

Read The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 4727

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 4727-“Despicable.” James gasped after witnessing the tragedy.

Then, he quickly followed after the Malvada Sect’s disciples. The group had already moved on to another weak planet. Using the same method, they wiped out the entire planet and its inhabitants.

James continued following them, waiting for an opportunity.

The group consecutively destroyed over a dozen planets and headed back to their base.

James pondered whether to take the opportunity to capture one of the disciples, impersonate him, and sneak into the Malvada Sect’s base to investigate.

After deciding to act, James quickly cast the Blithe Omniscience and appeared before the Malvada Sect’s disciples. He unleashed his Path Powers, confined the surrounding void, and stopped the flow of time. His actions caused the group to float motionlessly in mid-air like statues.

James glanced at the group. Since he had been following them for a while, he naturally figured out which was the group’s leader. However, he did not intend to impersonate the leader. Instead, he chose to be one of the followers.

He walked over to an ordinary-looking man who seemed to be about thirty years old, wearing a black robe.

James stretched out his hand and placed his palm on the man’s forehead, instantly gaining access to his memories. At the same time, he also copied the man’s soul aura.

Then, he swiftly shape-shifted into the man. Afterward, he raised his hand and unleashed a powerful force, instantly obliterating the man.

James took his position and dispersed the seal he had placed in the area.

The group continued advancing, heading back to their base.

James had successfully blended into the group. Although they were Caelum Acmeans, they were rather ordinary cultivators. Therefore, they were unable to sense the confined space and stopped time.

The man that James had impersonated was a small group leader in the Malvada Sect's base. Although it was not a really influential position, he still possessed a relative amount of authority. His name was Saerlg Macsen, and he had a very ruthless character.

James impersonated Saerlg and followed the group to the Malvada Sect's base. As soon as they entered the spiritual mountain where the base was located, James sensed an extremely sinister force.

"Everyone's dismissed, but be on standby for the next mission. Saerlg, you come with me to report to the deputy leader," the group's leader issued an order.

"Understood." The group members disbanded.

From Saerlg's memories, James knew the group leader's name was Latran Baleth. He was an elder of the base and was known as the Ice Demon by outsiders.

Although James possessed Saerlg's memories, Saerlg's status in the Malvada Sect was not really high. Thus, he was clueless about the senior members of the Malvada Sect. Meanwhile, Latran was his immediate boss.

James replied respectfully, "I haven't met the deputy leader before. Are you bringing me to see him, sir?"

Latran patted his shoulder and said, "You've already entered the Caelum Acme Rank and are considered a powerhouse now. You've been under me for a while and have proved your loyalty. I'll bring you to see the deputy leader and propose you to be promoted as an elder of this base. If you keep working hard, you'll be rewarded handsomely."

James replied happily, "Thank you, sir! I'll continue working under you and make sure to repay your kindness. I have a wonderful female disciple under me. I'll send her to you."

Latran's face darkened, and he reprimanded, "We serve the deputy leader. You should be thankful to him. Please watch your words in the future."

James replied hastily, 'Yes, yes. Of course.'

Read The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 4728

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 4728-Latran did not pursue the topic any further. He turned around and began walking toward a spiritual mountain.

James closely followed behind them.

Atop the spiritual mountain was a black palace that emitted a black aura. The aura gathered in the sky and shrouded the area, giving the place an eerie vibe.

Latran led James into the vast hall.

In the front of the hall was a massive seat formed by countless skulls.

"Sir." Latran immediately knelt to the ground.

James quickly followed suit.

"Hmm?" An apathetic voice resounded in the hall.

Immediately afterward, a mass of black mist landed on the highest seat and materialized into an old man who looked to be in his fifties.

While kneeling on the ground, James glanced at the old man that had appeared.

He wore a gray robe and had a rather ordinary appearance. However, the old man had a frightening scar that stretched from his ear to the corner of his mouth, causing his lips to look slightly crooked.

James was slightly puzzled by his appearance. A cultivator that had reached a certain level could heal a scar easily. Thus, James pondered on why the Malvada Sect's deputy leader would leave the scar to be.

Despite his doubts, James was confident the old man before him was Laduni, as his appearance was consistent with the Verde Academy's intel. Additionally, James could sense the old man's cultivation rank was at the Caelum Boundless Rank.

Latran respectfully presented the bottle containing the Spiritual Power they had collected to Laduni.

Laduni accepted it and said happily, "Thanks for the hard work. Make another trip after resting for a bit. However, the number of Verde Academy's disciples has increased recently. It's best to head to further universes. Be careful not to draw their attention."

"Understood," said Latran.

"Alright, you may rise." Laduni gently waved his hand.

Latran got back to his feet, and James also followed suit.

Using the opportunity, Latran said, "Sir, this is a confidant of mine. He has proven to be loyal to our sect and has contributed significantly recently to our missions. I'd like to propose having him promoted as an elder so that he can better serve our sect."

Laduni looked at James, sensed his cultivation rank, and replied, "Alright. I approve."

"Thank you, Sir," James pretended to respond gratefully.

"Alright, you two are dismissed." Laduni waved his hand and disappeared from the hall.

"Continue working hard." Latran patted James's shoulder and took his leave as well.

James also left the hall.

After being promoted to an elder, James was given a spiritual mountain in the area and more access to different things. With his new status, he quickly figured out the overall strength of the base. Then, he temporarily left the base and headed to a nearby city where Waleria had rented a spiritual mountain.

Read The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 4729

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 4729-As soon as James arrived at the spiritual mountain that Waleria had rented, he summoned Saachi and Wynton.

The two went around acquiring information, but none of it was of much use.

James shook his head lightly after hearing their gathered information and said, "These are useless information."

Waleria looked at James condescendingly and said, "Then let's hear what information you've gathered."

James took out some documents and handed them over, saying, "Here's everything I've learned recently."

The group took the documents and reviewed them.

After reading the documents, Waleria asked surprisedly, "How did you find out so much in such little time? You even know how many guards and powerhouses are in their base."

James smiled and boasted, "I infiltrated their base and became an elder. It was a piece of cake to acquire this information."

Waleria smiled and praised him, "Good job! Now that we've got clear information about their internal structure and confirmed that Laduni is indeed within this base, we should immediately eliminate him."

"I agree." James was afraid delaying would only complicate matters. Now that they had already figured out the base's overall situation, they should take action as soon as possible.

He continued, saying, "But we must draft a detailed plan before taking action. Once we engage in battle, the surrounding universes might also be affected. To avoid hurting innocent lives, let's set up a formation around the universe and prevent the battle's aftermath from destroying other areas."

Waleria murmured dissatisfiedly, "You overthink and worry about everything. How are you going to accomplish great things in the future? We're just destroying one of the Malvada Sect's bases, but you have to complicate things."

James immediately corrected her, saying, "It's not that I want to overthink or worry, but there are a lot of living beings in this universe. If we get into battle, the universe will be destroyed, and many innocent beings will be affected. They'll be tragically wiped out of existence if they don't evacuate in time."

"So what's your plan?" asked Waleria.

James replied, "We should set up a formation. There are two purposes for it. One is to ensure the other universes are not harmed. The other is to prevent the powerhouses' aura from leaking out, as the other Malvada Sect's bases might rush to support them."

Waleria answered frustratedly, "Fine, let's do as you say."

James elaborated, "However, I'll need you to set up the formation. Even though I'm proficient in formations, my cultivation base is rather weak. I won't be able to set up one strong enough to trap a powerhouse like Laduni."

Waleria was pleased by his words and said with a smile, "At least you're self-aware."

Neither Saachi nor Wynton interrupted during the discussion and listened attentively.

James followed up by passing on his knowledge of formations to Waleria, teaching her how to set up the formation for their mission.

Their plan was to let James return to the Malvada Sect to wait for Waleria to update him on the process. After Waleria contacted him, it was time to take action. James would then quietly activate the formation, and Waleria teleport the universe's inhabitants away with her powers.

Next, Waleria would directly confront Laduni and try to obstruct him. Meanwhile, James, Saachi, and Wynton were to deal with the base's other powerhouses. As long as Waleria could hold Laduni back long enough, they could easily wipe out the other powerhouses.

After formulating a detailed plan, James returned to the base. He was an elder, so the disciples guarding the area did not dare to question him. As soon as James arrived at the base, Latran came looking for him.

Latran instructed, 'The deputy leader has issued an order, Saerlg. He wants a large amount of Blood Essence. Get prepared, and lead a group of disciples to a few remote universes to obtain some Blood Essence.'

James nodded calmly and said, "Alright. I'll prepare right away and depart soon."

After Latran relayed the order, he left.

James quickly contacted Waleria to speed up the process of setting up the formation, requesting her to complete it within a day so they could attack the base as soon as possible.

Read The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 4730

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 4730-"One day? If it's so easy, why don't you do it?" Waleria's voice rang in James' mind.

Since everyone had gotten an inscription from James, they could easily communicate by pouring their energy into it.

Nobody else was capable of intercepting their communication or sensing it.

James explained, "An elder has given me a mission, so I need you to hasten the process."

"That's none of my business. It'll take me three thousand years to complete the formation even with a time formation."

After Waleria finished speaking, she cut off communication with James.

James frowned and began to ponder.

Ultimately, he had no choice but to lead a group of the Malvada Sect's disciples out of the universe, kill them, and secretly sneak back to the Yazergh Universe.

After formulating a plan, James summoned a thousand of the Malvada Sect's disciples. Then, he met up with Latran.

“Sir, I’m about to leave with a thousand disciples to a more remote universe. I’ll do my best to bring as much Blood Essence as possible for the Deputy Leader.”

Latran looked at James, satisfied, and said, “Alright.”

James said, “However, I might take longer and won’t be able to return so soon.”

Latran gently waved his hand and said, “That won’t be a problem. Go on with your mission.”

“Alright.” After James reported to Latran, he departed with the group of disciples.

They left the Yazergh Universe and entered the Endlos Void.

James immediately took action and killed the thousands of disciples accompanying him on the mission. With his strength, he did not even break a sweat getting rid of them. After eliminating the disciples, James quietly returned to the Yazergh Universe and reunited with Waleria.

Waleria was hiding outside the universe, and was wholeheartedly setting up a formation. James did not disturb her and waited in the distance.

James began to ponder how they could successfully wipe out the Malvada Sect’s bases without his group suffering casualties. He murmured, “I can use the Universal Sword Formation.”

While going through the trials of the Supreme Illusions, James created the powerful Universal Sword Formation. If he were to deploy the formation with his current strength, apart from the Deputy Leader, Laduni, and a few elders, the other members would be unable to withstand the Universal Sword Formation’s power and would be instantly wiped out.

After coming up with an idea, James secretly appeared outside the Malvada Sect’s base. He hid his aura and scattered a few inscriptions around the base.

James possessed the Primal Mantra and learned a lot of profound Formation Inscriptions from it. Thus, even a powerhouse at the Caelum Acme Rank could not sense the formation he set up before its activation.

Soon, James had finished setting up the Universal Sword Formation around the base. Now that the formation was ready, he only needed to wait for Waleria.

Three thousand years passed in the blink of an eye.

James met Waleria outside the Malvada Sect's base and said, "It's your turn to perform, Waleria. I'm leaving the rest to you."

Waleria stretched out her hand and said, "Lend me your sword for a while."

James immediately refused, saying, "You can't control the Chaos Sword."

The Chaos Sword was from the Chaos District and contained the power of the Nine Voices of Chaos. James was afraid Waleria would identify the power within it.