The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 4551-‘The Blessed Land is about to appear soon.’ “Where could it be? So many powerhouses have been searching for it in the past few Epochs, but no one has located it yet.”

“Only peerless powerhouses will be capable of finding it. Perhaps they’ve already found it, but we can only wait for the news to be released since we aren’t qualified to learn about it yet.”

The powerhouses from all over the Welkin District gathered and discussed the Blessed Land.

James wore a black robe and sat in the corner of the tavern. He listened to their conversations and discovered the Blessed Land was called the Yhala Realm. It was left behind by an incredible powerhouse of ancient times called Yhala Samaris.

Yhala was a well-known powerhouse from the Theos District. Her strength was only below the Theos District’s Leader. It was rumored she had already reached the peak of the Caelum Acme Rank and was close to entering the Chaos Rank. A different version also was spread, saying that she had already entered the Chaos Rank but was killed by a powerhouse at the Chaos Rank. After her death, she left many treasures and even the method of entering the Chaos Rank within the Yhala Realm.

Inside the tavern, the powerhouses chatted about the legendary figure and the missing Chaos District.

Suddenly, a man stood up and immediately caught everyone’s attention.

“I’m probably the most informed about the Chaos District since my sect’s ancient books have many records about them.

With a proud smug, he said, “It’s rumored the Chaos District is in hiding. When the Chaos District’s powerhouses surpass a number that the Chaos District can no longer handle, their auras will leak out, and powerhouses from the Endlos’ Nine District will be able to locate it.

“This has happened before. Countless powerhouses from the Endlos’ Nine Districts sensed the Chaos District’s aura and searched for it out of curiosity. Many of them attempted to invade the Chaos District. Unfortunately, the Chaos District’s powerhouses were no pushovers, and many succumbed in battle, including Yhala.

James listened attentively to the man’s stories.

He never expected the Yhala Realm’s owner to be linked to the Chaos District. From his understanding, he only knew the Doms’ Chaos Master used the Heaven Piercing Sword Art to pierce through the Chaos and severely injured invaders from the outer bounds.

James pondered, ‘A powerhouse from the Chaos District killed her? Who could it have been? Was it the Chaos Master that severely injured Yhala?’

Boom!

Suddenly, an explosion erupted in the Endlos’ Void.

The sound came from a faraway region. However, the shock waves of a battle between powerhouses were terrifying enough to reach them. Despite being far apart, those in the tavern could still sense the permeating force.

Everyone got to their feet after sensing the powerful shock waves.

“What powerful force.”

“Could they be fighting because the Yhala Realm has appeared?”

Everyone excitedly left the universe, heading toward where the shock waves originated.

James stood up and disappeared from the tavern without any hesitation. The next moment, he appeared in the Endlos’ Void. After identifying where the shock waves were coming from, James quickly advanced in that direction.

He activated the Blithe Omniscience and traveled a great distance in a flash.

Along the way, the permeating shock waves destroyed several universes. The universe disintegrated, and almost all the living beings in it were killed.
