

Read The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 4891-4897

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 4891-He could discern several sources of powerful, intense aura from the crowd. Those people included James, Byron, and the man in the gold-colored robe who tried to stop Byron earlier.

The old, hunched man stared at those men thoughtfully. Then, he stroked his beard and said smilingly, "In that case, let's combine the battlefields."

"You should start by sharing what treasure the Chaos Battlefield holds," the guardian of the Boundless Battlefield replied.

"You're right."

The elderly man turned his gaze to the crowd and greeted, "Hello, everyone. I am the guardian of the Chaos Tablet and Chaos Battlefield. As all of you should know by now, numerous treasures were hidden across the Boundless Arena. The same goes for the Chaos Arena."

At the same time, countless cultivators across the ten districts were focused on the live broadcast of the speech given by the guardian of the Chaos Battlefield.

"I'm sure everyone has heard about Emperor Raiah before. He is the creator of the ten districts and their respective Heavenly Path. Emperor Raiah was already a superior cultivator even before the birth of the ten districts. The man managed to keep the extraterrestrial demons at bay with his impressive skills and powers. He even gave the supreme leader of the extraterrestrial demons a critical hit during their battle."

"Emperor Raiah's signature skill, the Tenfold Realms Transcendent Sutra, is the prized treasure of the Boundless Arena. As for the Chaos Arena...

The old man paused for a moment. Then, he continued, "Most of you are probably aware that the supreme leader of the extraterrestrial demons is the strongest amongst its kind. Even Emperor Raiah had faced various difficulties as he tried to exterminate the extraterrestrial demons' supreme leader.

"The treasure offered in the Chaos Arena is the signature skill created by the supreme leader of the extraterrestrial demons. It was somehow obtained by Emperor Raiah in the past. Even an exceptional cultivator like Emperor Raiah was astounded by this skill called the Herstellen Art."

The old man's deep and steady voice rang across the space around him and through the ten districts with the help of the live broadcast.

"Now that we are combining both arenas, we will pause the Boundless Arena Battle and open the passage to the Chaos Arena. All living beings of any cultivation rank are welcome to enter the Chaos Arena."

As soon as the hunched gentleman had finished saying that, the crowd before him noticed how the arena around them transformed into a place that seemed just like the outside world. They could see the tall mountains and wide lands around them. The cultivators could also detect the presence of bodies of water such as rivers and oceans in that realm.

"This is the Chaos Arena. Numerous boons are hidden in different spots of the arena. The rules of the battle in the Chaos Arena are straightforward. Cultivators will receive a clue about the treasure once they defeat a set number of opponents. You can gain more clues by winning more battles against other cultivators.

"The entrance to the Chaos Arena is now officially open!"

Upon hearing the announcement, innumerable cultivators from either prominent or secret clans and organizations teleported and materialized in the Chaos Arena one after the other to join the battle.

James turned his head and met Wynton's eyes.

"Things are becoming more and more interesting." Wynton flashed him a smile.

James rolled his eyes. "How are you still smiling? How are we going to win when more and more Chaos Rank cultivators are joining the battle?"

Wynton let out a chuckle. "So what? You can overpower Chaos Rank cultivators with your current level of powers, right?"

"You have a point." James grinned.

On the other hand, the man in the gold-colored robe seemed to have lost his interest in Wynne Dalganus' treasure.

“You were lucky, Byron. I won’t fight you for that treasure anymore. I’m reserving my powers to win the Tenfold Realms Transcendent Sutra and the Herstellen Art.”

Byron cast the man an icy glance. “Biff Jumanne, do you seriously think you’re that great? Did you really think I’d be afraid to take you on?”

“Heh!” Biff snickered and left.

After that, Byron teleported toward the piece of white jade. His hand was shaking as he slowly reached out and took the item.

“I got it... I finally managed to retrieve my ancestor’s legacy and fulfill my life-long mission! I don’t have to remain in my current cultivation rank anymore. I’ll conduct a closed-door meditation right away and try to enter the Quasi Chaos Rank or Chaos Rank before the battle at the Chaos Arena begins!”

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 4892-None of the cultivators present could have predicted that the battle between James and Byron would trigger the sudden initiation of the Chaos Arena.

Now that the Chaos Arena was open to all, more Quasi Chaos Rank cultivators and Chaos Rank cultivators would be joining the event naturally. Those cultivators, who had voluntarily transferred into the Caelum Acme Rank from the Quasi Chaos Rank, were positively fuming and inwardly blaming James for causing this awkward situation. It would take them a long time to re-enter their original cultivation rank, and their sacrifice earlier was all for naught.

All battles were paused during the period the passage to the Chaos Arena was left open.

As for the participants who had chosen to remain in the Boundless state of the Caelum Acme Rank, these men had been aiming for the Tenfold Realms Transcendent Sutra all along. Following the upgrade of the battle arena, the competition for the prizes would become fiercer correspondingly. Most of those men swiftly decided to enter a closed-door meditation and level up as soon as possible to prepare for the upcoming battles, especially the cultivators from secret clans or sects, who had trained in the Boundless state of the Caelum Acme Rank for an exceedingly long time.

Wynton turned his gaze toward James. “What are your plans after this? Are you also going to conduct a closed-door meditation and enter the Quasi Chaos Rank?”

James shook his head. ‘The battle of the Chaos Arena would probably go on for quite some time. Also, I think I still have room for improvement within the Boundless state of the Caelum Acme Rank.’

Wynton merely rolled his eyes upon hearing James’ words.

“Dad.” James and Wynton heard the soft voice of a lady coming from behind them. It was Livie.

James couldn’t help but beam broadly as soon as he noticed Livie. He was confident that he could last in the Chaos Arena since he had Livie’s help anyhow.

“Did you see Thea, Livie?” James asked.

Livie dropped her gaze. “No, I haven’t. I have been waiting and keeping an eye out for Mom all this time. Yet, I didn’t see or sense her presence even until now.”

James furrowed his brows.

‘Thea should have arrived in Hazeaf District by now. Why haven’t I received any news from her?’ James pondered.

“James.” The voice of a man sounded from behind them this time. Yardos had materialized somewhere near the three of them.

‘You’ve arrived, Yardos.’ James smiled warmly at the man.

“I saw your match earlier. The battle between you and the cultivator from the Sword Sect was so intense and gripping.

Moreover, you’ve done very well.” Yardos walked toward James and patted him on the shoulder. ‘You’ve completely exceeded my expectations! I probably am no match for you either with how fast you’re becoming stronger now.’

James blushed a little. "I didn't expect that a member of the Sword Sect would be so powerful. I had used almost every signature skill that I learned while facing him just now."

As he paused briefly, James' expression hardened visibly. "Now that they are combining the Boundless Arena and Chaos Arena, secret clans or sects would send more of their finest cultivators here to join the battle. Perhaps even cultivators who had reached the Chaos Rank before the creation of the ten districts would be heading here too."

"Don't worry." Yardos replied calmly, "Winning these battles requires luck too. Besides, you don't really need the treasure from the Boundless Arena."

James did not need to obtain the Tenfold Realms Transcendent Sutra since he had already mastered its content.

James curled his lips and leaned closer to Yardos. He asked in a low voice, "Did you manage to obtain any new sacred scrolls?"

An enigmatic smile played across Yardos' lips. "You are the only person who can put the sacred scrolls to good use.

After passing the Welkin District's sacred scroll to you, I've met with the district leader of the Presta District and obtained their sacred scroll by striking a deal with him."

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 4893-Yardos lifted his palm and produced the sacred scroll from the Presta District.

Ever since the secrets about the sacred scrolls had gotten out, it had become extremely difficult for James to obtain the rest of the sacred scrolls. Therefore, James was very surprised and thrilled to see Yardos with a brand new scroll.

"I only have one from the Presta District. The secret of these scrolls had spread across the nine districts by the time I was heading to the next district. Naturally, none of the district leaders are willing to let go of their scrolls anymore," Yardos explained.

"You've done more than enough for me." James took the scroll from Yardos and expressed his sincere gratitude. "I can't thank you enough, Yardos."

“It’s nothing. We need your help to secure the future of the Human Race. Go ahead and conduct your meditation then,” Yardos said.

James smiled and nodded firmly. Then, he teleported and reappeared in a secluded area deep in the mountains. After checking his surroundings, James put up the time formation and another formation to seal off his aura.

The passage to the Chaos Arena was set to be open for an epoch. Once the time was up, the passage would be sealed as they commenced the battle of the Chaos Arena.

An epoch was hardly enough for James to finish his training. James had to learn and master the contents of the Presta District’s sacred scroll. Apart from that, he had planned to enter the Boundless Pagoda, learn the cultivation method recorded on the sixth level, and activate the seventh form of the Boundless Pagoda.

Eventually, it was time to close the passage to the Chaos Arena. The guardian of the Chaos Arena made an announcement after an epoch had passed.

“Ladies and gentlemen, the battle commences now. I must warn everyone that you are joining the battles at your own risk. There’s a chance that participants may lose their lives during these battles. With that being said, you may choose to leave the arena at any time.”

Somewhere within the Chaos Arena, a group of cultivators had gathered inside a building atop a spiritual mountain. Among those men, Lucius, the leader of the Hazeaf District, was the most prominent figure. In addition, the leaders of the Welkin District, Theos District, and Kapron District were present in the hall as well. Those men had also brought along a number of their men from their respective sects to the meeting.

“James Caden is too powerful. We shouldn’t act hastily.”

“He’s exceeded each of us in terms of powers.”

“Let’s stick to our plan and use his family’s safety to threaten him. We need to make him tell us the cultivation methods of the Tenfold Realms Transcendent Sutra and the sacred scrolls.”

While the four district leaders were discussing their plans to bring down James, Wyot materialized in the hall. He raised his hand and transferred a group of people into the hall the next instant, including Thea, Maxine, James' children, and relatives. Wyot had sealed all of those people's cultivation base.

"Master, I've brought James Caden's wife, children, and some of his family members here." Wyot bowed slightly.

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 4894-Many cultivators who lived in faraway areas were able to travel to and enter the Chaos Arena within the period the passage was open to all.

The Chaos Tablet was a powerful, precious item that was very effective in the subjugation of extraterrestrial demons. The Chaos Arena was found and sealed inside the Chaos Tablet. It was created as a small, independent universe of its own by Emperor Raiah.

The rules of the battle held in the Chaos Arena were slightly different from those of the Boundless Arena. Numerous treasures and boons were hidden in different spots throughout the Chaos Arena. Participants were required to defeat or eliminate their opponents in order to obtain clues to the ultimate treasure of this realm.

Lucius and several other district leaders had chosen one of the spiritual mountains inside the Chaos Arena as their base. Along with their men, they had set up various formations and traps around the area while they waited for James to turn himself in. Once they had caught the man, they were going to force him to surrender the Tenfold Realms Transcendent Sutra and the relevant cultivation methods.

In addition, Xezal had ordered her men to capture any humans who had traveled to the Endlos in search of James. This secret operation had been carried out for a long time. Currently, all of their captives were held in confinement at the spiritual mountain.

With everything set in place, those men started spreading the news to the other cultivators. They demanded that James surrender himself to them. Otherwise, they would brutally end their hostages' lives.

Soon enough, almost everyone who entered the Chaos Arena had heard about this.

‘They are trying to pick a fight with James Caden?’

“How interesting! We saw how skilled and powerful James was in the Boundless Arena. He was even capable of subduing or even killing Chaos Rank cultivators.”

“Isn’t Lucius Lopez getting too ahead of himself?”

“He’s not the only person calling out to James Caden. Even district leaders of the Welkin District, Theos District, and Kapron District are in on this. Those are some of the strongest men in all of Endlos.”

“He’s right. Even if James is strong, he can’t possibly win against so many mighty, powerful men!”

“Let’s see how James Caden will deal with this situation.”

Lucius and the others eventually decided to name the spiritual mountain they were staying at, Mount Stoyan.

One day, a beam of violet light shot down from the sky and landed somewhere near the foot of Mount Stoyan. After a few seconds, a beautiful lady in a purple dress stepped out of the light beam and headed toward the path leading up the mountain. She had an anxious expression on her face.

Just as she was approaching the entrance, several men guarding the area moved and stood in her path immediately.

One of the guards began, “Outsiders are not allowed to enter the grounds of Mount Stoyan, Miss.”

“Do none of you recognize who I am?!” Waleria snapped at the man furiously. “I am Waleria Zavee, the Grand Elder of the Theos Sect! This base was built by the district leaders of the Hazeaf District, Welkin District, Theos District, and Kapron District. Now, am I still not allowed to enter the grounds of Mount Stoyan?”

“Please wait here, Ms. Waleria. I need to check with my superiors first.”

The guard did not let Waleria in even though she had stated her affiliations with the Theos Sect. They had received strict orders to not let anyone enter Mount Stoyan.

A brief while later, Waleria spotted Sedris, the leader of the Theos Sect and Theos District appearing near the entrance.

“Sir Sedris, what are you doing?” Waleria had a worried look in her eyes. “Your group captured James’ wife, children, and his friends. What are you trying to do?”

‘This has nothing to do with you, Waleria. Since you insist on siding with James Caden, we no longer consider you a member of the Theos Sect. You should stay out of this, or else you might get yourself killed as well.’

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 4895-“Sir Sedris, I just want to know why you are doing this.”

Waleria rushed over to Mount Stoyan after hearing the message spread by the four district leaders. She couldn’t fathom why Sedris was trying to threaten James, and she was hoping she could persuade him to change his mind.

“That’s none of your concern,” Sedris replied flatly.

“James is a friend. We shouldn’t do something like this to him. I’m begging you, Sir Sedris. Please release James’ family and friends,” Waleria said pleadingly.

“Please see Ms. Waleria out!” Sedris announced aloud. Then, he teleported and vanished from the spot.

“Sir Sedris!”

Waleria tried to go after Sedris, but the guards blocked her way again immediately.

The lady gave a sigh and dropped her gaze. Then, she turned around and hurried off.

On the other hand, another group of cultivators had gathered to meet inside a hall. James’ friends and acquaintances were all there, including Yardos, Livie, Wynton, and Zula.

They were all waiting for news from Waleria.

Just then, Waleria materialized inside the hall.

Yardos got to his feet at once. He asked, "How did it go? Did you learn anything from them?"

Waleria shook her head. "I went to Mount Stoyan and met with Sir Sedris. However, he refused to disclose any information. He even says that I'm no longer a member of the Theos Sect."

A deep frown creased Yardos' forehead. He sat down on his seat again. "They are probably doing this for the Tenfold Realms Transcendent Sutra and the sacred scrolls."

"James has really mastered the Tenfold Realms Transcendent Sutra and the sacred scrolls?!" Zula asked.

Yardos knew there was no point in hiding the fact anymore. He explained calmly, "Mhm. James has mastered the knowledge of the Tenfold Realms Transcendent Sutra for quite some time now. He's also learned the technique recorded on the sacred scrolls from several districts."

Whoosh!

A light beam of blood-red color came down from the sky and shone on a nearby spot. A middle-aged man in a red robe materialized from the light beam the next instant.

Yardos stood up and greeted, "Mr. Xrival."

Thea's father, the Ancestral Blood Master, had joined the others in the hall.

"The audacity!" Xrival shouted angrily, "Do they seriously think that they can just step on the cultivators from the Chaos District just like this? They took my daughter and grandchildren! Where's James? Where is he now?"

Yardos replied, "James is in a closed-door meditation at the moment, and he's put up a formation to seal his aura. Even I can't pinpoint his exact location."

"Well, what are we waiting for then? We should head to Mount Stoyan right now! I'll see for myself if a Chaos Rank cultivator is all that great!"

Xrival, the Ancestral Blood Master, did not join the battles during the Sky Burial in the past.

“Mr. Xrival, we mustn’t act rashly. We are not facing just one Chaos Rank cultivator. Instead, there are quite a few of them. Moreover, those men led several large, influential sects as well. We need to come up with a plan.”

Wyndael and Saewald appeared in the hall at that moment.

“Master!” Wyndael called out excitedly as soon as he spotted Yardos.

“Is there anything I can help with?” A female voice rang across the room just then.

As everyone turned their gazes to where the voice was coming from, they could see a lady in a white dress standing at the door. It was Teresa.

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 4896-The lady emanated an aura of elegance and authority.

“What are you doing here?” Wynton’s voice rang with hostility. He had deemed Teresa as an enemy since she had put his people under a seal.

Teresa made her way into the hall and sat in an empty seat.” I have heard that James’ wife, his children, and several humans from the Human Universe have been caught and detained at Mount Stoyan. As a member of the Chaos District, I couldn’t possibly turn a blind eye to this.”

Wynton scoffed. “I don’t think you are sincerely here to help. There’s a good chance that it was you who had leaked information to those district leaders about James. You might have lured those men to target James for the Tenfold Realms Transcendent Sutra and the sacred scrolls.”

‘That’s simply nonsense. Why would I do that?!” Teresa rebuked, “Also, I saved James’ life in the past. If I were to harbor any ill will against him, I could have just done nothing and watched him die back then.”

‘That’s enough.” Yardos raised his hand. “What matters most now is that we need to figure out how to rescue James’ family and friends.”

‘We should just kill them.”

Livie’s expression hardened into one of animosity. ‘Who cares if they are Chaos Rank cultivators? Dad is away for his meditation, and he is completely oblivious to this news. We need to rescue Mom and my siblings from those people.”

‘What’s going on?’ An elderly man with a beard walked into the hall at that moment. It was Wael, the former head of Tempris House.

“I heard that James’ wife had been taken captive. What on earth happened?”

“Sir Wael.” Wynona greeted the man respectfully.

On the other hand, Zula had a perplexed look in her eyes the instant she saw Wael entering the hall.

Yardos explained, “Those men abducted James’ wife and family to threaten him into surrendering the Tenfold Realms Transcendent Sutra. They also want to learn the cultivation methods of the sutra and the sacred scrolls.”

‘Where is James then?’ Wael knitted his brows. “Why is he not here discussing the rescue plan with the rest of you?”

Yardos replied, “He is conducting a closed-door meditation at a hidden place with the formation to seal off his aura set in place. Even I can’t detect where he’s at right now.”

‘What do we do now?’ Wael asked.

For a while, it was quiet inside the hall as everyone fell silent.

‘We’ll handle those men ourselves, then.” Xrival rose from his seat. An immense, murderous aura radiated from the man the next instant.

“You’ve advanced into the Chaos Rank, Mr. Xrival?” Yardos’ eyes widened as he detected the change in Xrival’s aura.

Xrival nodded lightly. “One of my clones has remained with James as he traveled across the different districts. It has managed to accumulate various knowledge and new enlightenment. After it had been reunited and fused with my main self, those learnings were very helpful to my cultivation process. I was able to move through the Quasi Chaos Rank and enter the Chaos Rank pretty smoothly.”

“Excellent!” Yardos grinned broadly. “So what if the district leaders are working together to try and bring James down?! We will attack Mount Stoyan and take down every single one of them!”

“Count me in,” Wynton answered in a deep, steely voice.

“I’m coming too!” Saachi got up. “James has helped me with a lot of things. I can’t just stay here and do nothing when his wife is in danger.”

“Me too!” Wyndael responded, “Even though I haven’t been able to move into the Quasi Chaos Rank yet, I am nonetheless in the Boundless state of the Caelum Acme Rank now.”

“James helped me solve problems related to karma previously. I was only able to achieve the Chaos Rank with his assistance. I will help too!” Zula said.

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 4897-The other cultivators had also expressed their eagerness to join the operation to rescue James’ family and friends, except for Waleria. The lady sat in her chair with a torn expression on her face.

Usually, Waleria was among the first few to agree to these things. Unfortunately, one of the sects involved in the incident this time was the Theos Sect, which was the organization that Waleria belonged to. Waleria even considered Sedris a father figure all along.

‘What should I do now?’ Waleria pondered with a troubled look in her eyes.

Yardos knew that Waleria had her concerns. He suggested, “You should stay here and wait for James, Waleria. Inform him about this as soon as he returns.”

“Alright.” Waleria smiled bitterly.

“Everyone, let’s get ready to depart for Mount Stoyan.” Yardos glanced around the room at the other cultivators with a steady gaze.

For their operation to rescue James’ family and friends, the Chaos Rank cultivators that had volunteered were Yardos, Xrival, Wael, and Zula. They even had Livie, who was strong enough to take on Chaos Rank cultivators.

Apart from that, they had cultivators that could battle Quasi Chaos Rank cultivators which included Saachi, Wynona, and Wynton. Their team of cultivators was powerful enough to overpower any hidden sects or even an entire district.

Still, each of them had grim or slightly perplexed expressions on their faces as their meeting had come to an end. The decision to go up against four Chaos Rank cultivators was no easy task. Those four cultivators represented four super factions. Yardos and the others were facing extremely powerful enemies this time.

At the same time, a group of cultivators had gathered inside the main hall on Mount Stoyan.

A small frown drew Xezal's brows together. "We might have a problem. A group of cultivators have banded together and are planning to attack Mount Stoyan."

Lucius seemed completely disinterested. He said flatly, "What's there to worry about? We'll just kill anyone who shows up here trying to rescue James Caden's acquaintances."

Xezal explained, "Even if we were fully prepared with various plans and tactics, we must stay vigilant. Yardos Xagorari, the Ancestral Blood Master, Wael Qailoken, and Zula Qailoken are all Chaos Rank cultivators. Furthermore, they also have that lady who claims to be James' daughter, Livie Caden. All of them are skilled and competent cultivators."

"I think we can handle them," Sedris replied.

Xylus had a pensive look in his eyes. "Is the Tenfold Purge Formation really that effective? Would it be able to trap and kill cultivators of the Chaos Rank?"

"The formation is very powerful." Xezal nodded. "Emperor Raiah created the Tenfold Purge Formation by using the ten districts' Heavenly Paths as its basis. Even though none of us has mastered the powers of the Ten Path Technique, we can still create and power the formation by substituting with another source of energy."

“Chaos Rank cultivators trapped within our formation would not stand a chance to make it out alive. However, I’m concerned that we may not be able to handle all of the cultivators if so many of them are coming.”

Xezal had provided those men with the method to create the Tenfold Purge Formation. She was confident that the formation was strong enough to hold James, Yardos, and even Xrival down simultaneously. However, the number of cultivators on the other side had turned out higher than what she had expected.

“It’s enough if we can use the formation to subdue several of their fighters.” Xylus gave a sigh of relief. Then, he turned his eyes to Lucius. “Sir Lucius has entered the Chaos Rank for an extended amount of time. It wouldn’t be a problem for you to take on two Chaos Rank cultivators at the same time alone, right?”

Lucius was the first person to achieve the Chaos Rank in all of Endlos’ Nine Districts. No one knew what his actual cultivation rank was at the moment. 2