The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 4806- "The Theos Sect's leader wants to see me?" The Theos Sect's leader placed second on the previous Chaos Ranking.

Although he was ranked lower than the Hazeaf District's Leader, Lucius, he would not necessarily lose in a life-and-death duel.

James was puzzled and wondered why the Theos Sect's Leader would want to see him since they had never met.

Waleria nodded lightly and said, "Yeah.

Come with me." After a brief hesitation, James followed Waleria.

He was led to a spiritual mountain in the Hazeaf Sect.

The environment had abundant Empyrean Spiritual Energy and mysterious fruits.

Atop the mountain was a manor.

Aman Sat inside the living room of the manor.

In front of him was a stone table with a bizarre-looking Chessboard of Heaven and Earth.

"ve brought James, Sir." Walria walked into the living room with James.

James looked at the Theos District's Leader.

The Theos District's leader was relatively young.

He had an ordinary appearance but emitted a very oppressive aura.

James clasped his hands and said, "It's an honor to meet you, Sir.

I'm James Caden." The Theos District's leader was staring at the chessboard pensively.

Upon hearing James' voice, he raised his head.

He pointed to the stone chair opposite him and said, "Sit." James glanced at Waleria.

Walereia gently pushed him and whispered, "Just do as he says." James sat down, and a powerful energy emerged from the chair.

The chessboard on the stone table suddenly released a strange light ray and enveloped Jams.

The scenery in front of James had changed.

He entered a strange world and was standing on a city wall.

He saw countless soldiers on horses galloping past him.

Soldiers practically surrounded the entire city.

The chants of soldiers echoed, making him feel uneasy.

At a glance, James knew everything around him was an illusion, and it was a game of chess.

He was pulled into the illusion and became one of the leader's chess pieces.

Puzzled, James pondered, 'Why would the Theos District's leader transform me into a chess piece?' He tried to leave the Chessboard of Heaven and Earth.

However, he was unable to escape even after using all his strength.

"What should I do?" James fell into thought.

"Tf you want to leave, you must break the Chessboard of Heaven and Earth.

The Ancestral Blood Master's voice rang in his mind.

"T have to break it?" James frowned.

He summoned his long sword and rushed out of the city.

However, he was immediately surrounded by an army.

The soldiers were powerful and had strength on par with him.

He did not last very long before he was injured and forced to retreat into the city.

He was temporarily safe after returning to the city.

Many soldiers still surrounded the city, and it was impossible for him to leave the Chessboard of Heaven and Earth.

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 4807-After a while, James suddenly had an idea.

He converted everything around him into inscription rules, including the city and soldiers.

The complex inscriptions gradually converted into their simplest form.

James stood up, stretched out his hand, and tapped the air.

The inscriptions immediately collapsed, and he returned to reality.

He found himself still sitting on the stone chair.

Crack!!! When he regained consciousness, the chessboard on the stone table shattered.

The Theos District's Leader suffered a backlash, and his body was knocked away, almost falling to the floor.

Sedris Caballero, the Theos District's leader, sat upright and clapped.

He looked at James and admiringly said, "Impressive.

I was wondering why I couldn't see through you and why I couldn't completely integrate you into my chessboard.

So it seems you're a player and not a chess piece." "What are you talking about?" James frowned slightly, confused by his words.

However, Sedris did not explain.

He reached out his hand and said, "I heard you have a legendary sword.

Let me have a look.” James knew Sedris meant the Chaos Word.

He summoned it instantly and handed it over.

Although reluctant, he did not want Sedris to become suspicious.

Thus, he knew it would be better to let him have a look instead of showing hesitance.

The Chaos Sword released a terrifying aura and hummed, trying to escape his hands.

However, Sedris forcibly suppressed the Chaos Sword with his power.

After staring at it awhile, he handed the Chaos Sword back to James.

Sedris looked at James and said, “It’s a good sword with an exceptional origin.

If word about it were to spread, it’ll definitely cause turmoil.” “Ts that so?” James pretended to be surprised.

Sedris continued, saying, “The sword acknowledges you as its master.

You must have cultivated a sword technique that is compatible with it, right?” “Yeah.” James nodded lightly.

After thinking for a while, Sedris said, “I’m interested in your sword, but even more so in your sword technique.

I don’t want your sword, but I would like to have the technique you cultivate.

If you agree to pass it on to me, I’m open to offering you something of equal value in exchange.” Sedris had gone to the Chaos District before and knew how terrifying the Chaos’ Nine Voices was.

Back then, the Chaos Master killed Xuri, a powerhouse at the Quasi Chaos Rank, with his Heaven Piercing Sword Art despite being in a different district.

Sedris had also projected a clone of his into the Chaos District.

Therefore, he knew the Chaos Master was only at the Caelum Boundless Rank.

He was amazed by the Chaos Master's signature skill.

Previously, he sent Waleria to the Yhala Realm to find Xuri's body.

He wanted to study the lingering Sword Energy of the Chaos' Nine Voices in her body.

"About that..." James slightly hesitated.

Waleria interjected, saying, "I've witnessed your sword technique before.

Although it's strong, our sect also has many sword techniques.

If you pass it to my teacher, we'll reward you handsomely.

By the way, weren't you always interested in the Theos District's sacred scroll?" James was grateful after Waleria brought up the sacred scroll.

He was unwilling to pass the Chaos' Nine Voices to an enemy.

James was worried Sedris would thoroughly study the Chaos' Nine Voices and no longer fear the Chaos District.

However, it would be beneficial if he could obtain the Theos District's sacred scroll.

James looked at Sedris and asked, "Could you lend me the Theos District's sacred scroll for some time? If you agree to my condition, I can pass and teach you the sword technique I obtained from the sword mound."

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 4808-He even thought about asking Waleria to show it to him.

Now that the opportunity was right before him, he did not want to miss it.

"Sure." Sedris agreed without any hesitation.

Their sacred scroll was very mysterious, and the inscriptions within it had many changes.

He had studied it for a long time but could only grasp the basics.

He never successfully cultivated Theos Power.

Despite that, he used the sacred scroll to create other Supernatural Powers.

In the past, he had exchanged sacred scrolls with the other district leaders before.

After reading all of the nine sacred scrolls and combining them, he still could not comprehend them.

Therefore, Sedris was confident James would not be able to learn anything from the sacred scroll.

The trade was worth it.

A ray of light appeared in Sedris' palm and slowly materialized into a scroll.

He handed it to James and said, "You can return it to me after the Hazeaf Gathering." James was ecstatic.

However, he did not let it show on his face.

He put the sacred scroll away and asked smilingly, "When would you like to learn the sword technique I've obtained from the sword mound?" Sedris replied, "Right now." "Alright." James nodded.

Then, he put together a book recording the cultivation method of the Chaos' Nine Voice.

James did not use text from the Dooms but instead recorded everything with ordinary inscriptions.

He handed the book over to Sedris.

Sedris opened the book and looked through the contents.

After reading it, he came to a huge realization.

He exclaimed, "So that's how it is." He looked at James and said, "Although the sword technique is profound, it shouldn't be hard for me to learn it.

I won't need your guidance." James purposely used ordinary inscriptions to avoid having to guide Sedris in cultivating the Chaos' Nine Voices.

He stood up, clasped his hands, and said, "In that case, I'll take my leave." After bidding farewell, James turned around and left.

Waleria remained with Sedris.

After James left, Waleria asked, "Is the sword technique useful to you, sir?" Sedris replied smilingly, "I asked you to find Yhala's body because I wanted to study the remaining Sword Energy within her.

James's sword technique forms that kind of Sword Energy." "What?" Waleria was startled.

"Then...isn't the sword technique from the Chaos District? Does that mean James is from the Chaos District?" Sedris' face darkened.

He shook his head and said, "Probably not.

The Chaos District has already been sealed.

We're unable to enter, but they can't leave either.

I've been to the sword mound before.

The book he gave me contained the same technique.

However, the inscriptions were profound and hard to understand.

I've studied them for a while but couldn't figure it out.

I'm not sure how he managed to decipher them." Sedris felt slightly worried after thinking about how James had cultivated the Chaos' Nine Voices from the sword mound.

He murmured, "Perhaps he might really be able to comprehend the sacred scrolls." He turned to Waleria and asked, "You've been with him for a long time, right? Is he able to read the sacred scrolls?" Waleria shook her head and said, "How would I know? He never told me about it.

However, he has seen a few sacred scrolls from the other districts.

Moreover, he cultivated some kind of mysterious power.

I'm not sure whether he learned them from the sacred scrolls." Waleria did not have the answer either.

Whenever she asked James about it, he would always brush it off.

"However, I'm certain he read the Verde Academy's sacred scroll and cultivated Verde Power.

I've heard from Lothar that only the Verde Academy's founder has cultivated Verde Power.

Apart from him, nobody else ever succeeded." "So you think he has cultivated Verde Power?" asked Sedris.

"Yeah." Waleria nodded.

Although James had never explained himself, she had been with him for some time and observed his every move.

She suspected the power James had cultivated was from the sacred scrolls.

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 4809-After a while, he waved his hand and said, "Alright, you're dismissed.

I need to study the sword technique thoroughly." Waleria turned around and left.

Then, he headed out of the Hazeaf Universe.

James went to the Endlos Void and activated the power of his Time Path.

He appeared in the River of Time and went to a point in the past.

He planned to cultivate and prepare for the Hazeaf Gathering.

He had already cultivated Chaos Power, Verde Power, Eternal Power, and Kapron Power.

Now that he had obtained the Theos District and Welkin District's sacred scrolls, that would make six powers.

He only had four more sacred scrolls to collect.

However, James knew the sacred scrolls were extraordinary existences.

The force birthed from combining two powers with the Tenfold Realms Transcendent Sutra was already extraordinary.

He could not imagine how horrifying the force created by fusing six powers would be.

James murmured, "I wonder if I'll be able to fight a powerhouse at the Chaos Rank by combining these six powers?" He slowly drifted through the River of Time.

After a while, he leaped out of it and appeared back in the Endlos Void.

As soon as he left the River of Time, Karma Power surrounded him and tried to drive him back to the future.

However, James was strong and proficient in the Karma Path.

Thus, he managed to suppress the Karma Power.

"No wonder powerhouses don't dare travel through the River of Time.

The Karma Power attracted is very potent.

It's understandable why they want to avoid it." After James suppressed the Karma Power, he took a deep breath.

He had traveled ten epochs back into the past.

James set up an isolation and time formation around him.

After he was prepared, he took out the sacred scrolls and reviewed them.

Then, he spent years focusing on cultivating his time formation.

At the same time, he continuously improved his cultivation base.

Countless years passed in a flash.

James successfully cultivated Theos Power and Welkin Power.

Out of the ten powers, he already possessed six.

His cultivation rank had also improved to the late stage of the Caelum Acme Rank.

After he was done cultivating, he dispersed the time formation.

He sensed his surroundings and found not much time had passed.

He stretched his body and had a calm expression.

“Now that I’ve cultivated six of the sacred scrolls’ powers, I should be able to take on a powerhouse at the Chaos Rank, right?” James was not sure either.

He had never fought a powerhouse at the Chaos Rank, so he had never experienced their strength before.

However, he was about to find out very soon.

He was going to make a name for himself in the Hazeaf Gathering.

If Yardos could win first place, James was confident he could also make it into the top ten.

It would be beneficial] to Heavenly Court if two members were ranked in the top ten in the Chaos Ranking.

James roared, “My era is about to begin!” He activated the power of the Time Path and entered the River of Time, returning to the future.
