

Read The Almighty Dragon General

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 5037-Although Zaden was reluctant to give away the Lucky Flower, he did not dare to refuse King Marciais. He immediately ordered Xezal to bring the Lucky Flower that was about to mature and the Emyrean herbs within their garden.

Xezal left in a hurry and returned shortly after. She took out a Storage Ring, handed it to James, and said respectfully, "Sir, everything you've requested inside the ring."

James took the ring and released his Zen into it to verify.

He sensed a magical white flower inside the storage ring. It had nine crystal clear petals with mysterious inscriptions that could be vaguely seen circulating within them.

The Lucky Flower contained extremely potent energy and was indeed a rare treasure.

James nodded lightly and said, "Yup, they're inside."

Then, he put away the Storage Ring. He looked at Zaden, reached out, and said, "Hand it over."

"What do you mean?" Zaden was puzzled.

James said calmly, "The Endlos Heart. You're not qualified to be the Endlos Lord, so hand it over. I'll choose another Endlos Lord worthy of the title."

"D-Don't go too far!" Zaden's face darkened.

The Endlos Heart was his ultimate reliance. Without it, his strength would be reduced significantly.

‘What’s wrong? You’re not willing to hand it over?’

King Marciais stood up, raised his hand, and showed the magical inscriptions fluttered in his palm. He threatened coldly,

“If you don’t hand it over, I’ll obliterate the Dooms. Ultimately, the Grand Priest will still obtain the Endlos Heart.”

“You...” Zaden’s face turned pale. Hewanted to express his anger, but he swallowed his words and forcibly suppressed the anger in his heart. Then, he took out the Endlos Heart and looked at it reluctantly.

Xezal could not help but shout, “Father!”

They went through a lot of effort to obtain the Endlos Heart. How could they just hand it over so easily?

Zaden closed his eyes and waved his hand. The Endlos Heart departed from his hand and floated toward James.

James grabbed the Endlos Heart and put it away. Then, he turned to King Mariciais and said smilingly, “Everything’s settled.”

“Alright.” King Marciais nodded lightly, then waved his hand.

An invitation appeared and flew over to Zaden.

King Marciais said calmly, “This is an invitation from our sect. The Dooms are invited to the Orstellen Convention. Our Orstellen Realm will be activated. If you can pass the trials within the realm, then you’ll be able to become the Orstellen Sect’s Leader and obtain the Orstellen Art.”

Then, King Marciais looked at James and said smilingly, ” Let’s go.”

“Alright.” James also smiled.

The two of them disappeared from the main hall.

As soon as they were out of sight, Zaden's legs went rubbery, and he sat down on the ground.

Xezal rushed over to help him up.

'We spent so many years preparing to obtain the Endlos Heart so that I can become the Endlos Lord. Yet, now we've lost the Endlos Heart and the title." Zaden seemed to have aged significantly after the event.

"Don't give up, Father."

Xezal looked at the invitation and said, 'You still have a chance.'

Zaden turned to Xezal.

Xezal said, "Didn't King Marciais say there's a chance to become the Orstellen Sect's Leader if you participate in the Orstellen Convention and pass the Orstellen Realm's trials? When you succeed, even King Marciais and the Grand Priest will have to listen to you."

'You're right. Why didn't I think of that?' Zaden's eyes immediately lit up.

However, his excitement did not last long. King Marciais was so powerful. Passing the trials of the Orstellen Realm and becoming the Orstellen Sect's Leader was no easy feat. 2

The Novel will be updated daily. Come back and continue reading tomorrow, everyone