

Read The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 5191-5195

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 5191-“For our assessment, participants are allowed to form teams and work together to solve the different tests and challenges. However, if any of your team members were eliminated at any point during the assessment, that member will instantly be disqualified from joining the Academy.

‘The assessment will be conducted in a special realm that we have prepared in advance.”

“At the beginning of our assessment, participants will face three tests. Those who pass all three tests will be accepted as the Dieux Academy’s low-ranking disciples. After that, participants who make it through the next three consecutive tests will be recognized as our regular members. Last but not least, those who complete up to the ninth test will qualify to join the Dieux Academy as our elite members.

‘There are a total of nine tests.

“However, those nine tests are merely a small part of our assessment. To be exact, the real assessment begins after you complete the nine tests.

“After completing the nine tests, participants will transfer to the Zeilor Arena and enter the Zeilor Battle to fight for the limited spots there. The team that lasts till the very end of the battle will win first place in our assessment. I’m sure all of you are already aware of the advantage that comes with that spot.”

James and the other cultivators listened to Xhemal intently as he briefly explained the rules of the assessment.

King Marciais looked at the others and grinned. “Do you guys think you can pass the nine tests?”

James said, “We have no idea what those nine tests are. Nevertheless, we can qualify to join the Dieux Academy as long as we pass the first three tests. Even if we only make it to become low-ranking disciples, that still makes us members of the academy.”

Gaius asked, ‘There’s no limit to how many people they can have in a team.

Wouldn’t some of the teams gather all of the competent cultivators from their entire plane to join the assessment then?”

James nodded. ‘That is very likely to happen. Normally, those from the major planes would split into several teams according to the different forces or organizations they belong to. On the contrary, the smaller planes would opt to band together and gather as many of their best men as possible to participate in the assessment.”

King Marciais was getting more and more excited as he listened to them.

“This is such an amazing event! We have cultivators from thousands of planes gathered here for the assessment. I can’t wait for us to enter the realm and show the others what we've got! I hope we'll be able to land one of the top spots by the end of the assessment.”

“Ladies and gentlemen, we are about to unlock the entrance to the special realm. Those who wish to participate in the assessment may enter the realm now.”

As Xhemal's voice reverberated across the space, a gigantic image appeared right above the planet where the Dieux Academy was located.

The cultivators could see vast, green landscapes shown in the image.

As soon as the announcement was made, some of the cultivators waiting on the Dieux Academy's planet shot up into the sky and entered the realm right away.

Gradually, cultivators waiting on the neighboring planets also traveled toward the image to enter the realm.

It was quite an impressive sight as clusters of cultivators all headed in the direction of the realm.

King Marciais sighed in awe. ‘The number of cultivators who are participating have probably exceeded the trillions.’

James smiled faintly. “Most of them will be eliminated soon. I assure you close to ninety-nine percent of the total participants will be forced to drop out during the first three tests.”

“Let's go,” Taran urged them.

He rose into the air and began flying in the direction where the Dieux Academy's planet was. James and the others quickly followed behind him.

As the group of them finally entered the realm, James and the others realized they had arrived at a strange, mysterious space.

Nothing could be found in that space except for the other cultivators who had entered before them.

On the side of the wall furthest away from James, everyone could see that the wall was glowing faintly. It looked almost ethereal.

Upon a closer look, the wall was formed from countless unique inscriptions.

Several disciples of the Dieux Academy levitated in mid-air above that wall of light. All of them were wearing similar white robes that had the word "Dieux" embroidered on them.

Just then, one of the disciples took a step forward and announced, 'The first test is very simple. Those of you who can make it past this wall of light will qualify for the next test."

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 5192-The first test was fairly simple.

James and his companions were standing the furthest away from the wall. Still,

James was able to determine the function of the glowing wall just by looking at it.

'They're using that wall to check our cultivation ranks.

Those who reach the minimum rank required will be able to pass through the wall and move into the next section.”

Gaius and the others had also arrived at the same conclusion as they had mastered the Genesis Path Scripture and possessed a vast knowledge of inscriptions.

After hearing the announcement, the cultivators standing closest to the glowing wall started moving toward it. Those people also happened to be the strongest cultivators among all the participants.

Most of those cultivators belonged to renowned, powerful groups or organizations that wished to boost their fame and reputation by getting their members accepted into Dieux Academy. Those people passed through the wall of light without any difficulty.

A brief moment later, more than half of the participants were forced to remain on this side of the wall as they could not seem to pass through it.

King Marciais glanced at the crowd before him. “Those with ranks below the Chaos Essencia Rank couldn’t pass through the wall of light. That means only cultivators with and above the Chaos Essencia Rank meet the academy’s requirements.”

Taran drew a long breath. “It also implies that Dieux Academy is setting a high bar for the recruitment of their new members. They only accept members who have achieved at least the Chaos Essencia Rank. Those cultivators are considered the elites in the Endlos Plane.”

“We’ve just started with the first test.” Gurgen said, “More people will get eliminated as we move on to the subsequent tests.”

Soon enough, it was their turn to pass through the wall.

James and his friends moved through it effortlessly as they all met the minimum requirement.

Meanwhile, the headmaster and elders of the Dieux Academy were watching what was happening in the realm from the outside world.

Xhemal stroked his beard and smiled brightly. “I can see a lot of potential in this year’s participants. Many have succeeded in passing the first test.”

Jorah Badran, the Great Elder of the Dieux Academy, stood beside him.

He replied smilingly, “I have given specific instructions to our members to travel to all of the different planes and search for suitable candidates to participate in our recruitment. I even told them not to miss out on the first- level planes.”

Jorah was a superior cultivator whose cultivation rank was only slightly lower than that of Xhemal’s. He had achieved the middle stage of the Martial Celestial Rank.

“I wonder if any of the participants would be able to discover the secret hidden in the realm.” Xhemal’s grin broadened.

They had come across hidden, unexpected talents during their previous recruitments. Xhemal was hoping that they would be able to find talented cultivators this time as well.

After the first test, James and the others entered the second section, which was very wide and spacious. However, the number of participants who remained had decreased significantly.

Another wall of light stood before them.

“Cultivators, those who can move across this wall pass the second test.”

King Marciais cast a glance in James’ direction. “What are they trying to test this time, James?”

He and the others were looking at James since they were unable to determine the function of the wall this time.

After a few seconds, James explained, ‘This test is designed to examine the cultivators’ physical strength and condition. A formation has been put up within the wall of light. All powers except for the powers of your physical body will be sealed as you enter the formation. We’ll have to be able to withstand the effects of the formation to move through it.”

Gaius and the others nodded as they listened to James.

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 5193-Some of the participants in front had walked toward the glowing wall and entered the formation. They instantly felt an immense pressure pushing down on their bodies.

Still, almost all of them had no trouble moving through the formation since they were mostly skilled and experienced cultivators.

Some cultivators who tried to follow behind them were blocked outside the wall

as they were not strong enough to pass through the formation.

When it was time for James and his team members to attempt the second test, they could sense a strange energy within the formation. The energy sealed off all of their powers including the bloodline power and soul power.

Simultaneously, an overwhelming pressure came down upon them.

Fortunately, they had trained their bodies to achieve the level of strength and powers to match their cultivation ranks. All of them managed to pass through the formation without a hitch.

“We’ve passed the second test!”

King Marciais chuckled the instant he had stepped out of the formation. “We will qualify to become the Dieux Academy’s low-ranking disciples if we pass the next

test too.”

Taran responded, “We should try to complete as many tests as we can.”

Gurgen said, “We have a very slim chance at winning the top few places among

such fierce competition. Nevertheless, I think we are capable of passing all nine tests and becoming elite members of the Dieux Academy.”

Gaius agreed, “Judging by the first two tests’ difficulty level, we should have no issue completing the remaining seven tests.”

“Mhm.”

James nodded in agreement.

All of them had entered the early stage of Sovereign Third Rank, which was enough to help them become Dieux Academy’s elite members.

Soon afterward, they arrived before another wall of light containing a different formation.

King Marciais asked, “What is this about?”

James replied, “This test is an assessment of the cultivators’ soul power.

Cultivators who possess an adequate amount of soul power will be able to pass through.”

James and his companions each possessed excellent soul powers. Therefore, moving through the third wall was a breeze for them.

On the contrary, many cultivators did not make it through that test as most of them had neglected the importance of developing and improving their soul power. Instead, those people focused solely on their cultivation training.

Eventually, James’ team and several other groups made it past the first three tests and succeeded in becoming Dieux Academy’s low-ranking members.

Suddenly, the participants found themselves being transported to a new environment. All of them arrived somewhere near a tall mountain.

Whoosh!

Just then, an elderly man in a gray robe materialized at the top of the mountain.

The man had a sagely air about him.

He let out a hearty laugh. "Congratulations to all of you who have made it past the first three tests. You are now officially members of Dieux Academy. We recognize each of you as our low-ranking disciples."

"For those of you who wish to become regular members or elite members, you will have to work harder."

The man's voice resounded through the grounds.

"I am sure all of you can see this mountain before you. The remaining six tests will be conducted on this mountain, and participants are required to make it to the peak of the mountain."

"The time limit given is ten thousand years. Also, the first person to reach the mountain top will receive a special reward. The contents of the reward will be kept a secret for now. However, bear in mind that the reward offered by us, the Dieux Academy, is no ordinary reward."

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 5194-Some of the participants in front had walked toward the glowing wall and entered the formation. They instantly felt an immense pressure pushing down on their bodies.

Still, almost all of them had no trouble moving through the formation since they were mostly skilled and experienced cultivators.

Some cultivators who tried to follow behind them were blocked outside the wall

as they were not strong enough to pass through the formation.

When it was time for James and his team members to attempt the second test,

they could sense a strange energy within the formation. The energy sealed off all of their powers including the bloodline power and soul power.

Simultaneously, an overwhelming pressure came down upon them.

Fortunately, they had trained their bodies to achieve the level of strength and powers to match their cultivation ranks. All of them managed to pass through the formation without a hitch.

“We’ve passed the second test!”

King Marciais chuckled the instant he had stepped out of the formation. “We will qualify to become the Dieux Academy’s low-ranking disciples if we pass the next

test too.”

Taran responded, “We should try to complete as many tests as we can.”

Gurgen said, “We have a very slim chance at winning the top few places among

such fierce competition. Nevertheless, I think we are capable of passing all nine tests and becoming elite members of the Dieux Academy.”

Gaius agreed, “Judging by the first two tests’ difficulty level, we should have no issue completing the remaining seven tests.”

“Mhm.”

James nodded in agreement.

All of them had entered the early stage of Sovereign Third Rank, which was enough to help them become Dieux Academy’s elite members.

Soon afterward, they arrived before another wall of light containing a different formation.

King Marciais asked, “What is this about?”

James replied, “This test is an assessment of the cultivators’ soul power.

Cultivators who possess an adequate amount of soul power will be able to pass through.”

James and his companions each possessed excellent soul powers. Therefore, moving through the third wall was a breeze for them.

On the contrary, many cultivators did not make it through that test as most of them had neglected the importance of developing and improving their soul power. Instead, those people focused solely on their cultivation training.

Eventually, James’ team and several other groups made it past the first three tests and succeeded in becoming Dieux Academy’s low-ranking members.

Suddenly, the participants found themselves being transported to a new environment. All of them arrived somewhere near a tall mountain.

Whoosh!

Just then, an elderly man in a gray robe materialized at the top of the mountain.

The man had a sagely air about him.

He let out a hearty laugh. "Congratulations to all of you who have made it past the first three tests. You are now officially members of Dieux Academy. We recognize each of you as our low-ranking disciples."

"For those of you who wish to become regular members or elite members, you will have to work harder."

The man's voice resounded through the grounds.

"I am sure all of you can see this mountain before you. The remaining six tests will be conducted on this mountain, and participants are required to make it to the peak of the mountain."

"The time limit given is ten thousand years. Also, the first person to reach the mountain top will receive a special reward. The contents of the reward will be kept a secret for now. However, bear in mind that the reward offered by us, the

Dieux Academy, is no ordinary reward."

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 5195-Some cultivators had begun attacking the other participants as they entered the mountain's mid-range.

These participants were mostly lone cultivators who had come to join the Dieux

Academy's recruitment by themselves.

"James, are you not going to move to the front of the crowd and try to win the first place?" King Marciais asked as he noticed that James was moving through the course at an unhurried pace.

"Nope," James replied nonchalantly.

U wanna money!

get up your finans x

Ad

Rs 0 Brokerage & Account Open

Upgrade to PHYgital Investing! x

Dieux Academy was one of the ten most influential forces in Central Plane.

Numerous prominent families and clans had sent their members to take part in the academy's event this time.

Their recruitment was gaining a lot of attention across the different planes of existence. However, James wanted to remain inconspicuous.

He had modified his appearance and aura. Yet, James might catch unwanted attention if he stood out too much from the other participants. He might face a few problems if someone were to look into his background and discover James' identity.

The mountain path grew steeper and tougher as the participants moved through the subsequent tests.

Fortunately, the remaining tests were fairly simple for cultivators who had attained superb powers and skills.

Soon enough, some participants had arrived near the peak of the mountain.

However, those people were forced to stop before the location for the final test.

As they caught up with the others, James and his members could also see the peak of the mountain, which was less than a hundred meters away from them.

A huge stone wall conjured by the elder from Dieux Academy stood before them. The participants could see several lines of strange, cryptic inscriptions on the wall.

Beside the stone wall, the elder also erected a stone tablet that carried a description of how one could pass the test.

‘The final test is very simple. Participants have to decipher and understand the scripture shown on the wall. Once you do that, you will be able to pass through the seal and reach the peak.’

The scripture was of obscure, mysterious origin. Even participants who had achieved ranks greater than James’ and his members’ ranks could not decipher the scripture.

“Uh...” King Marciais took a furtive glance at the scripture and furrowed his brows. Then, he leaned in and whispered to James, “Isn’t that the Genesis Path of one of the many planes of existence?”

Those who had mastered the Genesis Path Scripture could easily make out what was carved on the stone wall. James and his team members instantly recognized that those lines described the Genesis Path of a plane.

The Genesis Path Scripture detailed the Genesis Path of all the different planes that existed, including the one shown on the stone wall.

“They are making it difficult for us to keep a low profile...” James muttered in a low voice.

‘This scripture is really tough.’ A Sovereign Sixth Rank cultivator frowned slightly as he commented, “I can’t read some of the words shown here.”

Another cultivator who had more knowledge relating to the subject began, “If I am not mistaken, this scripture describes the knowledge of a Genesis Path. It is most likely the Genesis Path of a third-level plane or planes above that level.”

“Genesis Path?!”

“We have a time limit of ten thousand years to get to the top of the mountain. Now, they want us to learn and understand the Genesis Path of a low-level plane within that amount of time?”

“Isn’t that a bit too hard?”

“I guess we’ll have to put in quite some effort to qualify as elite members of Dieux Academy.”

While some participants were busy discussing the difficult scripture, several cultivators sat on the ground and began deciphering the scripture.

Most of the participants who had gotten this far in the assessment process were excellent, brilliant cultivators. They could decipher and comprehend the Genesis Path if they made an effort to.

Also, the participants could set up time formations and have more time to work on deciphering the scripture within the formation. The academy did not specify any rules that refrained them from doing that.

Taran looked at James. ‘What do you think? Should we complete the test?’

Taran could decipher the Genesis Path of a third-level plane in just a few days.

It was honestly not a difficult task for him.

‘We should.’ James gave a small sigh.

He had wished to stay out of the spotlight, yet fate was against him this time.

The final test was for the participants to decipher and understand the Genesis Path of a plane. The academy did not ask them to master the Genesis Path as well.

If a cultivator could master a plane’s Genesis Path, that would make them the lord of that particular plane too. However, mastering a Genesis Path was no easy task in itself