beings have been able to engage in battles beyond their realm after reaching the Hensl Supreme Path Rank. You, however, are an exception.”

He looked at James. Based on Jethro’s account, he already knew about James’ battles in the Ancient Realm.

However, that was not enough to prove that James was truly able to battle against the Terra Acme Rank’s Overworld Outsiders during his time in the Ancient Realm. That was because the Dead Demon, formerly known as the Devouring Demon, despite having the cultivation of an early stage of the Terra Acme Rank, lacked the power of an early stage of the Terra Acme Rank.

His physical body was pieced together, and his soul was fused. It was only after James intervened that his soul became complete, allowing him to slowly restore the power of the early stage of the Terra Acme Rank.

If James were to encounter an Overworld Outsider who has reached the early stage of the Terra Acme Rank through proper cultivation, even with his current strength and the addition of the Death-Celestial Sword, he might not necessarily be a match.

Deshawn was incredibly powerful, having reached the Halfstep Boundless Supreme Path Rank, but even he would not be a match for the death spirits of the Eternal Boundless Supreme Path Rank.

James would likely be instantly killed without much resistance if he were to encounter a true Eternal Boundless Supreme Path Rank’s Overworld Outsider like Louis.

James and Louis engaged in a discussion on the spiritual mountain, delving into the topic of the Boundless Rank.

Louis held nothing back and openly shared his understanding, explaining it in great detail to James.

James spent a period of thirty thousand years in this place, during which he stayed together with Louis. He truly came to understand the concept of the Boundless and Louis' insights, which were similar to Deshawn's.

Thirty thousand years later, James stood up clasping his fists, and said, "I am grateful for the enlightening teachings and guidance over these past thirty thousand years, Mr. Louis. I now have a clear understanding of the Boundless."

Louis looked at James while stroking his beard, and said, "Your insights are remarkable and have greatly inspired me. However, are you sure you want to step into the Boundless Rank? It requires time and accumulation, not something that can be achieved overnight. I have also been paying attention to the current situation of the Dome Race and the Greater Realms. I'm afraid there won't be enough time to support your journey into the Boundless Rank."

James smiled and said, "Indeed, it does require time and accumulation. However, with a sufficient number of Empyrean herbs and abundant energy, it can greatly save time."

"That's true, but once the limits of a breakthrough in the realm are sensed, it becomes impossible to suppress the power within oneself. At that point, it won't enhance any strength no matter how much energy of Heaven and Warth is absorbed. It requires time to suppress the realm and slowly elevate it."

"I know what to do now." James expressed his gratitude once again, saying, "I am grateful for your guidance, but my time with the Dooms is limited. I won't stay for long. I will go out and gain experience for a period of time, finding a way to reach the Quasi Boundless Rank."

Following James' plan, the first step was to break through the limitations of the Half-step Boundless Rank. However, he would not stay in this realm for too long. Once he reached the Quasi Boundless Rank, his power would become greater, and he would aim to break through to the Eternal Boundless Rank. At that point, his power would surpass that of living beings in the same realm.

He would be able to dominate those at the same level and even engage in battles surpassing his own realm.

As he progressed further and entered the Terra Acme Path, his power would become even more terrifying.

Louis didn't try to persuade James further as he was determined to leave. "Since you insist, there's nothing more I can say. I hope we won't be meeting again on the battlefield."

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 4303-Louis understood the situation that lay ahead.

James did not say much, nor did he linger in that place. He disappeared without a trace.

He did not seek out Jethro or Leilani either but quietly departed without a sound.

None of the Angels knew about his departure except for Louis.

James was aware that his appearance among the Angels would certainly be noticed by the Dooms, as he had openly revealed himself.

His next destination was the headquarters of the Heaven- Eradicating Sect, where he needed to assume a new identity and become the real James.

The smile on Louis' face faded after James' departure, and his expression gradually turned solemn.

"Perhaps I should let go of my inner regret. The future of the Greater Realms will be in great turmoil with the humans and the Dooms vying for dominance, which will affect all races," Louis murmured softly.

As a high-ranking figure among the Angels, Louis held the status of a Grand Patriarch, but his realm was not the highest.

He stood there, deep in contemplation, and entered a focused meditation status.

Numerous images flashed through his mind, depicting the events that occurred after James assumed the identity of Wyot.

Boom! Finally, an image of James thrusting a sword appeared in his mind. This imaginary sword exploded within his consciousness.

It seemed as though it shattered his inner regret.

Louis no longer wanted to linger in the state of Eternal Boundless Supreme Path Rank. He needed to swiftly reach the Terra Acme Path. He would step into the late stage of Terra Acme when the Greater Realms descended into true chaos.

He turned around and walked towards the bamboo house behind him.

Upon entering the bamboo house, the door closed behind him, and a mysterious time formation appeared around the bamboo house.

Louis secluded himself within the time formation, embarking on his journey towards Terra Acme Path.

Reaching the Terra Acme Rank was not a difficult task for him with his cultivation and attainments.

Meanwhile, James had silently left the Angels.

He entered a state of invisibility by concealing his aura.

After leaving, he arrived in the vast void outside the Thala Realm Universe. There were numerous universes in the vicinity of the Thala Realm Universe, but they were relatively weak and considered subordinate universes of the Thala Realm Universe.

James swiftly distanced himself from this chaotic void, entering the true chaotic void.

His appearance began to change gradually, reverting back to his original form. His soul aura was also undergoing a transformation, adopting the soul aura of a human.

“Phew!”

James had disguised himself as Wyot and infiltrated the Dooms during that period, He was exhausted. He let out a long breath, feeling a sense of relief after reverting back to himself.

James sensed the direction after returning to his true form and quickly made his way toward the region where the headquarters of the Heaven-Eradicating Sect was located.

This region was situated in a remote area of Chaos, where countless battles had erupted in the distant past, causing the chaotic void to become highly unstable.

However, the Heaven-Eradicating Sect had discovered a relatively safe passage within this chaotic void long ago. Even an Overworld Outsider at the Acme Rank would encounter turbulent Chaos Space and face danger when entering this chaotic void without this secure pathway.

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 4304-James had visited the headquarters of the Heaven- Eradicating Sect several times before, so he was familiar with the route.

He navigated through the chaotic void with ease and swiftly arrived at the small universe where the Heaven-Eradicating Sect was located.

The universe was tiny and insignificant in the Greater Realms.

James suddenly sensed an unusual power as he appeared in this small universe. There was a powerful residual force of battle sweeping through.

He could feel the exceptionally strong aftermath of the battle even though he was in the chaotic void outside the small universe.

‘Something’s wrong.’ James felt a sense of unease.

This was the headquarters of the Heaven-Eradicating Sect. Only a few core members of the Human Race knew about it. How did Overworld Outsiders from the outside world come to know about this place?

James took a deep breath and swiftly rushed towards the small universe ahead, he appeared outside the small universe with a single step.

As soon as he entered the small universe, he sensed that the Heavenly Path within it had been shattered. The entire universe was on the verge of collapse, and an immensely powerful force was holding it together. Otherwise, this world would have already crumbled.

James immediately concealed his aura. He swiftly made his way towards the headquarters as soon as he entered the universe where the Heaven-Eradicating Sect of the Human Race was located.

At this point, he was still unsure of the situation and could not reveal himself hastily. It was crucial to assess the situation first.

In a matter of moments, he arrived outside the headquarters of the Heaven-Eradicating Sect.

The area outside the headquarters was shrouded in dense clouds. There were numerous humanoid living beings, clad in armor and wielding spears within the clouds.

“The Doom Race,” James murmured as he sensed the aura of these living beings upon his arrival.

It was indeed the Dooms

‘Why would the living beings and armies of the Dooms appear here? Could it be that my impersonation of Wyot has been discovered, and they have secretly located the real Wyot’s whereabouts and come to rescue him?’ James furrowed his brows, considering various possibilities.

He had encountered almost all of the Overworld Outsiders from the Dooms before.

James focused his senses on the situation ahead and realized that the leader of this expedition was none other than Qimat Dalibor, a trusted subordinate of Youri Dalibor.

Qimat had accompanied Youri for countless years, and he held a high position among the Dooms as a sect elder. His own cultivation realm was strong, which had reached the middle stage of the Terra Acme Rank.

The formation of the Heaven-Eradicating Sect’s headquarters had been activated.

Moreover, it had already experienced a fierce battle judging from the current state of this world.

It was apparent that there was an Overworld Outsider from the Heaven-Eradicating Sect who had intervened to protect this universe from collapsing. James could sense that the one who had defended this world was none other than Thea Callahan.

'Thea's strength hasn't fully recovered to its peak, so she may not be a match for Qimat. Moreover, Qimat has brought along many powerful Dooms, including two at the Acme Rank, as well as a massive army numbering in the thousands.' James' expression grew solemn.

After pondering for a moment, he decided to find a way to bypass the Doom Race's armies and enter the Heaven-Eradicating Sect first. He planned to meet up with Thea and investigate the situation before formulating a plan.

At the entrance of the Heaven-Eradicating Sect, Qimat was clad in black armor, accompanied by several elders.

One of the elders asked, "Sect Elder, why don't we pursue them while we have the advantage?"

Qimat's expression was grave as he replied, "The Heaven-Eradicating Sect has hidden themselves too well. It was not easy for us to find them. Our objective this time is to wipe them out completely. Currently, there is an Overworld Outsider within the headquarters, and I'm not confident in our chances. I have already sent the message back to our race, and reinforcements will arrive soon. Once the reinforcements arrive, even if the Heaven-Eradicating Sect has Overworld Outsider guarding it, they will meet a tragic end here. This will weaken the Human Race's providence and give our patriarch enough time to prepare."

"Wise decision, Sect Elder."

"Let's encircle them like this. Not a single member of the Heaven-Eradicating Sect will be able to escape." Many Overworld Outsiders of the Doom Race flattered Qimat.

James carefully approached while concealing his aura.

However, he could not find an opportunity after searching around. The Heaven-Eradicating Sect's headquarters had already been surrounded by the Doom Race's army, making it impossible for him to infiltrate.

'Should I force my way in?' James' expression became serious.

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 4305-However, he would expose himself once he charged in.

After giving it some thought, James moved away and appeared in the distance, summoning the Death Demon.

"Master." The Death Demon materialized, clasping its hands together.

In an instant, it looked at the unfamiliar person before it, sensing James' aura, and couldn't help but furrow its brow slightly.

'That's right, I am a human.' James didn't hide his identity while facing the Death Demon. There were sigils he had placed deep within the Death Demon's soul, so it could not betray him.

Upon hearing this, the Death Demon was slightly surprised.

James continued, "I will tell you the details later. I need your help right now."

After a moment of slight confusion, the Death Demon asked, "Please give your orders, Master."

James said, "I am currently inside the headquarters of the Heaven-Eradicating Sect. They are under siege, but I don't know the exact reason behind it. I'm not sure if the invaders are after the real Wyot Dalibor or if they simply want to suppress the Heaven-Eradicating Sect. I need you to create chaos while I infiltrate the Heaven-Eradicating Sect and understand the situation."

"Alright," the Death Demon responded without any hesitation.

"Be careful. The one leading the Dooms this time is Qimat, whose strength is at the middle stage of the Terra Acme Rank. You're no match for him even if you have fully recovered your strength,” James cautioned. “Your task is to create chaos while I infiltrate the Heaven-Eradicating Sect. You should withdraw and hide once I’m inside until I give you further instructions.”

“Understood.” The Death Demon nodded.

James activated his concealment technique and disappeared from sight after making the arrangements.

On the other hand, the Death Demon revealed himself openly, appearing behind the Doom Race’s armies. He wielded a long sword in his hand. Although it was not comparable to the sword formed by the Light of Acme, it was still a formidable sword.

With the sword in hand emitting a powerful aura and exuding overwhelming killing intent, the Death Demon became a beacon of imminent danger.

The air became thick with his murderous presence, and the Overworld Outsiders of the Doom Race immediately sensed it.

“We have an enemy behind us! Stay on guard!” shouted Qimat.

The entire Doom Race’s armies went on high alert immediately.

The Death Demon wielding his sword launched his attack without any hesitation. The sword energy was mighty and powerful, sweeping across the battlefield.

Several Overworld Outsiders of the Doom Race stepped forward to confront the oncoming sword energy, but the Doom Race’s living beings who attacked were no match for the Death Demons.

In an instant, they were injured.

Witnessing this scene, Qimat personally took action, charging forward with a spear in hand.

In the chaos that ensued, James seized the opportunity, swiftly tearing through the void and appearing at the entrance of the Heaven-Eradicating Sect, effortlessly opening a crack in the formation and entering the headquarters of the Heaven-Eradicating Sect.

He encountered several human guards as soon as he appeared.

These guards had relatively low cultivation levels and were all injured, but their aura was still formidable.

“It’s me,” James spoke up.

The guards immediately breathed a sigh of relief upon seeing that it was James.

James did not linger either.

He vanished from his original position with a swift movement and reappeared in the main hall of the Heaven- Eradicating Sect. All the Overworld Outsiders of the Heaven- Eradicating Sect had gathered in the main hall.

At the forefront was Thea, who had revealed her true identity. Thea’s face was pale and her aura was very weak. The other members of the Heaven- Eradicating Sect in the main hall were all injured.

“Thea,” James called out as he appeared in the main hall.

“James,” Thea exclaimed as she saw James, she stood up and couldn’t help but ask, “How did you come here?”
