The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 4707-“Miss Waleria, don’t be ridiculous.

What’s this about a son? I simply wanted to invite you to join Tempris House and become one of its elders,” James explained.

“Oh,” Waleria responded, realizing things were different from what she had assumed.

She felt a tinge of embarrassment color her cheeks.

After a brief moment of hesitation, she continued, “I don’t mind becoming an elder even if only in name, but are there any associated benefits?” “Benefits?” This time, it was James who was taken aback.

The esteemed elder of Theos Sect was now inquiring about benefits? Was she lacking treasures? “How about having a child together with me?” James quipped.

“Nice try,” Waleria pouted.

“Ahem…” The topic of bearing a child together had shaken James.

This caused his response to slip out before he could think, prompting him to change the subject.

“Considering I’ve protected you before, why not stay at the Tempris House for the time being? Without you, strengthening the house would be a monumentally difficult task.” “Alright, I’ll agree, but you have to help me with something,” Waleria requested.

James inquired, “What is it?” “Well…” Waleria rubbed her chin as she pondered for a moment, and then said, “I haven’t figured it out yet.

I’ll let you know once I do.” “Sure, no problem,” James agreed without hesitation.

With Waleria on board, broadcasting her affiliation with Tempris House was certain to draw in a cohort of exceptional talents.

“Hey, Saachi, it’d be great if you hung around at the Tempris House as well, perhaps even as an elder,” James suggested, shifting his attention to Saachi.

Saachi gave a nod and replied, “To be honest, I’m a bit at a loss about where else to go.

Even if you hadn’t mentioned it, I’d probably end up lingering around the Tempris House myself.” “Alright, looks like my plans are taking shape,” James said and smiled.

“Starting today, I entrust the Tempris House to both of you.

I’m going to meditate in seclusion to decipher the Dobro Eyes ’ inscription.

When I return, I hope to see a lively house and not a desolate one.

So, please focus on recruiting disciples.” Once he said his piece, James disappeared on the spot.

In the blink of an eye, he reappeared on the Boundless Rock at the back of the mountain.

“Recruiting disciples?” Waleria murmured softly, musing to herself, “Back when I was part of the Theos Sect, did I ever do such a thing? How does one even go about recruiting disciples?” She glanced at Saachi and inquired, “Saachi, do you have any experience with recruiting disciples?” Saachi shook her head.

With James meditating in seclusion, Waleria and Saachi were entrusted with recruiting disciples for the Tempris House.

James dedicated his current seclusion to studying the inscriptions within the Dobro Eyes.

He set up a time formation and summoned a collection of damaged inscriptions before him.

These were the fragmented Dobro Eyes inscriptions.

In principle, piecing together these inscriptions could potentially heal Saachi’s Dobro Eyes.

James meticulously scrutinized the inscriptions.

The intricacy and complexity of the Dobro Eyes inscriptions required one's utmost attention and time for even the legendary powerhouses.

Nevertheless, with just a cursory glance, James discovered that they were not as difficult to decipher as he had expected.

At least, not for him.

With a bit of time, he could fully unravel them.

He split his focus between honing his abilities through cultivation and immersing himself in the study of the Dobro Eyes inscriptions.

As James secluded himself, Waleria and Saachi remained busy.

They led the remaining four disciples of the Tempris House to a city not far from the Verde Academy.

At the heart of the city, they arranged several tables.

Waleria and Saachi occupied a table, their voices resonating loudly as they announced, "The Tempris House of Verde Academy is actively seeking disciples at the Caelum Acme Rank and beyond." Their captivating charm as stunning women had an undeniable impact.

The moment Waleria made the announcement, countless beings turned their attention towards them.

"Isn't that Waleria? The Grand Sect Elder from Theos Sect?"

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 4709-Numerous mystical inscriptions hovered in the air before James.

These were the Dobro Eyes' inscriptions.

James immersed himself in the study of these inscriptions.

Through his meticulous analysis, the fragmented inscriptions slowly took form as seamless text.

Using the Primal Mantra, James deconstructed them, transmuting them into their most rudimentary and fundamental form.

Days turned into nights, and time slipped away.

Immersed in the process of cultivation, James lost all sense of time.

Throughout this period, his strength unwittingly increased, and his understanding of the Dobro Eyes inscriptions deepened.

He engraved the inscriptions he understood into the depths of his eyes.

His pupils deepened, resembling an endless expanse of starlit sky without a horizon.

Within the innermost corners of his pupils lay enigmatic inscriptions.

In that moment, James' consciousness stirred, the inscriptions at the deepest core of his pupils began to change, emitting an immensely terrifying power.

In an instant, an enormous eye of unparalleled size materialized in the sky above Tempris House.

This eye fixed its gaze upon the entire Tempris House, encompassing all the Five Houses of the Verde Academy.

Some of the powerhouses within the Five Houses sensed the formidable might.

"Is that the Dobro Eyes?" At the rear mountains of the Verde Academy, Lothar stared at the enormous eye in the sky, his shock evident in his expression.

"Is there another Dobro Eyes Holder among those in the Tempris House?" He tried to sense the Tempris House, and upon realizing that it was James who had triggered the Dobro Eyes, his astonishment grew.

"Just how many talents is he hiding? His Thousand Paths Holy Body is already impressive enough, and now he's a Dobro Eyes Holder as well.

Legends say the Dobro Eyes have been invincible since ancient times.

This guy truly knows how to deliver unexpected surprises.” In a manor on the back mountains of Tempris House, Saachi cheered excitedly, “It’s the Dobro Eyes’ power! James did it.

He succeeded!” Waleria also stared at the enormous eye in the sky.

Within that eye, she sensed a disquieting power.

She murmured to herself, “ The Invincible Dobro Eyes...

How frightening.

James merely studied their inscriptions and already he’s able to invoke the power of Dobro Eyes.

The actual Dobro Eyes themselves must be even more terrifying.” She cast a glance at Saachi beside her.

On the Boundless Rock, James had managed to grasp the basics of the Dobro Eyes’ inscriptions.

Embedding them within his own pupils, he executed a maneuver to partially transform himself into a Dobro Eyes Holder.

However, the Dobro Eyes inscriptions were expansive, and his understanding barely scratched the surface.

He could not fully harness the power of the Dobro Eyes.

He eventually dismissed the power.

“The might of the Dobro Eyes is amazing.

If cultivated to its peak, there’s no one within the Endlos’ Nine Districts that could stand against it.

Now that I have obtained a fundamental understanding of Dobro Eyes, I’ve also figured out how to restore Saachi’s Dobro Eyes,” he said, rising and stretching lazily.

Soon after, he dispelled the time formation and sensed the flow of time.

In the outside world, an epoch had passed.

In essence, an entire epoch had gone by since he assumed the position of the Head of Tempris House.

Within the confines of the time formation, he had cultivated for numerous epochs.

As a result, his strength had grown considerably compared to his previous state.

Nevertheless, the path to achieving the status of a legendary powerhouse was still extremely challenging.

When James dispelled the time formation, a multitude of individuals sensed his return.

Shortly thereafter, several figures materialized before him, Waleria, Saachi, and Wynton, the individual who had joined Tempris House an epoch ago.

The ethereal figures formed before his eyes.

Initially, he was unable to recognize their transformation.

As Wynton's face became clearer, astonishment took hold, prompting him to exclaim, "Wynton Yanes?!"

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 4710-Wynton Yanes, the Yaneiri King.

James had been aware for some time that Wynton, Henrik and Wyot had reached the Endlos beyond the Chaos District.

Nonetheless, he did not expect to encounter Wynton after he finished his current seclusion.

Wynton walked toward James, lightly tapping his chest and offering a faint smile.

He spoke, "I've been a part of Tempris House for an epoch.

It's good to finally see you after your time in seclusion." "Would you all mind giving us some space?" James glanced at the others and said, "I want to catch up with an old friend.” Reading the situation, Waleria and Saachi gracefully withdrew from the scene.

In the next moment, only James and Wynton were left at the scene.

They settled upon the rocks of the rear mountain.

“It feels like an eternity since we last parted,” Wynton sighed, unable to even remember how many epochs had elapsed since they last saw each other.

“I’m indebted to you for sparing my life back then.

Otherwise, I would’ve met my end within the Projection Illusion,” James expressed gratefully.

While Wynton had emerged victorious in their previous battle, he chose not to deal a lethal blow, granting James a chance to overcome the trial.

Otherwise, James would have succumbed to death within the confines of the Projection Illusion.

“Let’s not dwell on the past,” Wynton said, waving his hand gently.

“By the way,” James spoke, “In history, the Yaneiri Clan existed for only a fleeting moment.

They existed so briefly that even common living beings were unaware of them.

Only a few fragmented records exist in ancient books.

What happened to the Yaneiri Clan after that?” Upon hearing these words, Wynton’s expression turned grave.

He took a deep breath before slowly explaining, “I’ve dedicated my time to researching the Sky Burial all these years.

Even after you escaped from the Projection Illusion, I persisted in my studies.

Before long, I uncovered certain truths about the Sky Burial.

This ultimately led to the sealing of the Yaneiri Clan.” “why?” James looked at him, perplexed.

While he now possessed a basic comprehension of the truth behind the Sky Burial, freezing the Yaneiri Clan appeared to be an unnecessary step.

He wondered who was responsible for sealing the Yaneiri Clan.

Wynton started to explain, “As I delved into ancient books, I unearthed information that our clan’s ancestors once served the Chaos District Lord, who was also referred to as the Endlos Lord.

When the Endlos Lord suffered an injury, he employed the Grand Supernatural to cloak the Chaos District.

He isolated it from the rest of the Endlos’ Nine Districts and entirely cut off their connection.

“After Endlos Lord was attacked, he didn’t die.

In order to survive, he merged with the Chaos Heavenly Path.” “Originally, the Heavenly Path existed indefinitely.

However, after the Endlos Lord fused with the Chaos Heavenly Path, his injuries also affected the Chaos Heavenly Path.

This gave rise to the third Sky Burial, which marked the end of the Chaos Heavenly Path.

“with the Chaos District isolated, it became imperceptible to the other districts.

“When the number of powerhouses in the Chaos District reached a certain level, it became detectable by the other districts.

This was actually part of the Chaos District Lord’s scheme.” “The Chaos District Lord required energy to heal and recuperate.

Thus, when the strength of the Chaos District’s powerhouses reached a particular threshold, they would emit an aura detectable by powerhouses from the other districts.

Nevertheless, these external powerhouses couldn’t physically enter the Chaos District, they could only project themselves, and it was at this juncture that the Sky Burial took place.” “After the legendary powerhouses of the Chaos District passed away, the power they had cultivated throughout their lives and their own energy would be assimilated by the Chaos Heavenly Path.

Then it was absorbed by the Chaos District Lord.” Wynton divulged some insider information that James had been unaware of.

“There’s a rumor that the third Sky Burial would mark the point of the Chaos’ annihilation.

In reality, the Chaos District Lord planned to use this opportunity to sacrifice the entire Chaos, using all its inhabitants as an offering.

This was intended to facilitate his resurrection and enable him to return to, or even surpass, his peak power.” Upon hearing this, James’ expression turned grave.

After a moment of contemplation, he inquired, “So, who sealed the Yaneiri Clan?” Wynton shook his head slightly and replied, “I don’t know.

As soon as I comprehended these truths, disaster befell the entire Yaneiri Clan.” “Ts there any connection between the Doom Race and the Chaos District Lord? What’s the relationship between Teresa and the Chaos District Lord?” James inquired once more.

Once again, Wynton shook his head.
