

Read The Almighty Dragon General

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 4946-Wyot remained silent in response to James' answer. In his philosophy, this was a world of survival of the fittest, where the weak were destined to be dominated by the strong.

"I must stop Teresa's plan, even if it inconveniences you!" James said.

Wyt's cultivation base had already been sealed by James, rendering him powerless to prevent anything. Even if it was not sealed, he still would not be able to stop James.

James then utilized the Soul Search Art to enter the deepest recesses of Wyt's soul, forcibly extracting his memories. Upon learning Wyt's memories, he found that Wyt had indeed told the truth. His knowledge about Teresa's plan was limited.

Slowly, James' appearance transformed into Wyt's. He had impersonated Wyt before and was intimately familiar with his soul aura. Now, even Wyt's closest relatives would not be able to discern the difference.

Upon witnessing this, Wyt's face showed pain. Though the forced soul-searching had brought him intense agony, it was not more painful compared to the pain of James impersonating him.

This was a heartache.

James kept Wyt in a small space within his own body.

Once everything was done, he assumed Wyt's identity and promptly departed from the Dark World.

Previously, he had looked at and memorized the map of the Dark World when he was with Zeno. Other living beings entering here were prone to getting lost, but he would not. Without leaving inscriptions, it was almost impossible to find a way back.

He swiftly departed and traveled to a powerful universe.

There, he used the Teleportation Formation to reach the nearest universe to the Chaos District.

There was no Teleportation Formation in the Chaos District, so he had to travel on foot. He continuously employed the Blithe Omniscience to hasten his journey through the Endlos Void.

Soon, he sensed the aura of the Chaos District and without hesitation, he took a step forward to enter it.

Once he appeared again, he was outside the Dooms Universe. He stepped into the Dooms Universe and made his way to Mount Chaos, their base camp.

Mount Chaos remained the same as it had in the past. The only notable difference was that it was now enveloped by providences and the power of the District Heavenly Path.

Teresa's actions had increased the Doom Race's providences.

He reached the entrance and walked to Mount Chaos.

"Welcome back, Mr. Wyot."

"Greetings, Mr. Wyot."

The impostor James, disguised as Wyot, returned to Mount Chaos, where the Doom disciples greeted him with great reverence.

At this point, James was unaware of whether Teresa had returned. He paid no attention to the disciples's greetings and made his way to Mount Doom.

Upon arriving at Mount Doom, he sat in the main hall. His Zen seeped out, enshrouding the whole of Mount Chaos.

Swish!

At that moment, a beam of white light descended from the sky, landed on the ground, and gave rise to a gorgeous woman dressed in white attire.

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 4947-The woman was a true beauty, with an excellent figure and an exceptional aura. She was none other than Teresa.

"You're back," Teresa said. After appearing, she sat down on a chair at the side of the main hall, crossing her legs and revealing her long, alabaster legs.

"The Chaos Arena was destroyed," James, who was pretending to be Wyot, said nonchalantly. "Fortunately, I escaped quickly, or else I would have died there."

Teresa glanced at Wyot and said coldly, "Your survival from James has indeed exceeded my expectations."

"I almost died by his hand. At the critical moment, he showed mercy," James said with a hint of helplessness and bitterness on his face. "I wanted to kill him all along, but now he's too powerful. No matter how hard I try, I can't catch up to his strength. This time, I won't think about seeking revenge. I'll just stay with the Dooms and take each day as it comes."

He showed no desire for pursuit anymore.

Teresa frowned and scolded him, saying, "You're pathetic. What can James do? When I complete my plan, the Dooms will become the most powerful race in the Endlos. However, you, as the Great Elder of the Dooms, are so listless."

James shrugged and said, "What do you want me to do? Even though I've learned the Tenfold Realms Transcendent Sutra, I can't even control two types of power, while James can already handle so many types of power. How can I be his match?"

James wanted to ask Teresa about her plan. However, he could not rush it. For now, he had to wait for Teresa to reveal it on her own. She might not tell him if he asked directly.

Teresa said, "Don't worry about that. James won't live much longer. He's completed his mission, and there's no need to keep him around."

"Hehe," James chuckled. "Can you still control him now? He killed Lucius, Toma, and Xylus, the three powerhouses from the Chaos Rank on his own. Meanwhile, the Doom Race doesn't even have one powerhouse from Chaos Rank. Even if you complete your plan and resurrect our ancestor, at best, he'll be only on par with Lucius, and he won't be a match for James."

Teresa wore a smug expression as she said, "Don't worry about that. All you need to do now is wait peacefully among the Dooms. It won't be long before James dies, and our ancestor will be resurrected. Do you really think my father was killed by Lucius' sneak attack and that it caused the fusion with the Chaos Heavenly Path?"

"Why, isn't it?" James asked.

"Of course not." Teresa shook her head.

"So, how did it happen?" he asked.

At this point, Teresa said honestly, "My father created a terrifying signature skill that required harnessing the District Heavenly Path. However, he would surely be obstructed by other powerhouses from other Orthodox if he cultivated it openly. So, he revealed the Endlos Heart to harness the Heavenly Path Power of the Ten Districts in front of Lucius. It was then that Lucius grew envious and devised a plan to ambush my father. My father pretended to be injured and fled while concealing himself in the Chaos District. Meanwhile, he fused with the Chaos Heavenly Path openly. Now, his Supernatural Power is in its final stages. He only needs to infuse it with a powerful force, and he will achieve mastery."

"Is that so?" Hearing this, James could not believe it but was also amazed. He had never expected this to be a meticulously planned scheme from start to finish. Zaden was even more cunning than Teresa.

"Of course," Teresa answered smugly.

James could not help but ask, "Once our ancestor is resurrected, how powerful will he be? Can he defeat James?"

"James?" Teresa sneered. "Once my father achieves mastery, defeating James will be easy. Even if he hasn't reached the Chaos Completare Rank, he'll be at the Peak of Chaos Essencia Rank. He won't be afraid of even Taran if he comes."

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 4948-James was genuinely surprised that Zaden's integration into the Chaos Heavenly Path was part of a scheme.

Zaden's cultivation required harnessing the Heavenly Path Power, and he was concerned about interference. This surely was not a conventional signature skill. It leaned more towards the dark and twisted path. Otherwise, there would not be such concerns. Perhaps his techniques were obtained from the Extraterrestrial Demons.

They had to be stopped.

“What do you plan to do next?” James asked.

Teresa smiled faintly and replied, “The Endlos Heart is the greatest cultivation achievement left by Emperor Raiah.

With it, one can become the Endlos Lord, controlling the Heavenly Path of the Ten Districts and even wielding the Heavenly Path Power for oneself. The plan is simple. We will host a gathering in the Chaos District, inviting powerhouses from the Ten Districts to converge. The one who emerges victorious in this gathering will obtain the Endlos Heart.”

Hearing this, James asked without showing any emotion, ‘ Even if powerhouses gather in the Chaos District, do you have the strength to eliminate them and infuse their formidable energy into the Chaos Heavenly Path?”

“Hehe.” Teresa smiled faintly. “In the Chaos Arena earlier, many powerhouses were killed by Taran. I absorbed the energy left behind by them after they died. My father is very close to achieving mastery, and he only needs a bit more energy. Sacrificing a few more lives will suffice. However, he will be even stronger if the Chaos District is sacrificed. As for how to kill them and make the sacrifice, I have my ways.”

“Oh,” James muttered, then stopped asking questions. Instead, he contemplated countermeasures in his mind.

Teresa did not reveal how she intended to kill these powerhouses, but he had a rough idea. It seemed that she had collaborated with the Extraterrestrial Demons and might rely on their power to eliminate the powerhouses.

“Stay calm and focused,” Teresa stood up and said, “Facing setbacks is also beneficial. Cultivation is not always smooth sailing. After we eliminate James and my father is resurrected, you will become the clan leader and possess the Endlos Heart. I have high expectations for you, and I hope you won’t disappoint me.”

After leaving these words, Teresa turned and left. James remained seated in the main hall, lost in the deep thought.

Then, he began communicating and shared all the information he had learned in detail with Henrik.

Meanwhile, many living beings gathered in the Heavenly Court Main Hall of the Human Universe, including humans and powerhouses from outside the Chaos District, such as Wael, Zula, Wynona, and Saachi. Henrik explained Teresa's plan in detail, along with the information James had acquired.

'The Dooms plan to host a gathering, attracting ancient Orthodox powerhouses from the Ten Districts by using the Endlos Heart. Then, they intend to sacrifice the entire Chaos District to resurrect Teresa's father, Zaden Dalibor. Once Zaden is resurrected, he will be exceptionally powerful, surpassing Taran, and reaching the level of Emperor Raiah.'

Henrik's expression was grave.

The battle in the Chaos Arena had already gone on for ten thousand years.

Some powerhouses in the Human Universe knew about the battle in the Chaos Battlefield, but they did not have detailed information. Henrik told them all the details.

Upon hearing this, the atmosphere in the main hall became heavy. Though numerous living beings had gathered, no one spoke, causing silence to hang in the air.

"What does James plan to do?" The Ancestral Blood Master was the first to break the silence.

Henrik shook his head slightly and said, "For now, he doesn't have a clear plan. He's still figuring it out. He shared this information with me, hoping we could brainstorm together."

Wyndael pondered for a moment and said, "Let's inform the world. We should expose Teresa and the Doom Race's plot. Join forces with powerhouses from the Ten Districts to confront them."

"How do we inform them?" Henrik looked at him and asked, "Are we going to claim that the Dooms have allied with the Extraterrestrial Demon? It might be hard for anyone to believe that."

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 4949-Wael said, ‘The allure of the Endlos Heart is too great. Even if we were to inform the entire world, no one may believe us. Those who knew the truth have mostly perished under Taran’s hand. The remaining few are all injured, and they are now in seclusion for recovery, unable to attend to these matters.’

In the main hall, many powerhouses expressed their opinions and views. Yet, despite the discussions, no consensus was reached. This was because the Extraterrestrial Demon by Teresa’s side were formidable, to the point where not even Henrik’s Grand Purge Formation could suppress them.

Moreover, there were many other Extraterrestrial Armies behind the Extraterrestrial Demons’ Commanders. Hence, most strategies were futile in the face of absolute power.

Meanwhile, James was also contemplating. He believed that the only one who could stop all of this was Taran.

However, he had no idea where Taran was.

Taran’s strength was overwhelming, to the point where James could not even extrapolate to search. It was extremely tough to find Taran in the vast Ten Districts. With Taran out of the equation, James had no choice but to rely on himself.

At the back of Mount Doom, James was pondering a solution to this predicament while sitting on a rock. After careful consideration, he used inscriptions to communicate with Henrik secretly.

“Henrik, ask the members of the Heavenly Court to visit the ancient Orthodoxes in the Ten Districts. Try to meet with the Grand Patriarchs and inform them of Teresa and the Doom Race’s plan. Then, persuade them to participate in the upcoming gathering in the Chaos District to confront Teresa and the Dooms.”

“Mr. Caden, I’m afraid this doesn’t work. The Heavenly Court’s standing in the Endlos Ten Districts is too low. Even if Heavenly Court members approach the ancient Orthodoxes, they may not be received, and even if they are, they may not believe it.”

“In that case, you should personally make the trip. You possess the Grand Purge Formation, and you represent the First Rune Arts Grandmaster under Emperor Raiah’s banner. They will definitely believe you. You won’t be able to visit all these ancient Orthodoxes alone, so have the Ancestral Blood Master, Wael, and Zula, who are powerhouses of the Chaos Rank, join you. At the same time, find Samarth and have him participate.

“Remember, make sure they don’t raise suspicion or alarm Teresa even if they don’t believe you. If Teresa knows of this and changes the plan, it will be difficult for us to discover her intentions again.”

James formulated a series of strategies. He intended to unite the Ten Districts to confront Teresa and the Extraterrestrial Demon behind her.

Simultaneously, he would go into closed door meditation, striving to comprehend the ten sacred scrolls, master the complete Tenfold Realms Transcendent Art, and even ascend to the Chaos Rank.

Furthermore, he sought to journey to the Endlos or the end of the Tribulation World in order to meet with his two predecessors and attempt to persuade them to join his plans.

Both of them were powerhouses at the Peak of Chaos Essencia Rank. They could certainly mitigate the impending disaster in the Ten Districts if they were to intervene.

After giving Henrik his orders, James opened his eyes. Right now, he had to venture into the Tribulation World.

At the moment he was ready to leave, a beautiful woman approached. She was dressed in a milk-white long gown, her figure graceful, and her face exquisite. However, a faint sorrow marred her otherwise flawless countenance. She was none other than Yemima.

Wyt had once imprisoned her in the dungeon for a period. After James departed, Wyndael intervened and released her. However, she chose to stay with the Dooms, continuing to reside at Mount Doom as she had no idea where else she should go other than staying there.

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 4950-When Yemima appeared, James looked at her with a complicated expression. She was a woman he had let down, but back then, he truly had no other choice. It was all for the Human Race.

"I'm back," James said.

Yemima looked at him and said, "I could have left the Doos, but I chose to stay at Mount Doom all this time to wait for your return." Her eyes welled up with mist, and glistening tears rolled down her cheeks. "I'm a tainted woman. I may have professed love for you with my words, but I gave my body to James."

Her voice choked with emotion. James looked at her, genuinely unsure of what to say. Moreover, he was now impersonating Wyot, making it even more challenging to find the right words.

"Where's Carson? I haven't seen him," James asked.

Yemima replied, "He couldn't accept that James was his father and left the Dooms a long time ago. I have no idea where he is now."

"I have matters to attend to and must leave Mount Doom." James spoke these words and vanished from the spot. For him, matters of love were secondary. The salvation of the Chaos District was paramount.

He left Mount Doom and reappeared in a certain location within the Chaos District. Here, there was no presence of the universe and living beings. After he sensed his surroundings and found no one tracking him, he utilized the Chaos Heavenly Path to open the Tribulation World and entered it.

Upon his arrival, countless lightning tribulations struck him. However, they were utterly powerless against him. He traversed the Tribulation World and reached the Tribulation City. It was vast and dilapidated. The city was deserted.

The Emperor of Tribulation emerged as soon as James appeared.

"You've come," said the Emperor of Tribulation. He was still clad in tattered armor, looking disheveled.

James nodded and said, "Yes. I've come to seek your help with some matters outside."

James explained the current situation in the Ten Districts.

Upon hearing this, the Emperor of Tribulation shook his head and said, "James, I can't leave. If I do, there will be no one to guard the Tribulation City. Even though there is a formation in the entire city, the Extraterrestrial Demons in the passage outside the city will break through it as soon as I leave. They will enter the Endlos through the Tribulation World, and the situation will become thousands of times worse than it is now. You'll have to handle matters outside on your own."

James had anticipated this outcome before coming, but hearing it from the Emperor of Tribulation left him feeling disheartened and burdened.

Swish! The Emperor of Tribulation gestured, and some inscriptions manifested in front of him. They were enigmatic, with faint glimpses of lightning and thunder within them. "I can't offer much help, but I hope these Tribulation Inscriptions will be useful."

James accepted them and asked, "Can I go into closed door meditation in the Tribulation World for a while?"

"Of course," the Emperor of Tribulation replied. With a casual wave of his hand, the Tribulation Clouds in the distant Tribulation World dispersed. A purple sea appeared in the sky, radiating a dazzling violet light and exuding a potent energy aura.

"What's this?" James' face lit up with delight.