The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 4898-Everyone was curious about Lucius' current cultivation rank and powers, especially Xezal. Her father was murdered by Lucius. To exact vengeance, Xezal had to first find out and confirm Lucius' true cultivation rank.

Xezal said in a nonchalant manner, "The Chaos Rank has also been split into several rankings. After achieving the Chaos Rank, the cultivator would have to work hard to move into the Chaos 111 imita Rank. Next would be the Chaos Transcendere Rank..."

She proceeded to explain the five different ranks of the Chaos Rank from the lowest to highest, which were the Chaos Illimita Rank, Chaos Transcendere Rank, Chaos Omnia Rank, Chaos Essencia Rank, and Chaos Completare Rank.

Emperor Raiah, who had helped bring peace to the Endlos and created the ten districts, was a cultivator of the Chaos Completare Rank. On the other hand, Wynne Dalganus was able to enter the Chaos Essencia Rank during his time.

Xezal's father had achieved the late stage of Chaos Illimita Rank before he was attacked and brutally killed. Therefore, Xezal surmised that her father's murderer would be someone who had entered a similar stage of Chaos Illimita Rank or the ranks above it.

A long time had passed since her father's death, and Xezal was not sure whether Lucius had advanced into the Chaos

Transcendere Rank.

She continued jokingly, "Why don't you just let the few of us know which stage of the Chaos Rank are you on right now, Sir Lucius? It'd offer us more reassurance for our upcoming battle."

Lucius grinned. "Don't worry. With my powers and the powers of the Tenfold Purge Formation, those men won't ever be able to leave Mount Stoyan alive."

The seasoned and powerful cultivator knew there was no good in disclosing his true cultivation rank to others.

After hearing his response, Xezal did not press Lucius for an answer, and she moved on to another topic smoothly.

Meanwhile, an impenetrable formation was put up around a deep canyon located within a pristine, virgin forest. Inside the formation, a young man was completely focused on his training and cultivation.

James had remained in the formation for an epoch in terms of the time of the outside world. However, more time had passed within the time formation set up by James.

So far, James managed to master and generate the power of the Seven Path Techniques. In addition, he had been training with the knowledge of the Tenfold Realms Transcendent Sutra consistently all this time. James was able to elevate his cultivation base within the Boundless state of the Caelum Acme Rank substantially.

At the same time, James had successfully unlocked the seventh form of the Boundless Pagoda. After entering the seventh level of the pagoda, James realized he would have to master the cultivation method provided on that floor first. Combined with the power of the Eight Path Techniques, he would then be able to access the eighth form of the Boundless Pagoda.

James did not end his meditation then. He decided it was time to move into the next cultivation rank.

James remained in a seated position inside the Boundless Pagoda. He had generated a complex formation above his head. On top of the formation, a dark, human-like figure sat with its legs crossed just like James.

As James radiated waves of intense aura, countless inscriptions appeared and circulated around his body. Gradually, those inscriptions floated toward the formation above James' head and fused with it. In a matter of minutes, the pressure in the air around James increased drastically as the formation appeared to be changing nonstop.

Suddenly, a loud crackling noise sounded from James' body. It was an indication that James had successfully advanced into the next cultivation rank.

An immense aura was generated and unleashed from his body almost instantaneously. Fortunately, James was staying inside the Boundless Pagoda, which was powerful enough to contain his aura. His formation alone would not be enough to prevent those huge amounts of aura from leaking into the outside world.

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 4899-A brief while later, James slowly opened his eyes. The inscriptions of the Dobro Eyes found deep in his orbs were glowing faintly.

James was using the opportunity to train and perfect the various skills and abilities he had picked up to this day.

After entering the Quasi Chaos Rank, James found new enlightenment in the powers of the Dobro Eyes. The inscriptions in his eyes were swiftly changing and evolving. Countless images were generated and reflected in his eyes every second.

James could sense how he had surpassed Saachi in terms of the mastery and potency of the Dobro Eyes' powers. He was deeply fascinated by the overwhelming powers of his eyes.

Soon afterward, the inscriptions in his eyes began to fade. The images that James was seeing before his eyes slowly disappeared along with the inscription.

Then, James produced the scroll he had obtained from Byron and started reading it. The cultivation method of the Defying Heavens Art was recorded in the scroll.

James had learned the Sacrilegious Ascension in the past. That technique was a simplified version of the Defying Heavens Art.

When learning the Sacrilegious Ascension, the cultivator had to first learn how to create small energy reservoirs in different acupoints throughout their body. Next, the cultivator would need to combine the powers of the energy reservoirs and their own powers to destroy their spine. Then, they would have to recreate their spine by utilizing the energies of heaven and earth. With the formation of each vertebra, the cultivator would be able to take one step and increase their aura simultaneously.

On the contrary, the knowledge of the Defying Heavens Art was far more difficult and obscure. It would take the common cultivator a very long time and arduous effort to understand the contents of the scroll. Luckily, James had extensive knowledge and experience in studying various skills and techniques. He was able to understand the scroll's contents without difficulty.

James soon realized that the Defying Heavens Art was slightly different from the Sacrilegious Ascension.

Cultivators must first create microcosms that act as energy reservoirs within their bodies. Then, they would need to consistently absorb and store the energies of heaven and earth inside the microcosms. Once the cultivator unleashed the Defying Heavens Art, those tremendous amounts of energy stored within the microcosms would be released to their surroundings.

Also, the wielder of the Defying Heavens Art would not need to destroy their own spine. Instead, they would be using their own body to connect heaven and earth. Cultivators were required to absorb the Greater Paths from the environment and use them to build the Skyward Stairway. "It seems Byron has gone easy on me during our fight back then."

After reading and understanding more about the Defying Heavens Art, James realized that Byron had only created the Skyward Stairway which consisted of thirty-three steps during their last battle. The man did not unleash the powers stored inside the microcosms in his body.

Both the Sacrilegious Ascension and the Defying Heavens Art shared the same side effect of weakening the cultivator's physical condition after each use. Normally, cultivators who practiced the Defying Heavens Art would not be able to unleash the skill twice in a single battle. That was because a long time was needed for the depleted microcosms to become fully stored with power again.

Cultivators could choose not to unleash the powers from the microcosms and still use the Defying Heavens Art. However, the potency of the attacks would be lessened.

After James had put away the scroll securely, he began focusing on the creation of multiple microcosms in different acupoints within his body. Once the microcosms were ready, James took a black crystal out of his storage. Then, he used his powers to extract the power of the black crystal and convert it into a form of pure, powerful energy.

Bit by bit, James absorbed and filled the microcosms in his body with that energy.

At the same time, James was also working hard on perfecting the complex formation. The formation was a representation of the inscriptions in their most supreme forms. As James deepened his knowledge of the inscriptions, the formation would evolve into more powerful forms.

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 4900-Whilst James tried to master the Defying Heavens Art, he was also working on training his body, bloodline power, and soul. He was hoping to achieve the tenth rank of the Omniscience Path during his closed-door meditation this time.

Whoosh!

A group of cultivators had teleported and arrived at the foot of Mount Stoyan. Several familiar faces stood in the front, which included Yardos, Xrival, and Wael. James' friends, for instance, Wynton and Saachi, were mostly there as well. All of them had grim, steely expressions on their faces.

'They are here.'

The leader of the Hazeaf District, Lucius, rose from his seat. As he stared into the distance, the man could sense the aura of several skilled cultivators nearby. He turned his gaze toward his comrades inside the hall.

"We need to use the formation to subdue James Caden. We shouldn't activate the formation unless James makes an appearance here."

Just then, the deafening voice of a man resounded through the air.

"Release my daughter!"

Xrival, the Ancestral Blood Master, stomped his foot heavily on the ground just outside Mount Stoyan. His body shone with a blinding red light the next instant. An immense, threatening aura radiated from Xrival simultaneously.

Upon hearing Xrival's voice, the cultivators inside the hall glanced at each other briefly.

Sedris began, saying, "Leave Wael Qailoken to me."

Xylus, the leader of the Kapron District, pondered for a bit and announced, "I will take care of Zula Qailoken."

Toma responded, “I can handle one Chaos Rank cultivator at a time. I’ll take on the man shining with the red light, then.”

Xezal walked toward Lucius and said, “Sir Lucius, you will have to fight two Chaos Rank cultivators. They are Yardos Xagorari and Livie Caden. We can leave the others to your men from the four sects.”

Lucius gave a slight nod. “Alright.”

The leader of the Hazeaf District was confident that he would be able to defeat Yardos and Livie even if he had to fight both of them simultaneously.

Boom!

A blood pillar came down from the sky and landed on the protection formation cast over Mount Stoyan. The formation created with the powers of the four district leaders shook visibly as soon as the pillar hit the barrier. Several fine cracks started forming on the barrier under the blood pillar.

Just then, a man materialized outside the formation. It was Toma, the leader of the Welkin District.

“Outsiders are not allowed to enter the grounds of Mount Stoyan. Leave now and I’ll pretend this has never happened. Otherwise, all of you will face the consequences of...”

“How dare you?!”

Xrival’s eyes blazed with rage. He teleported and reappeared right before the man. Xrival lifted his palm and swung his arm forcefully at Toma.

Toma did not even flinch at Xrival’s sudden attack. He raised his hand and threw a punch at his opponent too.

Boom!

A loud sound could be heard as the hands of those men came into contact. Xrival was sent flying in the air due to the tremendous force of Toma’s attack.

Toma swiftly teleported and reemerged next to Xrival. The man started throwing powerful punches at Xrival’s chest and abdomen nonstop. In a flash, Xrival had sustained severe injuries.

Toma had entered and trained on the Chaos Rank for a very long time. His powers were far superior to that of Xrival's, who had just advanced into the Chaos Rank recently.

Upon seeing that Xrival was being attacked, Yardos and his comrades moved instantly to try and help Xrival. However, Lucius and the others materialized before them and blocked their path at that moment. Shortly afterward, the members of the four sects also showed up outside Mount Stoyan, following each of their leaders.

In a matter of minutes, hundreds of cultivators had gathered outside Mount Stoyan. At the same time, countless other cultivators, who had entered the Chaos Arena, were watching the progress of the battle happening there with great interest.
