

Read The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 5196-5200

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 5196-As time went by, more and more participants arrived at the location for the ninth test.

Most of them would briefly discuss with the other cultivators the scripture shown on the stone wall. Then, they would each find a spot to sit down and focus on learning the contents of the scripture.

Like the others, James and his members sat quietly on the ground and acted as if they were trying to decipher the scripture as well.

In truth, they were secretly communicating among themselves.

James transmitted his voice to his team members, "I had another look at the seal blocking us from reaching the peak. I realize that we don't have to decipher and learn the entire Genesis Path. Learning just a part of the Genesis Path is enough for anyone to break the seal."

Taran and the others were staring at the seal too.

Since they had mastered the Genesis Path Scripture, it only took them a brief moment to decipher and learn the scripture displayed on the stone wall.

After they had tried to examine the seal, Taran and the others arrived at the same conclusion just like James did.

"What do we do now?"

“We’ve already learned and understood the Genesis Path. Are we going to just sit here and do nothing?”

They had the opportunity to come in first in the race to reach the mountain peak.

Moreover, the academy would provide the winner with a special reward.

‘We should observe the situation a little while longer.’ James transmitted his voice to the others again.

James kept getting this unsettling feeling upon seeing the Genesis Path being included in the assessment for Dieux Academy’s recruitment.

The knowledge of the Genesis Path was very rare and precious. It represented the essence of a plane. Usually, only the lords of each plane of existence would possess the knowledge. They would seldom share or reveal that knowledge to others.

Just recently, James had wielded the powers of the Genesis Path Scripture and unintentionally leaked his aura. Some cultivators might have detected it.

However, they could not tell for sure whether it belonged to James or if it had come from another being who had inherited his legacy.

Therefore, James could not help but suspect that the Genesis Path shown before them might be the work of one of those cultivators.

If James or someone related to him had taken part in the recruitment, they would easily solve and learn the scripture presented in the final test. That way, those cultivators would be able to confirm their suspicion.

That was why James had instructed his members to stay put for the time being.

Instead of learning the scripture, the group of them concentrated on their cultivation.

In the blink of an eye, several thousand years had passed. However, James and the other participants had spent an even longer time within each of their time formations.

James got to his feet at that moment. He took a glance at the others around him. Then, he walked over to the Dieux Academy's elder, who was standing near the stone wall.

"Sir, the knowledge of the Genesis Path is very difficult to understand. I only managed to learn a small part of it. Could you share some hints regarding this Genesis Path?"

"Oh? You've learned a small part of it?" The elder directed his gaze at James.

Anyone would be considered a genius cultivator if they could learn or understand parts of the Genesis Path in such a short time.

James replied humbly, "Mhm. However, I feel I won't be able to decipher the rest of the scripture no matter how hard I try. That is why I've decided to stop trying and obtain your advice instead."

The elder stroked his gray beard. "I can't share any hints with you. It is up to you whether you want to give up or continue trying to decipher the scripture."

"Alright." James responded, "I'll take a closer look at the seal then."

He made his way to the barrier of the seal and pretended to study the structure for a while. Then, James conjured a few inscriptions and placed them near the barrier of the seal. As the inscriptions fused with the barrier, a crack slowly appeared in the barrier before James.

James appeared pleasantly surprised as he grinned broadly and stepped through the barrier.

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 5197-James became the first person to break the seal and reach the peak of the mountain. He had finished all nine tests and came in first for the assessment.

On the other hand, his team members remained in their spots and acted as if they were still trying to decipher the scripture. The group of them had discussed and agreed on the current arrangement beforehand.

After James had passed the test, the rest of them would complete the final test one after the other at different time intervals to make it seem more natural.

The other participants were intrigued when they saw that James had succeeded in breaking the seal and completing the final test.

"Who's that guy? Which group does he belong to?"

“He managed to decipher and learn the Genesis Path of a plane within such a short amount of time?!”

The participants were so focused on learning and understanding the contents of the scripture. They did not even realize that they did not have to study the entire scripture to break the seal.

After a short while, King Marciais got up and strode toward the seal’s barrier. He created an opening in the barrier and headed for the mountain peak.

Following that, Gaius, Gurgun, and Taran each did the same at different times.

Eventually, the five of them took the top five spots in completing all nine tests first.

A huge, wide arena could be found at the top of the mountain. The arena was protected by a powerful, mysterious formation. James and his members realized that they could not enter the arena due to the formation.

Since there were no further instructions on what they should do now, James’ team decided to wait patiently for the academy’s next announcement.

“Those human cultivators performed very well,” Xhemal commented smilingly,

“They realized they couldn’t finish deciphering the entire scripture within the time limit. So, they decided not to waste any more time and went ahead to attempt breaking the seal.”

“Find out where these men are from,” Jorah instructed one of his disciples.

The academy had created a record of all the visitors’ personal information before they allowed outsiders into the Dieux Universe. Soon enough, they had found the information showing James’ team’s background.

“Sir Jorah, those men came from a third-level plane. We had the members from Mount Morroewa deliver our invitation to these men.”

“All five of them belong to the same plane?” Jorah widened his eyes in surprise.

‘Yes. That’s what it says in our records.”

“Have one of our disciples from Mount Morroewa come to the main hall now,” Xhemal ordered. He was getting more and more curious about those five human cultivators.

A brief moment later, Ziyad entered Dieux Academy’s main hall.

Ziyad was a disciple with the most seniority and experience training and studying at Mount Morroewa. However, their group at Mount Morroewa was considered one of the weaker groups under Dieux Academy. Even Ziyad’s master did not make it to qualify as Dieux Academy’s elite members.

“Did you invite these human cultivators to join our recruitment?” Xhemal asked.

Ziyad took a good look at the five human cultivators shown in the image of Dieux Academy’s special realm. He had a slightly puzzled look on his face.

“I’ve given out several invitations this time, but I don’t recall having met these men.”

Xhemal lifted his hand and conjured James’ invitation card.

Ziyad still remembered the code number of the invitations he had delivered personally. “That’s correct. This is one of the invitation cards that I handed out.”

‘Tell us what happened on this plane.’

“Understood.”

Ziyad continued, “The cultivators found on this plane were rather weak. I couldn’t detect any beings with ranks above the Sovereign Rank within that plane. However, one of the human cultivators there managed to stop and ward off a Sovereign First Rank member from Dieux Academy. Also, I could not determine that man’s cultivation rank at all.

However, I don’t see that man here among those five human cultivators.”

“Interesting...” Jorah slowly stroked his beard.

Xhemal waved his hand dismissively. “Alright. You can leave now.”

“Understood.” Ziyad bowed slightly and excused himself.

Despite their efforts to keep a low profile, James and his members had nonetheless caught the Dieux Academy’s higher-ups’ attention.

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 5198-On the mountaintop, James and his members sat in a group as they waited for the ninth test to be over. They would occasionally discuss issues regarding their training and cultivation in low voices, but that was all they would talk about.

Eventually, there were only several hundred years left until the end of the ninth test.

At that moment, a man wearing a gold robe and a purple belt stood up and walked toward the seal placed over the mountaintop.

He raised his palm and generated several inscriptions. An opening formed instantly in the barrier of the seal where the inscriptions fused into it.

“Another cultivator managed to learn the contents of the scripture!”

“Even the genius cultivator from Elysium Hall spent almost ten thousand years to finish learning the scripture. I wonder who and where those five human cultivators have come from. They’ve managed to get to the mountain peak even faster than Wubbe Nalto from Elysium Hall.”

The other participants could not help feeling amazed as they watched Wubbe enter the seal and finish the ninth test.

After he had passed through the seal’s barrier, Wubbe walked over to James’ group.

He gave a slight nod and smiled warmly. “I am Wubbe Nalto from Elysium Hall.

Might I ask where the group of you are from? It was amazing you managed to learn and understand the entire Genesis Path of a plane within such a short time.”

James and the others got to their feet.

James replied smilingly, "It is our pleasure to meet a member of Elysium Hall.

You are the truly amazing one. We didn't decipher and learn the entire scripture.

We've only managed to decipher a small part of the Genesis Path. Then, we decided to give it a try since we couldn't understand the rest of it. Fortunately, you just need to learn part of the scripture to break the seal."

Wubbe's brows twitched as he listened to James' words.

He thought that James and his members were superior, competent cultivators.

Wubbe was even planning to befriend their group.

However, Wubbe changed his mind as soon as he heard James' explanation.

His expression hardened into one of cold indifference.

Without saying another word, he turned around and found a spot further away from James' team. Then, he sat down on the ground without sparing them another glance.

"He's quite obnoxious," King Marciais muttered in a small voice.

Still, James wasn't bothered by Wubbe's reaction.

Since the seal cast around the mountain peak kept all the sounds inside, the participants outside did not hear the exchange between James and Wubbe. All of them were still working hard on deciphering the scripture describing the Genesis Path.

Soon afterward, another participant managed to learn the entire Genesis Path and completed the final test. This time, it was a gorgeous lady in a white dress that had passed through the seal's barrier.

"Who's that lady?" King Marciais' eyes were glued to the lady as he was completely mesmerized by her beauty.

"Forty-nine, what do I do about this fluttering feeling in my chest?" King Marciais clutched at his chest. "My heart is beating so fast right now!"

"Just ask for her name if you like her that much," Taran prodded.

"I... I don't have the guts to do it." King Marciais, also known as Zavis, shook his head. "She's emanating an aura of at least the Petit Celestial Rank. I've only achieved the Sovereign Third Rank. We're so different in terms of our powers and cultivation rank."

"He's right." James cast a glance at the lady. "She's a talented cultivator from Jerneeja Valley. Jerneeja Valley is one of the ten great forces that are currently active in the Central Plane."

Plane. So, he was well informed about the superior and powerful cultivators originating from the Central Plane.

"There's no way I can impress someone from one of the ten great forces..."

Zavis dropped his head woefully.

Sevara Lhayme, the lady from Jerneeja Valley overheard James and his members' conversation. She merely cast a glance in their direction briefly and stood quietly on the side.

Not long after Sevara had entered the area within the seal, another cultivator finished deciphering the entire scripture as well.

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 5199-“That man is also a Petit Celestial Rank cultivator. He belongs to another one of the ten great forces.”

As time went by, a few more cultivators managed to break the seal and enter the area of the mountain peak. Those participants had deciphered and learned the entire Genesis Path shown in the scripture.

James and his members had full comprehension of the Genesis Path. However, they would tell anyone who came up to them that they had only understood a small part of the scripture.

Eventually, Aurelius and Xamira arrived at the peak of the mountain as well.

James’ team members knitted their brows as they observed more and more cultivators of the Petit Celestial Rank coming into the area under the seal.

“I wasn’t expecting this many cultivators to pass the ninth test. What’s more, they are all Petit Celestial Rank cultivators. Their powers and skills are in a completely different league. There’s no way we can win the Zeilor Battle with them as our competitors,” Gurgun said in a discouraged tone.

“You guys want to win first place?” James looked at them. “Of course!” Zavis replied, “This is an assessment held by Dieux Academy for their members recruitment. We will be famous if we win first place in the assessment.”

Gaius agreed, “He’s right. This event has garnered a lot of attention, after all.”

Taran asked, “Forty-nine, do you think we have a shot at it?”

The four of them stared at James intently. Ever since they arrived in the Central Plane, James had always surprised them with his knowledge and resourcefulness.

‘We might have a shot at winning...’

James responded after a moment’s consideration, “There are several approaches we can try. However, the simplest way for us to win is by using formations. If the five of us work together, we should be able to defeat those Petit Celestial Rank cultivators.”

James glanced furtively at the other participants. Then, he assumed a seated position and transmitted his voice to his team members. “Give me a moment. I’ll come up with a formation that we can use.”

As the founder of Supremusseum, James had learned and mastered various signature skills and formations in his past life. However, his current situation did not allow him to use those well-known, destructive formations.

Instead, James must quickly come up with a powerful formation that was not too difficult for Gaius and the others to learn and master within the short time they had left.

James closed his eyes. Then, he focused his concentration on generating several inscriptions sourced from the Genesis Path Scripture in his mind.

As those inscriptions were combined and modified several times, James eventually produced a new formation with impressive, potent destructive force.

A faint smile flickered across his face as James opened his eyes again.

Then, James swiftly transmitted the details of the formation to his team members.

After listening to James' instructions regarding the new formation, Zavis and the others sat down and began working on learning and mastering the formation.

At long last, the time allowed for participants to complete all nine tests was up.

The elder guarding beside the stone wall looked at the participants before him and said, "Actually, it is not that difficult to pass through this seal. You just have to learn and understand part of the scripture to break the seal. The group of you are so inflexible."

Those participants were equally shocked and delighted to hear the elder's words.

They stopped studying the scripture and went to the seal's barrier. Almost all of them were able to create a breach in the seal's barrier and enter the area inside at once.

James had a look of bewilderment on his face. He mumbled to himself, "I did not see that coming...."

Then, James went up to the elder. He rubbed his hands together. "Sir, you mentioned that the first person to reach the mountain peak would be receiving a mysterious reward. Now that the tests are over, is it time for me to claim my prize?"

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 5200-James had no clue as to what would be offered to him as the reward for finishing the nine tests first. However, the thing James needed the most was items or resources to help with his cultivation training.

James knew that Dieux Academy would have access to an almost unlimited amount of resources. Therefore, he wanted to try and request those resources as a reward.

James asked straightforwardly, "Sir, can I ask for something that I need?" "Oh?"

The man was a respected elder from Dieux Academy named Salvius Bergen. He was in charge of the recruitment of new members for the academy this time.

Salvius was also a competent cultivator whose cultivation rank had reached the early stage of Martial Celestial Rank.

He smiled slightly and asked, "What is it that you need?"

James replied without the slightest bit of hesitation, "I need resources to help with my training and cultivation. I know that the Dieux Academy has control over many planes, which include several eighth-level planes. I need the resources from one of those eighth-level planes for an entrapoch.”

‘What?!’

Salvius’ eyes bulged in shock. He bellowed at James, “You dared to ask for something like that?!”

Meanwhile, Xhemal and Jorah had heard what James just said from the main hall of Dieux Academy.

Xhemal laughed. ‘That human cultivator is quite interesting.’

Jorah agreed, saying, “Mhm. He’s asking us for an entrapoch’s worth of resources from an eighth-level plane. Is he even aware of how much empyrean herb that adds up to?”

“I hope Sir Salvius won’t somehow get persuaded by that man.”

“He mustn’t agree to that request!”

The other elders of Dieux Academy were vehemently against James’ request.

However, there was no way for them to warn Salvius since they were all waiting in the outside world.

Similarly, the other participants were amused and taken aback upon hearing James’ request.

The resources of an eighth-level plane for as long as an entrapoch were enough to sustain and enhance several cultivators' training.

They could hardly believe that a human cultivator who had only achieved the Sovereign Third Rank would make such an unimaginable demand.

After a brief pause, Aurelius let out a chuckle. "He's outright fearless."

"Dieux Academy only has a few eighth-level planes under their command. They have not once provided any of their disciples with that amount of resources since their establishment."

While the other participants were discussing fervently about that shocking request, James' team members were staring silently at James in astonishment.

They were also caught off-guard by James' sudden demand.

Salvius fixed James with an intense gaze. He stroked his beard. "Do you earnestly think you have what it takes to convince us, the Dieux Academy, to provide that many resources to help with your training?"

"Of course," James replied confidently, "Soon, Dieux Academy will earn a new member of the Martial Celestial Rank in return."

Salvius gave a low chuckle. "Why should I believe that?"

"Well, I was the first to finish all nine tests."

"You were lucky."

"Nevertheless, I am the first person to finish the tests."

The two of them went on bickering