The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 5146-James had punished almost all of those who deserved it. Xezal was the last one.

James looked at Xezal teasingly. He knew Xezal was the Lady Wikolia in her past life.

She practiced an extraordinary cultivation method, which required her to reincarnate several times before reaching perfection.

James knew he could not kill Xezal yet.

In their past lives, Xezal admired him. Thus, he also had some understanding of the Infinite Reincarnation. Her previous life's memories would be awakened whenever her reincarnated self encountered dangerous situations. In addition, her cultivation base would recover, and she could reincarnate again. The other way for her to regain her memories was to reach the Celestial Rank.

Xezal would immediately recover her memories and strength if he tried to kill her. James wanted to avoid that from happening.

He stared at Xezal with a playful smile, giving Xezal the shivers. Her legs were like rubber, and she found it hard to stand.

"H-how do you plan to punish me, James? Are you going to kill me?" Xezal's voice was a little shaky. "Could you not spare me for saving you in the past?"

James said smilingly, "You want me to spare you? How could I do that? You've committed countless crimes in the past. You've colluded with the Extraterrestrial Demons and even attempted to sacrifice the Chaos District. You'll become a scourge in the future. I should get rid of you as soon as possible."

"No..." Xezal was frightened.

She knelt on the ground and crawled to James. She held onto one of his legs and said, "Please spare me, James.

From today on, I'll be your slave. I'll obey your every word. I'll warm your bed, and..."

Xezal was scared for her life and blurted out anything that could possibly save her life.

However, James had no intention of killing Xezal as he would only be helping her recover her memories and strength.

James would have to kill her main body to get rid of her. It would be useless to kill her clone or spiritual body as it would not trigger her Infinite Reincarnation.

He took a deep breath and said, "Go back to the Doom Universe."

"Huh?" Xezal was startled.

"What's wrong? You don't want to? Should I kill you now?"

"No, I'll go back." Xezal stood up, tidied her messed-up clothes, and said, 'Til never step out of the Doom Universe."

Xezal immediately began to walk away. However, she halted in her tracks and turned to look at James.

“What else do you want?”

Xezal approached and said, smiling, “I don’t want to go back. Can I follow you?”

“No.” James refused firmly. Then, he disappeared from the hall.

Xezal was left flustered in the area. “Am I not pretty enough? Or is my figure not good enough? Perhaps he doesn’t find me attractive?” She scanned her body.

James left the land and hovered outside.

Meanwhile, many powerhouses were gathered in the Dark World. Thea stood at the forefront of the group. Behind her were Winnie, Xainte, Jacopo, Noel, Henry, Henrik, Yardos, and the others.

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 5147-Thea immediately approached James and asked concernedly, “Are you alright, Honey?”

James cupped her face and replied smilingly, “What could’ve happened? I’ve already resolved everything. The Endlos is freed from any dangers from now onward.”

‘You’ve resolved everything?’ Thea looked at James in shock.

‘Yup.’

After briefly exchanging words, James looked at the floating land in the distance.

Wynton had already arranged for a subordinate to return to Emyr Island with the inscriptions James had handed him.

Xezal, on the other hand, wanted to follow James. However, she left in despair after sensing the human's hostile gazes.

Soon, Wynton also left the floating island. He bore the karma brought on by Emyr Island's actions. Therefore, he had to do good in the Endlos to neutralize the karma.

"Be gone." James raised his hand, and a powerful force surrounded the land.

The land collapsed, and the rest of the Emyr Army perished along with it.

"It's finally over." James took a deep breath.

The Endlos Plane suffered from an external crisis ever since it was born. Today, it was finally resolved.

James said, "Let's go."

He led the group out of the Dark World.

"Thea, you lead them back to the Human Universe first. I need to handle some stuff in the Orstellen Sect."

"Alright." Thea nodded and left with the group of humans.

James headed to the Orstellen Sect.

Inside the Orstellen Sect's main hall, King Marciais exclaimed, "What? You want to forfeit your position as the Orstellen Sect's Leader?"

James replied, 'Yeah. I've already resolved the Endlos' crisis, and the Extraterrestrial Demons won't invade anymore. Thus, I do not need to hold onto the position."

Hetsema stepped forward and said righteously, "Pass on the title to me, Dad. I'll take over the Orstellen Sect. I promise to manage it well. Under my leadership, the Orstellen Sect will maintain the Endlos' peace."

'You?' James cast a glance at Hetsema.

Although James wanted to give up his position, he never considered handing it over to Hetsema. He did not respond to him but turned to Gaius.

Gaius immediately refused, saying, "I don't want to be the Orstellen Sect's Leader again. Now that the Endlos is peaceful, I'd like to have some time to myself. Then, I'll go check out the other planes."

After hearing Gaius' rejection, James looked at Gurgun.

Gurgun promptly responded to his gaze, "I'm also tired of responsibilities and don't want to be bothered with these trivial matters."

"King Marciais?" James fixed his eyes on his final candidate.

"Don't look at me. I'm too lazy to take care of these things. Moreover, we've already agreed to leave the Endlos together after dealing with the Extraterrestrial Demons. I think Hetsema is a decent guy with great potential. You should leave him in charge.”

After giving it a thought, James nodded. “Alright.”

James planned to stay in the Endlos for some time before departing to the other planes. Therefore, he decided it would be okay to let Hetsema take over for now. If it did not work out, he could replace him again. After all, many talented powerhouses in the Endlos were capable of shouldering the responsibility.

‘Thanks, Dad.’ Hetsema was ecstatic.

James stood in the front of the hall. The Ten Districts and the Human Universe appeared before him. He murmured, ” It’s about time to repair the Endlos Heavenly Path destroyed by the Extraterrestrial Demons.”

Immediately afterward, he began restoring the Endlos

Heavenly Path. The District Heavenly Paths disappeared, and the Endlos

Heavenly Path immediately took over maintaining order throughout the Endlos.

No data found.

After hearing Gaius’ rejection, James looked at Gurgan.

Gurgen promptly responded to his gaze, "I'm also tired of responsibilities and don't want to be bothered with these trivial matters."

"King Marciais?" James fixed his eyes on his final candidate.

"Don't look at me. I'm too lazy to take care of these things. Moreover, we've already agreed to leave the Endlos together after dealing with the Extraterrestrial Demons. I think Hetsema is a decent guy with great potential. You should leave him in charge."

Immediately afterward, he began restoring the Endlos

Heavenly Path. The District Heavenly Paths disappeared, and the Endlos

Heavenly Path immediately took over maintaining order throughout the Endlos.

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 5148-After the Endlos was relieved of its crisis, James gave up his position as the Orstellen Sect's Leader and restored the Endlos Heavenly Path. Then, he returned to the Human Universe.

James and Thea settled down in Mount Bane and lived in seclusion for some time.

In the back of a spiritual mountain, James sat at the cliff and looked into the distance pensively.

A beautiful woman with long black hair and an outstanding figure walked over. Her black dress fluttered with the breeze as she approached him.

Thea sat beside James and asked, "What's on your mind?"

"Nothing much." James snapped out of his thoughts.

A few moments ago, James remembered some events from his past life. If given a choice, he would rather not regain his memories. Then, he could live a carefree life in the Endlos. However, it was not up to him to decide. Even if he refused to return to the Central Plane, his enemies would come looking for him sooner or later. They would be desperate to get rid of him after their failed attempt.

As James' wife, Thea could easily tell what was on James' mind. She sighed helplessly and said, "I know you want to leave. You just can't be idle for once. The Endlos is already peaceful, and you've only been free for some time. Yet, you're already eager to leave. Go ahead. The vast outside world is where you belong."

James said smilingly, "There's no need to rush. I'll have to leave anyway, so it doesn't matter when. I'll stay here longer and use this time to spread the Supernatural Powers I've cultivated."

The Central Plane was the core region of many planes. Countless formidable powerhouses resided within the Central Plane. To expand their territory, these powerhouses invaded smaller planes and conquered them for resources.

The Endlos Plane had been under attack by Emyr Island ever since its existence. Now that James had taken care of the Emyr Island, the Endlos was safe for the time being.

However, there was no stopping other planes from attacking after they discovered the Endlos.

The Endlos Plane's inhabitants would have to become stronger to protect their homes. One or two powerhouses at the Sovereign Rank were insufficient to protect the Endlos Plane. To ensure the safety of the Endlos Plane, they would have to grow stronger.

Among the countless planes, there were a few ruled by powerhouses at the Celestial Rank.

The Central Plane's forces would not easily launch attacks against planes ruled by powerhouses at the Celestial Rank.

Although James' cultivation base was only at the Consummation Chaos

Compleatere Rank, he had outstanding achievements in the Martial Path and was profound in inscriptions. Moreover, James had also refined the three Endlos Lights.

He already comprehended all the Paths and Inscriptions that existed within the Endlos. Therefore, he could guide others to help them improve.

“Alright.” Thea nodded.

James said, “I plan to hold a conference.”

Thea replied, smiling, “Okay, I’ll make arrangements.”

Then, she stood up and left to prepare for James’ conference.

While Thea was walking away, James activated his Dobro Eyes, and a few magical inscriptions appeared in his pupils and transformed rapidly,

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 5149-James saw Thea’s body engulfed by black mists.

He could sense Thea’s human soul. However, another soul was hidden deep within her and had yet to awaken.

Unfortunately, his Dobro Eyes could not unravel the origin of her soul.

James was a very powerful cultivator in his previous life and was well-informed about different things. Despite that, he was unable to see through Thea. He murmured, “What’s Thea’s origin?”

He had eavesdropped on the Ancestral Blood Master’s conversation with Thea and learned that Thea came from the deepest part of the Dark World. She was escorted to the Endlos' Chaos District by a group of demons and was found by the Ancestral Blood Master.

"She's from the depths of the Dark World, huh?" James' brows furrowed.

Thea, on the other hand, did not think much about her origin. Even though she learned about being found in the Dark World, she never dug deeper into it.

Instead, she focused on spreading the news of James' conference throughout the different districts.

Powerhouses from all over the Endlos rushed to the Human Universe's Heavenly Court and ascended to the Thirty-Third Heaven. Even though the conference had not begun, a few powerhouses had already arrived at the venue.

Even powerhouses like Taran Zach, Wyot, Gaius, and Gurgun had showed up to attend James' conference.

It had been some time since Hetsema became the Orstellen Sect's Leader. At first, he was cautious and would humbly ask powerhouses like Gaius, Gurgun, and King Marciais for advice.

However, he was finally free from their supervision after they had left for the Human Universe to attend James' conference. He left the Orstellen Sect and departed to the Chaos District's Doom Universe.

Hetsema was very flamboyant. He arrived riding in an extravagant carriage pulled by nine golden dragons and was followed by powerful guards.

His grand convoy immediately caught a lot of attention as he traveled in the Chaos District.

‘The Orstellen Sect’s Leader has arrived in the Chaos District!’

Many powerhouses were watching his every move.

His convoy gradually traveled through the Chaos District. He ultimately arrived at Mount Chaos, where the Dooms resided.

The Dooms’ powerhouses immediately noticed Hetsema’s arrival. Zaden, Xezal, and the other powerhouses deactivated the formation and personally came out to greet him.

Zaden said smilingly, “It’s a pleasure to have the Orstellen Sect’s Leader visit us.”

Hetsema remained seated in the carriage. He replied proudly, “Is that how you greet the Orstellen Sect’s Leader? You should kneel in my presence.”

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 5150-Yemima stood before the simple manor and watched Hetsema walk toward her.

Although she had always stayed on Mount Doom, she was aware of the things happening outside. She knew her son had returned to the Human Race and went by a new name given by Thea, Hetsema Caden.

Hetsema stopped before Yemima. He looked at the beautiful but haggard looking woman and knelt to the ground. Then, he greeted her respectfully,

“Mother.”

Yemima quickly helped him up and said, "What are you doing? You're the Orstellen Sect's Leader and have a high status in the Endlos. Hurry, get up."

"Mother, come with me to the Orstellen Sect," said Hetsema.

Hetsema's purpose for visiting the Dooms was to pick up Yemima and bring her to the Orstellen Sect.

Yemima replied, "Why would I go there? I don't want to. I'm fine staying here. It would be uncomfortable living in an unfamiliar place."

Hetsema looked at her and said, "Between Wyot and James, who do you love?"

"W-Why are you asking that?" Yemima averted her eyes, afraid to meet Hetsema's gaze.

"I can't bear seeing you stay alone on Mount Doom. Give me an answer, and I'll talk with them about it," Hetsema said straightforwardly.

Yemima noticed the persistence on Hetsema's face. She reached out and caressed his face, saying, "I've never seen your face so close up before. You're all grown up now. You shouldn't cause trouble for others."

Hetsema said, "Wyot is a coward not worthy of love. Since you're already entangled with James and gave birth to me, you should go to him. He is about to have a conference in the Human Universe. I'll bring you to him and ask him to give you a title in front of everyone."

“No...” Yemima quickly tried to stop him.

However, Hetsema ignored her and took her with him. His current cultivation was way higher than Yemima’s. Although Yemima was a talented cultivator, she had neglected her cultivation after the incident with James. At that moment, her cultivation rank had not even entered the Caelum Acme Rank.

Yemima struggled to break free but was to no avail.

Hetsema dragged her into the carriage. Then, the nine dragons began to pull the carriage toward the Human Universe.

James’ conference had already begun. A dojo was set up at the Human Universe’s Thirty-Third Heaven to accommodate attendants. Many cultivators were listening attentively to James’ speech.

Thea, Wyot, Taran, and some other powerhouses sat at the front, closest to James. Powerful auras rose from their bodies, and it was evident they had benefited a lot from James’ speech. They had gained insight and were about to make breakthroughs in their cultivation ranks.

Boom!

Suddenly, a powerful aura soared from the area closest to James. Immediately afterward, magical multicolored light rays fell from the sky and engulfed a man.

“He made a breakthrough!”

‘That’s Wyot!’

‘Wyt has broken into the Sovereign Rank!’

The other powerhouses in the dojo noticed the aura emanating from Wyt and were envious when they saw the colorful light rays falling from the sky onto him.
