The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 4593-At the same time, members of the Daemonium Sect were traveling from all across the Endlos' Nine Districts to the Daemonium Palace. All of them gathered in a huge hall inside the black palace.

Not long after everyone had arrived, a man with an impressive aura materialized on the podium. It was Yvan.

At the moment, Yvan could be considered to be the second strongest cultivator in the Theos District as he came after the Theos District's current leader in terms of power. Even Waleria, the Theos Sect's Grand Sect Elder, was no match for him.

"Greetings to the Sect Leader!" All of the Daemonium Sect's members kneeled on one knee and called out almost simultaneously.

"You may all rise." Yvan raised his hand and gestured for his followers to stand up.

Just then, Zeloneth escorted Waleria into the hall. Even though tens of thousands of years had passed, Waleria's powers and cultivation rank remained the same since her cultivation base had been sealed ever since she was captured.

Despite that, the lady appeared radiant and spry. That was because the people of the Daemonium Sect had not mistreated her during her captivity.

Waleria took a glance around the room at the innumerable members of the Daemonium Sect. She also sensed the presence of countless cultivators outside the Daemonium Palace. Waleria turned her eyes to Yvan. "What is all this, Yvan?"

Yvan smirked. "It's time for us to unlock and enter the Yhala Realm."

Waleria responded, "Honestly, there's nothing much inside the Yhala Realm aside from Yhala's body."

"Ha!" Yvan gave a loud snort. "If that were the case, why would the Theos Sect need to send you, their Grand Sect Elder, to personally access the realm? If my instincts are right, a superb Supernatural Power that originates from the Chaos District has been hidden in the Yhala Realm as well.”

Waleria furrowed her brows as she stared at Yvan. “So, you did all this just to obtain the Supernatural Power from the Chaos District?”

“Well, of course.”

Yvan continued flatly, “Everyone knows that Yhala Samaris was at the Quasi Chaos Rank back then. After her projected self was destroyed in the Chaos District, Yhala’s true body perished when she received a hit from Sword Energy coming from the Chaos District. Can you even imagine the potency of that attack?”

“According to the old records of the Daemonium Sect, the fatal hit that had ended Yhala’s life was a mysterious and extraordinary Sword Energy. The Sword Energy was a combination of nine immensely powerful energies.”

“The Theos Sect is also trying to retrieve Yhala’s body to study the remnants of the Sword Energy so that your members can learn that Supernatural Power from the Chaos District. Isn’t that right?” Yvan beamed widely at Waleria.

The man was mostly right in his deduction. However, the Theos Sect only intended to study and research the Nine Voices of Chaos. They had no plans to learn and practice the skill.

The frown on Waleria’s face grew deeper.

‘Why is he saying all this?’

‘All along, only a handful of people have knowledge about this. Wouldn’t it be better to keep things that way? Yet, he gathered so many cultivators and shared this information in front of everyone.’

‘Does Yhala’s body actually carries other secrets we don’t know about?’ Waleria pondered.

In the past, numerous cultivators had projected themselves into the Chaos District, only to be swiftly eliminated as well. Yhala was the only person whose real body was murdered. Apart from that, Waleria could not think of anything that would set Yhala Samaris apart from the other cultivators.

Waleria couldn't help but wonder, 'What's in it for the Daemonium Sect? Are they plotting something?'

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 4594-Waleria felt extremely confused. She could not discern Yvan's purpose for doing all this no matter how hard she tried.

Yvan had taken a seat in a chair placed on the podium. His gaze drifted across the members of the Daemonium Sect before him. Yvan could also sense the aura of countless cultivators waiting outside the Daemonium Palace.

Most of these cultivators had reached the Caelum Acme Rank whereas only a small fraction of them were Terra Acme Rank cultivators.

Eventually, Yvan directed his gaze at Waleria. His face broke into a smile. "Waleria, you can tell us now where the Yhala Realm is, right?"

Waleria had decided to share the information about the Yhala Realm's location early on. It would do her no good to withhold the information since the Daemonium Sect might decide to kill her if she refused to cooperate.

"It's somewhere outside the Theos District," Waleria replied.

"Lead the way." Yvan's smile broadened.

Waleria nodded, albeit reluctantly. Then, she guided Zeloneth to the overall direction they should be traveling in to reach the Yhala Realm.

In a flash, the Daemonium Palace vanished from its original spot and reappeared somewhere in the Endlos Void. Then, the palace started gliding through the Endlos Void at a high speed. On the other hand, the cultivators that had been watching the palace quickly followed behind it. James was one of them.

He had changed his appearance and aura. Now, he seemed like any ordinary middle-aged man as he joined the other cultivators and blended in extremely well.

James was looking for an opportunity to rescue Waleria. However, he decided to act cautiously and observe the situation first. He was waiting patiently for the right opportunity to come by so that he could get Waleria out safely.

James fixed his gaze on the black palace which was moving at an amazing speed way ahead of the cluster of powerhouses.

The Daemonium Palace was a treasure itself to the members of the Daemonium Sect. The gigantic, magnificent palace was as large as a planet.

The Daemonium Sect was one of the biggest organizations in the Theos District. After hearing the announcement about the Yhala Realm, almost all of their members showed up today for the occasion. There were at least 10,000,000,000,000 people gathered at the black palace that day, and it was only possible because the palace was vast enough to accommodate those people.

After traveling across the Endlos Void for several years, the palace finally arrived at the area outside the Theos District's bounds. However, the cultivators could faintly sense the presence of the Theos District's Heavenly Path since they were still in close proximity to the district.

'That's the place.'

Waleria raised her arm and pointed in the direction of the void some distance away from the palace. "The entrance to the Yhala Realm is located there."

The members of the Daemonium Sect could feel the palace slowing down and eventually coming to a stop.

Yvan conjured the runes required to unlock the Yhala Realm. Then, he gazed at Waleria. "How do we access the Yhala Realm?"

Waleria explained, "Those runes aren't the only thing that's needed for us to access the Yhala Realm. You'll also need to master a Supernatural Power that was designed by Yhala Samaris herself. In the past, she had passed on the knowledge of the secret art to one of her disciples. That person eventually joined the Theos Sect, and mastery of the art was passed down to us.”

“Pass the knowledge to me.”

Yvan teleported and materialized before Waleria the next instant.

Waleria did not even flinch despite Yvan’s sudden movements. She said monotonously, “You only have one option. Remove the seal suppressing my cultivation base this instant, and I will unlock the entrance to the Yhala Realm. Otherwise, you can just end me now.”

There was not a trace of fear or hesitation in Waleria’s eyes.

After a moment’s consideration, Yvan removed the seal from Waleria’s body.

‘There are so many of us gathered at the Daemonium Palace. In contrast, she’s all by herself. Moreover, she hasn’t regained her full powers. She won’t be able to escape under these circumstances.’ Yvan thought.

Then, he handed the runes to Waleria. “Go. Unlock the Yhala Realm. Once it is done, you’re free to leave.”

All eyes were on Waleria as she walked out of the hall and headed toward the direction of the Endlos Void she had pointed at earlier. As soon as she was outside, Waleria detected an immense energy that had completely encapsulated the area. It was Yvan’s aura.

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 4595-‘Even though the seal in my body has been lifted, I don’t have the power to escape here in one piece. I don’t stand a chance against Yvan, whose powers and abilities are in their prime. If I try to make a run for it, he can instantly end my life with just one blow.’ Waleria fretted.

Then, she turned around and looked toward the Daemonium Palace. Waleria could see numerous powerhouses from the Theos District that had followed the palace and arrived there.

Waleria heaved a long sigh and cast the runes into the air. As the runes slowly disintegrated, countless lines started appearing in the space before Waleria one after another.

She activated the Supernatural Power the next instant. In a flash, the myriad of lines began forming a shape resembling a huge universe.

According to various rumors, the Yhala Realm was a world created by Yhala Samaris. At the same time, it was also its creator's final resting place.

"It's the Yhala Realm!"

There were gasps of amazement and excitement among the cultivators waiting in the distance. The crowd fell silent again as they noticed a change in Waleria's movement.

Waleria had lifted both hands and conjured countless sigils. Those sigils floated toward the bundle of lines and combined with them. In a matter of seconds, those lines appeared to pull together to form a clump. The others could no longer see the vague form of a universe before them. Instead, a strange, mysterious door was formed from those lines.

Waleria lowered her hands and turned her gaze to the Daemonium Palace. She called aloud, 'This is the entrance to the Yhala Realm, and I've managed to unlock it. Can I leave now?'

Yvan materialized before Waleria almost instantaneously. A faint smile played across Yvan's lips as his gaze fell on the door to the Yhala Realm.

"Of course. I won't go back on my word. You are allowed to leave now. However, I don't think you are going to do that. There's something that you want from the Yhala Realm, after all."

Then, Yvan cast his gaze toward the powerhouses.

"Everyone, the door to the Yhala Realm is now open. Rumor has it that the Yhala Realm carries a huge secret. A superb Supernatural Power from the Chaos District has been hidden in this mysterious realm. Now, anyone who is interested in finding and learning it is allowed to enter the Yhala Realm. May the odds be with you."

Then, Yvan lifted his hand and used his powers to shift the Daemonium Palace. Slowly, the palace moved toward the door and disappeared from everyone's sight. Yvan flashed Waleria a smile and vanished from the spot as well.

"Come on! Let's see what's inside the Yhala Realm!"

Most of the cultivators followed the Daemonium Sect into the Yhala Realm shortly afterward.

On the other hand, Waleria stood rooted to the spot. She had a torn expression on her face.

'I should leave. However, Yvan is right. There is something I need to find in the Yhala Realm. It's something the Theos Sect needs.' Waleria pondered.

After a brief pause, the woman made up her mind. With a steely look in her eyes, she walked toward the door and entered the realm.

"Waleria!"

James called after Waleria, but he was too late. She had disappeared behind the door before James could get close enough.

"What a fool! She was just released from that palace safely. Now, she decides to put herself in danger again!" James grumbled in annoyance.

He stared at the door with a hesitant look in his eyes.

'Something's not right about this Yhala Realm. Also, the Daemonium Sect's actions were very strange. Why would anyone make a public announcement about such a huge secret and even gather so many people to look for some valuable Supernatural Power?' James thought.
