The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 4489-Wyot fell into thought. Naturally, he knew this was their best chance to eliminate the humans.

Thinking of how powerful the living being in the copper coffin was, Wyot subconsciously clenched his fist, and his face became grim.

After a while, Wyot said, "We'll call it quits for now. During this period, I'll work hard to cultivate and enter the Caelum Acme Rank. The humans will be destroyed as long as I become a Caelum Acmean."

Wyot was confident in his potential. His main priority now was to recuperate and enter the Caelum Acme Rank as soon as possible.

"Alright." Youri nodded lightly.

Since Wyot had a plan in mind, Youri had no objection.

'You recuperate at ease.'

After leaving an encouraging word, Youri turned around and left.

Wyot closed his eyes and began to focus on healing his injuries. He was severely injured, and it would take some time before he fully recovered.

Somewhere in the Greater Realms was a beautiful mountain range with abundant Empyrean Spiritual Energy, making it feel like a paradise.

Swoosh!!!

A crack appeared in the void, and a worn-out copper coffin flew out.

A woman was sitting in a lotus position on a rock before a waterfall. The woman's body radiated with white light, making it hard to see her appearance.

She waved her hand, and the copper coffin flew toward her, then landed on a stone before her.

It was none other than Xezal. To be precise, it was Xezal's main body.

Xezal gradually stood up and walked over to the coffin. Her gaze penetrated through the copper coffin and saw James' skeletal body.

James' skeletal body still had some vitality and aura. Compared to 30,000 Epochs ago, his condition was much better.

She casually waved her hand, and a white light emerged from her palm.

The white light landed on the copper coffin, and its energy sank into it. James' flesh and blood regenerated, and his injuries recovered rapidly.

James gradually regained consciousness. When he woke up, he was surprised to find that he had fully recovered. He quickly released his Divine Sense to the outside surrounding of the copper coffin.

"Who are you?" A few inscriptions emerged from the coffin and turned into texts.

Boom!!!

The copper coffin burst open, and restrictive inscriptions disappeared.

James got out of the copper coffin. His face was joyful as he breathed in the refreshing air and sensed heaven and earth.

"Huff!!!"

James took another deep breath and looked at the woman before him.

The woman was surrounded by a mysterious white light, seemingly to be a kind of mysterious Path. Even at James' cultivation rank, his Divine Sense could not penetrate the white light to learn more about the mysterious woman.

"Were you the one that saved me?" he asked tentatively.

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 4490-James could not gather any information about the woman before him. Thus, he concluded she must be a very powerful cultivator.

Xezal waved her hand, and a gazebo with seats instantly appeared out of nowhere. She pointed to the chairs and said, "How about we chat while seated?"

James sat down inside the gazebo.

Xezal also walked over and sat opposite him.

He stared at her and repeated his question. "Who are you?"

She replied, "Who I am isn't important."

Her voice sounded sweet and pleasant to the ears.

James asked uncertainly, "You saved me, right? Did you build this copper coffin for me?"

Xezal did not deny it and nodded lightly, saying, "Yeah, I built it for you. Although I made it, I'm surprised you survived."

"Can I see your face?" James stared at the woman, curious about her appearance.

The woman smiled faintly and said, "It's not time yet. You'll get to see me when it's the right time."

Since she refused, James did not insist anymore and fell into thought.

James thought he was already one of the strongest in the Greater Realms. However, even as he climbed the cultivation ranks, there would always be someone stronger than him.

There was always a bigger fish in the ocean.

"Do you have something to tell me? If not, I'll take my leave first."

James stood up and clasped his hands.

In a world where strength meant everything, James could not help but speak respectfully toward the woman before him.

The woman lightly waved her hand and said, "The situation in the Greater Realms seems pretty stable now, but it isn't. The Dooms are a ticking time bomb. They'll launch an attack on the humans anytime soon."

James sat down again.

The woman mentioned the Dooms and humans, so James knew she must have something important to tell him.

Xezal continued, saying, "The battle of luck will be crucial. The Dooms have conquered the other races and acquired their luck in the past thirty thousand years. Thus, they have an increase in Caelum Acmeans and powerhouses. You'll need to acquire even stronger luck for the humans to catch up to them. Conquering the luck of other races isn't the only option. In fact, Karma also plays a huge part."

Confused, James asked, "What do you mean?"

Xezal explained, "Karma is the most important element of the Chaos Heavenly Path. Every act produces a reaction. One can obtain good Karma by performing good deeds. As your good Karma increases, your luck will also improve. However, one person alone isn't enough to change the humans' luck. The humans as a whole will have to work together to have a steady increase in fortune."

Hearing this, James understood.

"Thank you for the tip."

The woman waved her hand slightly and said, "Go on. I'm looking forward to when you become a peerless powerhouse."

"Farewell, Madam."

James did not stay any longer and disappeared in a flash.

The next moment, he was already in the Chaotic Void outside the Human Universe.

The Human Universe was still going through a merging process to become a Super Universe. Although the Dooms' powerhouses had already withdrawn, countless human powerhouses remained to guard outside the Human Universe.

They feared the Dooms would suddenly appear again and launch an unexpected attack. Then, the humans' efforts would be in vain.

As soon as James appeared outside the Human Universe, he sensed many familiar auras.

It had been a long time since he left for the Greater Realms. Moreover, he had been dead for the past 30,000 Epochs and had not seen many of his family and friends for a long time.

James was excited after seeing his family and friends outside the Human Universe. He quickly approached and appeared in front of them in a flash.

"Who's there?"
