The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 4391-Gaerel dispersed the aura in his body and issued an order.

Then, a few Ursa Race ladies brought James, who was acting as Wyot, to rest.

James stayed with the Ursa Race temporarily.

At the same time, in the Apex Main Hall of the Ursas, many powerhouses of all kinds of races gathered.

“Wyot is too powerful,” Gaerel, sitting at the front, spoke up. “I don’t know what he experienced in the Path of Heavenly Awakening’s illusion, but I can sense that his aura is on par with mine. If I fight against him, I may not be his match.”

‘That’s impossible.’

Right then, a powerhouse of a race stepped forward and looked at Gaerel. He said, “Mr. Wagstaff, you must have sensed his aura wrongly. Even if Wyot is strong, he hasn’t entered the Acme Rank. Meanwhile, you’ve reached the peak of the Terra Acme Rank. It’ll be easy for you to kill him.”

With a grave expression, Gaerel said, “My senses can’t be wrong. Forget it. Let’s talk about the tokens. Should we hand them over?”

“I think we should.”

“The providence of the Human Race has risen again by a large margin in the past few hundred years. We should rely on the Doom Race to suppress the Human Race. Let’s give the tokens to Wyot and have him take them back to the Doom Race. That way, we won’t have to worry about the matter.”

“I think we should give the tokens to Wyot too.”

Many powerhouses expressed their opinions.

They had been guarding these tokens for many years and were always worried about them.

It was best to give the tokens to Wyot now.

“Since everyone agrees to give them away, we’ll do that.” Gaerel stood up and said, “Hand them over to Wyot.”

Just as James had just settled down, the bodyguards of the Doom Race found him and brought him to the main hall.

James soon appeared before the Apex Main Hall of the Ursas, and he walked in arrogantly. He immediately sat in an empty seat and crossed his legs. Looking at Gaerel, who was sitting in the main seat, he asked, “Mr. Wagstaff, how was the discussion?”

Gaerel waved his hands, and several tokens appeared before him instantly.

‘These are the tokens from all the races. Aside from the Doom Race and the Cloud Race, all other races’ tokens are here.’

After Gaerel finished speaking, the tokens before him floated toward James.

James accepted the tokens and sensed them one by one.

After making sure nothing was wrong with them, he put them away.

Now, among the ten tokens, he had already obtained nine. He was only short of the token that was with the Doom Race.

However, since he had nine tokens, even if he did not get the one with the Doom Race, he could still forcefully open the formation and let Soren out.

‘Wyot.’

Upon seeing James keep the tokens, Gaerel said, ‘We have given you the tokens. After you get the Blithe Omniscience, Soren must die. As for when to kill Soren, once the Doom Race issues an order, all of us will gather and kill Soren.’

Soren was in the Ninth Stage of the Omniscience Path. His physical body could not be destroyed.

In the past, all the races had devised a plan to trap Soren but could not kill him.

Thus, they worked together to cast a superformation. They wanted to obliterate Soren's body using the formation.

It had been many years, hence Soren's body might have already weakened.

With the Ten Great Races working together, they could kill Soren.

James stood up and said, "I can't decide when to kill him. I have to report to my Patriarch. He will make the decision."

Then, he said, 'Til take my leave now. Until next time."

After that, James' body disappeared from the sights of many powerhouses.

After leaving the Ursa Race, James grew perplexed.

He did not know if he should return to the Doom Race and continue pretending to be Wyot or go to the Cloud Race and secretly let Soren out.

If he let Soren out, his identity would be exposed. By then, he could no longer return to the Doom Race.

After pondering for a while, he decided to contact Thea and discuss this matter with her before making a decision.

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 4392-James had no idea what to do now.

He was already strong enough to protect the Human Race alone. He could do anything he wanted next.

After leaving the Ursa Race, he entered the vast Chaotic Void. He hid his aura and cut off contact with the outside realm.

Then, he began to contact Thea.

'Thea, where are you?'

Previously, he left an inscription sigil for Thea. No matter where Thea was, he could use the inscription sigil to talk to her.

However, no matter how many times he called for Thea, she did not respond.

“What’s going on?”

James frowned slightly.

“Thea, can you hear me?” He continued to call out to her.

Unfortunately, there was still no answer from Thea.

He began to sense the inscription sigil he left for Thea.

‘The Doom Race?’

After sensing the location of Thea’s inscription sigil, James mumbled to himself with a grave expression, “What’s going on? Why is the inscription sigil I left for Thea in the Doom Race? Didn’t I remind her to be careful and not expose herself? Why is she in the Doom Race?”

James had a bad feeling.

Then, he hurried over to the Doom Universe where the Doom Race was located.

Soon, he appeared outside the Doom Universe and stood there, hesitating.

If the sigil he gave Thea was in the Doom Race, that meant Thea’s location had been exposed and she had fallen into the hands of the Doom Race.

If Thea was caught, the Heaven-Eradicating Sect might be in trouble too.

Besides, the real Wyot was with Thea and the Heaven- Eradicating Sect. Perhaps the real Wyot had already returned to the Doom Race. If he went back to the Doom Race as Wyot, he would be in trouble.

“Sigh. How troublesome.”

James furrowed his brows.

He began extrapolating outside the Doom Universe.

He wanted to check if Thea was caught by the Doom Race and if the real Wyot had returned to the Doom Race.

Then, a mysterious Extrapolation Formation appeared before him. It was constantly changing.

Boom!

In an instant, the Extrapolation Formation exploded.

James faced a backlash from the power of the Chaos Heavenly Path. He stumbled backward and spat out blood.

“What terrifying backlash power.”

James had a serious expression on his face.

With his current cultivation rank, he could extrapolate almost everything. Nonetheless, he could not extrapolate this. He was being restricted by the Chaos Heavenly Path.

It seemed that this involved the providence battle between two great races, and the Chaos Heavenly Path did not want other living beings to know the inside story.

Since he could not extrapolate it, he could only ask about it himself.

James decided to take the risk and enter the Doom Race.

With his current ability, even if his identity was exposed, and even though he was not a match for the Doom Race, he could run away.

Thus, he showed himself arrogantly.

Taking a step forward, he appeared in the Doom Universe.

A few more steps later, he appeared in the Doom Realm.

James appeared outside the entrance of Mount Chaos of the Doom Race. Looking at the familiar yet strange Mount Chaos, he entered the place without hesitation.

“Mr. Wyot.”

“Greetings, Mr. Wyot.”

As James walked, the bodyguards of the Doom Race greeted him respectfully upon seeing him.

It dampened his worries.

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 4393-It seemed that the real Wyot had not returned.

Perhaps the situation was different than what he thought. Perhaps Thea had been caught, and the real Wyot had gained freedom, but the bodyguards had no idea about these matters. It was possible that only the true powerhouses of the Doom Race knew about it.

With a smile, James greeted the bodyguards of the Doom Race.

Stepping forward, he went to the apex and appeared in the Apex Main Hall.

An elder was sitting in the main seat.

James greeted the elder and said, “I’ve obtained the tokens. Now, aside from the Cloud Race’s missing token, the other tokens are with us.”

Youri glanced at James with a satisfied expression. Then, he stood up and walked toward him. With a smile, he said, “Great. Hand me the tokens.”

James hesitated for a while.

“What’s wrong?”

Youri stared at James with a smile as he asked, “Are you thinking of keeping them?”

“No.”

James hurriedly said, “I think it’s better we locate the Cloud Race’s token as soon as possible. We should catch the powerhouse of the Human Race and obtain the last token. That way, we can gather the ten tokens, and you can obtain the Blithe Omniscience. Then, you can be invincible.”

“I will deal with this matter. You’ve completed your task. Hand over the tokens and go into closed-door meditation to increase your cultivation rank.”

Youri extended his hand, asking for the tokens.

At this moment, countless ideas appeared in James’ mind.

He wanted to use this opportunity to attack Youri.

He wanted Youri to suffer severe injuries.

If Youri was severely injured, the Doom Race would not be able to do anything to James.

As soon as the thought popped up in James’ mind, he pushed it away.

Youri was at the Ninth Stage of the Omniscience Path, so his physical body was invincible. Even if James were to launch a sneak attack on Youri, the latter would not suffer severe injuries.

Quietly, James took out the eight tokens he had obtained and handed them over to Youri.

After Youri took them, he patted James on the back and smiled. “You’ve done a great job. Go and rest.”

“Yes.”

He chose to hand over the tokens because the current situation was not in his favor.

Besides, he still had one token with him. Even if Youri gathered the nine tokens, he might not be able to open the formation. Also, Soren was smart. Unless he gained freedom, he would not hand over the Blithe Omniscience.

After leaving the main hall, James took a deep breath.

Now, he needed to locate Thea and the members of the Heaven-Eradicating Sect. He would make a decision only after finding them.

He returned to Mount Doom.

Yemima did not know James had returned.

At that moment, she was reading in the study room.

She wore a white dress and had a slender figure. She looked beautiful and alluring when she was serious.

Knock, knock.

Knocks on the door sounded from the outside.

She put down the book in her hands. After sensing it was James, she quickly opened the door, delighted.

“You’re back.”

Once she opened the door, she hugged James.

James hugged her back and smiled. “Yeah, I’m back. I completed the task assigned by the Patriarch. I brought the tokens back.”

Yemima let go of James and said, “You entered the Path of Heavenly Awakening in the Ursa Race and started the hardest trial. What did you experience in the Path of Heavenly Awakening?”

James came to find Yemima because he wanted to find out if the Doom Race had planned anything.

Even though he had experienced the Path of Heavenly Awakening for a long time, only a few hundred years in the outside realm had passed.

Hence, James began to make up stories.

After fooling Yemima, he asked, “Did anything happen in the race while I was gone for the past hundreds of years?”

“Nope. What could happen?” Yemima answered.

“Did the Patriarch ever leave the Doom Race?” James asked.

Thea was strong. If she was caught under the noses of everyone in the Greater Realms, the task had to be done by a true powerhouse of the Doom Race.

In the Doom Race, only Yuri and his mysterious chambermaid, Xezal, had this ability.

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 4394-Upon hearing Yemima’s response, James frowned.

In the entire Doom Race, only Yuri and the mysterious Xezal could catch Thea without letting anyone in the Greater Realms know.

If Yuri never left the Doom Race, could it be Xezal who did it?

“What’s wrong? Is something on your mind?” Yemima noticed something was wrong with James’ expression.

Immediately, James put away his distracting thoughts. With a smile, he said, “I’m a little tired. I’ll go and take a rest.”

Then, he turned around and left.

As he could not get the details of the situation from Yemima, he could only inquire about it himself.

He could sense the exact location of the sigil he gave Thea. However, if he were to look for the sigil now, it would cause trouble.

Still, for Thea, he was not afraid of trouble.

Even so, he did not act hastily.

After returning to Mount Doom, he rested for a few days.

Forthose few days, he observed the Doom Race from the dark but failed to find anything odd.

Several days later, James walked out of Mount Doom.

He could sense that the sigil he left for Thea was in the back mountain of the apex.

He walked over to the apex.

“Mr. Wyot.”

“Greetings, Mr. Wyot.”

As James walked over to the apex, the disciples of the Doom Race greeted him respectfully upon seeing him.

James smiled and greeted the disciples back.

Soon, he reached the apex. He walked toward the back mountain and arrived at the back mountain of the apex.

There was a pagoda in the back mountain.

The pagoda was a Doom Race’s cage. It was known as the Soul Pagoda.

Only members who had committed serious sins would be imprisoned there.

Wyot’s father and the former Patriarch of the Doom Race, Dolph, was locked in the Soul Pagoda.

There were a few bodyguards standing guard before the Soul Pagoda.

When the bodyguards saw James walking over, they immediately knelt on one knee on the ground.

James waved his hand and said, “Please rise.”

‘Thank you, Mr. Wyot.’

Upon seeing the tightly closed door, James instructed, “Open the door.”

“Uh...”

With troubled expressions, the bodyguards guarding the Soul Pagoda said, “Mr. Wyot, the Soul Pagoda is a forbidden area. Without the order of the Patriarch, no one can enter.”

Hearing that angered James.

Taking a step forward, he appeared before a bodyguard. He raised his hand and lifted the bodyguard by the collar before saying in a cold voice, “I’m an elder. I can go anywhere in the Doom Race. Hurry up and open the door. Otherwise, I will take your life.”

“Y-Yes, Sir.”

The bodyguard dared not provoke James.

It was only then that James let the bodyguard go.

The bodyguard opened the seal of the Soul Pagoda.

Then, James entered the pagoda.

The Soul Pagoda had nine floors.

Every floor had different members imprisoned.

Once James entered the Soul Pagoda, he sensed an unusual aura. The aura was gloomy, hurting his soul.

James headed over to the ninth floor. At the same time, he observed his surroundings, trying to find Thea.

However, after walking from the first to the eighth floor, he still did not see Thea.

Lastly, he came to the ninth floor.

The ninth floor held the strongest members.

If a member entered this floor, there was little chance of making it out alive.
