The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 4576-James began to rain on her parade.

“Stop it.”

Waleria rolled her eyes at James and said, “Stay here for a few years. After that, we’ll use our status as elders to search for information. Once we find out where Yvan is, it will be our time to make a move.”

Waleria could sense that the sigil she planted was in this universe.

However, at the same time, Yvan was trying to get rid of the sigil she had planted. Currently, the energy of the sigil was weak. It might even be erased completely in hundreds of years.

Yvan was a peerless powerhouse. Since the sigil energy was weak, Waleria could not sense his location. Thus, she could only rely on her status as the elder of the Daemonium Sect to search for him.

Lazily, James said, “That’s your business. You can do that alone. I’ll be waiting for you here.”

Waleria stayed silent.

She closed her eyes and began to meditate.

Meanwhile, James had other plans.

The status of a Daemonium Sect’s elder was high.

This universe was bustling. It was not weaker than the Human Universe birthed by the Chaos District. In this universe, there were countless spiritual mountains and lands. There were also numerous high-quality herbs.

James was thinking of using the status of an elder to obtain some herbs.

“What should I do?” He mumbled as he rubbed his chin.

Then, an idea popped up in his mind. “I got it.”

At once, he stood up and left the place.

Waleria did not care about what James was doing.

This spiritual mountain was arranged for James and Waleria by the deputy leader. There were many warriors and chambermaids in the mountain.

James came to the apex main hall of the spiritual mountain.

When he arrived at the main hall, many disciples of the Daemonium Sect showed up.

They were all arranged by the deputy leader.

Among the disciples, there were guardians and leaders.

“Mr. Simpson.”

Many disciples knelt on the ground on one knee.

James, disguised as Herman, sat in the main seat. With a bright smile, he said, “It’s my first time coming here. I don’t know any elders of the Daemonium Sect. Please send a message saying I, Herman, will hold a banquet. All powerhouses from our sect and the universe are invited.”

James thought that the powerhouses would bring gifts when they came to his territory.

“Cough, cough.”

All of a sudden, he coughed out blood. His face also turned pale.

Concerned, the subordinates in the main hall asked, “Mr. Simpson, are you alright?”

Waving his hand, James responded weakly, “I was injured while being pursued by the Theos Sect. It isn’t a big deal. I only need to find a few rare Empyrean herbs. I will recover quickly after consuming them.”

James said that intentionally.

On the other hand, the subordinates took his words to heart.

“Send invitations to famous families, sects, and powerhouses of the universe. I want to make connections with the powerhouses of this universe. After all, having friends will make things easier.

‘The gathering will be held in three years.”

After saying that, James left.

Then, the disciples of the Daemonium Sect on this spiritual mountain got to work.

The news also spread throughout the universe.

‘The Simpson couple joined the Daemonium Sect and became elders.”

‘The Simpson couple will hold a banquet in three years.

They’ve invited many powerhouses.”

“I heard Herman suffered injuries when the Theos Sect pursued him. It seems that he needs several Empyrean herbs.”

In the blink of an eye, all kinds of news spread in the universe.

The Daemonium Sect was the most powerful sect in this universe.

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 4577-The elders of the Daemonium Sect were equivalent to the top of the pyramid in this universe. If the sects or families wanted a stable foothold in this universe, they had to have support.

Meanwhile, the elders of the Daemonium Sect were mysterious. Most of the families and sects could not meet them.

Now, Herman wanted to invite all powerhouses to his banquet.

To the powerhouses, this was an opportunity.

All of them prepared gifts, wanting to please James, who was Herman.

James did not know how many powerhouses would come. He also had no idea how many powerhouses would bring gifts.

Anyway, he had nothing to do now, and the amount of herbs he could get depended on his fortune.

Waleria had been watching all his actions.

At the apex of the back mountain, James sat on a rock.

Deep in thought, he stared at the scenery in the distance with a heavy expression.

Swoosh!

A ray of black light appeared.

Waleria, wearing a black dress, appeared before James. She glanced at him and reminded him, "Don't forget what we came here for. Why are you holding a huge gathering the moment you arrive? If you ruin my plan, I won't forgive you."

Immediately, James came back to his senses. With a smile, he said, "How can I ruin your plan? Now, the entire Daemonium Sect believes we're the Simpson couple. If we don't do anything, people will be suspicious of us. You can ignore the gathering. Go and find the information you want."

"I know what I'm doing."

After that, Waleria left.

Meanwhile, James sat in the same spot and stared blankly in the distance.

In the blink of an eye, three years went by.

Today was a big day for Mount Darkwind.

In the main hall of Mount Darkwind, James sat in the main seat. He looked at the powerhouses in the main hall and was full of smiles. He stood up and greeted the powerhouses.

"I'm Mahi Torres of the Clark family. We brought a Ganoderma of ten thousand epochs for you."

Congratulations on joining the Daemonium Sect.”

A voice sounded before a row of people walked into the main hall.

James immediately walked up to them. Looking at them, he smiled and said, “I’m happy you’re here. Why did you bring gifts?”

James held an elder’s hand as if they were old friends. He asked, “What kind of herb is this Ganoderma?”

“Mr. Herman, I’m only a subordinate. He’s the family head.”

The elder panicked.

Instantly, James let him go. Looking at a middle-aged man in the crowd, he smiled. ‘Thank you for the gift. Please sit.”

“I’m Lucian Gordon. The Wolf Race has brought the five Acme-grade herbs for you. Congratulations on joining the Daemonium Sect.”

Another voice sounded.

When James heard they brought Acme-grade herbs, he could not contain his smile. Right away, he walked away from the Clark family and welcomed the Wolf Race.

Everyone who came to Mount Darkwind today was famous in this universe. They were either from great families, sects, or races.

All of them prepared gifts.

The gifts were all rare herbs.

During the banquet, James made a speech.

‘Thank you for attending this banquet. From now on, we, the Simpson couple, will work together with everyone. If any of you needs us, please just inform us.”

James’ voice resounded in the main hall.

Waleria was also in the main hall.

Upon seeing James' hypocritical expression, she wanted to punch him.

However, she could not expose James. Hence, she spoke a few words before finding an excuse to leave.

Meanwhile, James kept greeting the powerhouses in the main hall.

The banquet went on for several days before ending.

The powerhouses from all around the universe left one by one. Then, James went to count the gifts he received.

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 4578-James intentionally spread the news that he got injured during the pursuit of the Theos Sect and that he needed rare Empyrean herbs to recover.

Thus, most gifts he received during the banquet on Mount Darkwind were Empyrean herbs.

"One Caelum Acme-grade herb."

"Five Terra Acme-grade herbs."

"Forty-eight Permanence Acme-grade herbs."

"Three hundred and sixty Quasi Acme-grade herbs."

"One thousand and four hundred Ninth Stair Macrocosm Ancestral God herbs."

Looking at the list, James smiled brightly.

He stared at the eye-catching herbs before him before keeping them in the Space Treasure.

With these herbs, his blood vein could reach a higher realm. Even though he could not reach the peak, it would be easy to break the seal left by the Blood Ancestral Master.

After putting away the herbs, he went to rest happily.

Meanwhile, Waleria did not care much about James. Following the departure of the powerhouses, she too left Mount Darkwind quietly. She went to find out the whereabouts of Yvan, the sect leader of the Daemonium

Sect.

She was certain Yvan was hiding and recuperating in this universe.

She had to find Yvan as soon as possible. She had to obtain the last rune to open the Yhala Realm before Yvan's recovery.

James also did not care about what Waleria was doing.

He was not worried about her safety.

Waleria was a true powerhouse. In this universe, she was invincible. Even the sect leader of the Daemonium Sect was not her match.

However, this was only the case because the Daemonium Sect's sect leader was injured.

James did not know who would win in a fight if the sect leader of the Daemonium Sect recovered.

Waleria had gone out for a month and had not returned.

James had nothing to do.

Sitting on a rock at the top of the back mountain, he looked at the scenery in the distance and mumbled to himself, "Saachi came to the Theos District with the intention of joining the Daemonium Sect and becoming the top powerhouse in the sect. She wanted to use the power of the sect to return to the Aeternus District. It's been such a long time. I wonder if she's joined the Daemonium Sect."

James thought of Saachi.

He came to the Theos District under her lead.

He also thought of Xezal, Teresa's clone.

When he left, Xezal helped him get out of the district. At a critical moment, he was attacked by the Blood Ancestral Master, and the power blew James and Xezal away.

After arriving at the Endlos Void, the two separated.

“I wonder how Xezal is doing now,” mumbled James.

Nonetheless, he was not worried about Xezal’s safety.

Even though she was only a clone, her main self was terrifying. Her main self’s ability was only weaker than the Blood Ancestral Master. In the Chaos District, she was one of the most powerful powerhouses.

It was highly likely that she was also a peerless powerhouse in the Endlos’ Nine Districts.

“Between Teresa and Waleria at her peak, I wonder who’s stronger.”

James was curious.

He had never seen Teresa and Waleria at their peak, so he could not compare them.

Sitting on the rock with his legs crossed, he tried to sense the sigil left behind in the Chaos District.

However, no matter how much he tried, he could not sense the sigil he had left in the Chaos District.

“Perhaps I can’t sense the sigil because my cultivation rank isn’t high enough. I’m sure I’ll sense the sigil when I grow stronger. Once I do, I’ll return to the Chaos District.”

James took a deep breath.

He stopped thinking about those matters.

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 4579-He waited for three months.

Three months later, Waleria returned and appeared before James.

For those three months, James had been meditating.

Upon sensing Waleria's aura, he opened his eyes and jumped from the rock. Appearing before Waleria, he asked, ' Did you find anything?"

Waleria answered, "In the past months, I've traveled to a few flourishing planets in this universe. I tried to sense where Yvan was, but I couldn't sense him."

James no longer wanted to listen to Waleria. He sat down on the rock again.

Waleria spoke up, "However, Zeloneth has appeared. He's in the main hall of Mount Darkwind right now. He claims that Sir Yvan wants to see us and that there's a huge matter to discuss."

Upon hearing that, James stood up.

Waleria glanced at him and said, "It's the perfect opportunity. Once Zeloneth takes us to Yvan, I will make a move upon seeing the nebula. You need to be careful. Don't be caught."

James vowed, "Don't worry. Even if you get caught, I won't get caught."

"Just follow me, and don't speak."

Waleria reminded James.

Then, she walked toward the Apex Main Hall along with James.

When they arrived in the main hall, a masked man was wearing a black robe sitting in the main seat.

James and Waleria walked over to him and greeted him.

"Greetings, Mr. Gratz."

Zeloneth waved his hand and looked at the two of them. He asked, "Have you gotten accustomed to the place?"

James smiled and said, "Yes. There are mountains and rivers here. After being on the run for so long, I finally have the chance to relax. We have you to thank for all this."

Zeloneth laughed and said, "That's good, then. I've informed Sir Yvan about you joining the sect. There's something important Sir Yvan wants to tell you."

Upon hearing that, James could not help but ask, "What is it?"

Zeloneth sighed and said, "Sir Yvan had a battle against Waleria of the Theos Sect. Both parties were severely injured. Waleria ran away while Sir Yvan recuperated.

"Sir Yvan has always been worried about Waleria attacking him once she recovers. Sir Yvan fears Waleria's Revitalizing Art. She needs to be located before she succeeds in her Revitalizing Art. Otherwise, it will only bring trouble in the future."

Zeloneth brought up the matter.

"For millions of years, our sect has been searching for traces of Waleria. However, even after conducting searches in countless universes, we could not find Waleria's whereabouts. Sir Yvan wants you to find her."

Excitedly, Waleria said, "Finding Waleria is easy. Let's meet Sir Yvan first. I can finally meet my hero."

"Come with me."

Zeloneth's body flashed and disappeared from the main seat. At the next moment, he appeared in the main hall.

He left with Waleria and James.

Waleria grew excited.

Meanwhile, James was not happy because his life was at stake.

Once they met the sect leader of the Daemonium Sect, Yvan, an intense battle would break out. This battle would greatly affect many universes.

James did not know if Waleria could defeat Yvan.

He followed behind Waleria quietly.

He was following Waleria to take her away at critical moments.

Besides, he had studied the formations in this universe. The formations were profound, but they were simple to him.

Since his blood vein had improved, he could use Path Energy. Moreover, he had the Primal Mantra, hence the formations in this universe were a piece of cake to him.

He could break them instantly.

Once he made a crack in the formations, he could use the Blithe Omniscience to escape from this universe.

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 4580-Under Zeloneth's lead, James and Waleria left Mount Darkwind.

They entered the Macrocosm Void. They walked through the void and arrived at a remote planet. The planet was not prosperous. In fact, it was rather average. The Empyrean Spiritual Energy on this planet was faint.

"Does the sect leader reside here?" James could not help but ask.

Zeloneth explained, "The sect leader is injured, so he's been recuperating. He doesn't want any living beings to disturb him. Thus, he chose this planet as it does not have Empyrean Spiritual Energy."

James frowned. There was something odd about this matter.

If the sect leader did not want to be disturbed, he could just find a prosperous planet. With the status of the Daemonium Sect's sect leader, who would dare trouble him?

"Let's go."

Zeloneth stepped forward and entered the planet.

Somewhere on the planet was a mountain range.

The mountain range was covered in black fog, making the area appear uncanny.

There were protective formations surrounding the mountain range.

Zeloneth arrived outside the mountain range and knelt on the ground on one knee. Respectfully, he said, "Sir Yvan, I have brought the Simpson couple."

Upon witnessing this, Waleria also knelt on the ground. When she noticed James did not move, she tugged on him.

It was only then that James knelt on the ground unwillingly.

Following Zeloneth's voice, the formations around the mountain range opened.

Then, a black hall appeared.

The hall was floating in mid-air. It was huge and grand. James felt tiny standing before the palace.

After that, a Skyward Stairway descended.

Zeloneth stood up.

James followed Waleria and got up.

They stepped onto the stairway and walked up the black palace. Soon, they arrived at the entrance of the palace.

"Boom!"

The heavy black door opened slowly.

Curiously, James looked into the hall.

As the door opened, a ball of black fog appeared in the hall.

"Come in."

A heavy and husky voice sounded from the black fog. The black fog continued moving, forming a strange pattern.

Zeloneth took the lead and entered the hall.

Waleria and James followed suit.

They stood in the main hall.

Waleria stared at the black fog ahead.

In the black fog, she did not sense the sigil she had planted. She was certain Yvan was not in the black fog ahead.

Gradually, the black fog gathered and became solid. In the end, a living being in the form of a human took shape. The person had his back facing James and Waleria.

James could not see the person's face.

Waleria frowned.

She could sense her sigil in the main hall. However, she could not sense the sigil on this man.

"Sir Yvan."

Respectfully, Zeloneth said, "The Simpson couple has arrived."

Coming back to her senses, Waleria knelt on the ground on one knee.

James copied Waleria and knelt on the ground.

"Greetings, Sir Yvan."

The two spoke simultaneously.

"Please stand."

A husky voice sounded.

James and Waleria got up.

James did not know why Waleria was not making her move. According to their previous agreement, she would attack Yvan once she saw him.

Since Waleria was not doing anything, James could only stay silent.

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 4581-Devoid of any emotion, Waleria asked, "You summoned us. What command do you have for us?"

The man's voice rasped as he spoke up, "You were deemed as elders upon entry to our sect. Other elders may not yield, but now, an opportunity has arisen for you to forge your prestige. Seek out the injured member of the Theos Sect, Waleria. Bring her back, alive or dead."

The man gave a task to Waleria and James.

"Yes, Master," Waleria promptly replied. Soon after, the man vanished from the main hall.

Zeloneth looked at them as he said, "This is your opportunity. Seize it well. Whether you can establish yourselves in our sect depends on this."

Maintaining a composed demeanor, Waleria asked, "Could you give us any pointers to help track down Waleria from the Theos Sect? Perhaps some general guidance?"

Zeloneth gestured casually, conjuring a sigil in his palm, and he said, "All the clues about her are within this sigil."

Waleria accepted the sigil.

Subsequently, Zeloneth led them away. After they had departed from the planet, Zeloneth gave them a final instruction and left.

James followed behind Waleria until Zeloneth left, then he asked, "Why didn't you take action?"

Waleria shared her thoughts, "That wasn't Yvan Xorath. I could feel the difference. He's concealed within the depths of the black palace, but what we witnessed wasn't truly him."

“In light of your intuition, why not take direct action? By removing this imposter, the genuine Yvan Xorath might reveal himself,” James communicated through their shared mental bond.

“No hurry.” Waleria pondered. “Let’s return first and then secretly infiltrate this area.”

“Your call.”

The two swiftly left the planet and returned to Mount Darkwind.

On the mountain’s rear slope, Waleria sat in a resting area of a manor with a serious expression.

After a while, she suggested, “To dispel this lingering uncertainty, let’s initiate our operation tomorrow. We’ll shroud our auras and advance stealthily toward the palace where Yvan is concealed.”

James thought before saying, “We had a good opening last time but unfortunately missed our chance. How should we penetrate the formation this time? How about a direct attack? But doing that might attract the attention of the powerhouses from the Daemonium Sect in this universe.”

Waleria shook her head slightly, saying, “I don’t know why I didn’t take action then. Once I sensed that it wasn’t Yvan, I suddenly thought of leaving. Looking back, I did miss an excellent chance.”

Waleria let out a deep sigh.

Perhaps she was harboring fear. After all, Yvan was a legendary powerhouse, while Waleria was nearly killed at her peak state. Her strength had not fully recovered, and a trace of trepidation lingered within her. It was this fear that caused her to miss the opportunity. Now, there was no chance left. To obtain the runes, they had to charge in head- on.

Locking eyes with James, she spoke with sincerity, “Our journey in this universe isn’t a mere jest. It’s a struggle of survival and mortality. You don’t need to intervene unless it becomes imperative. Your task is to swiftly extract me from the situation if I ever become overwhelmed.”

“Alright,” James affirmed with a subtle nod.

The night passed in the blink of an eye. The next day, Waleria and James concealed their auras and silently left Mount Darkwind. They appeared once again on the planet where Yvan was located. With their auras hidden, they arrived outside the mountain range.

In secret, James sent a message. "Should we attack directly?"

Waleria instructed, "Stay concealed in the shadows. Don't reveal yourself. I will manage the situation myself, and you'll intervene only at the most crucial moment."

"Got it." James nodded.

Waleria then appeared outside the mountain range. This time, she did not assume the identity of Felicia but presented herself as Waleria. Emerging into view, her aura erupted like a vibrant rainbow. With a simple motion, an unparalleled power materialized in her palm, delivering a resounding blow to the formation.

"Boom!"

An awe-inspiring explosion reverberated, its intensity echoing far and wide. The planet found itself shrouded in the remnants of the titanic force. Concurrently, a crack could be seen in the formation. Following that fracture, its entire structure disintegrated. In the midst of the starry expanse floated a black palace.
