The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 5086-The Boundless Pagoda was composed of the 108 Infinity Steles and had a total of 10 forms.

With each of the Ten Path Techniques the Boundless Pagoda's owner cultivates, a new form would be unlocked.

The tenth form of the Boundless Pagoda was the strongest.

The Boundless Pagoda only had nine floors.

However, an additional floor would be added above the ninth floor after the owner had unlocked the Boundless Pagoda's tenth form.

Taran sneered.

"Ha! You have Emperor Raiah's treasure? Interesting." The powerhouses watched the battle intently from the city wall.

Many human cultivators were also paying close attention to the fight.

They were confused after seeing the Supernatural Powers and treasures James had summoned.

Thea was especially confused by the sight.

She stared at James on the battlefield, frowned, and murmured, "Is he really James? Did I wrongly accuse him?" At that moment, Thea was close to believing that the Orstellen Sect's Grand Priest was James.

The Boundless Pagoda belonged to James.

Even if the Orstellen Sect's Grand Priest knew everything about James and had the means to copy James' soul aura and Soul Genesis, he could not force James' treasure to acknowledge him as its owner.

After realizing the truth, Thea gritted her teeth and cursed, "That bastard." She recalled James slapping her butt and her pretty face flushed.

“Ts it really James?” “Did we falsely accuse him?” “So the Grand Priest is James?” “He hid his identity to strengthen his mental fortitude just like King Marciais asked him to?” The humans were confused.

James looked at the composed Taran in the distance and chuckled.

Then, he said, “You should raise your guard.

I will use all my strength and won’t show mercy from now on.” Immediately afterward, James performed the Saber Sect’s Sacrilegious Ascension, and the power stored in the microcosms within his body was released.

James instantly took thirty-three consecutive steps, and his aura skyrocketed.

His aura fused with the heaven and earth.

At that moment, James was in his most potent state.

He had used all the power at his disposal, including the Martial Path’s greatest state, the Ten Path Techniques, the Sacrilegious Ascension, and his cultivation base.

At that moment, his aura had surpassed Taran’s.

“His aura is terrifying.” “He’s now stronger than Taran.” “Tf the Orstellen Sect’s Grand Priest is really James, then Taran really might lose.” “T agree.

Previously, James was only at the Chaos Illimita Rank, but he managed to fight against the Extraterrestrial Demons’ Second Commander, Mekaisto.

Now that he’s grown stronger, he might stand a chance against Taran.” The spectators commented while watching from the city wall.

James’ current aura was overpowering Taran’s Curse Magic.

Everyone thought that James would be the winner.

Taran’s expression became solemn after James entered his strongest state.

James’ current state was much more terrifying than King Marciais, who had also mastered the Martial Path.

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 5087-King Marciais leaped up joyfully when he witnessed James enter his strongest state.

He exclaimed, "Let's go, James! This is getting interesting! James had cultivated the Martial Path's Heart Power.

With his current state, even I won't stand a chance against him.

Taran must've already realized the gap between their strength.

I wonder if he will admit defeat or insist on taking James on in a battle." King Marciais was looking forward to watching the battle unfold.

The powerhouses of the Orstellen Sect were also paying attention to the fight.

A disciple of the Orstellen Sect asked, "Sir Cray, do you think James can reach the level of Lady Tehila?" Cray looked at James in the Orstellen Realm thoughtfully.

Then, he replied, "James' current strength isn't inferior to Xeraiah.

After Xeraiah left the Te'oma Village, he had been training outside for very long.

When he had fought with the Extraterrestrial Demons' Great Commander, he had reached the Consummation Chaos Completable Rank.

When James reaches the Marciais Path's Fifteenth Rank and the Chaos Completable Rank, his strength will be equivalent to when Xeraiah was at the Consummation Chaos Completable Rank." After a brief pause, Cray continued, saying, "It's been a long time since Xeraiah left the Endlos.

Nobody knows whether he had reached the Sovereign Rank.

On the other hand, Lady Tehila left when she had already reached the Sovereign Rank.

I can't say whether James has surpassed Lady Tehila, but I'm sure he can surpass Xeraiah." Cray assessed James' strength and concluded his current strength was close to that of Xeraiah.

On the battlefield, Taran donned a magical black armor made from inscriptions of heaven and earth.

He had used the strongest form of Curse Magic and the most profound Curse Inscriptions.

The defensive power of his armor was terrifying.

Even King Marciais would have to use all his strength to shatter the armor.

Taran floated in the void with a solemn expression.

Meanwhile, James had a relatively relaxed composure.

The Boundless Pagoda floated before him, and above him was the Demonic Compass that emitted a corrupted aura capable of affecting the black mist within the Dark World.

He also held the Chaos Sword in his hand.

“Go,” James commanded the Demonic Compass to strike Taran again.

However, Taran stood motionlessly in the area.

Just when the Demonic Compass was about to hit him, he flicked his finger.

An inscription emerged from his fingertip and rapidly transformed into a wall to block the Demonic Compass’ attack.

Unfortunately, Taran had underestimated James and the Demonic Compass’ strength.

His protective wall was shattered instantly.

Taran immediately teleported away from the area and appeared behind James.

He waved his hand, unleashing countless inscriptions again.

At the same time, he chanted a few words.

At that moment, the living beings in the Orstellen Realm were controlled by a mysterious force.

Every living being had two sides to them— good and evil.

However, most living beings would conceal their evil side.

At that moment, the evil in their hearts was summoned by Taran.

The evil force transformed into a mysterious power and was absorbed by Taran.

This was the most potent form of Curse Magic, which Taran called Corrupted Power.

Corrupted Power could not be cultivated.

Instead, it existed within every living being.

The countless black auras gathered from the distance and enveloped him.

Even though he was surrounded by Corrupted Power, his mental fortitude did not falter, nor was his mind corrupted by it.

At that moment, Taran's aura skyrocketed and surpassed James.

He raised his hand and thrust forward.

With his attack, countless black mists swept forward and gathered to form a massive misty palm, charging at James with terrifying power.

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 5088-The black mist gathered to form a massive illusory palm and came crashing down like a mountain.

The colossal palm seemed to be made up of black mist.

However, with a closer observation, they were composed of countless inscriptions.

James sensed numerous powers within the palm.

His surrounding space was sealed, and he was trapped in one spot, unable to move an inch of muscle.

The passage of time around him was also stopped.

His body began showing many adverse reactions.

He felt a headache, his chest tightening, and he found it hard to breathe.

Injuries were constantly forming despite having a body made from the Koloretsua Stone.

Soon, he was soaked in blood.

Taran's Curse Magic was causing him to age rapidly.

His vitality was waning, his aura was weakening, and his strength was seeping away.

Before James could react, a huge palm fell and struck his body.

The palm instantly enveloped James.

"No way." Nobody expected James, who had a stronger aura, to suddenly fall into a disadvantage.

Faced with Taran's attack, James seemed powerless.

"Is he dead?" "I think so.

Taran's power is incredibly evil and corrupted.

No matter how strong James is, he must've been obliterated instantly." Many powerhouses began to discuss.

Most of them felt that James did not survive Taran's attack.

At that moment, Taran was too powerful.

His strength had already surpassed their knowledge and seemed to have transcended into the Sovereign Rank.

Boom!!! Endless explosions occurred throughout the battlefield.

After a long time, the huge palm disappeared, and the battlefield was riddled with countless black holes.

Everyone held their breath and observed the battlefield.

Under everyone's gaze, James walked out of the black hole with messy hair and blood all over his body.

The halo around his body had dimmed.

His arm was limp and seemed like it would fall off at any moment.

James looked to be in a terrible state.

However, he quickly recovered after activating his powers.

"James." Taran's voice resounded throughout the area.

"It's unnecessary to continue this battle.

I've already entered the Consummation Completare Rank.

You are one cultivation rank lower than me.

To be precise, it's two ranks.

"You've only entered the Chaos Essencia Rank, and I'm at the Consummation Completare Rank.

"It's already impressive that you've been able to force me to this point.

"If you were at the same rank as me, I'm sure I wouldn't be a match for you." After fighting an extended battle, Taran praised James.

James took a deep breath and put away the Demonic Compass, Boundless Pagoda, and the Chaos Sword.

He knew they were no longer useful against Taran.

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 5089-James grinned and said, "You want me to admit defeat? Do you think you've already won? That might not necessarily be the outcome." "Do you have more surprises?" Taran smiled faintly and said, "Even though you can use Supernatural Powers to enhance your strength, your cultivation rank is still too weak." James smiled lightly in response.

At that moment, a mysterious and bizarre formation appeared.

It was circular, like a wheel, and composed of inscriptions.

A figure sat in a lotus position directly above the formation and another below it.

The figures that looked similar to James seemed spectral, but they also seemed realistic.

“It’s really him,” Wynton exclaimed, “I’m sure that’s James.

I was present when he created this formation.” Waleria also shouted, “It’s James’ formation.

But why is there an extra figure below it? Has he improved the formation to a higher level?” “What is this?” Taran frowned upon seeing the formation.

Truth be told, even James was not sure what the formation was.

He created it by a complete coincidence.

The figure above the formation materialized from his Dark Path, whereas the figure below appeared after he comprehended the Endlos Light.

“You can take it that one of them is my past form, and the other is my future form.” James smiled and shared King Marciais’ speculation.

“The battle will officially begin right now.” After James finished speaking, the figure above the formation began to move.

It suddenly disappeared and appeared in front of Taran.

The figure suddenly took on James’ appearance.

Taran shuddered after meeting the terrifying sight within its eyes.

At that moment, Taran’s mind went blank.

He was struck, and his black armor was shattered instantly.

The excruciating pain brought him back to reality.

He immediately launched a counterattack and sealed the figure.

He unleashed a potent Curse Power and transformed it into Curse Swords.

Thousands of Curse Swords emerged and pierced through the figure.

The figure instantly disintegrated and disappeared.

The next moment, it had already returned to the formation.

Immediately afterward, the figure below the formation charged toward Taran.

The figure above the formation also sprung into action again.

At that same time, James also took action.

Taran was being attacked from three directions.

However, he was terrifyingly strong.

He faced the three opponents very calmly.

Curse Power flowed through his body.

No matter how magical James' formation was, it could not cause him instant injuries.

Boom!!! The surrounding area kept falling apart.

Everyone watching from the city wall was aghast by the sight.

Nobody expected James to be able to resist Taran's terrifying strength and Supernatural Power.

James' figures kept flickering through the air, attacking Taran.

Taran summoned all his strength to parry the attacks.

However, the formation had silently closed in on him.

Taran was careless and got trapped within the formation.

James knew it was his best chance to defeat Taran.

With Taran's strength, the formation would not hold him back for long.

Now was the time to defeat Taran.

James immediately urged all his strength.

The formation immediately unleashed the Supernatural Powers that James had cultivated, including the Ten Path Techniques, Thunderous Tribulations, Dobro Eyes, Sword World, Blossoming, and Universal Sword Art.

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 5090-James' Supernatural Powers integrated into the powerful and unpredictable formation.

Taran immediately realized he was in danger after being enveloped by the formation.

If he could not stop the formation, he would lose his life within it.

An immense pressure crushed down on him, causing injuries all over his body.

Even his soul showed signs of being obliterated.

Taran did not dare to waste any time.

He quickly urged all his strength to stop the formation's operation and break free.

However, James had integrated all of his Supernatural Powers into the formation.

It was currently in full force.

In addition, the two figures within the formation were also hindering him.

Despite being at the Consummation Chaos Compleat Rank, Taran could not escape the formation's constraints.

Taran used his powerful Curse Magic to protect himself, but his body was constantly injured.

The living beings watched from the city wall in awe of James' formation.

They were surprised that even a powerhouse like Taran could not resist.

Taran struggled under the powerful pressure of the formation.

Suddenly, he burned his own Blood Essence and soul to gain power transcending his cultivation rank.

His aura instantly skyrocketed and reached the Sovereign Rank.

After gaining the power of the Sovereign Rank, he shattered the formation into pieces, and the two figures also disintegrated into inscriptions.

Taran promptly stopped burning his Blood Essence and soul after escaping the formation.

He was disheveled and covered in blood.

His face had aged significantly and was covered with wrinkles.

His long black hair had also turned white.

It was evident he had paid an enormous price in the battle.

“You win, James.” Taran’s wrinkled face filled with helplessness and sorrow.

He had thought himself to be the best of the current era.

Even if Emperor Raiah was still alive, he was sure he was stronger.

His confidence came from the fact that Emperor Raiah defeated him before he had mastered Curse Magic and acquired Corrupted Power.

He never expected to be defeated by a junior countless years after Emperor Raiah had left the Endlos.

He might have been wiped out if he had not burned his Blood Essence and soul to break the formation.

Although reluctant, Taran surrendered.

He admitted that James was indeed an exceptional cultivator.

Despite being at a lower cultivation rank, James managed to defeat him.

Taran had no choice but to concede his defeat.

James smiled at his words.

His shattered formation quickly reformed, and the two figures also regenerated.

Then, they disappeared into thin air.

James retracted his aura, clasped his fists, and said, "You went easy on me.

If you continued to attack, I would not have won." Taran replied helplessly, "It was just a battle of skills, not a life-or-death battle.

I might have won if we continued to fight.

However, I would have to pay an even higher price, or even my life, to win.

Regardless, you would still be the last one standing if you were to burn your Blood Essence and soul." Taran was a practical person.

He would have never burned his Blood Essence and soul if it were not to survive.

The spectators watching were surprised by the battle's outcome.

"I'm a man of my word.

From now onward, I will obey your orders.

But I'm injured from the battle, so I must recuperate."
