

Read The Almighty Dragon General

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 5026-King Marciais was not certain about James' situation. He could only make a few speculations based on the known facts.

As for whether he was right, he could not say for sure.

Perhaps the truth would only be uncovered when James' strength and formation improved.

King Marciais did not continue speaking and began moving forward.

James followed behind him.

With just one step forward, they could swiftly travel across a few universes. Soon, they arrived in the Presta District's Endlos Void and continued traveling toward the Chaos District.

The two arrived in the Thala Realm Universe, where the Angels resided. Then, they entered a tavern within a prosperous city.

King Marciais drank his wine while looking out the window, observing the passing crowd on the streets. He was deep in thought, but it was hard to tell what was on his mind.

James took out a pot of Tribulation Liquid and filled King Marciais' cup. Then, he said smilingly, "Have another drink, Zavis."

Tribulation Liquids were valuable treasures. However, they were worthless to King Marciais. Although they contained powerful energy, they were not of much help to him.

The Tribulation Liquid's energy permeated the entire city. Even outside the city, one could smell the Tribulation Liquid's charming fragrance and powerful energy.

Its energy continued to spread out, arousing the attention of the Angels.

Countless living beings gathered outside the tavern and sat down in lotus positions to absorb the energy emitted by the Tribulation Liquid.

Neither James nor King Marciais paid much attention to them.

Swoosh!!!

Suddenly, a flash of light landed in the distance, and a group of living beings emerged.

"The Angel Race's Prince has arrived."

"It's Ivern Amani."

"Is he here to seize the treasure?"

The crowd began to discuss.

Ivern quickly approached the tavern. After confirming the energy from the tavern's top floor, he licked his lips.

One of the guards accompanying him warned him, "Your Highness, you shouldn't be reckless. A treasure emitting such potent energy must be out of the ordinary. We can't afford to offend someone capable of possessing something so valuable."

"This universe belongs to the Angels. It's our territory, so there's nothing to be afraid of. Let's head up to have a look."

Ivern was not concerned about the guard's warning.

King Marciais picked up the cup with Tribulation Liquid and gulped it in one go. Then, he said smilingly, 'Tribulation Liquid produced from a Heavenly Tribulation tastes pretty good."

"Since you like it, I'll pour more for you."

James had already acquired the Tribulation Sea. To him, Tribulation Liquid was not valuable.

He also drank a large glass of Tribulation Liquid. The powerful force circulated within his body and accelerated the fusion of his soul and body. Then, the remaining energy was absorbed by his new body.

Suddenly, the sound of footsteps resounded.

Ivern arrived at the tavern's top floor with some guards.

As soon as Ivern noticed the pot of Tribulation Liquid on the table, he was intrigued. However, he did not dare to make a reckless move since he was still clueless about the origin of the two people before him.

He approached with guards, clasped his hands, and said, "I'm the Angel Races' Prince and the future leader of the Angels. May I ask who the two of you might be? Why did you not come to pay your visits despite entering our territory?"

"Get lost." James' face darkened.

"Wait..." King Marciais immediately intervened, saying, "Cultivators must not be impetuous. Whoever he is, he's a guest."

James chuckled and said, "I was just worried he would've disturbed you."

"It's fine." King Marciais waved his hand. Then he pointed to the chair beside him and said, "Please have a seat, young man."

Ivern scanned James and King Marciais up and down. They knew Ivern was trying to detect their cultivation rank, so they adjusted their auras.

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 5027-"The Terra Acme Rank?"

After sensing their cultivation ranks, Ivern walked over with a malicious smile. He took a knife, stabbed it into the table, and asked, "Where are you two from? How dare you steal our race's nectar?"

"Guards, capture them!"

Several guards immediately approached them.

James stood up and was ready to take action. However, King Marciais stopped him and motioned for him to sit down. "It's alright."

James was unsure of King Marciais' intention, so he obediently sat down.

The guards immediately held them at knifepoint.

Ivern ordered, "Take them away."

Just like that, James and King Marciais were captured.

Ivern carefully picked up the pot of Tribulation Liquid from the table and sniffed it. A powerful energy emerged and entered his body, causing his pores to expand. At that moment, he felt indescribably comfortable.

He put the pot away and quickly left the tavern.

Meanwhile, the Angel's Patriarch, Jethro, was chatting with a sect elder in their main hall.

Ivern hurriedly rushed over and called out, "Father, Father!"

Before he even entered the hall, his voice had reached.

Jethro's face darkened, and he reprimanded Ivern, "How are you to inherit me in the future if you're so imprudent?"

Ivern calmed down and said, "Father, there's hope for the Angels to rise again. Please come with me."

After being briefly stunned by Ivern's words, Jethro recollected and said, "Please wait a moment, Sir Macri."

Jethro left the hall with Ivern. Soon, they arrived in the backward of a manor.

'Tribulation Liquid?' Jethro was stunned. He asked, "Where did you get it from?"

Jethro knew Tribulation Liquids were produced during Heavenly Tribulations. Cultivators would have a chance to obtain a drop during their Heavenly Tribulations. However, Ivern presented more than half a pot of Tribulation Liquid to him. It was inevitable that he would be shocked.

Ivern boasted, "I encountered two Terra Acmeans. They were drinking the Tribulation Liquid like it was wine. I do not know where they got it, but they must be clueless about its benefits. I've already captured them. Since they have a pot of it, they must have even more on them. If we interrogate them, we might be able to obtain more, and our race will be able to rise."

'Terra Acmeans?' Jethro frowned.

Ivern replied proudly, "Yeah."

James and King Marciais were imprisoned in the Angel Race's dungeon.

Puzzled, James asked, "What are you up to?"

King Marciais was sitting in a lotus position with a calm expression. He replied, "What is experience? It's not just about fighting. Wandering the Endlos is also considered an experience. You don't always have to use force to resolve problems.

"Right now, we're also gaining experience by training our mental fortitude.

"Although your Cultivation Heart is stable, you're a little too irritable and aggressive."

James thought about it and found that King Marciais' words made sense.

Suddenly, footsteps came from outside the dungeon.

Immediately afterward, a group of creatures appeared in sight. Walking in the lead was the Angels' Patriarch, Jethro, whereas Ivern followed closely behind him.

After Jethro arrived, he began to sense James and King Marciais' cultivation rank. However, he could not see through them and immediately broke out in cold sweats.

Slap!

He hit Ivern's head and reprimanded him, 'You insolent child! Hurry up and kneel!'

Ivern was startled after being hit.

Meanwhile, Jethro quickly opened the dungeon's door and said respectfully, "My son was ignorant and rude toward you.

I'm so sorry he has offended you two. Please state your punishment

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 5028-James was slightly startled to see Jethro. In his memories, Jethro had already died. He secretly performed an extrapolation and identified the reason for Jethro's resurrection.

Previously, he had destroyed the Chaos Heavenly Path. As a result, the Chaos District's order went haywire. Many strange things happened, and some deceased beings came back to life.

James was not too surprised after realizing the truth.

Jethro could not see through James and King Marciais' cultivation rank and immediately knew they were super powerhouses. The Angels could not afford to offend them.

Ivern, on the other hand, was stunned. Before he could process the situation, a powerful force crushed down on him, forcing him onto his knees.

"We'll accept punishment."

Jethro immediately took out the Tribulation Liquid and offered it back to them with both hands, saying, "The Tribulation Liquid shall be returned in full."

James looked at King Marciais, waiting for him to express his stance.

King Marciais slowly stood up and helped Ivern up from the ground. Then, he looked at Jethro and said, "It's unnecessary to go to such lengths over such a small matter. He can stand."

Ivern was still a little confused. It took him a while to finally realize the two people in front of him were very powerful cultivators.

King Marcias turned around and left the dungeon without taking the Tribulation Liquid.

"It's yours," James said casually. Then, he followed behind King Marciais.

After leaving the dungeon, James thought of Leilani from the Angel Race. While he was still relatively weak, he had some interactions with Leilani.

James smiled as he thought back on the past events. He began to wonder how Leilani was doing after so much time had passed.

“Since I’m already here, might as well go to Mount Eden for a walk,” James suggested.

Curious, King Marciais turned around and asked, “Mount Eden? Where’s that?”

James replied with a smile, “The residence of the Angel Race’s Princess.”

“I see,” King Marciais smiled meaningfully.

James was speechless. He took a step forward and instantly arrived on Mount Eden.

At the peak of Mount Eden, there was a beautiful lake. In the center of the lake was an island with a few buildings.

Within one of the courtyards, a beautiful woman wearing a white dress propped up her chin with her hands and looked at the calm lake in a daze.

A pretty maid behind her asked, “What’s bothering you, Your Highness?”

Leilani snapped out of her thoughts and shook her head, saying, “It’s nothing. Accompany me on a stroll.”

“Of course, Your Highness.”

Suddenly, a man appeared before her. It was James, who had already changed his appearance.

King Marciais appeared right after James. He stared at Leilani and praised, “Not bad. She’s indeed gorgeous.”

Leilani was slightly startled by the uninvited guests. She stepped backward and stared at them warily.

Jethro also followed after them. However, he waited outside the manor as he did not dare to enter. He was confused by the situation. "Strange. Why did they come to Mount Eden?"

"W-Who are you guys?" Leilani looked at them, alerted.

King Marciais looked at Leilani and said smilingly, "Oh, yeah. She's quite the eye candy. I'll need a maid on this journey, so you'll do."

"A maid?" Leilani frowned. She was the Angel Race's Princess, a high and mighty existence. How would she be willing to serve as someone's maid?

James said, smiling, "Your chance to rise has arrived, Leilani. You should agree quickly."

"Get lost, or I won't show any mercy." Leilani's face darkened.

King Marciais sighed and said, "Since you're unwilling, forget it. I never force anyone to do something they don't want to."

Jethro quickly rushed over and said smilingly, "Sir, I'll agree on behalf of my daughter.

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 5029-Leilani frowned. "Father!"

Jethro ignored her. He looked at King Marciais and asked smilingly, "May I ask where you're from?"

"The Orstellen Sect," King Marciais replied calmly. Then, he waved his hand, and an invitation appeared in his palm. He tossed it over to Jethro and said, "This is an invitation from the Orstellen Sect. With this, you can participate in the Orstellen Convention."

"The Orstellen Sect?" Jethro's brows furrowed.

He had heard of almost all the hidden sects in the Endlos' Ten Districts.

After Zaden became the Endlos Lord again, many hidden forces emerged and made public appearances. However, he had heard of the Orstellen Sect before.

'The date is noted on the invitation. Whether you attend or not is up to you,' King Marcias said calmly.

After passing the invitation to Jethro, he turned around and left.

James also left with him.

Jethro stood in place, confused.

Leilani, on the other hand, had missed a great opportunity.

After leaving the Angels' territory, James followed King

Marciais around the Chaos District. King Marciais was not arrogant when he visited a few sects and handed them invitations from the Orstellen Sect.

After traveling around the Chaos District, they headed to the other districts. Their destination was mainly powerful sects, families, and orthodoxes.

James followed King Marciais without asking any questions.

After a while, his soul had completely merged with his new body.

James sat in a lotus position atop a mountain in the Theos District. His aura continued to grow stronger.

King Marciais stood aside with a smile and muttered, "His soul has already completely integrated with the body."

James' cultivation base had already returned to the peak of his previous life, and he was at the Chaos Rank again.

Now that his soul had completely integrated with his body, he took advantage of the moment to cultivate. He comprehended one-third of the Herstellen Art and gained insight into the ultimate mystery of the Endlos.

His aura was constantly rising as he cultivated within a time formation. Soon, he reached the Chaos Transcendere Rank.

After reaching the Chaos Transcendere Rank, James restrained his aura. Then, he stood up and dispersed the time formation.

King Marciais smiled and praised him, "Good job. You've reached the Chaos Transcendere Rank. Your soul and physical body are really strong. Moreover, your comprehension of cultivation is very profound. Your cultivation journey from now onward will be very smooth. As long as you continue to grow stronger, you'll be able to make constant breakthroughs in cultivation ranks.

James stretched his body, and he felt indescribably comfortable.

'Your bloodline power is also quite strong. Try to enter the Marciais Path's Twelfth Rank now,' said King Marciais.

"Alright." James immediately sat in a lotus position on the ground and activated the Omniscience Path, also known as the Marciais Path.

He instantly entered the Maciais Path's Eleventh Rank, and three light halos representing his soul, bloodline power, and physical strength appeared around his body. These three powers were called the Three Flowers.

King Marciais said, "It's very easy to enter the Marciais Path's Twelfth Rank. All you need to do is fuse your Three Flowers to create a new force and reach a new realm.

“I call this realm the Ternion Rank.”

With King Marciais’ explanation, James began cultivating and activating his Three Flowers.