The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 4737-After disguising themselves, they boldly headed to the Tarbitha Sect. Shortly after, they arrived outside the sect's mountain gate. In the distant mountain range was a stone tablet with the words "Tarbitha Sect" engraved on it.

The Tarbitha Sect held a very high reputation within the Tarbitha Universe. When the two appeared, the disciples posted to guard the mountain gate came to them and questioned, "State your names! How dare you try to infiltrate the Tarbitha Sect?"

Following the cold shout was a dazzling Sword Energy.

However, the Sword Energy was met with a powerful force and immediately crumbled in front of James and Wynton.

James cupped his fists and said, "The two of us are brothers. We're here to join the Tarbitha Sect."

Wynton followed up, saying, "My younger brother and I heard that the Tarbitha Sect is incredibly powerful and highly prestigious in this universe. The two of us are rogue cultivators and have been wandering around for some time. We've recently decided to find a place to settle down. Isn't that right?"

Wynton turned to James with a smile.

James secretly cursed Wynton for introducing him as the younger brother. However, he maintained a smile and replied, 'Yup!'

The two bluffed, matching each other's stories.

One of the disciples scanned the two and immediately learned of their extraordinary strength. He said to them, "Wait here. I'll notify the elder in charge."

After speaking, he left with the other disciples to report the matter.

James and Wynton waited outside the mountain gate and secretly communicated telepathically.

"I'm Forty-Nine, and you're Forty-Eight. Don't give our identities away, alright?"

"Don't worry. I know what to do."

Swoosh!

A ray of light descended from the sky and landed in front of them. The light slowly materialized into a burly man in his forties. He wore a golden robe and emitted a powerful aura. His appearance gave off a sense of oppression.

James and Wynton exchanged glances at each other.

From the Verde Academy's intel, they knew the middle-aged man was the Malvada Sect's Great Elder. At the same time, he was also the Malvada Sect's close confidant.

"It's a pleasure to meet you, Sir," James and Wynton greeted him simultaneously.

The Great Elder looked at the two and learned of their cultivation ranks. Then, he asked calmly, "I heard the two of you want to join the Tarbitha Sect?"

James nodded and replied, "Yes. The two of us have traveled many places and have finally grown tired of it.

We've decided to find a place to settle down. When we came to this universe, we heard about the Tarbitha Sect and that it was a very well-known sect. Therefore, we specifically came to join the sect. Please take us in."

The Great Elder looked at them and asked, "Do you know me?"

Wynton said smilingly, "We've done our investigations before deciding to join the Tarbitha Sect. Naturally, we've heard of you. Moreover, we harbor great admiration for the Sect Leader. We heard she's gorgeous. If we ever have the chance to meet her in person, it would be a great honor."

The Great Elder examined the two up and down. After finding nothing unusual about them, he said, "Alright, come with me."

The two entered the Tarbitha Sect following the Great Elder's lead. After passing through their formation, they entered a unique small space. The Empyrean Spiritual Energy was abundant and pure. No traces of evil could be sensed in the area.

James was puzzled by the sight. The Malvada Sect was supposed to have countless powerhouses that cultivated corrupted arts. Logically speaking, their headquarters should have an overwhelming amount of corrupted aura. However, the situation was completely opposite from their expectations.

Both James and Wynton were puzzled. However, they kept their doubts to themselves and silently followed behind the Great Elder. Soon, they ascended the Tarbitha Sect's main mountain and entered their main hall.

The Great Elder said, "The two of you are very powerful. I could easily make the two of you our sect's officials. But I doubt you two came to us just to be ordinary officials. I'll inform the Sect Leader about your visit and have her come to meet you two. Please wait here."

After speaking, the Greater Elder left the main hall.

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 4738-As soon as the Great Elder left, James and Wynton began discussing telepathically.

James said, 'There's definitely something wrong. This place doesn't look anything like the headquarters of a corrupted sect.'

Wynton replied, "Yeah, I was thinking the same. It's surrounded by abundant Empyrean Spiritual Energy and has no traces of corrupted aura. If it really is the Malvada Sect's headquarters, it would've been impossible for them to completely prevent the aura from leaking out."

The two were puzzled and wondered whether there was a mistake with the Verde Academy's intel.

After a simple exchange, they waited patiently.

Meanwhile, a beautiful woman played the piano outside a wooden house deep within a purple bamboo forest at the Tarbitha Sect's back mountain. The piano's beautiful notes spread throughout the mountain.

The Great Elder came to the wooden house but did not interrupt the woman.

Soon, her piece came to an end.

The woman asked, "What's the matter?"

The Great Elder clasped his fists and said, "Madam, two powerhouses have shown up and are requesting to join the Tarbitha Sect. I couldn't decide, so I came to report it to you."

The woman smiled faintly and said, "Haha. Our various bases were wiped out recently, and now two powerhouses have come to join our sect? What a coincidence."

"Are you saying the powerhouses that showed up were the culprits that destroyed our bases?" The Great Elder was slightly taken aback.

The woman slowly stood up and replied lightly, "I can't be sure yet. However, they are definitely suspicious.

The Great Elder asked doubtfully, "But our sect has been hiding very well. How did they find our bases? Who's the powerhouse responsible for wiping them out?"

The woman replied, "Within the Verde District, the only force that can acquire the whereabouts of our bases is the Verde Academy. It must be them, but which member had taken action is a mystery. As for which house it is, we can probably find out now."

After speaking, the woman disappeared from the wooden house and headed to the main hall where James and Wynton were waiting.

A light ray appeared inside the main hall, gradually materializing into a beautiful woman wearing a red dress. She sat on the highest seat and rested her legs. Her dress slipped back, exposing her thighs.

James and Wynton immediately stood up. The two already had a detailed report of the Malvada Sect. Thus, they immediately recognized the woman before them was the Malvada Sect's Deputy Leader, Zula Waconte.

James clasped his fists and said, "It's an honor to meet you, madam. My name is Forty-Nine."

"I'm Forty-Eight. It's an honor to be in your presence."

"Haha," Zula chuckled and said, "Show me your true appearances. You can't fool me."

James and Wynton were startled. They took a few steps backward and were on guard against her.

Looking at the mesmerizing woman in the highest seat, James asked, "What do you mean by that, madam?"

"Hmph!" Zula snorted.

She waved her hands, and a terrifying force emerged.

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 4739-James immediately sensed the danger. He grabbed Wynton and cast the Blithe Omniscience to escape. Unfortunately, their opponent was a powerhouse at the Quasi Chaos Rank. Even the powerful Blithe Omniscience was unable to escape her grasp.

James and Wynton were surrounded by a powerful force and dragged back into the hall.

Boom!

They fell to the floor.

Zula descended from her seat and looked at them condescendingly. Then, she said disdainfully, "Are you two responsible for destroying my sect's bases? You two are disciples from the Verde Academy, right? Why would the Headmaster of the Verde Academy send such trash to infiltrate our headquarters?"

James was clueless about how they exposed themselves. However, he could only try to deny it.

"I've no idea what you're talking about, madam. What do you mean we destroyed your sect's bases? I didn't know your sect has other bases. We merely heard about the Tarbitha Sect and wanted to join."

Wynton agreed, saying, "Yeah, it's as he explained."

"You still don't want to admit it?" Zula sneered.

She raised her hand, and powerful force emitted from her fingertips.

James knew he could not resist her power and would surely die. He frantically said, "Wait. I'll tell you everything."

Zula dissipated her power and returned to the hall's highest seat. Then, she waved her hand, removing the seals placed on them. She was not worried about them escaping again since catching them was a piece of cake.

James' appearance gradually returned to normal. He looked at Zula, sitting in the highest seat, looking at them with a nonchalant expression. Then, he said, "I'm James Caden, the Tempris House's Head."

"Pfft!!!" Zula burst out laughing. She looked at James and mocked, "Is the Verde Academy's Headmaster blind? Why did he choose such a weak cultivator like you as the Tempris House's Head?"

Zula had always been on the lookout for the Verda Academy. So, she had heard about James succeeding as the Tempris House's Head. However, she was not expecting him to be the one sent to destroy their sect.

"With your strength, it's impossible for you to have wiped out our bases. It must've been Waleria from the Theos Sect, right?"

Hearing this, James was even more certain the woman before him was definitely the Malvada Sect's Leader. He began racking his brains for a plan to escape.

Zula smiled and said, "Don't even think about escaping. Now that you've fallen into my hands, you won't be able to get out."

"Lock them both up," Waleria issued an order, then casually waved her hand. An inscription appeared and instantly sealed James and Wynton.

Soon, several disciples entered the main hall and dragged them away.

To their surprise, they were not imprisoned in a dark dungeon. Instead, they were kept within a courtyard house atop a spiritual mountain with a formation around it. Since it was protected and their cultivation bases were sealed, they could not escape.

Meanwhile, the Great Elder discussed with Zula inside the main hall.

The Great Elder said respectfully, "Madam, it's the perfect opportunity to take revenge against Tempris House. Let's kill their head right away."

Zula glared at the Great Elder, causing him to shut up immediately.

"James is Wael's successor. No matter what, I should at least keep him alive," said Zula.

The Great Elder said disappointedly, "So are we just going to forgive them for destroying our bases?"

"It was their own fault for being wiped out. I warned them not to cultivate such corrupted arts, but they refused to listen. Eventually, they caused their demise. There's no one to blame but themselves."

"Despite that, they are still your subordinates. If you don't make a stand for them, our sect won't be able to gain a foothold in the Verde District."

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 4740-James and Wynton came to the Tarbitha Sect, planning to sneak in to learn more about the Malvada Sect. However, they were easily captured.

Faced with a powerhouse at the Quasi Chaos Rank, the two prodigies, James and Wynton, could not escape.

James sat on a chair within the manor, looked at Wynton, and asked, "What should we do now? We can't use the inscription to notify Waleria."

Wynton frowned and said, "I'm not sure what to do. I wonder how we were identified so quickly. Did you blow our cover?"

He looked at James, thinking of how he had hidden his identity well. Therefore, he thought James was the one who exposed them.

James shook his head and said, "No, it wasn't me. Stop blaming me."

"If it wasn't you, who else could it be? It must've been you."

"It wasn't me!"

Swoosh!

While they argued, the light ray fell to the ground and materialized into a beautiful woman.

James instantly stood up after seeing Zula, not daring to be disrespectful to a powerhouse at the Quasi Chaos Rank. Wynton also quickly followed suit, staring at Zula warily.

Zula came over, looked at the two, and immediately removed their seals. Then, she dispersed the seal around the spiritual mountain and said lightly, 'Til let you go this time, seeing that you're from Tempris House. Get lost, and don't ever show up again. I won't go easy on you next time."

After speaking, she disappeared.

James and Wynton looked at each other solemnly.

"Let's go," Wynton urged James.

The next moment, they appeared in the spiritual mountain where their comrades were. Then, they ascended to the manor atop it. As soon as they returned, they saw Wynton and Saachi in a discussion.

After sensing James and Wynton, Waleria asked, "Seeing that you've returned so fast, I'm assuming there isn't any good news? Nevermind investigating. Let's just launch an attack and destroy the Tarbitha Sect."

James and Wynton walked over and sat down.

Saachi noticed something wrong with their expression and asked, "What's wrong? Did something happen?"

James recounted their experience.

He said, puzzled, "Zula knew we had destroyed her bases, but she didn't make it hard for us and even freed us, saying that it's because we're disciples of Tempris House. Is it possible she is related to the house?"

"I don't know." Wynton shook his head. As someone from the Chaos District, it was impossible for him to know the details of these matters.

James looked at Waleria and asked, "Do you know anything?"

Waleria rolled her eyes and said, "I'm from the Theos

District and don't know much about the Verde Academy."

James murmured, "Something is off."

They had destroyed many of the Malvada Sect's bases. It was only logical for her to kill them, but she let them go safe and sound.

"I have a feeling Zula is somehow related to the Verde Academy. Perhaps..."

James suddenly recalled something.

"What is it?" Waleria, Saachi, and Wynton stared at James.

James explained, "An incident happened in Tempris House in the past. A senior disciple of Tempris House had made some kind of mistake while out training. He was punished by kneeling in Tempris' main hall. Wael decided to kill him, but many had begged for his life. Eventually, Wael killed all of them. The senior disciple felt he was wronged even until his death. I think it might have something to do with the Malvada Sect."

Waleria looked convinced by his words and said, "Is that so?"

You have such a rich imagination. How could you have pieced everything together?"

"I think I'm pretty accurate with my guess. I should be able to find out through extrapolation."

James raised his hand, and some inscriptions emerged from his palm. They merged and quickly formed into an Extrapolation Formation.
