

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 4766

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 4766-Faced with Wynona acting like this, James had no desire to bring her along.

Before he could reject her again, Waleria spoke up, “Anyway, her strength isn’t bad, and she won’t be a burden.

Let’s bring her along.” “yeah,” Saachi nodded vigorously.

Her return to the Aeternus District this time was to seek revenge.

Although the powerhouse who had slain her father was from the Aeternus District, she worried that this living being was colluding with other districts.

Taking another powerhouse with her would increase the chances of victory.

With both of them speaking up, James did not have much to say.

“Fine, then follow along.” “Thank you,” Wynona replied softly.

“Set sail!” Waleria called out and then activated the airship.

The airship disappeared instantly from its location and entered the Endlos Void.

Their first stop on this journey was Mount Blithe in the Welkin District.

During the journey to Mount Blithe, Waleria’s airship was the most top-tier magic treasure, with the ability to traverse through space.

However, crossing a district takes a considerable amount of time.

According to Waleria’s estimation, it would take at least one hundred million years to reach the Welkin District.

Despite its considerable length, it felt like a mere blink of an eye for the powerhouses.

Inside a room on the airship, James had set up a time formation around the room.

He sat cross-legged on the floor, an ancient scroll floating in front of him.

This ancient scroll was the Aeternus Mantra of the Aeternus District.

It was also the sacred scroll within the district.

James had possessed the Aeternus Mantra for a long time, but he had been unaware that it was a sacred scroll.

Now, he was earnestly immersed in his studies.

The Aeternus Mantra opened, projecting inscriptions that hovered before him.

He carefully observed and comprehended them.

Subsequently, he activated the Tenfold Realms Transcendent Sutra, aligning his cultivation with the method outlined in the Aeternus Mantra.

After mastering the Tenfold Realms Transcendent Sutra, he possessed the ability to comprehend the sacred scroll.

Soon, he cultivated another power known as the Eternal Power.

“It’s truly miraculous,” James said, taking a deep breath and muttering to himself. “The predecessor who created the Tenfold Realms Transcendent Sutra was truly extraordinary.

Without it, even if I possessed the sacred scroll and could comprehend its contents, I’d only be able to cultivate the power contained within the sacred scroll but would be unable to cultivate another power from it.

Only by cultivating the Tenfold Realms Transcendent Sutra can I simultaneously cultivate the powers of another sacred scroll.” “I’m really looking forward to obtaining all the sacred scrolls, cultivating the Tenfold Realms Power, and merging them into the Tenfold Realms Transcendent Art Supernatural Signature Skills one day.” After mastering the Eternal Power, James kept the Aeternus Mantra.

He dispersed the time formation and stood up from it.

In the living room of the airship, several powerhouses were gathered, and engaged in discussion.

As James walked in, Wynona immediately stood up and respectfully called out, “Sir James.” After addressing him as Sir, she quickly corrected herself, “Master.” Wynona dressed in a plain green robe, with her long hair tied up, giving her a pure and humble appearance, devoid of any trace of pride or arrogance.

James did not pay much attention to these titles and took a seat in an empty spot.

“James, we’re getting close to the Welkin District.

Do you really know Yardos?” Waleria asked as she looked at him.

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 4767-“I know him,” James nodded.

“Me too,” Wynton chimed in, smiling as he continued, “Speaking of which, Yardos, who was in the same cultivation rank, was once defeated by me.

He was one of my defeated foes.” “Braggart,” Waleria said, wearing a skeptical expression.

What kind of existence was Yardos Xagorari? He had already reached the Chaos Rank, and his status in the Endlos’ Nine Districts was extremely high.

Those who could defeat him could be counted on one hand.

“Whether you know him or not, we’ll find out when you meet him,” James did not explain much.

His eyes were spinning.

Now that he had already cultivated three sacred scrolls.

He was contemplating whether this journey to the Welkin District would provide an opportunity to test his luck by visiting Mount Azure.

He wondered if he could observe the sacred scroll of the Welkin District.

Once he had seen them, he would remember the inscriptions in the sacred scroll, and he could cultivate them.

Then, he would have mastered the Fourth Path Technique.

From there, he would be closer to the Ten Path Techniques, and closer to mastering the Tenfold Realms Transcendent Art.

James' eyes continued to spin, and Waleria immediately noticed, asking, "What scheme are you hatching in your mind again?" "Nothing," James quickly responded, shaking his head.

"What could I possibly be planning?" Wynona had been on the airship for a long time, but James had been in seclusion all along.

She had not found the opportunity to inquire about teaching.

Now that she finally had the chance, she asked, "Master, may I ask what keeps you persevering in your cultivation and has brought you to your current level?" "Well..."

James hesitated slightly.

These matters were better left unsaid, as revealing them would expose who he really was.

After a moment's thought, he began to make up a story.

Something about aspiring to become a powerhouse and wanting to marry a celestial maiden.

He babbled on, and Wynona listened attentively.

Waleria knew James was making it up but could not be bothered to expose him.

She rolled her eyes and left.

After his little storytelling session, James took out the Aeternus Mantra and handed it to Saachi.

"What happened?" Saachi asked, slightly surprised.

James smiled and said, "I've already read the Aeternus Mantra.

It's no longer useful to me, so I'm returning it to you." "Oh, really?" Saachi became interested and asked, "My father once said that the Aeternus Mantra contains the ancient secret art of my race.

However, despite generations of my ancestors attempting to comprehend it, none have truly comprehended the contents.

What exactly is recorded in the Aeternus Mantra?" The Aeternus Mantra had been entrusted to her by her father before he passed away.

She had tried reading it several times, but she could not comprehend it.

Even if she could make out some inscriptions with great effort, understanding eluded her.

"Do you know that there is a sacred scroll in other districts?" James asked.

"Yes," Saachi nodded, saying, "I've heard of them, but I don't know the details." The two of them began discussing the sacred scroll.

Meanwhile, Waleria reappeared after leaving earlier.

She sat to the side, wearing a curious expression, and looked at James as she asked, “James, tell us the truth.

Did you really comprehend the Verde Power from the Verde Academy’s sacred scroll? And what about that power you used in your battle with Wynona, the one that fused with the Verde Power? What was it?” James glanced at Waleria and said, “I can tell you, but I’d like to wait for an opportunity to go to the Theos District with you and borrow Theos District’s sacred scroll for observation.” Upon hearing this, Waleria immediately lost her enthusiasm, deflating like a balloon.

She replied, “I can’t promise you that.

The Theos District’s sacred scroll is guarded by the Sect Leader, and I’ve never even seen them.

Besides, I’m not sure if I can persuade the Sect Leader to let you see it.” Upon hearing this, James did not press the matter further.

It seemed he would have to find an opportunity in the future to negotiate with the Theos District Lord and exchange other sacred scrolls for the ones from the Theos District.

James looked at Saachi, Waleria, as well as Wynona and Wynton, who were listening attentively.

He smiled and said, “In the Nine Districts, each district has a sacred scroll, and these sacred scrolls contain mysterious cultivation methods.

Each cultivation method can cultivate a completely new power.”

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 4768-James had no reason to conceal these secrets.

Firstly, he had complete trust in the individuals before him.

Secondly, without the Tenfold Realms Transcendent Sutra, comprehending the sacred scrolls was impossible.

Even if one could manage to comprehend them through great effort, cultivating the cultivation methods was out of the question.

Even if one could cultivate them, they would only be able to focus on a single sacred scroll.

“So, have you cultivated the powers recorded in the Aeternus District’s sacred scroll?” Waleria asked curiously.

“Also, which district’s sacred scroll recorded the power that you exhibited during your battle with Wynona?” James could not speak the whole truth about these matters, so he gave an evasive response.

“Not interested.” Waleria immediately sensed that James was just brushing her off. Without further questions, she vanished once again, leaving her original spot.

Meanwhile, Saachi put away the Aeternus Mantra.

The airship continued its journey.

It did not take long before they arrived at the Welkin District.

“Here we are,” Waleria said, coming to a halt and pointing ahead to a massive cosmic expanse.

“This is the core universe of the Welkin District, where Mount Azure and Mount Blithe are located.” She retracted the airship, and the group found themselves standing in the Endlos Void.

James gazed at the cosmic expanse ahead, feeling excitement welling up within him. He was finally going to meet Yardos.

“Let’s go,” James called out and took a step forward.

In the next instant, they entered the Welkin Universe.

Beyond Mount Blithe in the Welkin Universe, James surveyed the spiritual mountain landscape before him.

This particular spiritual mountain had no protective formations.

His Zen extended, encompassing the entirety of Mount Blithe.

At the summit of the mountain, he sensed a presence that was both familiar and unfamiliar.

He walked towards it with excitement, taking a step that brought him into the range of Mount Blithe.

“Who dares to trespass upon Mount Blithe?” A terrifying force resonated from the mountaintop.

James was sent flying, his body crashing heavily to the ground.

“Haha,” Waleria laughed carelessly.

“Is this your so-called old friend?” Wynona immediately walked over, helping James up from the ground, and asked with concern, “Master, are you alright?” As Wynona helped him to his feet, James could not contain the surging blood within him, and it spurted out, staining Wynona’s clothes with crimson.

He wore an embarrassed expression and apologized, “I’m sorry, I couldn’t control the Blood Energy.” Wynona shook her head slightly and did not say anything.

Instead, a radiant light enveloped her, and she instantly changed her clothes.

James wiped the blood from the corner of his mouth with his hand.

He looked towards Mount Blithe ahead, and shouted, “Mr.

Yardos, is this how you treat your former best friend? It’s me, James!” His voice echoed through the mountain.

At the mountaintop of Mount Blithe stood a towering tree.

A man reclined on its branches, a piece of grass dangling from his mouth as he gazed at the sky.

Upon hearing the commotion from below, he was so startled that he tumbled from the tree.

However, his body spun gracefully in mid-air, and he landed firmly on the ground.

“James?” Memories resurfaced in his mind.

Soon, he extended his Zen, scanning the mountain below.

He not only saw James but also spotted Wynton.

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 4769-“Why would these two come here?” he muttered to himself, then exclaimed, “Come up!” Upon hearing the voice, James looked smugly at Waleria beside him and then proceeded to climb the mountain.

Yardos stood dressed in a black robe at the mountaintop of Mount Blithe.

Upon seeing James, he could not contain his excitement.

He embraced him and burst into hearty laughter, saying, “Haha, it’s you, it’s really you.” He embraced James, laughing excitedly.

After so many years, he had finally encountered someone from his hometown.

“yardos Xagorari,” Wynton called out.

“Go away...” Yardos glanced at Wynton.

He flicked his finger lightly and unleashed a formidable force that directly attacked Wynton, sending him flying out of this universe.

Soon, Wynton returned.

He clutched his chest, wearing a pained expression on his face, and said, “Isn’t this a bit excessive? I only defeated you once in the same cultivation rank.

Is there really a need to hold such a grudge?” “Who are they?” Yardos glanced at Waleria, Saachi, and Wynona.

James immediately replied, “I am now the Head of Tempris House at Verde Academy, and they are all elders of Tempris.” “Yardos, it’s been a while,” a voice said.

Immediately, a blood-red light appeared.

“Mr.

Xrival, you’ve come too?” Yardos was surprised but soon realized what was happening and said, “It’s just an illusion.” As he spoke, he waved his hand, and a powerful force materialized.

Waleria, Saachi, and Wynona were instantly shaken and thrown out of Mount Blithe. Waleria was a Quasi Boundless Rank powerhouse, yet she had no resistance against Yardos.

Outside Mount Blithe, her expression was filled with anger as she cursed, “Yardos Xagorari doesn’t show me any respect.” She wanted to climb the mountain once more, but there was a powerful restraining force at the mountain that even Waleria could not overcome.

On the mountaintop, Yardos looked at James and the others, asking, "How did you all come here?" James explained the situation.

Wynton also elaborated on the reasons for his arrival in the Endlos' Nine Districts.

James then asked, "Mr.

Yardos, what have you discovered during the countless years you've been in the Welkin District?" Yardos sighed and said, "I haven't discovered anything.

I was on the verge of death when I first arrived in the Endlos' Nine Districts.

After recovering from my injuries, I was full of pride.

I wanted to challenge the Welkin District Lord to understand the difference between me and the Chaos Rank powerhouse.

However, I was defeated and trapped in Mount Blithe.

It wasn't until I broke through to the Chaos Rank that I regained my freedom.

I've been quietly discovering some events from the past, but I haven't made much progress.

Now I'm waiting for the return of the Chaos District's aura." Upon hearing this, James shared what he had discovered since arriving in the Endlos' Nine Districts.

"So that's how it is," Yardos said, enlightened.

"However, things may not be that simple," Wynton added, revealing some inside information he knew.

He talked about the fusion of the Chaos District Lord and the Chaos Heavenly Path, as well as the Chaos District Lord's desire to sacrifice the living beings from the entire Chaos District for resurrection.

James also mentioned his experiences in the illusion, including Emperor Raiah, Wynne Dalganus, and the matter of the sacred scroll.

A group of powerhouses from the Chaos District gathered together, discussing the Sky Burial of the Chaos District and revealing some of the secrets of the Endlos' Nine Districts.

The things James mentioned were things that Yardos had not been able to discover.

"Mr.

Yardos, what should we do now?" James asked.

Yardos pondered for a moment and said, "Based on what you've told me, the Chaos District has been concealed in the past, and there are definitely hidden secrets within it.

Moreover, the Endlos' Nine Districts also hold too many secrets.

A long time ago, before the birth of the Ten Districts, something significant must have occurred.

What we can do now is establish our own power, make a stand in the Endlos' Nine Districts, and await the return of the Chaos aura.

When that time comes, the powerhouses of the Endlos' Nine Districts will take action, and everything will become clear."

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 4770-After learning this information, Yardos offered James some suggestions.

His suggestions involved building their own influence within the Endlos' Nine Districts, initially establishing a foothold there, and then patiently waiting for the return of the Chaos District's aura.

By that time, the truth of the matter would become evident, and everything would be unveiled.

Upon hearing this, James contemplated it.

When he left the Chaos, it had already ushered in one of the most brilliant eras in history.

In this great environment, numerous powerhouses would be born.

Now, more than ten thousand epochs had elapsed.

According to the brilliance of the Chaos District, many powerhouses should have emerged after his departure.

Perhaps some of the powerhouses from the Chaos District were working hard to suppress the aura emanating from it, preventing it from being sensed by the Nine Districts.

If that was the case, James did not have much time left.

"Is Tempris in the Verde District considered part of my influence?" James asked.

Yardos shook his head slightly and said, "Tempris is merely one of the Five Houses within the Verde Academy.

Even if you hold the position of Head of Tempris House, it doesn't represent the Five Districts, so it doesn't count.

You'll need to build something distinct." Upon hearing this, James thought for a moment.

Then, he said, "My primary destination on this journey is the Aeternus District." James explained some of the things related to the Aeternus District.

Yardos nodded lightly and said, "The Aeternus District is an excellent choice.

You can utilize this opportunity to bring stability to the chaos in the Aeternus District, exercise control, and establish a new sect.

When I join, it will undoubtedly gain popularity across the Nine Districts and attract numerous powerhouses to join." Yardos had already thought about the path ahead.

"Then it can only be this way." James nodded gently.

They gathered together and discussed some of the things that would come next.

At the same time, they needed to find Henrik and Wyot, who had arrived in the Endlos' Nine Districts, in order to discern their purpose for venturing into the Chaos.

Only through this process could they more effectively evaluate, analyze, and speculate about Teresa's intentions.

Additionally, what should they do if Teresa's avatar were to manifest one day? These were all subjects of discussion among them.

The discussion lasted for several months.

During that time, they also formulated detailed plans.

Several months later, James turned to Wynton and said, "Go down the mountain first, reassure Waleria and the others.

I'll have a conversation with Mr.

Yardos." "Okay," Wynton nodded, then stood up and left the area.

After Wynton left, only James and the illusory form of the Ancestral Blood Master remained.

Ancestral Blood Master's illusory form had nothing to do, so he returned to the space created by James.

As he was currently just an illusory form, he could not sense the existence of his main self and did not know the current situation in the Chaos District.

There was nothing for him to stay for.

"Mr.

Yardos, there's a sacred scroll in the Welkin District.

Do you have any means to acquire it from the Welkin District Lord?" James asked.

He had discovered the secret of the sacred scroll and was eager to collect them all.

The more sacred scrolls he obtained, the more power he could cultivate, and the stronger he would become.

Upon hearing this, Yardos frowned and said, "I hadn't heard of the sacred scrolls before, and I've only just learned of their existence.

The Welkin District Lord is an extremely elusive figure, and acquiring the sacred scroll from him might prove challenging.

Still, you should proceed with your plans in the Aeternus District and do what you need to do.

I will find a way to obtain the Welkin District's sacred scroll, even if it necessitates the use of force." With Yardos's assurance, James felt relieved.

"By the way, is there a tenth rank in the Omniscience Path?" James asked.

He had already reached the late stage of the ninth rank.

His Omniscience Path had reached a point where further advancement seemed impossible, but he could still improve his physical body, bloodline, and aura.

As long as he broke through to the next realm, he could continue to advance.