The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 4934-James was familiar with Curse Magic. Not only was he familiar with it, but he also cultivated it.

Based on his understanding, Curse Magic was a signature skill cultivated by an Ancestral God of the Twelfth Universe. The Ancestral God obtained the Curse Magic from the Dark World.

James did not expect Curse Magic to be created by Taran.

‘Taran wants to kill you. Even if you comprehend the Tenfold Realms Transcendent Art, you won’t be his match.’ Looking at James, Byron said, “Unless you reach Taran’s cultivation rank, you’re doomed.”

When James heard that, his expression became heavy. Massaging his temples, he looked troubled.

‘Take care,’ Byron said before leaving.

On the other hand, Teresa had gone to several ancient holy sites. When she learned a few pieces of information, she secretly returned to the Chaos Battlefield.

Hiding in the dark, she saw Taran and how he did not kill James.

She felt happy.

She was worried that Taran would kill James right away. If that happened, the rest of the show could not go on.

She observed in the dark. She watched the powerhouses who came from the ancient holy sites and the Orthodox.

At the same time, she came to the central region of the Chaos Arena based on Emperor Raiah’s notes.

There was a powerful formation in the area.

The formation was mysterious, with inscriptions surrounding it. The inscriptions were profound. At Xezal’s current cultivation rank, she could not understand the inscriptions.

Nevertheless, she did not need to understand them.

She had the Endlos Heart.

The notes left behind by Emperor Raiah read that the Endlos Heart could open the seal of the Chaos Tablet. Then, one could enter the sealed world.

Xezal aimed to enter the sealed world.

She took out the Endlos Heart.

When she took out the Endlos Heart, it activated. The Endlos Heart drew the Heavenly Path Power of the ten districts. The ten districts' Heavenly Path Power gathered and formed a light beam.

The light beam entered the formation ahead.

Then, a crack appeared in the formation. Meanwhile, Teresa entered the formation.

At this moment, James was feeling troubled.

He sat on a rock.

Henrik sat next to him.

"What should I do?"

Looking at Henrik beside him, James felt helpless. He said, "Since Taran is after me, I will die. Even if I cultivated the rest of the sacred scrolls and comprehended the Tenfold Realms Transcendent Art, I'm not Taran's match because my cultivation rank is too low."

Helpless, Henrik said, "I can't help you this time."

James sighed and said, "Let's take one step at a time."

James was not too worried right now. After all, Taran had given him ten epochs. When the time came, James could leave the Chaos Battlefield and hide.

James already had a plan.

He needed to find the Herstellen Art during the ten epochs and run away.

However, he did not have enough clues. He did not know the location of the Herstellen Art.

All of a sudden, a thought flashed in his mind.

“Henrik, spread the news. Gather the powerhouses in the Chaos Battlefield who have clues about the Herstellen Art. Form a complete clue and get the Herstellen Art. As for who can obtain the Herstellen Art, it'll depend on their opportunities and fortunes.”

“Alright.”

Henrik nodded.

Then, the news was spread.

“James has a few important clues about the Herstellen Art, but not enough to find it. He's currently waiting on Mount Stoyan for powerhouses who have clues about the Herstellen Art. He wants everyone to take out their clues to form a complete inscription. Then, everyone can look for the Herstellen Art.”

“Let's go and join in the fun.”

“Even if we don't have any clues, as long as they gather all the clues, they can form a complete inscription. By then, the location of the Herstellen Art will be exposed. Perhaps all of us will have a chance to find it.”
