The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 4509-James activated the Blithe Omniscience and appeared in the Stone Universe's Desolate Galaxy. Shortly after, he arrived on Planet Desolation.

Like before, the planet was guarded by a powerful ancient formation. Ordinary cultivators that are not familiar with these kinds of formations were unable to decipher it.

However, it was nothing to James.

James easily broke through the formation and entered Planet Desolation. Then, he headed toward the Desolate Grand Canyon.

The Desolate Grand Canyon was left behind from the second Sky Burial. It was a heavenly abyss with an unknown space within it. Nobody knew what was hidden within it.

James, on the other hand, had a rough guess on what it could be.

He suspected the Invincible Sect, a powerful sect that had existed since before the second Sky Burial, had been hiding with the Desolate Grand Canyon.

It was possible the Invincible Sect might have even survived the first Sky Burial Age.

James approached the Desolate Grand Canyon and looked at the crack in the void. He recalled the decisive death battle in Planet Desolation and the moment he obtained the Primal Mantra.

He activated the Blithe Omniscience and attempted to enter the unknown space. However, he was unable to pass through the restrictive barrier.

James was blocked by a powerful force, and he was knocked backward.

After several meters, he neutralized the force and balanced himself.

He walked over to the Desolate Grand Canyon again and shouted, "My name is James Caden! I've come to visit!

Please open the formation."

His voice echoed throughout the area.

"Haha..."

A burst of laughter resounded, then a man wearing a white robe walked out of the crack in the Desolate Grand Canyon. The man looked rather dashing but seemed very approachable.

He approached James, patted his shoulder, and said smilingly, "I knew you would come to see me."

James glared at him and asked, "How could you be so sure?"

Wyndael replied with a smile, "Because I was sure you'd be curious. You're considered one of the strongest in the Greater Realms. With your strength, you led the Human Race into prosperity. From the publicly known powerhouses, only a handful of cultivators can stand against you. I knew you would be curious about the Greater Realm and the Chaos' secrets. Most importantly, you'd want to learn more about Thea's background to find her."

"Bring me to the Invincible Sect," said James.

"This way, please!" Wyndael made a welcoming gesture and led James through the Grand Desolate Canyon.

They entered an unknown area that had abundant Empyrean Spiritual Energy. Even the humans' Super Universe could not compare to this place.

James scanned the area and found the place was huge. The size of it was similar to that of the Human Universe.

Moreover, there were many powerful auras throughout the area.

He could sense at least ten Caelum Acmeans in the area, and there must be even more that he could not detect.

After analyzing the Invincible Sect's strength, James gasped in shock.

If the Invincible Sect were to go public, they could easily conquer the Greater Realms. His previous battles with the Doms and the other major races of the Greater Realms must have looked like child's play to the Invincible Sect.

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 4510-The Invincible Sect was a terrifying existence.

James could sense the aura of their powerhouses. He knew these cultivators could easily wipe out the Doom Race and Human Race altogether.

Under Wyndael's guidance, James arrived in a hall atop a spiritual mountain.

Wyndael sat in the highest seat, and his temperament shifted drastically.

Previously, he was rather friendly toward James. But now, he looked like an invincible powerhouse, and his body emitted a terrifying aura.

"Let me formally introduce myself, James. My name is Wyndael Klein, and I'm the Invincible Sect's Leader."

James was slightly taken aback. It never crossed his mind that Wyndael was the Invincible Sect's Leader.

He quickly recomposed himself, clasped his hands, and said, "It's an honor to meet you, Sir Wyndael."

"You don't need to be so formal."

Wyndael waved his hand and dispersed his terrifying aura, returning to his previous casual demeanor. He descended from the highest seat and walked over to James. Then, he pointed toward some chairs aside and said, "Let's chat over there."

James sat down, and Wyndael followed to sit beside him.

Wyndael said straightforwardly, "I know you must have many questions. I'll tell you about my sect first. The Invincible Sect existed before the first Sky Burial Age. After the first Sky Burial, our sect chose to stay hidden from the Greater Realms. We've had to migrate our headquarters several times."

James asked, "What exactly are Sky Burials? I've heard many powerhouses died during the first Sky Burial. Are they really dead?"

Wyndael became serious at the mention of Sky Burials.

'The Sky Burial is actually related to powerhouses from outside territory."

"Outside territory?" James was stunned.

Wyndael said, "Yeap. The outsider territory refers to regions outside of the Chaos. The Greater Realms had been formed inside the Chaos, and we have many universes. However, the Chaos' restrictions prevent living beings from leaving it. No matter how strong one is, going beyond the Chaos is impossible. There are more regions beyond it, and they are called the outside territory.

"From what I know, the powerhouses from the outside territory can sense the Chaos' exact location once a certain amount of Caelum Acmean has been reached. Therefore, they'll launch an attack on the Chaos, and seize our resources.

"If there aren't many powerhouses in the Chaos, then the creatures from the outside territory won't be able to locate the Chaos."

James began to understand the situation and thought to himself, 'No wonder Teresa mentioned the Sky Burial is like a defense mechanism, and it was done to protect the living beings in the Chaos.'

"Have powerhouses from the outside territory successfully infiltrated our Chaos before? Are they strong?" asked James.

Wyndael replied, "Of course. Before the first Sky Burial, the Chaos had countless powerhouses, including the Human Race's Yardos Xagorari and the Doom Race's Grand Patriarch. During the battle of the first Sky Burial, the Doom Race's Grand Patriarch severely injured a powerhouse of the outside territory with his Heaven Piercing Sword Art.

"Countless powerhouses died during the battle against the outside powerhouses. After many of our powerhouses were sacrificed, the Chaos sealed itself off. The powerhouses from the outside territory could no longer sense the Chaos' existence nor enter the Chaos."

Wyndael shared some information with James.

James understood the Sky Burial happened because the Chaos could not allow too many powerhouses to exist as it would threaten its lifespan.

He had learned from the Yaneiri Clan that the Chaos Heavenly Path had a limited lifespan. The third Sky Burial would be the destruction of the Chaos Heavenly Path. The Chaos Heavenly Path's lifespan could only be extended if a powerhouse entered the Chaos Rank.

James asked, "What's the reason these powerhouses from the outside territory invaded the Chaos?" asked James.

Wyndael shook his head lightly and replied, "I'm not too sure."

In the past, he avoided the first Sky Burial and did not participate in the battle.
