The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 4311-James called out his orders as soon as he was ready.

The Death Demon had been waiting eagerly for the signal.

Upon hearing James' order, the Death Demon tightened his grip around the sword handle. Then, he led the eleven death spirits and charged toward the Dooms' army at full speed.

Their sneak attack had proved to be a success as they managed to take out several fighters.

"Kill that b*stard!"

Qimat bellowed furiously to his men the minute he spotted the Death Demon. His eyes were burning with rage. In a flash, Qimat teleported and appeared right before the Death Demon. The man raised his hand and directed an attack at his target.

The Death Demon knew that Qimat could give him a lethal blow with a slight sweep of his hand. He swiftly dodged to the side.

Boom!

The place where the Death Demon was standing just a while ago was completely destroyed.

At the same time, James picked up on the sounds and tremors of the ongoing clash. He turned his gaze toward Thea.

"Let's go."

Both of them knew clearly what they had to do. They leaped into the air and flew towards the sky the next instant. The two of them exited the Heaven-Eradicating Sect's Mountain Formation and reached the edge of the spatial seal in a flash.

James lifted the Death-Celestial Sword and channeled all his powers into it. Thea did the same thing with the Malevolent Sword as well. Then, both of them simultaneously directed an attack on the same spot of the seal.

Boom!

The Spatial seal near them was momentarily broken.

On the other hand, Qimat detected James' and Thea's presence as soon as they were out of the Mountain Formation.

"Damn it!" Qimat cursed. He instructed his men at once, " Catch those people! Don't let the members of the Heaven- Eradicating Sect get away!"

Qimat knew that catching the Death Demon was not of the utmost priority at the moment. He and several Acmeans tried to go after James and Thea instead.

However, they were held back when the Death Demon and death spirits showed up before them again and blocked their way.

Meanwhile, James had managed to open a void passage at that point. At his signal, the members of the Heaven- Eradicating Sect quickly entered the passage one after the other to escape from the place.

It had only been a short time ever since the war began. Sadly, some humans with lower cultivation bases had perished while some were hidden in others' storage treasures.

Soon enough, members of the Heaven-Eradicating Sect had safely evacuated.

"James, be careful."

Thea looked him in the eye. Then, she turned around and entered the passage following the others.

As James stared at Thea's receding figure, he raised his hand and silently waved in her direction.

Then, James sent a blow and blasted the entrance of the passage. He knew that the Dooms would not be able to track Thea and the Heaven-Eradicating Sect's members down once the entrance was destroyed.

At the same time, the universe began to collapse as soon as Thea, who had been using her power to support it, left.

After ensuring his task was done, James sent another order to the Death Demon. "Death Demon, pull back and get out of here."

Upon receiving the order, the Death Demon and death spirits stopped their attacks and tried to break away from the search Doom Race's soldiers.

"Don't mind them. All of you should go after that guy and have him subdued instead!" Qimat stared fiercely at James.

'I can sense an immense Chaos Power from that man. He's also achieved the Omniscience Path. I think he's the guy who's impersonated Youri,' he thought.

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 4312-While the Death Demon and the death spirits had managed to escape, James was heavily surrounded by the search Doom Race's soldiers.

At the same time, the Spatial seal had been restored and gradually stabilized.

James had lost his time to escape. Besides the Dooms' army, he would also have to go up against Qimat, who had achieved the Middle Stage of the Terra Acme Rank, and several other Acmeans.

'Anyway, I have no plans of running now. If I were to do that, these guys would try to hunt down Death Demon instead,' James thought.

Qimat was standing somewhere not too far away from James. He fixed a stony gaze at the man holding an ordinary -looking black sword, which was emanating a strange white glow.

"I've finally got to meet you in person. I guess I've made the right call this time. Even if those Heaven-Eradicating Sect members had managed to slip away, it would still be enough if I could successfully take you in."

James flashed him a smile. "Did you guys do all these things just to lure me out of hiding?"

Qimat replied, "Of course not. We happened to receive new information on the location of the Heaven-Eradicating Sect's headquarters. Our patriarch sent us here to capture the sect's members. However, we didn't expect to find that they were receiving the help of a powerful person."

He continued, "Who knew Madam Thea from the Primordial Realm Era would still be alive today?! I am truly glad that she hasn't fully regained her powers. Otherwise, I would've stood zero chance of winning the battle this time."

James was not surprised by the fact that Qimat knew about Thea. Thea was a prominent figure among humans ever since the Primordial Realm Era.

"Were you the one who impersonated our patriarch and acquired a token from the Cloud Race?" Qimat cast an icy gaze at James.

James nodded calmly. "Yep. That was me."

James had decided not to act rashly after analyzing his current situation. Instead, he was silently considering the options he had left at the moment.

'It is almost impossible for me to get away in one piece when so many of them are trying to catch me.

'The only way I can escape here is by using the Flame Art's Three Fire Transformations. However, I wouldn't be able to infiltrate the search Doom Race's base if I were to use that skill here. Moreover, I won't be able to carry on with my other plans afterward.' James pondered.

Soon enough, he came up with a plan.

"In that case, you should surrender and come with us. We might spare you if you are willing to cooperate," Qimat said in a low voice.

Qimat had no intention of killing James. He needed the man alive since Youri had to offer an explanation to the other races. If they could prove to the others that James was the real culprit, Youri could naturally secure his seat as the patriarch.

"I can come with you." James began, "However, you should know that this was the Great Elder's... I mean the Patriarch. I was only acting on the current Patriarch's orders."

Qimat narrowed his eyes as he scrutinized the expression on James' face.

James went on calmly, 'Think about it. I'm from the humans, but I can wield the Chaos Power. Even some of the best fighters from the Dooms have yet to master that power, but I have. Do you think I can achieve that without the guidance of a powerful master from the Dooms?'

"Are you saying Mr. Youri has taught you to master the Chaos Power?"

Qimat was skeptical about the man's claims. He had not heard of any of this even though he had worked for Youri a long time.

"Of course." James made up a story on the spot. "Our people have been secretly working with Mr. Youri for quite some time. He even planned out the incident involving Wyot Dalibor to eliminate the guy. Unfortunately, Wyot managed to escape."

"That's all the more reason you should come with us. We can confirm everything once we meet with Mr. Youri," Qimat replied flatly.

James nodded. "It's been some time since I've last seen him. Now that he's the Patriarch of the search Doom Race, I won't have to go through the trouble of meeting him secretly to ask him about the next step in our plan."

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 4313-James stopped using the Omniscience Path and his Chaos Power. He even put his sword back in its sheath.

Qimat slightly lowered his guard upon seeing that James was in an unarmed state.

James beamed broadly as he treaded toward Qimat. "I've heard all about you from Mr. Youri. You are his right-hand man. From now on, the two of us can work together to help Mr. Youri achieve many of his great ambitions!"

Qimat looked at James, who had stopped right before him, for some time. Then, he said, "We should head back and meet with Mr. Youri first. I'm sure he has further instructions for us."

At that moment, Qimat suddenly raised his palm and slammed it forcefully on the center of James' chest.

The impact of the hit was so strong that James felt as though every muscle fiber in his body was about to be torn apart.

The blow sent James' body flying backward through the air, destroying the Chaotic Void along the path.

Eventually, James managed to stop and steady himself. However, he coughed up a mouthful of blood the next instant.

James lifted his eyes and stared furiously at Qimat. He asked in a gruff voice, "What's the meaning of this? Are you trying to kill me? Would you be able to handle the consequences of your actions once Mr. Youri learns of this?"

Qimat took a few big strides toward James.

"Did you honestly think I'd believe all those things you just said? If you truly were working for Mr. Youri, you wouldn't have helped Madam Thea escape just now."

'That's because you don't know anything!' James snapped at him, "It was all part of Mr. Youri's plan!"

"Is it?" Qimat replied flatly, "Mr. Youri shares almost every single detail of his plans with me, yet I have no knowledge of your involvement all along. Just be good and follow us back to our base. We'll have the truth once we see Mr. Youri. If you really are working for him, I'm willing to accept any punishment for ruining his arrangements for you."

Qimat lifted his arm as he was about to seal James' cultivation base.

It was the exact moment that James was waiting for.

'I know I won't be able to take Qimat down whether through a one-on-one fight or by using a surprise attack. That's how strong he is. Moreover, I was even surrounded by those Acmeans just now.'

'Qimat has lowered his guard. I've also managed to draw some distance between myself and Qimat's men. This is the perfect time for my sneak attack,' James thought.

James summoned all his strength and conjured his sword. He channeled his powers into the sword and struck a blow to Qimat.

Qimat's body was thrown backward several feet away due to the force the next instant.

In the meantime, James immediately rushed toward the edge of the Spatial seal. This time, he used the sword to strike a blow on the seal. Upon seeing a crack in the seal, James initiated the Space Path and vanished on the spot.

"Go after him!" Qimat shouted his orders to his men. Despite his injury, he initiated the Space Path to try to track down James.

As soon as he had found a trace of James' tracks, Qimat opened a void passage and entered it, followed by his men.

On the other hand, James had reemerged in another new Chaotic Void. However, he could sense the fluctuation of energy around him almost immediately.

James lifted the Death-Celestial Sword and dealt a few blows to the surrounding Chaotic Void to create confusion for his pursuers.

Then, he opened a new void passage to escape from his current spot.

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 4314-Upon reaching a second new Chaotic Void, James used his sword to strike the void again.

The damage that James had dealt to the surrounding Chaotic Void would help to conceal his tracks.

Then, he opened several void passages simultaneously and escaped through one of them.

At the same time, Qimat and his men were using all means possible to track James down. At first, they could still detect a faint trace of James' presence and move between the Chaotic Voids by following it.

However, as James gradually got further away from his pursuers, Qimat and his men completely lost track of the man eventually.

“Damn it!”

A rough, angry voice echoed through the Chaotic Void.

‘The members of the Heaven-Eradicating Sect managed to get away! We didn’t even manage to catch that b*stard from the Human Race!’

Qimat’s face was red with rage.

‘How do I explain this to Mr. Youri...’ Qimat thought.

James went on jumping through different Chaotic Voids for quite some time. At some point, he confirmed that he had gotten rid of his pursuers. Then, he swiftly entered a quiet, desolate universe that had no living inhabitants.

Eventually, James landed on a rather secluded planet. Sitting with his legs crossed, James finally felt a slight sense of relief.

Multiple cracks and lines were scattered all over James’ body at that point. The man had been using the immense powers in his body to hold his physical body together.

Apart from that, his soul had also been severely damaged. James could tell that he would soon slip into unconsciousness if he did not receive proper treatment soon.

James quickly put up several magic circles and a time formation around him. Then, he focused on healing his injuries.

James thought, ‘I’m practically immortal since I’ve mastered the Life Path.

‘No matter how much damage is inflicted on my body, I can recover from the injuries as long as I am given time to heal them.

‘However, Qimat has managed to damage my Soul Genesis with his powerful hit earlier. I’ll need more time to heal my injuries.’

On the other hand, Qimat and the search Doom Race’s army had returned to their homeland.

Boom!

Youri sent a forceful blow in Qimat's direction, throwing the man backward and heavily onto the floor.

Qimat pushed himself up and got on his knees the next instant.

"Sir Youri, I didn't expect things to turn out like this. We came into contact with the human who had impersonated you and tricked the people of the Cloud Race. That man had a powerful helper. I failed to capture Madam Thea because I was held back by that strong fighter during the battle.

'Then, I tried to catch the impostor alive to bring him back with us. I've given him a critical blow. However, when I was about to seal his cultivation base, he made a surprise attack and escaped by using the Space Path.'

Youri gave a cold snort. "You couldn't even manage to complete such a simple task."

"I'm willing to receive any punishment, Sir Youri." Qimat lowered his head submissively whilst still kneeling on the floor.

Youri drew a long breath. He felt his anger subside a little. Then, he helped Qimat get on his feet.

'Though you've failed in your mission, you have nonetheless found out that Madam Thea is alive and brought back the news to us. You've also discovered that there's a competent fighter amongst the humans. That man doesn't sound like a potentially huge threat to us from what I've heard so far. Tell me more about what happened in detail."

"Understood." Qimat nodded.

Qimat raised his hand and gave a gentle wave. Several lines of inscriptions appeared and circled in the air the next instant. As soon as the inscriptions formed a circle, images of what happened during the battle could be seen at the center of the circle.

Youri frowned. "How is that human able to wield the Chaos Power? The Chaos Power is a supreme power mastered only by our people. Only a handful of people have mastered the cultivation method."

Qimat asked, “Sir Youri, is it possible that someone from our side has conspired with the humans and taught that man the cultivation method for the Chaos Power?”

“Who could it be, though?” Youri muttered.

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 4315-Youri could not seem to think of anyone among the Dooms who would teach humans the cultivation method for Chaos Power.

“Sir Youri, what should we do now?” Qimat asked.

Youri said in a low voice, “Spread the word. Warn the Great Races of the Greater Realms about the Heaven-Eradicating Sect and inform them about Madam Thea. There must be a reason why she’s made an appearance in the Greater Realms. We must find out more about the Human Race’s subsequent plans.”

“Also, contact the Watchers of the Primordial Realm. I want to know the latest progress on the sealing of the Human Race’s new universe.”

“Understood.”

Qimat gave a slight nod. “I will share the images of what happened when we attacked the Heaven-Eradicating Sect members with the other races. Hopefully, we can gain more information by using their help.”

Then, Qimat bowed and excused himself.

After Qimat left, Youri sat down on a nearby chair and fell into deep thought. His brows drew together in a deep frown

After a long while, he called out to his attendant, ‘Tell Wyot to get back here immediately.’

“Understood.”

James managed to heal most of his injuries while staying inside the time formation.

Unfortunately, he did not have the time to wait until he could achieve full recovery. Moreover, he did not carry any elixirs specialized for treating injuries relating to the Soul Genesis.

There was not much time left for him now. After the incident with the Dooms, one of James' first priorities was to return to where he was last seen by the others.

James quickly got ready to leave the current Chaotic Void to head to the Thala Realm Universe.

As he was approaching the Thala Realm Universe, James began to conceal his human soul aura. After that, he adopted the Dooms' soul aura and changed his appearance to that of Wyot Dalibor's.

Then, James finally entered the Thala Realm Universe and headed toward the Angel Race's territories. He did not try to hide his presence as he made his way to Mount Eden, where Princess Leilani of the Angels resided.

James sat comfortably in a chair inside the manor built in the center of a lake.

On the other hand, Leilani lifted her hand and waved gently in the air. A moving image appeared almost instantaneously. It was the exact moment when James was helping the members of the Heaven-Eradicating Sect escape.

James looked at Leilani and asked, "What's this about?"

Leilani took a small bottle from the table and handed it to James, who now looked exactly like Wyot. 'This is a healing elixir produced by our people. It can help heal almost any injury effectively. An envoy from the Dooms is here to see you. I think they want you to return to your base as soon as possible.'

James accepted the elixir and finished it in one gulp. Then, he cast a time formation around himself and started healing his injuries with the powers gained from the elixir.

Just as Leilani had told him, the elixir was very effective. James achieved full recovery in no time.

When he had undone the time formation, James noticed that Leilani was no longer standing next to him. As he was about to get up from his seat, James spotted Leilani walking in through the door.

She said, "I just met with the envoy. I told him that you were in the middle of a closed-door meditation and that he should wait for a bit."

'I really don't want to help him, but for the sake of the Angel Race, we don't have that much of a choice left now,' Leilani thought.

James gave a small smile. "Thank you. Once I head back home and complete my tasks, I'll return here to have the marriage talks with your father."

Then, James teleported to the main hall where the Dooms' envoy was waiting for him.

The man greeted James respectfully, "Mr. Wyot, Sir Youri wants you to return to our base as soon as possible."

"Alright." James nodded. "You can head back first. I'll get ready and leave for our base immediately."
