

Read The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 4831

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 4831-James drew reassurance from those words.

As Zeno said, even if the skeleton turned out to be the remains of an extraterrestrial demon, the two of them were more than capable of subduing it.

While James observed the skeleton, several lines of inscriptions hidden deep in his eyes started glowing slightly.

With the powers of the Dobro Eyes, James spotted numerous faint inscriptions surrounding the skeleton.

Those inscriptions were skillfully hidden in the space around the skeleton and were barely detectable.

After James activated the Dobro Eyes, he could see where each of the inscriptions was positioned.

Also, he noticed that the inscriptions were of obscure, ancient origins.

Fortunately, deciphering the inscriptions was no issue for James.

He got into a seated position and set up a time formation around him at once.

Within the formation, James worked on deciphering the mysterious inscriptions surrounding the skeleton to lift the seal placed around it.

Soon enough, James undid the time formation.

Zeno's voice was tinged with anticipation as he asked right away, "How did it go?" James flashed him a broad grin.

"This type of sealing formation is nothing to me.

Here.

Watch this." James raised his palm and conjured countless inscriptions before him.

They were the exact replica of the inscriptions placed around the unidentified skeleton.

As James' inscriptions floated toward the skeleton and merged with the inscriptions around it, the latter was gradually being dissolved and removed from that space.

Eventually, the sealing formation was destroyed as all of the inscriptions were removed.

Suddenly, two eerie, red balls of light shone in the eye sockets of the skeleton lying on the ground.

The skeleton leaped to its feet the next instant.

A vicious, overwhelming aura emanated from the skeleton almost instantaneously.

James and Zeno were swept several meters away due to the skeleton's aura as they were caught completely off-guard.

Meanwhile, the skeleton scanned the surroundings and rose up in the air.

Then, it flew toward the sky at an incredible speed.

"Stop right there!" Zeno shouted and quickly went after the skeleton.

Just as Zeno was about to catch up to the skeleton, it turned around abruptly and blasted two laser beams from its eye sockets aiming at Zeno.

Zeno could sense the threatening force of the skeleton's attack, and he swiftly dodged out of the way.

During that split second, the skeleton managed to break free from the incomplete formation and enter the outside world.

Until just a while ago, several cultivators were gathered around the incomplete formation in the outside world as they tried to study and decipher it.

To their surprise, the formation suddenly fell apart, and a strange- looking skeleton materialized before them at that moment.

Then, the skeleton seemed to have teleported as it vanished right away.

On the other hand, James was staring hard at the place where the skeleton was found earlier.

His eyes narrowed as he walked up to the spot and squatted down.

James was able to detect the residual aura of the mysterious skeleton left on the ground.

‘I can sense a mixture of different powers from the skeleton’s residual aura.

One of them is obviously the power of the extraterrestrial demons.

Another one feels rather familiar...

It is the Eternal Power.

‘Others might not be able to discern it.

However, I’ve learned about the power from the Aeternus Mantra and mastered it.

So, I could sense the presence of the Eternal Power fairly easily.’ James thought.

“Hold on.” James tapped on his jaw.

“Other than the Eternal Power, I could sense the Theos Power too.” “What are you mumbling to yourself there, James?!” Zeno shouted at him, “It’s getting away! We need to go after it now!”

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 4832-James had a pensive look in his eyes.

‘I could sense several types of power from the aura left at the place where we found the skeleton.

The power of the extraterrestrial demons radiated the most prominent and abundant aura, followed by the Eternal Power and Theos Power respectively.

‘Judging by the looks of things, the skeleton is most likely the remains of an extraterrestrial demon.

The traces of the Eternal Power and Theos Power were probably left during a battle with a cultivator who had mastered those powers.

‘So far, none from the Endlos’ Nine Districts has managed to master all of the powers from the different districts.

Even the number-one cultivator in all of Endlos, the sect leader of the Hazeaf District, has only managed to learn and wield parts of the Hazeaf Power from their sacred scroll.’ James pondered.

“James, what’s the matter?” Zeno asked impatiently.

“Take a look at it yourself.

I’ll go after the skeleton now.” James teleported and vanished from the spot instantly.

On the other hand, Zeno moved toward the place where James was examining earlier.

After observing the spot for a while, Zeno’s eyes widened in shock.

James did not chase after the skeleton right away since he was confident in his ability to track down his target.

As long as the skeleton was situated within the range of his awareness, James could easily detect its location through its aura.

James was even able to detect the aura of his target within an area spanning an entire district.

James tried to locate the skeleton through its aura again.

Then, he teleported by using the Blithe Omniscience and reappeared in a place filled with darkness and malicious aura.

‘This strange skeleton keeps trying to run toward this dark and deserted area.

I wonder where it is trying to get to.’ James thought.

As soon as he spotted the skeleton in the distance, James unleashed the Blithe Omniscience and materialized somewhere a few meters before the skeleton, blocking its path.

The skeleton stopped in its tracks as he noticed James.

Two bright red light orbs shone in the skeleton's eye sockets as it took a few steps backward, seemingly a little intimidated by James.

"James!" Although James had performed the Blithe Omniscience, Zeno managed to catch up to him nonetheless.

He appeared on the other side of the skeleton, sealing off its escape route entirely.

James knew that he should not let his guard down while facing the mysterious skeleton.

He immediately activated the Omniscience Path and initiated the Tenfold Realms Transcendent Sutra.

Then, he focused his concentration on generating six different powers in his body.

With the knowledge of the Tenfold Realms Transcendent Sutra, James produced an immense force by fusing all six potent powers together.

"That terrifying power of his!" Zeno felt a chill run down his spine as he sensed the overwhelming power generated by James.

Just then, the skeleton conjured a sword made entirely out of bones in its palm.

Then, it rushed toward James at full speed.

Huge gusts of wind were formed as the skeleton raised its sword and swung heavily in James' direction.

Simultaneously, an endless amount of dark, menacing aura appeared to be sucked from the surroundings toward the skeleton's sword and directed at James.

James swiftly summoned the Chaos Sword as he detected the threatening powers of the skeleton's attack.

He unleashed a powerful wave of sword energy the next instant.

However, James was instantly swept back by the collision of their powers as the two swords came into contact.

The skeleton spotted its opportunity and fled away immediately.

James recovered from the shock a brief moment later.

Then, he quickly went after the skeleton again.

After traveling across the ancient battlefield by using the Blithe Omniscience for quite some time, James finally caught sight of the skeleton again.

This time, James activated a complex formation found deep in his mind.

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 4833-A dark, shadow-like figure could be spotted standing above that intricate formation.

The figure was completely black from head to toe with no apparent facial features.

The dark figure materialized before the skeleton the next instant, along with the intricate formation underneath its feet.

As soon as James summoned the figure, a huge shift in the air pressure within that area could be felt instantly.

“what the...?!” Zeno was equally shocked and amazed by the sight of that dark figure.

A few seconds after the figure had appeared, another formation was conjured underneath the skeleton, trapping it at that spot almost instantaneously.

The skeleton tried to break out of the formation with its powers but was to no avail.

While it carried on with its attempts to escape, the dark figure produced by James lifted an arm and prepared to launch an attack at its target.

“Don’t destroy it, James! I want it intact!” Zeno cried out at that very moment.

The dark figure froze in its tracks.

It disappeared right then as James summoned the figure back into his mind.

Zeno teleported and reappeared next to James.

“I know, with the residual auras of several powers left in the skeleton, there’s a huge possibility that the skeleton is a member of the extraterrestrial demons.

However, that is just our speculation for now.

We should investigate more before deciding what to do with it.” “Mhm.” James nodded after a brief pause.

“By the way, what was that signature skill?” Zeno’s eyes twinkled as he stared at the formation produced by James.

“I’ve visited countless ancient ruins and come across various formations.

Yet, this is the first time I’ve seen such an intriguing formation!” James was glowing as he said, “I created the formation myself.

The name of the formation is...” James just realized he hadn’t given any thought to the naming of the formation.

After a brief pause, he continued, “I haven’t decided on a name for it.

I’ll come up with one once I perfect the formation.” Meanwhile, Zeno had walked up to the skeleton to study its structure up close.

He could find various battle marks on its bones.

A few minutes later, Zeno commented, “Just by looking at the bone structure, I could tell that this skeleton belonged to a female.

Moreover, the lady had amazing proportions and a beautiful face even.” James couldn’t help but roll his eyes upon hearing Zeno’s remarks.

The young man stepped closer to the skeleton and raised his palm.

Then, he tried to extract the Eternal Power and Theos Power from the skeleton.

If James were able to do that, that would mean that those two forms of power were left on the skeleton by external sources.

Soon enough, James managed to extract minute amounts of the Eternal Power and Theos Power from the skeleton.

It further confirmed James' suspicion that the skeleton was a member of the extraterrestrial demons when it was still alive.

"we should destroy this thing.

I never imagined that a member of the extraterrestrial demons could still have such great powers even after being in this state for so long.

It could become a problem if we just leave it be," James suggested.

"Hear me out first!" Zeno cried, "This skeleton is the perfect material for the creation of a puppet.

If we could turn it into one, we'd instantly get a new helper at the Chaos Rank!" James was intrigued by Zeno's suggestion.

"Why haven't I thought about that before? It's a shame that I have never learned any methods or techniques on how to make puppets, though." "Leave it to me." Zeno grinned broadly.

"I have extensive knowledge on the matter.

Just give me a few moments, and I'll make you a good, useful puppet soon!" The elderly cultivator put up a time formation and several other formations to work on the puppet- making process.

On the other hand, James tried to study the complex formation in his head while waiting for Zeno.

'This formation carries powers even stronger than the combination of all the six powers.

'The combination of the six powers almost gave out under the sword attack from the skeleton just now.

Yet, I was able to trap the skeleton with this formation.' James pondered.

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 4834-James created the formation in his head by referring to the formation he had seen during the Heavenly Tribulation, which took place the same time he had entered the Caelum Acme Rank.

However, the formation he had encountered back then was far superior to the one he made himself.

As for the dark figure, the being was the manifestation of the Dark Path that James had cultivated in the past.

It did not possess any Zen, but James could control it nonetheless.

Surprisingly, the powers of the dark figure were compatible with that of the new formation James had produced.

James believed that by making the formation more advanced, the powers of the dark figure would increase correspondingly too.

“James, it’s not working.” Zeno’s voice was tinged with frustration as he called out to James.

James turned his gaze toward Zeno and spotted a deep frown on the elderly man’s forehead.

Zeno said, “This skeleton is too powerful.

I can’t even start with my process.

I need your help.” James asked, “What do you need me to do?” Zeno explained, “Help me suppress the residual powers of this skeleton so that I can remove the Zen still lingering on the bones.

Once I get rid of most of the Zen, it will be easier for me to work on converting the skeleton into a puppet.” “Alright.” James nodded.

The man started generating the six different powers in his body as he walked toward the skeleton.

Then, James raised his palm and channeled all six powers into the formation trapping the skeleton.

The skeleton threw back its head and let out a shrill scream almost instantaneously.

It struggled violently in an attempt to break free from the contraption restricting its movement.

Zeno quickly lifted his hands and conjured innumerable inscriptions that could act to weaken and remove the residual Zen and soul aura still attached to the skeleton.

The inscriptions flowed toward the skeleton and fused with its bones.

Although Zeno was a skilled and seasoned cultivator, this delicate process was nevertheless extremely time-consuming.

After a very long time, the skeleton gradually lost its strength and stopped struggling at some point.

James dropped his hand and undid his formation around the skeleton.

The skeleton stood before James and Zeno, remaining completely docile.

Even though multiple battle marks were scattered around the skeleton's bones, the skeleton exuded an aura of authority and elegance as it was glowing faintly with white light all over.

Zeno fixed his gaze on the skeleton.

"Once I turn this amazing skeleton into a puppet, it will be able to unleash the powers of the Chaos Rank." James detected the time and noticed that an epoch had passed in the outside world whilst they worked on the skeleton within the time formation.

"How long is it going to take for you to finish making the puppet?" James asked.

He was aiming to win first place in the competition for the Boundless Ranking.

Zeno answered, "I need at most an epoch of the outside world." "Be quick, then.

I need to work on preparing for my plans too." Zeno resumed the puppet-making process right away.

He tried his best to restore the skeleton to a better condition.

Furthermore, he even used the treasures he had collected from ancient cities and ruins to help produce a powerful puppet.

At long last, Zeno successfully transformed the skeleton into a puppet.

“It’s done, James.” As Zeno snapped his fingers, the skeleton walked toward James and stopped before him.

“Hello, Master.”

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 4835-“I just can’t get used to the skeleton’s appearance.”

James lifted his hand and conjured several lines of inscriptions. As soon as those inscriptions were absorbed into the skeleton, muscle fibers began forming on the surface of its bones.

Soon enough, the skeleton adopted a human form with James’ powers. It was a lady with a voluptuous figure and a gorgeous face. She had a fair complexion and unique blue hair.

As Zeno had predicted earlier, the lady was a real beauty. Even James was momentarily stunned as he took in the lady’s good looks.

Zeno slapped James on the back and snickered, “Never seen a beauty in your life before, young man?”

James finally snapped to his senses. He channeled the powers of the path and produced a blue dress over the lady’s body. The beautiful lady seemed like an ethereal being in her new dress.

After that, James endowed the lady, who was a puppet, with a brand new soul by imbuing some Zen in the simplest form in her.

At his level of skills and cultivation, James could easily create new spaces and realms with his powers. He had no trouble creating Zen in a puppet too.

“Master.” The lady beamed warmly at James as she greeted him again. James found her voice rather pleasing to the ear.

“What should we call her?” Whilst he gazed at the bluehaired lady, James tilted his head and tapped on his jaw.

After a moment's consideration, James made up his mind." From now on, your name is Livie Caden."

"Understood." Livie seemed to like her name very much as she smiled and bowed to James.

Zeno jutted his chin proudly as he began, "James, I've created a puppet with the powers of the Chaos Rank that has also turned out to be a beauty for you. Shouldn't you do something to return the favor too?"

James narrowed his eyes upon hearing Zeno's words.

'I knew he wouldn't have done all this for no good reason...' James thought as he clicked his tongue.

"What is it that you want me to do?" His voice rang with annoyance.

"Hehe." The old monk let out a playful chuckle. "You probably remember how I make a living by collecting and selling information."

"I've found some clues from another ancient site. At the deepest part of this battlefield, one of Emperor Raiah's subordinates who was once a superior cultivator had been put under a seal at an unknown location. I plan to break the seal and rescue the person. If it's possible, I also want to ask them for more information about my background."

After listening to Zeno's explanation, James asked, "Are you sure that the clues you've obtained are accurate? Also, is the location where the said person has been sealed dangerous?"

"I'm certain that they are accurate, and the location that I'm heading to is dangerous, of course. Even cultivators of the Chaos Rank might face life-threatening situations while navigating through that area."

"However, you have attained powers even more potent than that of the Chaos Rank cultivators. I have faith that you'll be able to make it through the entire mission safely. Moreover, you have a vast knowledge of the various types of inscriptions. With your help, there's a better chance I will be able to free that cultivator."

“Do you know who’s the person that’s been sealed in that place?” James asked curiously.

Zeno shook his head. “No. All I know is that he had once worked under Emperor Raiah’s command and that he had achieved the Chaos Rank.”

“Alright. I’m in,” James replied fairly quickly.

‘I am curious about what has happened in this realm prior to the creation of the Endlos’ Ten Districts. If we could meet with a cultivator who had lived through those times in the past, perhaps I would be able to find the answers to my questions sooner than I thought.’ James thought.

“Here’s a map of this place.”

Zeno produced an old, worn-out scroll. As the scroll unrolled at Zeno’s command, it levitated in mid-air and stopped somewhere around everyone’s eye level. “Actually, I arrived at this ancient battlefield way earlier before you guys did. After doing some searching, I managed to find some clues.”

Zeno pointed toward a black dot on the map. “If my speculations are right, that is very likely the place where the superior cultivator has been sealed. Also, you should memorize the map, James. This map roughly details the different sections of this uncharted area. This information might be helpful after this.”

James focused his gaze on the map, which enlarged miraculously to reveal more details of the area. The dots grew to become various areas while several long lines indicated the distance between the different areas.

He could also observe quite a number of dark areas.

Eventually. James had memorized the entire map.