The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 5186-The appearance of the founder of the Supremuseum caused a stir. Of course, ordinary living beings remained unaware of this. Only the top-tier powerhouses who had once killed James knew. They were filled with unease because James was lurking in the shadows.

In one-on-one combat, no one could match him. Concealed in the darkness,

James had the power to eliminate them one by one.

A group of top-tier powerhouses stood at the pinnacle of the planes, gathered to discuss their strategy. After a thorough deliberation, they decided to stay in contact and join forces if James dared to reveal himself, once again attempting to vanquish him.

At this moment, James had already reached a spiritual mountain not far from the Dieux Academy. He had rented this spiritual mountain at a certain cost, using it as a temporary base.

Upon arriving in the Central Plane, James did not use his own name and altered his appearance slightly, adopting the alias "Forty-nine." As for the reason, Gaius and the others did not ask.

James sat in a lotus position behind the main peak of the spiritual mountain. He had spent countless epochs cultivating here, absorbing the Empyrean herbs to refine his strength and simultaneously cultivating his future form.

His future form once again ventured into the future. The concept of the future was merely a creation of James using certain rules he had grasped. There was no true future, or one could say there were countless potential futures.

His future form had gone to a particular future or had been continuously cultivating there, summoned back only when needed.

At this moment, his aura surged.

Boom!

His internal aura erupted, soaring into the sky.

“Congratulations on your breakthrough, James,” proclaimed King Marciais.

quite stable. We’ve been in the third rank for a while, and you’ve just broken through now.”

James dissipated his aura, stood up, and walked toward the few people not far away. He casually summoned some tables and chairs, then took out Tribulation Liquid to drink.

“We’ve nearly depleted all the Empyrean herbs from the Ancient Clan’s army in our recent raids. Without the assistance of these herbs, it’s hard for us to advance our realm. We’ll have to figure out ways to acquire more Empyrean herbs,” James said as he sipped the liquid.

He swirled his eyes as he thought where to obtain Empyrean herbs.

“Let’s not rush,” Taran said. “Now that we’re in the Central Plane, and this is a high-class place. There are likely plenty of rare Empyrean herbs. Besides, there are countless planes to explore. Let’s take our time. We can plan further after becoming disciples of the Dieux Academy.”

“Good point,” James nodded.

King Marciais said, “James, why do we have to join the Dieux Academy when there are so many other forces in the Central Plane? Moreover, with our strength, we don’t necessarily have to join any forces. We can venture on our own or even establish our own force.”

James smiled and explained, “While Dieux Academy may not be the most powerful, its network of connections is strong. Joining the academy is just the first step. My goal is to take control of the academy and become its leader.”

While it might be challenging, controlling Dieux Academy would provide access to abundant resources, making it easier to regain his peak. Additionally, once he controlled the academy, he could leverage its vast network of connections.

Upon hearing James’ ambitious plan, the others were momentarily stunned but did not speak further.

James stood up and said, "Considering the timing, the Dieux Academy's recruitment of new disciples is about to begin. Let's leave here for now."

After standing up, James withdrew his future form, and the group left the spiritual mountain to head towards the universe where the Dieux Academy was located.

Soon, they arrived at their destination. However, the void outside the universe was crowded with many living beings who were being prevented from entering the Dieux Universe where the academy was located.

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 5187-A formation had been established in this universe. No living beings could enter without authorization. Numerous passages had been opened within this formation, each guarded by Dieux Academy disciples. Only those who presented an invitation card and passed the inspection were allowed to enter.

"Goodness, there are so many living beings out there," King Marciais said as he gazed at the multitude of powerhouses in the surrounding area. These were just a portion of the living beings participating in the assessment.

James smiled and explained, 'The Dieux Academy is one of the ten major forces in the Central Plane, and even the current Master of the Elysium Hall once cultivated here. The academy recruits disciples publicly at the conference of countless planes. This attracts countless living beings from all over to participate. Even powerhouses from some great families, sects, and forces in the Central Plane send their disciples here to cultivate.”

Gaius glanced around, observing the vast number of living beings. While most were not exceptionally powerful, the majority were at the Chaos Rank, with only a few having reached the Sovereign Rank.

Sensing the situation, he said, “I wonder if the five of us can secure a good position since we are at the early stage of the Sovereign Third Rank.”

While the Dieux Academy was offering substantial rewards, these meant less to top-tier forces. However, claiming the top position in the assessment was more appealing.

Achieving the top position would bring fame and the privilege of freely accessing the academy’s library chamber for cultivation.

The Dieux Academy nurtured numerous powerhouses, all of whom had created signature martial art skills stored in the academy. Accessing the academy’s library chamber was the aspiration of countless powerhouses.

James and the others queued up, chatting among themselves. When James mentioned the academy’s library chamber, King Marciais asked, “Forty-nine, what is the most incredible signature martial art skill in the Dieux Academy?”

James pondered for a moment and replied, ‘There isn’t a single most incredible, but as far as I know, the top level of the academy’s library chamber houses numerous remarkable secret arts. These secret arts are the top-tier ones that can help us to the late stage of the Great Celestial Rank, and some can even lead us to the Martial Celestial Rank.”

“You seem to know a lot,” a voice sounded from behind at that moment.

James and the others turned to see a handsome man who had approached them in an instant.

The man clasped his hands and introduced himself, “I come from a ninth-level plane, and my name is Aurelius Hollis. May I know your name, sir? It seems you have a good understanding of Dieux Academy.”

James cast a quick glance and easily discerned Aurelius’ cultivation realm. He was at the late stage of the Sovereign Sixth Rank, just one step away from the Petit Celestial Rank.

James calmly responded, “I am Forty-nine, from a relatively obscure small plane. I gained some knowledge about Dieux Academy by reading a few books before coming.”

A harsh voice echoed at that moment, “Aurelius Hollis, you bastard!”

As the voice approached, a woman in a red dress appeared, and her red whip descended the moment she arrived.

James and the others dodged quickly.

Boom!

The space instantly ruptured as the whip struck, leaving King Marciais and the others in awe.

This was the core area of the Central Plane, and the spatial stability was exceptionally high. Even a Petit Celestial Rank would not be able to cause such a formidable crack in the void with a single strike.

Who was this woman?

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 5188-As the woman in the red dress appeared, her red whip came down without any concern for the lives of the living beings in the vicinity.

Fortunately, the living beings in the queue dodged promptly, so no one was harmed.

“Aurelius Hollis!” The woman gritted her teeth.

On the other hand, Aurelius had already moved some distance away. He casually fanned himself and said, “Grand Priestess Xamira, you’re still so impulsive. I just stole an herb. What’s the big deal?”

“Give it back to me.” Xamira extended her fair, jade-like hand.

At that moment, a disciple of Dieux Academy appeared.” Fighting is prohibited in this area. No matter where you’re from, once you enter the territory of the Dieux Academy, you must follow our rules. I'm warning you, if there's a next time, you'll be expelled from the academy's influence." The disciple gazed at Aurelius and Xamira. With a cold snort, he turned and left.

Aurelius sneered, "I won't give it back. What can you do about it?"

"You?" Xamira fumed, raising her red whip.

Aurelius quickly pointed at the Dieux Academy's disciple and said, "He hasn't gone far yet. What do you want to do? Do you want to be expelled from Dieux Academy's influence?"

"Damn!" Xamira stamped her foot in frustration.

James and the others watched the scene calmly.

Taran whispered, "Where are they from? Why are they so arrogant, daring to fight outside the Dieux Academy?"

James replied in a calm tone, "I don't know their origins, but Aurelius claims to come from a ninth-level plane, possibly the offspring of some big shot from that plane. As for Xamira, her background is likely substantial. Her whip is an invaluable treasure, even classified as a Great Celestial Rank weapon."

Upon hearing that it was a Great Celestial Rank weapon, Taran's eyes gleamed with greed.

"Be cautious. Don't provoke trouble," James warned in a low voice. "Anyone who can come here and dare to act is definitely not simple. The Dieux Academy disciple who appeared earlier is at the Petit Celestial Rank and seemed to recognize these two. He only issued a warning. If it were us who initiated a fight here, we would probably have been expelled by now.”

Aurelius looked at Xamira with a smug expression, then walked toward James.

He chuckled and said, “She also comes from a ninth-level plane, and her father is a lord of one of those planes. You’ve probably heard of his name.”

“Oh?” James gave Aurelius a glance. As far as he knew, there was only one tenth-level plane and eight ninth-level planes among the countless planes.

Seven out of the eight had taken action against him during his previous life.

Aurelius smiled and said, “Xamira’s father is none other than the renowned Seamus Quirk.”

“Seamus Quirk?” James furrowed his brows. To his knowledge, there had been no mention of a figure named Seamus among the lords of the ninth-level planes.

Perhaps some new ninth-level planes had arisen during his reincarnation.

James had been absent for an extended period, and the current state of both the countless planes and the Central Plane was foreign to him. He planned to take the time to learn about the present conditions of the countless planes and the Central Plane.

Aurelius left with a grin, and Xamira cut in line without further ado.

Once they had both left, King Marciais could not help but said, "Aurelius is quite strong. He can take an herb from Xamira. Her whip is far from ordinary."

"A Petit Celestial Rank," James said nonchalantly. He could sense that Aurelius was at the Petit Celestial Rank, which put him among the ranks of mentors and sect elders within the Dieux Academy.

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 5189-After all, the Headmaster of the Dieux Academy only reached the peak of Great Celestial Rank.

However, this was James' understanding based on his knowledge from his previous life. After countless ages had passed, the Headmaster of the Dieux Academy might have already broken through to the Martial Celestial Rank.

They were all astonished while acknowledging that Aurelius was at the Petit Celestial Rank. They wondered how they could secure first place if even a Petit Celestial Rank powerhouse was taking part in the discipleship assessment.

"Forget about the first place," James said. "Being selected by the Dieux Academy as their disciples is good enough."

Gaius glanced at James and asked, "Forty-nine, can you honestly say that you can compete with a Petit Celestial Rank powerhouse given your current strength?"

James was currently at the early stage of Sovereign Third Rank, a realm far inferior to the Petit Celestial Rank. In theory, it was nearly impossible for a living being to leap several realms and be victorious in battle.

However, James was a mystery, which piqued Gaius' curiosity. King Marciais, Gurgan, and Taran also focused their attention on James.

James replied, "I should be able to hold my own in a battle if I were to go all out, but I can't do it here due to the many restrictions in the Central Plane. Many of my signature martial art skills cannot be employed."

Upon hearing James' response, everyone took a deep breath. It was terrifying that an early stage of Sovereign Third Rank powerhouse could contend with a Petit Celestial Rank powerhouse.

James looked at their shocked companions and smiled, without offering further explanation.

They obediently stood in line. After several hundred years in the queue, they finally entered the universe where the Dieux Academy was located.

The universe was vast, and for the recruitment of new disciples, the Dieux Academy had created a planet for the candidates to reside. However, most of these candidates came from minor planes. Those from major planes with status and backgrounds did not live on this planet but resided in more prosperous ones.

This planet was enormous, filled with countless spiritual mountains and lands, each housing a building. James and the others had been arranged to stay in one of these accommodations.

‘That’s excessive,’ King Marciais said. “Every living being on this planet is here for the disciple assessment. The Dieux Academy can’t take in that many disciples even if it is incredibly powerful. Achieving recognition and becoming a disciple is already remarkable.”

‘This is the terrifying aspect of the Dieux Academy,’ James explained. “Even some powerhouses wish to join and cultivate within this academy for a certain duration. Over time, this has contributed to the Dieux Academy’s unparalleled network of connections.”

Gurgen leaned back in his chair, hands cradling his head, and said, ‘Trying to get first place is too difficult. I wonder if any Great Celestial Ranks will participate. It would be interesting if they joined the assessment.’”

James said, “It’s highly unlikely for anyone at the Great Celestial Rank to attend.

The Dieux Academy would extend respect to the Great Celestial Rank powerhouses, and they wouldn’t be required to participate in the assessment. In fact, they might hold the position of an elder within the academy. The same principle applies to those at the Petit Celestial Rank. However, occasionally, some Petit Celestial Ranks participate in the assessment just for fun.”

“Rest well, guys. I’m going out for a walk,” James said as he stood up.

Since a considerable amount of time had passed since his previous life, he did not know the current state of the Central Plane and the countless planes. He wondered which powerhouses had emerged after his death. He needed to seize this opportunity to gather information.

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 5190-James left his accommodation and headed to other parts of this planet to inquire about the current state of the Central Plane and the countless planes.

The living beings staying on this planet were all here to participate in the disciples’ assessment of the Dieux Academy. They came from various major planes as well as disciples from families, sects, and forces of the Central Plane.

James could easily gather information about the current state of the Central Plane and the countless planes. He learned that there were now fourteen ninth level planes in the countless planes, an increase from the original nine.

The number of eighth-level planes had also risen significantly, with at least a hundred. Most of these eighthlevel planes had the potential to advance to ninth level planes.

The ninth-level planes were ruled by Martial Celestial Rank powerhouses, while the eighth-level planes were guarded by the peak of Great Celestial Rank powerhouses.

In the current era, the number of powerhouses had significantly increased since

James' time, and there were many new powerhouses and titles with which he was unfamiliar.

After getting a rough understanding of the current situation,

James returned to his accommodation. The recruitment of new disciples by the Dieux Academy had not yet begun.

James chose to wait for the recruitment to start in his accommodation.

Time flew by, and the day for the recruitment of new disciples had arrived. The planet was bustling with countless living beings gathered outside to witness a grand spiritual mountain in the distance.

Swish!

A radiant beam of light shot up into the sky from the spiritual mountain, converging into the form of an elder in a gray robe. He did not seem particularly old, but his hair had turned completely gray. '

"Welcome to the Dieux Academy, fellow cultivators," a voice resonated throughout the entire universe.

James and the others were standing in the courtyard.

"Is he the headmaster of the Dieux Academy?" Gaius asked.

James nodded and said, "Yes, he is the headmaster, Xhemal Qanthippos. He was once a powerhouse at the peak of the Great Celestial Rank and has already broken through to the Martial Celestial Rank. His current cultivation realm is in the late stage of Martial Celestial Rank.”

After making inquiries, James learned that Xhemal had advanced to the late stage of Martial Celestial Rank.

Almost every living being in this universe had their attention fixed on Xhemal.

Xhemal’s voice continued to echo throughout the universe.” It’s time for the Dieux Academy’s recruitment of new disciples. The academy has sent out many invitations to living beings from various planes. According to the rules we established in advance, each plane will have only one living being who can become a disciple of our academy. However, we want to recruit more talent. As long as a plane holds an invitation, you can form teams with other living beings from your plane and participate in the assessment. There is no limit to the number of living beings in each team.”

Xhemal’s voice resonated throughout the universe.

Countless living beings listened intently, eager to learn the rules of this assessment.
