

Read The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 4881-4885

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 4881-At a certain spot in the battle arena, a cold shout rang out, and countless substantial Sword Energy materialized, all aimed at James and Wynton.

Immediately after, an overwhelming wave surged toward them, launching an attack.

In this critical moment, they materialized weapons in their hands simultaneously and continued to strike, fending off the attacks from thousands of Sword Energies.

Whoosh!

In the distance of the battle arena, a figure shot up into the air. It was a man dressed in a white robe, adorned with a 'sword' character that emanated a terrifying power.

The man appeared young, with no aura emanating from his body. However, the white robe he wore was an unparalleled treasure, carrying an imposing presence.

"He's a disciple of the Saber Sect."

"Saber Sect, the lineage of Wynne Dalganus."

"Tsk tsk, I didn't expect Byron to make a move so soon. I thought he would hold out until the end."

"The robe he's wearing is an extraordinary treasure passed down by the Saber Sect. It's made from special materials and was once worn by Wynne."

"With Byron's strength, he's certain to stand at the forefront even in an arena filled with numerous powerhouses."

Upon Byron's appearance, many living beings began discussing.

Byron hailed from the Saber Sect. It was a hidden sect founded by Wynne. This sect held considerable strength and enjoyed a prominent reputation even among other hidden sects.

“Byron has taken action to prevent others from seizing the legacy left by his ancestor.”

“Byron is making a move. The real spectacle is about to begin.”

“I wonder if James can go head-to-head with Byron.”

Many powerhouses were filled with anticipation. They all coveted the legacy left by the Sword Demon, understanding that the most valuable treasures lay deeper within. At this moment, they chose to let others battle it out and exhaust their strength.

Byron stood in the void with his hands behind his back, exuding a calm composure. He said, “I don’t care who you are, but this is a treasure left behind by the Saber Sect. I will not allow other living beings to lay their hands on it. It would be wise for you to step aside promptly.”

James and Wynton exchanged a glance.

James asked, “Would you like to take the lead, or should I?”

After some consideration, Wynton replied, “You.”

He knew that James was a talented cultivator, having mastered the complete Tenfold Realms Transcendent Sutra and a signature skill. He did not see himself as a match for James. Curious about the abilities of this hidden sect cultivator, he decided to observe from the shadows and let James take the lead.

“Alright,” James said. It had been a long time since he engaged in a proper battle. In his state of the Omniscience Path and Battle Rank, a strong desire for combat surged within him.

“I don’t necessarily need this Sword Path legacy, but I’m genuinely eager to spar with you,” James said confidently. “Show me the strength of Wynne’s descendants and a powerhouse from the Saber Sect.”

“You’re asking for trouble.” Byron’s expression darkened. He had originally thought that by revealing his sect affiliation, James would back down. He did not expect James to disregard the prestige of the Saber Sect.

Byron had witnessed James' strength before, hence he was cautious and decided to disclose his sect affiliation.

Otherwise, he would not have wasted any time and would have attacked directly.

To secure the supreme legacy of the Saber Sect, he could not afford to be hesitant. He had to reclaim the legacy left by his ancestor even if it came at a heavy cost. The Tenfold Realms Transcendent Sutra could be relinquished, but the ancestral legacy had to be retrieved.

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 4882-“Are you looking for trouble?” Those words caused even the heavens and the earth to tremble at their utterance.

The scene was truly terrifying. However, James responded with a faint smile. “Bring it on,” he said.

In an instant, the aura emanating from Byron reached its peak. Despite James unleashing the Omniscience Path and the power of the Thousand Paths Holy Body, his aura was not much different compared to Byron's.

Suddenly, Byron appeared in front of James, raising his hand to deliver a punch. Materialized fists shot out, transforming into a myriad of boxing shadows that enveloped James. The region where James stood collapsed instantly. Many living beings in the arena retreated to safer positions.

Just when they thought James had taken a hit and were curious to see if he could withstand Byron's attack, James' body appeared mysteriously behind Byron, and he launched a full-force attack.

In the face of a powerhouse from a hidden sect like Byron, James spared no effort.

By the time Byron reacted, James' fist had already landed on his back. As it struck, James' body transformed into a trail of afterimages. Then, the afterimages vanished, and he reappeared at a distant location.

Although Byron managed to evade in time, he was still affected by James' power. His back bore some injuries, and a hint of blood lingered at the corner of his mouth.

“Is that all?” James appeared nonchalant. He had expected the physical prowess of this hidden sect powerhouse to be more impressive.

James remained unruffled, which made Byron’s face turn ashen. He wiped the bloodstains from his mouth and said, “You’ve successfully provoked me. You’re done.”

At that moment, a transformation occurred in Byron’s aura. His body seemed to become transparent, and one could faintly see his blood transforming into the Sword Energy within him. His spine took on the appearance of a razor.

“Sword Body.”

“I’ve heard rumors that Byron tempered his physique in the Saber Pond of the Saber Sect and achieved an unparalleled Sword Body. I didn’t expect it to be true.”

“Byron with a perfected Sword Body is truly terrifying.”

Many powerhouses were left astonished as Byron’s aura surged.

Whoosh!

In the next moment, Byron vanished and reappeared in front of James, delivering a forceful punch. Instead of dodging, James chose to take it head-on.

Boom!

Both fists collided, instantly rupturing the void and creating a vacuum in the sky above the arena.

James’ arm visibly cracked at an alarming speed, and the cracks swiftly spread throughout his body. He was sent flying by the formidable force, blood splattering in mid-air, painting a gruesome yet mesmerizing picture.

‘Incredible,’ James thought.

He had put his full strength into that strike. Since reaching the Caelum Boundless Rank, he easily dominated Hafgan, the previous top-ranked individual on the Boundless Ranking.

However, now he had been repelled by a single move. The gap between his strength and Byron's was quite significant.

Byron struck again before James could recover.

To put an end to James quickly, he summoned a longsword in his hand, which radiated a white light. With ease, he unleashed a deluge of Sword Energy.

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 4883-Each Sword Energy contained an incredibly formidable power. In every district of the outside world, countless living beings who witnessed this projection shuddered in fear.

The strength of this hidden sect powerhouse was truly horrifying, especially for the Quasi Boundless Rank powerhouses. Their faces contorted in fear as they confronted this terrifying onslaught of swordsmanship, and it seemed likely that they would be defeated instantly.

In the battle arena, countless living beings sensed the impending danger. At this critical moment, a protective formation appeared in a specific area of the arena. The powerhouses immediately realized that this formation could ward off all harm, and in that instant, they swiftly entered into it.

The Sword Energy filled the heavens and the earth, and James immediately employed the Blithe Omniscience to flee.

Just as James was trying to depart, the Sword Energy pursued him once more, and numerous Sword Energies infiltrated his body, leaving him riddled with wounds.

Suspended in mid-air with a disheveled appearance, he forcefully swung the Chaos Sword. Unleashing the Chaos' Nine Voices, he launched a counterattack against the Dalganus Sword.

Rumbling sounds echoed as the Sonic Sword Energy swept across the arena. Mysterious sounds reverberated, reaching even the living beings within the safety formation and leaving them momentarily baffled.

Nevertheless, Byron was too powerful. The Chaos' Nine Voices could not harm him.

In an instant, James unleashed the formidable Heaven Piercing Sword Art, but his attacks were all blocked by Byron.

'He's a tough opponent,' James thought. He continued activating the Life Path to heal his injuries and momentarily stabilize his condition.

At this moment, the Greater Paths manifested and converged, forming a splendid Sacred Blossom in the sky above the battle arena.

James was now in his most formidable state, and with the unleashing of Blossoming, he had become much more powerful than before.

Blossoming depended on one's cultivation rank, increasing in accordance with the rise in power of the Greater Paths.

"Flowers in full bloom, break!"

Byron exclaimed as his longsword began to tremble in his hand, separating from his grip and appearing in front of him. In an instant, the sword underwent a transformation, revealing a dreadful Sword Formation with the sword at its center.

It rotated continuously before charging toward the Sacred Blossom at incredible speed, causing it to shatter instantly. A destructive force burst forth at the moment of the shattering.

The shockwaves of the battle spread, instantly obliterating the recently formed Sword Formation and sending Byron retreating under the impact of the tremendous force.

The formation around the arena dissipated. Without the protection of the formation, some living beings of the Caelum Boundless Rank sensed imminent danger and swiftly used inscriptions to escape from the arena.

However, those who did not have time to employ life-saving inscriptions were directly swept away by the aftershocks of the battle. Those with slightly less power were eradicated.

At least tens of thousands of Caelum Boundless Rank powerhouses were annihilated by this single strike. Over ten thousand beings fled the battlefield and emerged in the outside world. Many more retreated to a safe distance, expending all their energy to withstand the shockwaves of the battle.

This scene left many powerhouses in the outside world dumbfounded. This single strike rivaled the full-force clash of a Chaos Rank powerhouse.

Furthermore, the battle had just begun, and they had not yet unleashed their true powers or trump cards.

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 4884-James unleashed the Blossoming, forming the Sacred Blossom. Although he had only reached the Caelum Boundless Rank, coupled with his inherent strength, the Sacred Blossom he created could rival the attacks of Chaos Rank powerhouses. Everyone was awestruck by James' Sacred Blossom.

However, Byron shattered it with only a Sword Formation. Both of them were sent flying by the shockwaves of their battle, but miraculously, neither of them sustained any injuries.

Byron's transformation into a Sword Body made him nearly invincible in the physical realm. Similarly, James was surrounded by the power of the Greater Paths, which formed a protective barrier around his body.

In a place in the Human Universe's Chaos District, a man in white robes watched James' Blossoming with pride on his face. He boasted to the woman beside him, "This is the signature skill I created back then. Unfortunately, I don't have a Thousand Paths Holy Body, so I couldn't fully unleash its potential. I never imagined that the Blossoming I created would possess such tremendous power in James' hands."

The man in white robes who spoke was Jabari, once James' mentor on his path of cultivation. The woman beside him was his partner, whom he had met in the Dark World.

The countless humans who were witnessing this spectacle erupted into madness, shouting and cheering as though they were fighting on the stage themselves.

The vacuum area that appeared on the battle arena was instantly restored. James and Byron stood in the void.

James held the Chaos Sword. In the distance, Byron exuded a vibrant aura and remained composed.

Many Caelum Boundless Rank living beings were dumbfounded.

"Is this still the Caelum Boundless Rank?"

“This may even be what the Chaos Rank looks like.”

Even the powerhouses from hidden sects took a deep breath.

“Byron’s true strength is far beyond this. Right now, he’s merely utilizing the Sword Body. The Saber Sect’s signature skills have yet to be unleashed.”

“Yeah, the Saber Sect was founded by Wynne Dalganus. Any signature skill from the Saber Sect is incredible.”

“You’re quite formidable,” Byron exclaimed as he stood in the void, gazing at James. He continued loudly, “My mission since birth has been to retrieve the signature skills left by my ancestors. The Saber Sect has always known that my ancestor’s signature skills are scattered in two places. One lies within the Sword Mound, but it’s sealed, and no one can open it completely. The second place is here, at the Boundless Arena. I’ve remained in the Caelum Boundless

Rank for countless years, all in anticipation of this day.” Byron paused before adding, “I’ve lingered in this rank for a long time, hailing from a hidden sect, while you’re a human from the outside world. It’s impressive that you’ve reached this level.

“You should give up,” Byron’s voice resounded. “If I go all out, you’ll die. I don’t want a genius like you to perish here.”

In response, James only smiled faintly. He acknowledged Byron’s strength, but he still had many tricks up his sleeve. He had not truly unleashed his full power yet.

“Enough talk. Come at me again,” James bellowed. He brandished the Chaos Sword, and the Greater Paths converged and gave birth to a powerful swordsmanship, the Universal Sword Art.

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 4885-This signature skill represented the convergence of the Greater Paths into one swordsmanship, converting the power of the Greater Paths into Sword Path Energy.

Whoosh!

The Sword Energy instantly traversed through the void and appeared in front of Byron. However, Byron stood still, allowing the Sword Energy to attack him. The dazzling Sword Energy vanished mysteriously upon reaching him.

Seeing this, many living beings in the battle arena were completely shocked, and some even exclaimed in surprise.

“The power of the Sword Body.”

“Byron cultivated a secret art of the sect.”

“Legend has it that after Byron perfected the Sword Body, he spent countless entrapochs refining it and created an invincible signature skill called the Sacred Heart Art, which is immune to all Sword Paths attacks.”

“In the past, Byron challenged a Chaos Rank Sword Path powerhouse. The powerhouse used all his techniques, but none could harm Byron.”

In the battle arena, some living beings from hidden sects began to discuss these matters, unearthing the rumors that had been sealed away for countless years. These were all legends passed down from the Saber Sect, not any confirmed proof.

Seeing this scene, James furrowed his brows slightly. While he had not mastered the Universal Sword Art to its full potential, his current cultivation rank should still have been enough to pose a threat. However, he could not harm Byron at all.

“James, you’re a genius,” Byron said, approaching James step by step with his sword in hand.

“I admit your strength is impressive, surpassing many Caelum Acme Rank powerhouses from other hidden sects. However, you’ve spent too brief of a time refining your skills. You’ve been learning from others without creating your own Supernatural Signature Skills. You might astonish this era, but you won’t leave a mark for eternity.”

With each step Byron took, his aura grew stronger, and James felt an overwhelming power bearing down on him. By the time Byron took his tenth step, James could no longer endure it.

“Why does this feel like the Sacrilegious Ascension?” James was shocked.

Around the battle arena, many living beings could not withstand this power. Some with slightly lower attainments in the Boundless Rank were instantly crushed by the force.

At this moment, the protective formation on the stage reappeared. Many living beings entered the protective formation immediately.

“The supreme martial art skill of the Saber Sect, the Defying

Heavens Art.”

“It’s incredibly terrifying. Today, we’ve finally witnessed the Defying Heavens Art. I wonder how many steps James can withstand.”

“Defying Heavens Art?”

Upon hearing the voices from the arena, James frowned. At this moment, he became certain that the Sacrilegious

Ascension he had once learned originated from the Saber Sect. It was a rudimentary version of the Saber Sect’s supreme martial art skill, the Defying Heavens Art.

When Byron took his eleventh step, the arena trembled, and James sensed a formidable force akin to an immense world pressing down on him. His body could no longer withstand this power, and he plummeted to the ground.

Boom!

The solid ground was instantly shattered, creating a colossal and unfathomable abyss.