The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 4406-James stopped to tend to his injuries.

Although the injuries were quite severe, they were not fatal, so he recovered quickly.

“Thea, I’ll take you back to the current base of the Heaven- Eradicating Sect. You’re pregnant now and shouldn’t be reckless. At this critical moment, your safety is paramount. Only when you are safe will my mind rest at ease,” James said while looking at Thea.

Thea nodded her head and said, “Okay, I’ll be more cautious from now on.”

Right after, James escorted Thea away and returned to the Heaven-Eradicating Sect’s base. Afterward, he departed and entered the Chaotic Void, finding an uninhabited place to change his aura and assume the appearance of Wyot once again.

However, he did not hastily return to the search Doom Race but continued his training, while the imposter sent by the Heaven -Eradicating Sect vanished.

James continued his training, journeying through various universes.

Soon, the news of what happened with the search Doom Race spread. Word of Thea’s rescue spread throughout the Greater Realms, and only after James received this information did he return to the Doom Race.

In a mansion on Mount Doom, Yemima sat across from James.

James furrowed his brows and said, “I’ve never expected that so much would happen among the Doods during my absence. James from the Human Race came to us and rescued the Human Race’s matron, Thea. How is Sir Youri supposed to continue with his plan?”

Yemima was also puzzled, “I heard from the clan elders that at the time, James was already trapped and injured, but Xezal opened the formation, allowing him to leave.”

James asked, "What's the deal with Xezal? She knows James mastered the Blithe Omniscience, so how could she open the barrier formation so willingly for him?"

Yemima replied, "Who knows? It's pointless to discuss these matters at this point. Let's wait for Sir Youri to return and decide."

"Where has Sir Youri gone? Why hasn't he returned after such a huge incident involving our race?" James inquired with a puzzled expression.

Yemima shrugged and said, "I have no idea."

James returned to the search Doom Race.

Currently, everyone in the search Doom Race was speculating about why Xezal opened the formation. If it wasn't for her, James would not have escaped. However, Sir Youri was still absent, so no one dared to confront her. Moreover, they could not find her even if they wanted to question her.

Xezal was quite mysterious. No one in the Doom Race knew where she was in times she did not appear voluntarily.

James also tried to find her to gather information. However, he could not detect her aura despite extending his Divine Sense throughout the entire Doom Race. Thus, he had no choice but to stay on Mount search Doom, cultivating and awaiting Youri's return.

He wanted to see how Youri would react upon learning that Thea had been rescued.

Meanwhile, Youri arrived within the restricted area at the back of the Cloud Race's mountains. The restricted area at the back of the mountain was protected by a barrier formation. However, the outermost formation could not hinder him.

Youri quietly passed through the outermost layer and appeared where Soren was being held. The man had been trapped in this place for quite some time now. During this period, he had been negotiating with Soren, hoping to obtain the Blithe Omniscience. However, Soren was uncooperative. He had one condition for handing over Blithe Omniscience, Youri needed to break free from his entrapment and allow him to leave the formation.

Outside the formation, Youri sat cross-legged.

“Soren, I’ve compromised as much as I can,” Youri said, looking at the formation before him. A helpless expression appeared on his aged face.

“Now, the only thing you can do is trust me. Otherwise, it won’t be long before your physical body is completely destroyed. Once your body is gone, your soul will likewise disappear.”

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 4407-“Haha!”

Within the formation, a burst of hearty laughter echoed.

“Youri, stop wasting your breath. I’ll say it again, I’ll hand over the Blithe Omniscience to you if you can get me out of this formation. Otherwise, there’s no room for negotiation.”

“Hmph.” Youri’s patience wore thin, and he stood up, coldly stating, “Do you think you’re still as powerful as you were in the past? Countless eons have eroded your physical body, you’re far from your former self. Now, I can easily obliterate you.”

Youri took a deep breath, forcing himself to remain calm.

“I already have nine tokens in my possession, the last one is in the possession of the Human Race. I’ve already captured Thea Callahan, the Human Race’s matron, to coerce the human powerhouses into revealing the token’s location.

Judging by the time, we have just a century left until the deadline. I’m heading back now. Once I obtain the final token, I’ll use it to undo the formation and set you free.”

“I’ll await your good news.” With that, Soren said no more. Youri did not linger either and left the place since he ran short on time.

The three-thousand-year deadline he gave James had ticked down to a mere hundred years.

Upon returning to the Dooms, he learned of the events that had occurred.

“Damn it!”

In the main hall, Youri seethed with anger, exuding a terrifying aura that made Qimat tremble in the hall, not daring to breathe.

“Xezal Dalibor!” He roared. His voice resounded throughout the entire search Doom Race.

Whoosh!

A shadow appeared silently.

“Xezal, do you know what you’ve done?” Youri stood in front of her, looking down at the shadow below him. Fury was evident on his elderly face.

Xezal replied calmly, “What offenses are you referring to?”

Youri’s voice turned cold, “James infiltrated our race, and you trapped him in the formation and even injured him. Why did you release him by undoing the formation?”

Xezal explained, “The current James is no longer the same one Qimat encountered. He’s now at the later stages of the Omniscience Path’s Eighth Stage, having even comprehended the Blithe Omniscience. He could destroy the search Doom Race if he were to go all out, and the entire search Doom Universe might collapse. Should we sacrifice our entire race just to contain him?”

Youri looked astonished after hearing this.

“He’s at the later stages of the Omniscience Path’s Eighth Stage? And he learned the Blithe Omniscience? How is that possible? The Omniscience Path for the Human Race was severed long ago. How could he achieve such a feat in such a short time? Moreover, how could he have learned the Blithe Omniscience from Soren?”

He looked at Qimat and asked, "Is this true?"

Qimat hesitated for a moment and then said, "It's true that he has reached the later stages of the Omniscience Path's Eighth Stage. I don't know if he's actually mastered the Blithe Omniscience. I've never seen what the Blithe Omniscience looks like, it's all based on what Xezal said."

Hearing this, Youri sat down, his face showing a contemplative expression. He was pondering on a thought.

After a while, he asked, "Xezal, is this information reliable?"

Xezal spoke, "Before Soren was trapped, I had several encounters with him and witnessed the Blithe Omniscience. Although James' understanding of it is only basic, he has comprehended the Blithe Omniscience. Possessing this technique puts him in an almost unbeatable position. I could have kept him here, but the search Doom Race would have paid a heavy price. I decided to let him go after weighing the pros and cons."

"The Blithe Omniscience... How did this man obtain it? Did he meet Soren, and have it passed on to him?" Youri's expression became grave.

He had gone to great lengths to obtain the Blithe Omniscience. Now, someone else from the Human Race had displayed the same technique, leaving him feeling uneasy.

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 4408-Upon Youri's return, he learned that Thea had been rescued.

Although he burned with rage, he knew that Xezal took the entire race's well-being into account, so he refrained from reprimanding her too much. The only thing that surprised him was how rapidly James' cultivation base had developed, and that he could now withstand Xezal's attacks.

Also, how did James infiltrate the Dooms?

He issued a command. "Qimat, go and find out how James snuck in search among us. We have a protective Mountain Formation guarding us, making it impossible for outsiders to enter. If James was able to enter, then surely there must be a traitor within our race that's colluding with the Human Race, and acting as a double agent. This all resulted in them rescuing Thea."

"Alright, I will investigate immediately," replied Qimat.

Youri waved his hand lightly and said, "You may go."

Qimat swiftly departed without a moment's delay.

Only then did Youri turn to look at Xezal and ask, "Xezal, what's your assessment of the current situation?"

Xezal inquired, "Sir Youri, which aspect are you referring to?"

Youri asked, "What do you think of James?"

After some thought, Xezal said, "He is indeed a genius, rising quietly without drawing much attention. The first time he made himself known in the Greater Realms was when he fought against Qimat. At that time, he was no match for Qimat. Now, he can effortlessly crush him. In the current Greater Realms, there are very few who can match him."

Xezal gave a glowing evaluation of James.

"Currently, he hasn't even reached the Omniscience Path's Ninth Stage. His physical body will become immortal once he reaches that stage. At that time, he will be even more formidable than Soren."

Hearing this, Youri's expression turned grave. He had put in a lot of effort to obtain the Blithe Omniscience, and now, someone from the Human Race had also learned it. This was undoubtedly a threat to him.

"Spread the order, hunt down all the humans within the Greater Realms. Show no mercy to any of them," Youri spoke coldly, a strong murderous intent oozed from his words.

Hearing this, Xezal could not help but inquire, "Sir Youri, what are you planning to do? The Human Race is no longer the same race that was once oppressed. If you exterminate them all, you will anger James, and no one can bear the consequences of his wrath."

"I want to force James to show himself," Youri replied nonchalantly. "I can kill him as long as he dares to appear before me. The Human Race will no longer be a threat once he's dead. Killing him will secure my everlasting rule." James' appearance had made Youri feel threatened. He had to eliminate this threat as soon as possible. However, he did not know where James was at the moment. Therefore, he had to resort to extreme measures to force James to appear and confront him.

Xezal hesitated for a moment before saying, "Since you've made up your mind, I will carry out your orders. I will relay your command and rally all main races in the Greater Realms to unite their forces and exterminate the humans within our domain. No mercy shall be shown, they must be killed without exception."

"Go ahead," Youri waved his hand lightly.

Xezal disappeared from the hall.

As Youri settled back into his chair at the forefront, he tenderly massaged his temples.

"James, oh James, you've risen too quickly, quietly climbing to the top. It's truly surprising, and you must die, and die quickly. I won't rest until you're dead." Youri's face was vicious.

After leaving the main hall, Xezal conveyed Youri's orders and instructed the Dooms' envoys to pass on the orders to all main races in the Greater Realms. They were to wipe out the Human Race throughout the vast expanse of the Greater Realms. No matter the strength or cultivation base, every human must be put to death.

"Does this mean eradicating the Human Race entirely?"

"Isn't Sir Youri going too far with this?"

"Exterminate all humans, this..."

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 4409-In a moment, all the major races were at a loss, unsure of how to proceed.

They could not decide whether to follow Youri's orders and slaughter the Human Race or defy him. Some of the major races refrained from taking action, but the weaker ones and those seeking favor with the search Doom Race dispatched their forces immediately.

They dispatched powerhouses to wander through obscure realms, commencing a massacre of the Human Race. No human could escape death.

In that moment, fear gripped the hearts of the Human Race across the Greater Realms. Faced with the ruthless slaughter by formidable living beings, they cried out to the heavens, but their pleas fell on deaf ears, and their calls to the Earth went unanswered.

At the temporary shelter of the Heaven-Eradicating Sect.' Damn it," cursed Thea. She stood in the very front, her face darkening as a powerful aura surged from within her, causing the air around her to tremble and agitate the void before her. The other senior authorities of the Heaven- Eradicating Sect wore expressions of fury.

As Youri issued the command, countless humans perished across the Greater Realms within a mere month. The majority of these humans were regular cultivators who had not even reached the Divine Rank.

"Madam Thea, please order us to leave the mountain and fight them. We must stand our ground even if it costs us our lives. I cannot bear to live in such a cowardly way."

"Please, Madam Thea."

"Please, Madam Thea, tell all the humans across the Greater Realms to fight to the death," added another. "We cannot stand idly by and watch our brethren perish."

In the main hall, many powerhouses of the Heaven- Eradicating Sect kneeled with one knee on the ground.

Taking a deep breath, Thea suppressed her anger and said," The more dire the situation, the more we must remain calm. Youri has caused all this chaos to force James into the open. They want to kill him, but as long as James is alive, there's hope for the Human Race. If he dies, I'm afraid humanity will be forever trapped in despair."

Thea did not lose her rationality. She did not know what James was currently up to, and did not dare to contact him hastily.

At this moment, in the back of Mount search Doom, James sat cross-legged on a rock. He had already learned about Youri's actions. He closed his eyes, and images appeared in his mind.

Countless powerhouses from various races invaded small worlds, ruthlessly slaughtering the humans there. Humans dropped like flies in the face of the might of the foreign powerhouses, their corpses falling into pools of blood.

Rivers of blood flowed, and mountains of corpses piled up.

This horrifying sight was a common one across multiple worlds. Cries of sorrow, pleas for mercy, and desperate wails echoed endlessly in his mind.

His face tensed, and his fists clenched as a surge of killing intent rose within him. "Damn it," he uttered, tempted to charge out and confront Youri in a deadly battle, ending the root cause of all this misery.

However, he restrained himself at the last second. The more critical the situation, the more he needed to stay calm. Even though countless humans were sacrificed, if he recklessly revealed himself to Youri, and ended up defeated, humanity would lose all hope. As long as he lived, there was still a chance for the Human Race to rise and turn the tides.

"What should I do? How can I stop this slaughter?" James became calmer, but his heart was filled with anxiety. He had to find a solution quickly, as each day meant more human lives lost. The sooner he figured out how to resolve this, the fewer casualties there would be.

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 4410-In an instant, James' mind was flooded with countless thoughts.

Initially, he intended to quietly blend in with the search Doom Race and learn all about them. However, Youri resorted to extreme measures and ordered the genocide of the Human Race throughout the Greater Realms. He could not stay hidden any longer, the time was right to reveal himself.

He stood up slowly and his bloodlust was tinged with indifference. James stepped out the back mountains. As soon as he arrived at the mountain's front, Yemima appeared before him.

“Aren’t you supposed to be in closed door meditation? Why have you come out?” Yemima gazed at James who had emerged in front of her. A charming smile graced her face. James glanced at her but did not say much. He walked away from Mount Search Doom, leaving his initial spot with a single step. He reappeared at the main peak in the next moment.

“Huh?” Yemima’s face turned doubtful as she murmured, “What’s wrong with Wyot? Something’s not right with him.”

Yemima sensed that something was amiss, but she could not put her finger on what it was. Sensing that James had gone to the main peak, she wanted to know what he was up to, so she followed him there.

At the Apex Main Hall, Qimat bent his knee and reported, “

Sir Youri, the major clans have not taken any action. Only some minor clans carried out our orders, but they’re merely killing weak humans with low cultivation ranks. The Human Race’s real powerhouses have already gone into hiding, and their whereabouts are unknown.”

“These old buggers,” Youri’s face darkened as he coldly said, “They only know how to act opportunistically.”

At this moment, James appeared.

Youri, who stood at the very front, gave him a glance. James approached, appearing in the main hall, cupping his fists and respectfully calling out, “Sir Youri.”

Youri slightly gestured, saying, “What’s the matter? Speak your mind.”

James asked him calmly, “I heard that you gave the order to slaughter all the humans across the Greater Realms.”

Youri nodded, “Yes, I did.”

James questioned him further, “Why would you do this? What is the purpose behind this cruelty?”

“James’ powers have grown too fast. I can’t permit it to continue. I want to force him to reveal himself so I can eliminate him,” replied Youri

James smiled lightly and said, "Is that so? I'm guessing you want to use this opportunity to strike a deal with him and force him to hand over the Blithe Omniscience, am I right?"

Youri glanced at him and calmly stated, "I want both the Blithe Omniscience and James' death along with it."

"Sir Youri, I have a plan," proposed James.

"Go on," Youri urged.

James explained, "Let's divide our forces. You can stay behind to protect the search Doom Race and wait for James to show himself. I shall head to the Cloud Race to find Soren and inform him about the situation. This will force him to hand over the Blithe Omniscience to you."

James continued, "Soren is as strong as the Grand Patriarch of the Human Race. Though he may not care about life or death, he wouldn't stand idly by as the Human Race faces extinction. If he hands over the Blithe Omniscience, we can unite with powerhouses from other races and eliminate him."

James revealed his strategy, and Youri listened as he nodded in approval, "This plan seems feasible."

Upon hearing this, James vowed, "Sir Youri, rest assured. I will definitely help you in seizing the Blithe Omniscience from Soren. The very day I possess the Blithe Omniscience will also be the day Soren meets his end."

"However..." James' tone shifted as he continued, "Soren may not believe me if I approach him empty-handed. I humbly request you to pass me the tokens, so I can carry them with me."

Youri fell into contemplation. After some consideration, he waved his hand, and nine tokens floated in front of him. These tokens drifted towards James.

Upon receiving the tokens, James declared with determination, "I promise I won't let you down."

"Xezal!" Youri shouted loudly into the void.
