The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 4461-Jabari nodded and said, "Years ago, James ventured alone into the Greater Realms. He rose to prominence in those realms and ultimately engaged in a momentous battle in the Cloud Universe, vanquishing countless powerhouses and even rescuing Soren, the legendary powerhouse of the Human Race. He bought time for the humans."

Sorrow appeared on Sophie's face as he spoke of James, who had grown up almost under her watchful eyes. When he was still very weak, she was always in the Celestial Abode to assist him.

She never imagined that James would grow to such terrifying levels. Nor did she anticipate that he would perish in the Greater Realms and the Cloud Universe.

"Master, is there anything you need my help with?" Sophie asked.

Although Jabari had not officially taken her as his disciple, he had resurrected her from slumber, and she had been in his Celestial Abode ever since.

Jabari shook his head slightly and replied, "As for now, you're only at the Quasi Acme Rank and have yet to step into the Permanence Acme Rank. It would be a death sentence if you were to engage in the battle with your current strength. Besides, I'm not even aware of the detailed battle plan. I came here to meet you and reminisce about old times."

The two of them strolled along the main passages of the Heavenly Court, chatting about some past events.

Meanwhile, Henrik had already taken action.

With the sigil given by Thea, Henrik easily located the hidden Watchers. Since these Watchers were not very powerful, he could easily eliminate them. The task was a piece of cake to him.

He silently annihilated the search Doom Race's Watchers that were embedded in the Dark World.

The Doods lost their eyes, and they were unaware of the current situation of the Human Race without the Watchers.

However, what Thea and Soren did not expect was that the Dooms were assembling a massive army and preparing to exterminate the Human Race.

The humans were getting ready.

The Dooms were getting ready too.

At this moment, a crack appeared in the void of a realm. It was a desolate universe within the Greater Realms. Despite its desolation, it contained the energy of heaven and earth and remnants of Path.

Whoosh!

A copper coffin emerged from the crack, appearing in the deepest part of this universe.

The coffin swiftly swept through, absorbing all the energy of heaven and earth in its wake, including the remnants of the Great Path of heaven and earth.

As the coffin passed through, the desolate universe instantly collapsed after losing all its power.

Inside the coffin lay a skeleton.

Thirty thousand epochs ago, this skeleton had been covered in wounds and countless cracks, but the injuries had vanished completely over the past thirty thousand epochs.

The skeleton turned peculiar. It was crystal clear, emitting a faint white light. Numerous inscriptions floated above the skeleton, surrounding it with an aura of sanctity.

The skeleton was none other than James.

Over the course of thirty thousand epochs, the copper coffin appeared in perilous locations within the Greater Realms, crazily absorbing the energy of heaven and earth as well as the power of the heaven and earth paths. The energy nurtured the skeleton.

After thirty thousand epochs, the skeleton had been refined through a thousand trials, achieving the realm of immortality. Now, no power in the world could erase this skeleton.

The coffin disappeared in a flash. After vanishing, the desolate universe collapsed. The coffin reappeared in another desolate universe, once again absorbing the energy of that universe.

At the same time, the Dooms' armies were done assembling.

Outside the Dooms' entrance, countless armies gathered in the distant sky, all clad in black armor, standing on the clouds with a formidable aura.

Before the main hall of the search Doom Race stood a man wearing golden armor. He was Carson Dalibor, the commander leading the attack on the Human Race.

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 4462-In the Twelfth Universe, many powerhouses led by Thea gathered in the Heavenly Court's main hall.

Thea was dressed in a black gown, sitting at the forefront with a hint of coldness on her beautiful face. There was an aura of aloofness around her, as if she was an icy mountain.

On the side of the main hall was Soren, once the strongest powerhouse. Even now, he remained the strongest among the Human Race, currently in the Middle of the Omniscience Path's Ninth Stage. He had inherited and possessed a profound understanding and comprehension of the Blithe Omniscience, surpassing James' at his peak last time.

Thea sat at the forefront as she was the chief in charge of this human expedition. Soren had no objections to this arrangement.

Below the main hall, there were many other powerhouses, including Winnie, Xainte, Jacopo, Noel, and Jabari. It was Thea's intention to exclude the other humans from participating in this expedition. Only the Acmeans would be involved.

'Thea, what's your plan?' Soren asked from the side.

Thea looked at the numerous powerhouses in the main hall and stood up, saying, "It's simple. We'll forcefully break the formation, enter the Greater Realms, and launch a direct assault on the headquarters of the search Doom Race."

Soren frowned slightly and said, "Wouldn't that be reckless? The search Doom Race is formidable, and this will turn into an ultimate battle between the two races. Do you have confidence in victory?"

"Of course," Thea said with determination. Currently, she had attained the Caelum Acme Rank.

While Thea and the other powerhouses were still discussing, an endless army of the Doom Race had gathered outside the Sealed Realm.

At the forefront of the army stood a man clad in armor, holding a spear. He was the commander of the Doom Race, Carson, the child of James and Yemima. Beside him was a man in a white robe.

"Father," Carson turned to look at Wyot beside him, showing a hint of respect. "Shall we forcefully break the formation and enter?"

The formation was originally set up by the Ten Great Races, and theoretically, it required the combined efforts of all Ten Great Races to break it. However, Wyot had already entered the Boundless in the Quasi Acme Rank and then the Permanence Acme Rank, and now he had stepped into the Terra Acme Path. His strength was unfathomable, and breaking the seal was not difficult for him.

"Yes." Wyot nodded gently and said, "Leave the breaking of the seal to me. The rest is up to you. Don't show any mercy when faced with the humans. Kill without hesitation."

"Alright, I'll obey your orders," Carson replied, his eyes filled with killing intent.

In his view, humans were the enemies of the search Doom Race and the ones who killed his mother.

At the same time, Dalson was sitting inside the main hall at the headquarters of the Cloud Race in the Cloud Universe. Dalson was dressed in a green robe and sat at the forefront. He gazed into the distance, his eyes piercing through the void, observing the situation at the Sealed Realm.

“The search Doom Race couldn’t wait any longer, huh?” Dalson’s expression turned serious.

Ever since the Dooms assimilated the other races, their providence had been growing stronger. However, the humans’ providence had not weakened due to James’ death.

Dalson was certain that the Human Race now had powerhouses possibly even on par with Youri and Wyot.

“Are the Dooms being too impulsive?” Dalson murmured to himself, furrowing his brow.

If he could deduce this, that meant the Dooms knew about it too. Yet, they still chose to break the seal and attack the humans. What exactly did the Dooms want to achieve?

“It seems like another bitter battle awaits us. This fight may be no less than the one we had with the Primordial Realm back in the day.”

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 4463-Dalson let out a faint sigh and immediately issued a command, “Spread the word. Seal off the Cloud Universe. Let the search Doom Race and the Human Race fight without our intervention. We won’t get involved, no matter how chaotic the battle becomes.”

Following Dalson’s order, the Cloud Race promptly sealed off the Cloud Universe, isolating themselves and becoming mere spectators of the conflict.

The Cloud Race refrained from participating in the war.

However, the Dooms had long ago assimilated the other races. The invading army that attacked the Human Race consisted of elite warriors from various races, all of them exceptionally strong.

Wyot stood before the seal. He looked at the seal and, with a wave of his hand, conjured a mysterious power in his palm.

This was the Chaos Power converging from the Greater Paths. It was fearsome, and as it gathered in his palm, it instantly dispelled the hazy mist in the Chaotic Void, brightening the area like daylight. With a turn of his hand, a powerful palm strike fell, attacking the Sealing Formation.

Boom!

As the Sealing Formation suffered the attack, a dreadful aura wave spread, and a tiny crack instantly appeared.

At the same time, within the Heavenly Court of the Human Race in the Twelfth Universe, Thea, Soren, and other powerhouses sensed it. In the distant Chaotic Void, a formidable power fluctuation was approaching.

“This isn’t good,” Soren’s face changed instantly.

“There’s a powerhouse in the Greater Realms attacking the formation. It must be the search Doom Race taking action, attempting to wipe out our Human Race completely. Thea, there’s no time to hesitate. Quickly activate the birth of the New Universe, and I’ll stabilize the formation,” Soren’s body disappeared from its original position after he finished speaking.

In the next moment, he appeared at the edge of the formation seal. By now, the formation had already cracked, and another attack would make it completely collapse.

Soren immediately took action, unleashing a powerful force that poured into the formation, trying to stabilize it.

Outside the Sealed Realm, countless armies, including Carson, watched the scene. When they saw the formation crack, delight appeared on their faces.

However, in an instant, the formation restored itself.

“What’s going on?” The countless powerhouses were puzzled.

Wytot’s face was darkened, and he coldly said, “Someone is interfering with the formation to maintain it. I want to see if your power is stronger or mine.”

He vanished and appeared in the boundless void. A powerful aura surged from his body, and immense strength overflowed, stirring the Chaotic Void. He raised his hand, and the power of Greater Paths converged in his palm, forming a fearsome Chaos Power. The complete Chaos Power transformed into a column of light, directly attacking the Sealed Formation.

A crack instantly appeared on the formation, and it spread like a spiderweb, rapidly covering the entire formation.

Soren intervened to stabilize the formation. However, the formidable force permeating through the formation was too powerful. Even he was shaken, and his blood surged, causing him to involuntarily retreat into the Chaotic Void.

Cracks continued to emerge in the Chaotic Void beneath his feet. He could not suppress the turbulent blood within him and spat out a mouthful of blood.

“What a formidable force.” Soren was astonished.

Although he had not attained the Caelum Acme Rank, his attainments in the Omniscience Path were incredibly advanced, he had already reached the Middle of the Ninth Stage. His physical body was invincible. Yet now, he was being shaken to the point of spitting blood. Moreover, there was even a slight injury on the surface of his physical body. Although not life-threatening, he was still wounded.

Fear surged in his heart.

“Thea, the newcomer’s strength is terrifying, and he isn’t beneath me. Quickly activate the birth of the New Universe. I will use the Blithe Omniscience to traverse the formation to the Greater Realms and see who this intruder is,” Soren immediately communicated to Thea.

After spending these thirty thousand epochs comprehending the Blithe Omniscience, he had made great strides in understanding it. Now, passing through the formation set up jointly by the Ten Great Races to the Greater Realms was not a difficult task for him.

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 4464-Inside the coffin lay a set of skeletons that radiated a strange white light. Within the enveloping glow, the skeleton rapidly grew flesh at a visible pace.

James felt a sudden dizziness in his head. Memories of his final battle in his past life flooded his mind. He remembered igniting everything within him, obtaining overwhelming power, and annihilating his enemies.

“Where am I?” he wondered as he opened his eyes. Before him were some mystical inscriptions. Slowly, his memories returned.

“I’m not dead?” he exclaimed in astonishment.

He attempted to sit up, but a powerful force from a restrictive spell crushed him back into the coffin. He sensed his surroundings, and with his divine sense, he realized he was trapped inside a copper-colored coffin. His Zen could extend beyond it, perceiving the Chaotic Void that surrounded him.

“My strength?” he sensed an extremely formidable power spreading through his physical body.

‘The Omniscience Path’s Ninth Stage,’ he said, his expression filled with shock. “I’ve broken through and reached the Omniscience Path’s Ninth Stage?”

“Who confined me in this coffin?” He could not fathom it. Determined to break free, he unleashed all his power to attack the coffin, but it proved futile. The coffin was enigmatic, infused with the power of the Greater Paths and potent restrictions. Even at the Omniscience Path’s Ninth Stage, he could not shatter it or escape its grasp.

He calmed himself down and tried to sense his current cultivation rank. His realm remained at the Quasi Boundless Supreme Path Rank, yet he felt an immense strength surging within him. It was as if he were continuously enhancing his power, as if he were progressing within the Quasi Boundless Rank. This strength was not overshadowed by his physical power.

“Boundless means infinite. In theory, one can cultivate strength on par with the Caelum Acme Rank even at the Quasi Boundless Supreme Path Rank. Although my current realm is only at the Quasi Boundless Supreme Path Rank, my power rivals that of the Caelum Acme Rank. It’s at least stronger than the power displayed by Xezal.” James realized, taking a deep breath.

He then utilized the power of the Omniscience Path to attack the copper coffin. Still, he could not break free.

“Who could have crafted this coffin? Who buried me here? These restrictions are truly terrifying. I can’t open it even with my current strength,” James lamented, resigning himself to his confinement.

James then tried to sense the passage of time and was alarmed by what he found. 'Thirty thousand?' he exclaimed.

The battle in the Cloud Universe happened thirty thousand epochs ago.

'Thirty thousand epochs have passed. I wonder how the Human Race is doing now.' James pondered, missing the humans and Thea.

He attempted once more to force the coffin to move forward, and this time, he found that he succeeded in controlling its movement. However, he still could not break the coffin.

He sensed his position and quickly left the Chaotic Void, heading toward a rift that appeared in the boundless void. The coffin plunged into the rift, disappearing without a trace.

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 4465-James' current strength was formidable, and he feared nothing. Though he could sense how much time had passed, he remained oblivious to the events that had unfolded during the thirty thousand epochs.

He activated the coffin, departing from that place. The next moment, he appeared in the search Doom Universe where the search Doom Race resided.

At the Apex Main Hall of the Doom's Mount Chaos, Youri sat at the forefront, while below in the main hall, numerous powerhouses of the Doom Race, including Dolph, Qimat, and several elders, were present. Over the past thirty thousand epochs, the Doods had made remarkable progress, giving birth to numerous powerhouses, and now there are twenty standing within the main hall.

"Sir Youri, will Carson encounter any unexpected situations during his expedition against the Human Race? The fact that the Human Race's providence hasn't weakened suggests they still have powerhouses protecting them," Qimat expressed with a hint of concern.

Youri waved his hand casually, wearing a smile on his face." There won't be any unexpected occurrences with Wyot accompanying him. Wyot's power is immeasurable, and he might even surpass me. Even Soren wouldn't be a match for Wyot at Wyot's peak strength." Youri had great confidence in Wyot's abilities.

Boom!

Just then, a copper coffin descended from the sky outside the entrance of the search Doom Race, crashing heavily onto the ground. The ground instantly cracked, and the rift spread like a spiderweb, rapidly extending in all directions. The appearance of the copper coffin instantly unleashed a dreadful destructive force, catching the attention of the search Doom Race's guards.

"It's the Death Copper Coffin."

"Quick, inform the rest."

The Doom Race's guards were utterly terrified upon seeing the coffin. This copper coffin had appeared thirty thousand epochs ago, and every time it surfaced, it appeared in perilous places, draining the energy from the surrounding area. Due to its mysterious nature of absorbing all kinds of energy, it earned the name "Death Copper Coffin".

Whoosh!

At that moment, numerous beams of light descended from the sky, revealing Youri and the other powerhouses of the race.

Observing the copper coffin outside the entrance, Youri's expression turned dark, and he coldly shouted, "What the heck is this thing? This is the territory of the Doms. Get out of here!"

As he shouted, he swung his hand, conjuring a powerful force that struck the copper coffin. James, inside the coffin, sensed everything outside and attempted to inquire about the current situation. However, his words could not be transmitted, and even the soundwaves failed to escape.

Faced with the formidable attack from Youri, James activated the copper coffin, causing it to soar into the air and spin rapidly. The immense power within the coffin transformed, resisting Youri's force. Although it managed to withstand the impact, it was eventually knocked back.

Youri was equally surprised and forced to step back as well. His face turned dark and dreadful. He possessed the power of the Caelum Acme Rank.

Coupled with the Omniscience Path's Ninth Stage, he was invincible across the Greater Realms. Despite so, he found himself unable to do anything against the copper coffin.

The coffin remained suspended in the air outside the Dooms entrance, emanating mysterious colors and inscription sigils. James' voice and sound waves could not reach the outside world, and he could not communicate with any living beings.

His eyes fell upon a guard nearby, and he had an idea.

Inside the copper coffin, a formidable power materialized. An unmatched force forcefully seized a search Doom Race guard. A terrifying energy emanated from the copper coffin, directly extracting the memories from the guard.

Through these memories, James learned about the events of the past thirty thousand epochs, including the fact that Yemima had given birth to a son. Wyot had named him Carson Dalibor. Carson is James' son.

Currently, Yemima was imprisoned in the search Doom Race's dungeon. Carson, along with the Doom Race army, was attacking the Human Race. Wyot wanted Carson to fight against James' son.

The truth about Carson being James' son was known only to the living beings of the Doom Race, and those from the outside world remained unaware of this fact. No one dared to reveal the truth to Carson due to the presence of Wyot in the search Doom Race.

"Damn it!" James was infuriated inside the copper coffin. The coffin swiftly traversed through the void, departing from outside the entrance of the Doom Race.

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 4466-The copper coffin vanished, and many of the search Doom Race's powerhouses wore solemn expressions. Especially Yuri, he had great confidence in his current strength, but now he could not do anything to that coffin.

"Why would the Death Copper Coffin appear in our clan?"

"What could be inside this coffin?"

All the Dooms' powerhouses were all puzzled. Among them, at the edge of the group, stood a shadowy figure. A hint of a smile seemed to emerge on its wispy face.

In a certain place in the Greater Realms, stood lush mountains. Beneath a waterfall, a woman sat cross-legged on a rock, radiating white light. She murmured to herself, "This boy has finally been resurrected. I'm glad the effort I put into resurrecting you wasn't in vain, but you're still not strong enough to break out of it on your own. Continue devoting yourself to strengthening your cultivation."

Soren was confronting Wyot above the Sealing Formation in the Sealed Realm. Wyot's overwhelming Chaos Power damaged him heavily and he spat out blood. His body was covered in wounds. The series of events left him fearful.

After communicating with Thea, Soren used the Blithe Omniscience. In an instant, his physical body traversed the Sealing Formation and left the Sealed Realm. The next moment, he appeared among the Greater Realms' forces.

As soon as he appeared, he saw numerous search Doom Race battalions and an exuberant Wyot in the void.

"Soren Plamen?"

Wyot had not met Soren before, but he had seen his portrait. Moreover, the only way of traversing the Sealing Formation was by using the Blithe Omniscience. Moreover, it required a deep understanding in order to execute.

"I didn't expect you to recover so quickly, and increase your cultivation rank. Fine, I'll kill you today and exterminate the so-called Guardian of the Human Race," Wyot stood in the void and drawled out his words. Even in faced with someone like Soren, Wyot still could not care less about his opponent.

Soren had not seen Wyot before, but he knew what he looked like. James had once presented himself as Wyot at the Cloud Race's back mountains where the formation that trapped Soren stood.

"Wyot Dalibor," Soren stared fixedly at him.

‘Yes, it’s me,” Wyot said nonchalantly. He glanced at Carson and the search Doom Race’s troops below, instructing, “All of you retreat and leave this area first. Once I’ve killed Soren and broken the formation, you can proceed to wipe out the Human Race.”

“Alright, father.”

Carson immediately withdrew with the army, leaving the Chaotic Void.

Soren looked at Wyot, whose aura thrummed vigorously. He could sense Wyot’s strength, and in response, his body radiated a white light, solidly bolstering his own aura. He did not seem weak before his opponent. If anything, he appeared to be stronger than Wyot.

Meanwhile, inside the Sealed Realm. After receiving Soren’s message, Thea immediately exclaimed, “How’s the situation in the Primordial Realm?”

The Omnipotent Lord appeared in the main hall of the Heavenly Court that belonged to the Human Race in the Twelfth Universe. He kneeled on one knee, and said,” Madam Thea, all the residents of the Primordial Realm have already evacuated.”

“Good, destroy the Primordial Realm, and merge the New Universe.”

Thea did not hesitate. She waved her hand, and a powerful force swept forth over the Primordial Realm. The Primordial Realm began to disintegrate from its sheer power. As it ruptured, a powerful force emerged and merged the dozens of universes.

At this moment, the fusion of dozens of universes had been set into motion. However, this fusion required some time to complete. The universes could not completely merge in a short period.

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 4467-Beyond the Sealed Realm, in the Greater Realms’ territory, Soren and Wyot faced each other.

Soren felt the pressure from Wyot’s overbearing aura and said, “Wyot, I never imagined you would grow this quickly. You’ve gained such terrifying power in just thirty thousand epochs. Unfortunately, you won’t be able to kill me.”

“How would you know that I can’t kill you if I haven’t even tried yet?” Wyot remained composed. He vanished from where he stood as soon as he finished speaking.

In the next moment, Wyot re-appeared in front of Soren, launching a dreadful palm strike at him. However, Soren’s body mysteriously disappeared. Wyot’s palm struck the Chaotic Void, instantly causing it to shatter to pieces.

“The Blithe Omniscience is truly amazing,” Wyot said with a faint smile.

The Blithe Omniscience was the signature cultivation method that Youri had yearned for his entire life because he could not cultivate the Chaos Sacred Art. However, Wyot was different. He possessed the Thousand Paths Holy Body, which allowed him to cultivate the Chaos Sacred Art.

Even though the Grand Patriarch had initially given the Chaos Sacred Art to Wyot’s impostor, that version was merely incomplete. The original scripture had been kept hidden in the Chamber of Scriptures. Upon his return, he naturally retrieved it.

His cultivation base was sufficient for him to practice the Nine Voices of Chaos, and he was strong enough to wield them proficiently.

“I want to see whether the Blithe Omniscience is stronger than our race’s Chaos Sacred Art.”

Soren reappeared in the distant Chaotic Void, his body emitting a white search halo that illuminated the murky surroundings.

“Soren, are you afraid to confront me directly?” Wyot asked mockingly.

“Hmph, I’m not afraid of you,” Soren snorted coldly, taking the initiative to attack. He disappeared from his original position in a flash and reappeared in front of Wyot in the next moment, thrusting a fist enveloped in white light.

Wyot’s lips curved slightly. In that instant, he struck out with his palm and thrust his palm forward. Fist and palm collided. Two incredibly powerful forces crashed into each other. The impact tore through the void, creating deep and boundless spatial rifts. The rifts continued to expand, forming Spatial Black Holes.

The devastating aftershock continued to spread, and the distant seal could not withstand the force, cracking and giving way. The seal disappeared, revealing dozens of universes in the Chaotic Void.

“Carson, attack!” Wyot immediately commanded. His thunderous voice reverberated through the Chaotic Void.

“Lead our army against the Human Race and obliterate the dozens of universes they created. Don’t spare a single soul in these universes, regardless of their race.”

From a distant region, Carson nodded in assent. Holding a spear high, he roared, “Warriors, heed my command!

Charge!”

“Charge!”

The deafening sound echoed through the Chaotic Void, releasing terrifying soundwaves.

Meanwhile, Thea was activating the fusion of the universes. Sensing the momentary disappearance of the Sealing Formation, her expression changed slightly, and she immediately issued an order, “Prevent the search Doom Race’s army from closing in. Don’t let them destroy our universes. Efforts from countless ages will go to waste if they succeed.”

Following Thea’s command, Winnie, Xainte, Jacopo, Noel, Jabari, Matthias, and Quiomars flew out to the Chaos, obstructing the search Doom Race’s army.

Swish!

Suddenly, a crack appeared in the void, and a copper coffin emerged from it. It floated between the two armies.
