The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 4476-All of them saw how the copper coffin had conjured the shadowy silhouette.

Not only did the figure manage to block Dolph's attacks successfully, it also unleashed Chaos Power, the Doom Race's signature power. In addition, it even used the Blithe Omniscience, the Human Race's extraordinary cultivation art.

One had to fulfill strict requirements to be able to learn the Blithe Omniscience. Firstly, the cultivator must have already reached at least the Eighth Stage of the Omniscience Path to qualify. Secondly, they had to possess excellent mental fortitude.

"How is this possible?!" Youri was in a state of shock. "Wyt is the only person from the Dooms who can wield Chaos Power in its complete form! Why does the person in the copper coffin know how to wield it too? Could it be..."

Youri was instantly reminded of James Caden, the human cultivator who impersonated Wyt.

"That's impossible!" Youri slowly shook his head. "That guy sacrificed himself during the battle in the Cloud Realm. The only thing that was left of him was his bones. We couldn't even detect a hint of life from those bones. He couldn't have survived that!"

Soren had a bewildered look on his face.

I'm the only one who knows how to cultivate the Blithe Omniscience. The only person I had ever taught the cultivation method to was James. Though he hadn't fully mastered the Blithe Omniscience when I saw him last.

'Yet, that silhouette had just performed the Blithe Omniscience just now. What exactly did I just see?' Soren wondered.

"Is that really him?" Soren mumbled in a shaky voice.

It was close to impossible for anyone to survive after having chosen to sacrifice themselves the way James did.

“Could it really be him?” Thea muttered to herself after watching the Twelfth Universe’s situation from afar.

On the other hand, Dolph suffered severe injuries after being attacked by the dark figure. Fine cracks spread out from the spot where he was punched, and they gradually reached other parts of his body.

Dolph quickly focused his powers to stop the cracks from spreading. However, he could not help but feel slightly shaken by the shadow’s strength.

‘I just reached the Quasi Caelum Acme Rank. Yet, it managed to stop me with just one hit. The person inside the copper coffin must be a Caelum Acmean...’ Dolph theorized.

Just then, several inscriptions appeared outside the coffin. These inscriptions moved toward the Doom Race’s troops and slowly formed a word in archaic script.

“Die.”

As the word levitated in the air above them, the Dooms’ soldiers could not help but feel threatened. They were well aware that they were no match for the being inside the coffin after witnessing how it took down their leader, Dolph.

In just a matter of minutes, the odds shifted in favor of the Human Race as the copper coffin managed to stop the advance of the Doom Race’s armies.

At the same time, Youri and the others were still keeping watch over Soren in their universe.

“Wyot, do you think you can defeat the being inside the copper coffin?” Youri asked.

Wyot was very assured in his strength and skills. ‘Tm positive I can defeat or even kill the being inside that coffin.’

“Alright.” Youri instructed, “We’ll monitor Soren. You should destroy the coffin and find out what is in it. Kill the being inside. Once that thing is gone, we’ll be able to exterminate the humans.”

“Understood.”

A crack formed next to Wyot immediately. Then, he stepped through the crack and disappeared from sight.

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 4477-As soon as Wyot used the Space Path to travel through space, Soren vanished from his spot as well. He appeared right next to the copper coffin before Wyot did. Wyot could never outspeed Soren since the latter could use the Blithe Omniscience.

“Is that you, James?” Soren asked.

James could hear Soren’s voice coming from outside the coffin. However, he could not tell Soren his identity since the coffin prevented him from doing so. Not long after that, Wyot appeared somewhere near them. Youri, Hirah, and Xezal materialized in the distance one after the other as well.

The group carefully moved toward Soren and surrounded him again.

Soren knitted his brows in response.

‘I can’t let Youri and his group come here. Even though there’s quite some distance between where we are now and the human universes, a battle between cultivators of the Caelum Acme Rank will definitely affect our universes.’ Grimaced Soren.

“We should just attack him together. We can destroy the Human Race’s new universe in one shot as well,” Youri suggested.

“I’m not sure if you’re really James, but I’ll leave this place to you. I’m going to head to the search Doom Realm.”

Soren teleported and vanished right after saying that.

‘The only thing I can do now is to lure as many of the Doooms’ cultivators to me. I have no choice but to entrust the fight with Wyot Dalibor to the being inside the coffin. Still, was that the right thing to do? Even I find it difficult to withstand Wyot’s attacks. Would the person inside the coffin be able to defeat Wyot?’ Soren wondered anxiously.

Youri and the others activated the Space Path again to pursue Soren. Wyot was the only one who remained in front of the copper coffin. The man turned his gaze toward Dolph.

“Father, are you alright?”

Dolph wiped off some blood from his lips with the back of his hand. “I only have minor injuries. It’s nothing to worry about.”

“I’ll hold this thing back. You should lead our men and attack the humans. We mustn’t let the humans fuse their universes,” Wyot replied.

“Alright.” Dolph nodded.

At the same time, Winnie, Xainte, and the others readied for battle at the human army’s frontlines. They were all cautiously waiting for Dolph’s next move.

As for James, he could not help but regret not having eliminated Wyot when he had the chance in the past.

‘I had a suspicion that Wyot would grow to become a mighty opponent someday. Unfortunately, I couldn’t kill him back then since it would affect the Human Race’s existence.’ James thought.

James activated the Omniscience Path the next instant. He could feel his pulse rising as he entered the Ninth Rank of Omniscience Path. His aura skyrocketed. His tremendous energy overflowed from the coffin and formed the shadowy figure again.

The figure stood before the coffin. No one could tell its gender or its age since it had no defining features. However, everyone could sense the overpowering aura it exuded.

“What the hell...” Wyot muttered through clenched teeth.

He raised his sword and rushed toward the figure. In a flash, numerous swords were formed in the sky with the powers of the Greater Paths. All of those swords flew toward the figure and copper coffin.

The figure lifted its arms and formed innumerable inscriptions all at once. The inscriptions quickly gathered around the figure and the coffin to form a protective barrier.

Loud explosions could be heard as the swords crashed into the barrier one after another. Eventually, James' barrier was on the verge of breaking.

Although James had learned the Primal Mantra and used ancient inscriptions for the barrier, the inscriptions were not strong enough to hold against Wyot's attacks since James was only at the Quasi Boundless Rank.

Just as the barrier broke, the dark figure vanished from its position. It traveled across space to the remaining swords and destroyed them instantly with its power.

As soon as the swords dissipated, the coffin suddenly flew toward Wyot at full speed.

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 4478-The copper coffin was a deadly and indestructible weapon in itself. It took Xezal's true form an epoch to finish making it. Furthermore, Xezal was a powerful and talented powerhouse whose cultivation rank remained a mystery to others still.

As the copper coffin shot toward Wyot. The force of the movement destroyed the space along its path. Wyot was not intimidated by the strength shown by the being inside the coffin. He lifted his sword and prepared to parry the coffin's charge.

As the coffin reached him, Wyot channeled his powers into his sword and blasted the coffin with full force. At the same time, an immense energy radiated from the copper coffin. To Wyot's surprise, he found that he could not deflect or repel the coffin.

Both Wyot and the copper coffin were sent flying several hundred meters away from each other in opposite directions upon impact.

Just then, Dolph ordered his men to attack the human powerhouses. As he had steadied the copper coffin, James could see the search Doom Race's troops rushing toward Jacopo and the others with various weapons in their hands.

The copper coffin vanished from its original position and materialized before the army in the next instant. The Dooms saw the coffin gleam with a bronze light.

Then, the coffin released a huge wave of energy in the direction of the search Doom Race's armies. The energy wave crashed over their soldiers and eliminated almost everyone that had lower cultivation ranks. In a matter of seconds, the Dooms had lost a majority of their military force.

Still, the Acmeans that came with Dolph remained as they suffered little to no injuries from James' attack. These Acmeans continued to advance toward the human cultivators.

Suddenly, the shadow-like figure conjured by James materialized before the Acmeans. It raised both arms and unleashed its powers, shoving the 300 Acmeans backward almost instantaneously. That powerful strike was enough to deal severe damage to the Acmeans and immobilize them instantly.

"Damn it!"

Wyt's face was red with anger. As he tightened his grip over the sword handle, the blade of his sword seemed to quiver more intensely.

James narrowed his eyes as he noticed the change in Wyt's aura. He immediately used his powers to push and send all the human powerhouses back into the perimeter of the human universe.

As soon as he had finished sending the last person to safety, James could sense a massive Sword Energy accompanied by a threatening sound wave coming toward him. Wyt's attack was so powerful that it destroyed the Chaos' surroundings nearby as it traveled toward its target.

At that point, the gray figure had formed a sword in its hand. It tried to counter the attack using the First Tone of the Chaos' Nine Voices, the same attack that Wyt had just used.

James might have only reached the Quasi Boundless Rank. However, the copper coffin had constantly absorbed powers from its surroundings for the past 30,000 epochs. The accumulation of energy benefited James greatly. Although his cultivation rank did not compare to that of Wyt's, James nonetheless could wield a tremendous amount of power.

Boom!

A huge explosion could be heard as the two similar attacks made contact.

In a flash, numerous cracks started forming in the space around them. The cracks even began to spread toward the human universe.

When they saw that, Thea quickly used her powers to stop the cracks from reaching and destroying their universe.

On the other hand, Yuri's and Hirah's expressions hardened after witnessing the exchange between Wyot and the copper coffin. Both sides were quite evenly matched.

"Is the person inside that coffin really James Caden?!" Yuri said through gritted teeth.

"It's highly possible." Hirah continued, "I gave him a copy of the Chaos Sacred Art back when he impersonated Wyot." Both men knew who was being held inside the coffin as soon as they saw the figure unleash the First Tone of Chaos' Nine Voices. However, they could not fathom how he was brought back to life after having sacrificed himself 30,000 epochs ago.
