The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 5091-After leaving a few words, Taran's spiritual body disappeared from the area.

Taran's body, which was sitting in a lotus position outside of the Orstellen Realm, had suffered injuries after his spiritual body was hurt.

His appearance had changed from a middle-aged man to a wrinkled old man.

King Marciais stood at the hall's entrance.

He gasped and said, " James is incredible.

If I were to fight with everything I have, I wouldn't be able to defeat him.

His cultivation base isn't even at its peak yet.

Once he improves, he'll be untouchable." Cray gently stroked his white beard and said while smiling, "He's really amazing.

Emperor Raiah resolved the Endlos' internal and external conflicts.

He conquered many restricted areas, repelled the Extraterrestrial Demons, and created a prosperous age.

However, his era has passed.

Right now, it's James' era.

He will open an unprecedented era of his own." In the Orstellen Realm, James appeared on the tall and wide city wall in a flash.

Countless living beings had gathered on the city wall to watch the fight.

As soon as James appeared, they quickly backed away.

James walked toward the group of humans that were looking at him excitedly.

"It's really you, James!" Thea stood amongst the group, wearing a black dress.

Her pretty face was overwhelmed with joy.

She was certain the Grand Priest was James.

The other powerful humans were also sure of his identity.

The mysterious formation was James' creation.

Nobody else was capable of comprehending and cultivating it.

Henrik approached and shouted excitedly, "James! It's good to see you again!" "Dad!!!" Jacopo and his siblings rushed over.

James said troubledly, "I already told you it's me, but none of you believed me.

It's King Marciais' fault.

He insisted I hide my identity while traveling with him around the Endlos." He blamed King Marciais for the series of events.

Not far away, a man with a few strands of gray hair mixed with his black hair quietly observed them.

It was none other than Wyot.

Wyot was shocked to find out the Orstellen Sect's Grand Priest was James.

He was under the impression that James was deceased.

He never expected James to be alive and to have become so strong at that.

He had been hoping James to be alive so that he could fight him again.

After comprehending the Endlos Light and entering the Chaos Completare Rank, he was confident of beating James.

All this time, he felt regretful of losing a worthy opponent.

To his surprise, James was still alive.

However, he realized his current strength was still no match against James.

"Dad," Hetsema rushed over to James with a bright smile and said, "You're incredible! I didn't know you were so powerful.

Even Taran was not your opponent.

From today onward, you're the strongest in the Endlos!" Hetsema was ecstatic.

Nobody would dare to stand in his way or offend him with James as his father.

"You..." James looked at Hetsema and smiled helplessly, unsure what to say.

Hetsema was a complete accident.

He never expected to have impregnated Yemima and for her to decide to keep him.

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 5092-James emerged as the battle's winner after using his mysterious formation against Taran.

Although Taran could badly injure James if they were in a life-and-death battle, he would have to pay a hefty price, possibly his life.

The group of humans surrounded James.

Hetsema showered James with endless flattery.

Thea interjected, asking, "What's next?" James replied, "We must unite the living beings of the Orstellen Realm and the powerhouses from the outside world that are here with spiritual bodies to fight against the Extraterrestrial Demons outside the city.

The Orstellen Realm's trial should be over after the Extraterrestrial Demons are eliminated." Henry said smilingly, "You've defeated Taran and have become the strongest person in the Endlos.

With a word from you, countless living beings will definitely come together.

James looked at the surrounding living beings.

He stepped forward and said, "I need everyone's attention.

To complete the Orstellen Realm's trial, we must unite to deal with the Extraterrestrial Demons together." "Haha!" A powerhouse stepped out of the crowd and laughed contemptuously.

Then, he said, "You're a real schemer, James."

You want us to help you fight off the Extraterrestrial Demons so that you can easily become the Orstellen Sect's leader and obtain the Orstellen Art, right?"
"He's right."

"There's no way we'll help you." "Don't even think about it, James." "T would rather help someone else, but not you." Many living beings expressed their disapproval.

"Since you're useless to me, then be gone," James said calmly.

He did not want to keep troublemakers around.

His body mysteriously disappeared in a flash.

In just a few seconds, he returned to his original position.

The spiritual bodies of those who had opposed his suggestion were obliterated.

Even though they were at the Chaos Rank, they were like ants to James.

It was too easy for James to destroy their spiritual bodies.

Many living beings were gathered around the area.

After seeing James' ruthless ways, they held their tongues.

"I'll help you, James." Wyot approached and stopped in front of James.

Zaden cursed out after seeing Wyot's actions, "That brat!" Xezal walked over, stared at Wyot, and said coldly, "What are you doing, Wyot? You're siding with the wrong people! How can you help the humans? You're from the Doom Race and should be on our side." Wyot cast a cold glance at Xezal.

It was true he was from the Dooms.

However, he was disappointed with them after Xezal tried to sacrifice him.

He replied calmly, "Remember you tried to offer me to Mekaisto to earn his favor? I would've died long ago if James had not interfered with your plan when he impersonated me to infiltrate the Dooms."

“You...” Xezal wanted to refute him, but she was at a loss for words.

She took a deep breath and fell into thought.

After a while, she said, “In exchange for the Dooms’ prosperity, your sacrifice would’ve been worth it.

Since you survived, you should be standing with us.

With your, my father’s, and the Dooms’ strength, we won’t necessarily lose to the humans.

We could complete the Orstellen Realm’s trial together.” Even with their strained relationship with Wyot, Xezal refused to give up.

Youri stepped forward and said, “Don’t be stubborn, Wyot.

The Dooms spent a lot of effort to raise you.

Moreover, James impersonated you and slept with Yemima.

They even have a bastard child.

He has shamed you, so how can you side with the humans?” “What did you say, you old man?” Hetsema’s face darkened, and a murderous aura emerged from his body.

He roared, “Who are you calling a bastard child? Do you have a death wish?” Hetsema flashed in front of Youri and launched an attack.

He had already entered the Chaos Illimita Rank.

On the other hand, Youri was once one of the strongest in the Dooms.

However, his cultivation rank had not improved yet and was still at the Caelum Boundless Rank.

Despite that, his physical strength was exceptional.

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 5093-Hetsema’s attack contained all his strength.

However, he could not destroy Youri's spiritual body and only caused minor injuries.

Swoosh! Zaden instantly flashed in front of Hetsema.

Hetsema quickly backed away in fear.

He stood beside James and Thea with a smug expression.

Zaden looked at Wyot and asked, "Do you insist on helping him, wyot?" Wyot nodded lightly.

Zaden said coldly, "Alright, I see how it is.

As the Lord of the Doom Race, I declare that Wyot has been banished from the Dooms." Wyot smiled lightly at his words.

He had no intention to return to the Dooms.

Xezal could only go along with her father's decision since she could not convince Wyot to return to them.

Zaden turned to the crowd and asked, "Who is willing to follow me?" The majority of the crowd wanted to join Zaden because the Human Race was already too powerful.

They did not want the humans to continue growing stronger.

If James were to become the Orstellen Sect's Leader, they would become untouchable.

However, they refrained from expressing their stance out of fear toward James.

A massive crowd was gathered, but nobody dared to speak.

"Pll join James." After a brief moment, someone finally broke the silence.

Byron from the Saber Sect was the first to speak up, expressing his willingness to side with the humans.

Shortly after, a few more followed suit.

Unfortunately, there were not many who chose to stand with the humans.

Most of the powerhouses who came to the Orstellen Realm were from hidden sects.

Being scheming was second nature to them.

They did not want the Human Race to continue growing stronger and rule the Endlos.

After several powerhouses expressed their stance to side with the humans, a few hidden sects chose the Dooms in hopes of uniting against the Human Race.

Even if they could not suppress the Human Race, they wanted to at least prevent James from successfully becoming the Orstellen Sect's Leader.

Soon, the hidden sect's powerhouses had also picked a side, with most of them joining the Dooms.

James frowned at the results.

He expected most living beings to side with him after defeating Taran.

However, he had underestimated their greed.

"Let's go." James did not make any further statements and left with the group of humans.

The Human Race had set up a temporary residence on a spiritual mountain within a bordering universe of the Orstellen Realm.

James sat down in the spiritual mountain's main hall, whereas the Human Race's powerhouses and those who had sided with them gathered below him.

Henrik stepped forward and asked, "What should we do now, James?" James replied, "Assemble our manpower to attack the primitive living beings of the Orstellen Realm's various universes and conquer them.

If they refuse to ally with us, then kill them." The Orstellen Realm was merely an illusion.

The living beings within the realm were projected from history.

They had already died a long time ago.

Even if they were to die in the Orstellen Realm, it would not change their actual fate.

“Wyot, you lead an army toward the east.

“Henrik, you lead an army toward the west.

“Yardos, you lead an army toward the south.” James gave a series of orders, distributing his troops.

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 5094-On the other side of the city, Zaden had also occupied a spiritual mountain as his temporary base.

“What should we do now?” Zaden behaved humbly in front of the various powerhouses.

“James’ side is too powerful right now.

He and his wife are peerless powerhouses.

Now, they even have Wyot and Taran helping them.” Zaden said worriedly, “It’s going to be a difficult battle against the Human Race.” Countless powerhouses were gathered within the hall, including many well-known figures during Emperor Raiah’s era.

At that moment, Mount Genesis’ Grand Patriarch stepped forward.

He stroked his white beard and said, “It’s impossible for us to fight against the Human Race right now.

We can only prevent James from completing the Orstellen Realm’s trial and becoming the Orstellen Sect’s Leader.” Zaden asked, “How do we stop him?” Xezal suddenly came up with an idea and said, “According to speculation, we must defeat the Extraterrestrial Demons to complete the trial.

We can join forces with the Extraterrestrial Demons.” Many of the powerhouses were convinced by her suggestion.

Zaden looked at her and said, “What’s your plan?” Xezal thought awhile and said, “Lady Tehila created the Orstellen Realm.

The living beings here are all projections, including the Extraterrestrial Demons.

However, they aren't aware of it.

There must be powerhouses amongst the Extraterrestrial Demons stronger than James." After a brief pause, Xezal elaborated, "As long as we can find the Extraterrestrial Demon's Great Commander and unite with them to eliminate James and the other human's spiritual bodies, then we can prevent James from becoming the Orstellen Sect's Leader.

"While working with the Extraterrestrial Demons, we must also keep an eye out for their weaknesses.

After destroying the humans, then we can eliminate the Extraterrestrial Demons." Xezal explained her plan and gained everyone's approval.

It was their only opportunity to win the humans.

"Report." At that moment, a spy rushed into the hall and knelt on one knee.

Zaden said, "Go on." "The humans have launched attacks against major universes and conquered a few.

One of the universes refused to submit to them and was annihilated." The spy reported about the humans' activities.

Xezal frowned and said, "We can't let them get ahead of us.

Amongst the Human Race, only James, Thea, and Wyot are on the stronger side.

Their overall strength isn't comparable to ours.

We must take action before they conquer more universes and unite with the primitive living beings of the Orstellen Realm." "Alright." Zaden nodded.

He looked at the powerhouses gathered and said, "I'm counting on everyone." The Doods quickly started after learning that the humans began taking action.

James sat near the borders and observed the situation.

The Extraterrestrial Demons were constantly attacking the formation.

Fortunately, the formation was potent and would not break anytime soon.

Thus, he was confident in stabilizing the situation with the district before the Extraterrestrial Demons broke through the formation.

At the spiritual mountain's backside, James sat on a boulder and looked into the distance.

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 5095-A woman in a black dress approached.

"Thea." James quickly stood up, walked over, and took her hand.

"Mhm," Thea responded tenderly.

She looked at James and asked, "What do you plan to do after completing the Orstellen Realm's trial and becoming the Orstellen Sect Leader? James' demeanor immediately shifted.

He replied seriously, "Although Emperor Raiah had repelled the Extraterrestrial Demons, they are still a threat to the Endlos.

Countless Extraterrestrial Demons are trying to infiltrate through the Boundless Road and the Tribulation World borders.

They are attacking from various areas simultaneously.

"There are powerhouses guarding the Boundless Road and the Tribulation World.

We owe the Endlos' current peace to them.

"After I become the Orstellen Sect's leader, I'll be able to cultivate the Orstellen Art and remove the villagers' seals.

Then, we'll need to work with Wyot to unite the Endlos Lights and obtain the complete Herstellen Art.

"By then, my strength should have already reached its peak, and I'll be able to solve the Endlos' impending catastrophe." "I don't want you to shoulder such a huge responsibility." Thea gently stroked her hair, looked toward the Extraterrestrial Army in the distance, and said, "Throughout these years, you've contributed significantly to the Human Race and the Endlos' Ten Districts.

It's more than enough." James replied smilingly, "But if I don't stand up, who will? With great strength comes great responsibility.

My greatest wish is for you, our children, and the Human Race to be safe and to have a safe home.

There will be no peace in the Endlos if the Extraterrestrial Demons aren't eliminated." James tenderly caressed Thea's face and said earnestly, "I promise you, after the Extraterrestrial Demons are wiped out, we'll live in seclusion and never interfere with outside affairs." "Huff," Thea sighed.

She had been looking forward to living with James in peace.

Unfortunately, that day was still far.

In fact, she felt it might never come.

The couple stood at the cliff holding hands as they looked at the Extraterrestrial Demons within the dark mist.

Suddenly, a guard approached and knelt on the ground.

"Report!" James turned around and ordered, "Go on." "Zaden from the Doods and the powerhouses that have allied with them have started to compete with us for territory.

Their troops are much more significant in numbers compared to ours.

Moreover, their overall strength is also stronger.

They've occupied almost half of the district, whereas we've only conquered about a quarter." James frowned after hearing the report.

"Zaden is such a headache." Thea asked, "What do you plan to do?" James replied, "Send word for Henrik, Yardos, and the others to return to the base.

We need to discuss countermeasures." The Human Race was at a disadvantage against the Doods and their allies.

The human powerhouses sent out to conquer the other universes returned to their base.

Henrik growled, "I think we should just wipe them out.

Zaden is causing too much trouble.

Keeping him and the other powerhouses siding with him alive is only going to make matters more complicated for us." James turned to Yardos and asked, "What do you think?" Yardos thought for a while and replied, "I agree with Henrik.

If we want to eliminate the Extraterrestrial Demons, we must resolve our internal conflict first.

If Zaden keeps interfering, getting rid of them will be difficult."
