

Read The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 4308

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 4308-James had analyzed in detail and concluded that the chaotic situation within the Greater Realms was highly unlikely to occur again.

Furthermore, it was not guaranteed that other races would respond even if he, as the Great Elder of the Dooms, were to initiate a battle.

Take the Angels, for example. They were well aware that he was a human but had chosen to remain silent and submissive.

James continued, "I have two plans for the next steps."

"Go ahead," replied Thea, walking ahead alongside Dempsey.

These discussions between James and Thea involved the entire human race and even Dempsey, as the archbishop of the Heaven-Eradicating Sect, understood that he should remain silent and listen attentively at this moment.

James continued, "I don't know if Youri will send other living beings from the Dooms to retrieve the tokens, but it's highly likely that I will be chosen. If I am the one sent, I will obtain the tokens from other races, along with the ones I already have, making a total of ten. At that point, I will secretly withdraw from the Dooms and make my way to the Cloud Race to save Soren."

"If Youri doesn't send me but instead chooses the Dooms' other Overworld Outsiders, then there's only the second option left. I will find a way to make a trip to the Cloud Race and learn about the formation that holds Soren. I'll try to break the formation. The second scenario will take a considerable amount of time, while the first one will be relatively quicker."

After hearing what James said, Thea thought for a moment and said, "I'll leave the matters of the Greater Realms to you. Adapt as necessary, but make sure to find a way to inform me about new plans."

"Understood." James nodded. "Our priority, for now, is to instigate battles and disrupt the situation in the Greater Realms, drawing more races into the conflict."

They arrived at the dungeon while the two continued their conversation. Dempsey opened the dungeon, and soon James found himself at its deepest level.

Imprisoned in the deepest level of the dungeon was the most fearsome genius of the current era, a Thousand Paths Holy Body, Wyot Dalibor.

The dungeon was fortified with multi-layered formations.

Wyot was bound by iron chains that had been reinforced by Thea, which were transformed by formation inscriptions.

He was tightly bound by the iron chains, and his body contorted into a crucifix-like shape. His hair was messy. He appeared disheveled and weak, with a barely discernible aura.

It seemed that the nearly unconscious Wyot awakened when he heard footsteps. He caught a glimpse of the person approaching through the gaps in his hair.

It was James, standing outside the dungeon.

James looked at Wyot, then glanced at Thea and inquired, "How do you plan to handle him?"

Thea extended her slender jade finger and gently pressed it against her temple, expressing helplessness. She said, "This is indeed a troublesome situation. We can't kill him, and we don't know where to take him."

"It is indeed troublesome," James remarked. His expression was grave as he looked at Wyot, who had been imprisoned in the dungeon, devoid of sunlight for countless epochs.

"Since I infiltrated the Dooms disguised as Wyot Dalibor, I've had a strong intuition that he will become my greatest rival in the future. As well as the biggest obstacle to the revival of humanity."

Dempsey broke his silence and asked, "Is there any way to keep his soul lamp from extinguishing even if we kill him?"

James shook his head. There was a way, but he didn't know it. The Grand Patriarch of the Dooms, Hirah Dalibor, used such a method to deceive Youri.

Youri controlled the Dooms, and those who oversaw the Soul Hall of the Dooms were his subordinates. Even sectlevel elders of Overworld Outsiders could access the Soul Hall to check the soul lamps.

to check. He had no idea that Hirah's soul lamp was already extinguished.

James looked at Thea and asked, "Thea, do you have a solution?" Thea shook her head too.

Even though she had lived for a long time and was a super Overworld Outsider in the Primordial Realm Era, the Dooms was not an ordinary race. Surpassing them was as difficult as reaching the heavens.

"Then we can only keep him secretly imprisoned," James said helplessly. He truly wanted to eliminate the real Wyot to prevent any future troubles.

Read The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 4309

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 4309-At this moment, Wyot regained consciousness.

He couldn't help but let out a cold laugh upon hearing the conversation between James and the others. He said," You'd better kill me now. Otherwise, if I escape from this confinement someday, I'll ensure the human's utter destruction."

James ignored those words and looked at Thea, saying," Take him away and hide him."

Thea opened a formation and effortlessly put the real Wyot inside its storage without hesitation.

Then, they left the dungeon and returned to the main hall.

James sat in the forefront, with Thea standing by his side.

Below them were the senior authorities of the humans within the Heaven-Eradicating Sect.

James stood up and gave the order, 'This is a critical period. The Heaven-Eradicating Sect will cease all activities and remain hidden during this time. Do not reveal yourselves.'

“Yes,” everyone responded in unison.

James continued, “I will instruct my subordinates outside to create chaos. Once the turmoil begins, Thea and I will break the seal of this realm together. At that time, I will use the Space Path to open a passage, and all members of the Heaven-Eradicating Sect will evacuate.”

He already had a plan in mind, which was to evacuate. They would not engage in direct confrontation with the Dooms and would evacuate before the Dooms’ reinforcements arrived. The Heaven-Eradicating Sect had no objections to James’ plan.

James looked at Thea and manifested a magical inscription in his palm with a raised hand. The inscription floated toward Thea, and she caught it.

James said, “Keep this inscription with you at all times. As long as you have it, I will be able to sense it and inform you of my situation no matter where you are.”

“Alright.” Thea nodded and reminded him, “Be careful even when you’re among the Dooms. Your own safety should be the priority. As long as you’re alive, there is hope for humans. The providence of humanity will rapidly decline if you perish, and it’d be difficult for us to rise again.”

James smiled and replied, “Don’t worry, I know what I’m doing.”

Afterward, James began explaining his plan. Thea, once a fierce battle breaks out in the outside world, both of us will join forces to break the Spatial Seal set up by the Dooms. I will open a spatial passage. We must not linger once the passage is open. The Dooms’ Overworld Outsider will catch up if we’re even a little slow, and it will be troublesome to escape.”

As he spoke, he looked at the members of the Heaven- Eradicating Sect in the main hall and asked, “Do you remember all of it?”

“We do.”

“Good. Spread the orders. All members of the Heaven- Eradicating Sect at headquarters, be prepared and on standby.” James issued a series of commands.

As the orders were issued, all the human members of the Heaven-Eradicating Sect remained on constant alert, waiting for the passage to open.

Once everything was arranged, James and Thea stood in front of the doors of the main hall.

James held a long sword in his hand.

The sword appeared simple, but it contained an extremely terrifying power. It was none other than the Demon-Slayer Sword, which was manifested from the Light of the Acme Rank.

James once again took out the Demon-Slayer Sword and handed it to Thea, saying, This is the sword you gave me during the Twelfth Universe Era. I have refined it again, and now it can be considered an Acmean God Weapon. I’m giving it back to you.”

Thea received the sword which held many memories for her.

Read The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 4310

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 4310-After giving the Malevolent Sword to Thea, James said,” Hide and avoid revealing yourselves easily once we escape. Also, keep the members of the Heaven-Eradicating Sect in check. I will take care of disrupting the balance in the Greater Realms. Your responsibility is to ensure the safe birth of the new world.”

Thea tightly gripped the Malevolent Sword in her hand, her face showing determination. She said, “Don’t worry, I won’t disappoint you.”

James believed in Thea and didn’t say anything more.

He began to communicate with the Death Demon. “Death Demon, what is the current situation outside?”

The Death Demon was hiding in the chaotic void of the outside world, closely observing the movements of the Qimat and the army of the Dooms.

He truthfully replied, "The Dooks did not pursue me, but instead continued to surround the area. Their army is currently setting up a formation, which seems to be a powerful Marching Formation."

"Listen to my command when the time comes. Strike once I give the order, and I will take the opportunity to break the Spatial Seal and forcibly open a passage for the members of the Heaven-Eradicating Sect to evacuate from here."

'This...' The Death Demon's face had a solemn expression as he said, "Master, I'm afraid I don't have the strength to hold back Qimat. There's no way you can escape if he breaks away to deal with you."

"Just create chaos. Once they start to retreat, don't linger in battle and evacuate quickly."

"What about you, Master?"

"Don't worry about me. I should be able to escape even if I'm no match for Qimat."

"Do we need to use the death spirits?" the Death Demon asked, "The chances of the Heaven-Eradicating Sect retreating are very low if we don't use them. If we do use the death spirits, word of it will surely reach Youri's ears. Youri can't recognize me even if I change my aura, but he can still detect the death spirits' presence. It may expose your identity."

James fell into contemplation upon hearing this.

He looked at the numerous senior authorities of the Heaven- Eradicating Sect behind him.

The members of the Heaven-Eradicating Sect did not possess incredibly strong power. The strongest ones among them were only at the Quasi Acme Rank, while the majority were at the Macrocosm Ancestral God Rank.

However, they had paid a great price for the revival of humanity. Generations of their ancestors were engaged in conflicts with various races, secretly eliminating talented individuals among those races.

Otherwise, there would have been many Overworld

Outsiders born from those races since the Race Realms and their overall strength would be much stronger than it was now.

It was imperative to ensure their safe withdrawal, allowing them to return to the Primordial Realm and the new universe of humans, even if it meant risking exposing James ' identity.

After pondering for a moment, James said, "The death spirits have formidable strength. Using them could increase the chances of the Heaven-Eradicating Sect's retreat. Plus, it's uncertain whether Qimat can discern them as such in the midst of the intense battle. Even if the information is relayed back to the Dooms, Yuri might not recognize them as the death spirits left by the Devouring Demon. From Yuri's perspective, both the Devouring Demon and the death spirits have already been annihilated."

"Alright, I understand," Death Demon replied.

"Also, change the death spirits' appearances to resemble genuine living beings as much as possible when you make your move."

"I know how to do that," the Death Demon responded.

After communicating with the Death Demon, James waited for its signal.

The Death Demon had summoned the death spirits and disguised them in normal attire. They silently approached the Dooms' army, hiding in the distance.

"Master, I am ready," the Death Demon conveyed through telepathy.

"Good," James replied.

After receiving the message from the Death Demon, he turned to look at Thea and said, "Our subordinates outside are ready, and we are prepared as well. We will join forces to break the Spatial Seal in this place as soon as they make their move."

"Okay," Thea nodded.

Then, she secretly exerted all her power. James unleashed his full power too, even using Chaos Power.

He had no fear of exposure, as the Dooms and other races were already aware of the existence of Overworld Outsiders cultivating Chaos Power among humans.

However, he could not use the Flame Art's Three Fire Transformations.

After activating the Chaos Power, James entered the Seventh Rank of the Omniscience Path.

At this moment, he emanated a white halo, tightly gripping the Demon-Slaying Sword. His aura was overwhelming, resembling an invincible war god.

"Attack!" he commanded.