The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 5211-Boom!

Taran's barrier was shattered, leaving him no choice but to evade into the distance.

"Thunderous Tribulations!"

Gurgen instantly cast his Supernatural Power, and dark clouds covered the sky.

Countless lightnings crisscrossed and formed a Tribulation World.

Keagan was trapped within the Tribulation World and forced to face a series of calamities.

However, Keagan was at the Petit Celestial Rank and easily shattered the Tribulation World with one move. He appeared in front of Gurgen and jabbed with his sword.

Gurgen's body suddenly turned into stone.

Keagan's sword barely penetrated his skin, but his potent force caused Gurgen to stagger backward.

At that moment, Zavis, Gavis, and Taran also launched attacks with their Supernatural Powers.

Keagan was trapped in a Tribulation World once again. However, this time, it was a Fifth-level Tribulation World.

James and his comrades' powers superimposed and formed a Fifth-level

Tribulation World.

“Curse Magic.”

Before Keagan could escape the Tribulation World, Curse Magic had permeated the air.

The Curse Magic instantly began to corrode Keagan’s body.

“Break!” Veins bulged on Keagan’s face, and his body suddenly grew more muscular.

He had performed a secret art to enhance himself. Now, his strength was at the Petit Celestial Rank’s middle stage.

It was harder to improve one’s cultivation base after reaching the Celestial Rank. Thus, it was impressive for Keagan to increase his power from the early stage of the Petit Celestial Rank to the middle stage.

Curse Power. Shortly after, he shattered the Tribulation World. However, Sword Energies containing mysterious inscriptions instantly surrounded him.

A Sword World had formed and trapped Keagan once again. Countless Sword Energies shot toward him.

Keagan unleashed a dazzling aura to form a protective barrier against the Sword Energies. Despite that, he struggled to resist the Sword World’s pressure. His body was gradually pushed down from the sky, and he slammed into the ground.

The ground split apart, and the cracks kept spreading out.

James could easily defeat Keagan alone. However, he refrained from doing so because his comrades had never faced a formidable powerhouse like Keagan before.

Although they had used the Elemental Formation to obtain strength at the Petit Celestial Rank, they could not adapt to their new powers nor exert their full potential yet.

Therefore, they needed to partake in battles to better grasp the Elemental Formation's power.

James and his comrades summoned Sword Energies and combined them into a multicolored giant sword.

The sword slashed through the air, causing cracks throughout the supposedly stable void.

Keagan looked at the giant sword with a grim expression. He raised his sword and unleashed a powerful burst of energy. His energy shot up toward the sky like a dragon, and then he followed after it.

Boom!

The two powerful forces collided and instantly shattered the Sword World.

James and his comrades quickly backed away but trapped Keagan between them.

Keagan had disheveled hair, and his body was soaked in blood. He panted heavily as he glared at the five people around him resentfully.

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 5212-Keagan looked terribly beaten up. He gripped tightly onto his cracked sword, which was stained red with his blood.

On the other hand, James and his comrades were doing just fine. They stared at him with calm expressions.

James looked at his comrades and asked, "How's everyone doing? All good?"

"Of course! I expected him to be much stronger. Turns out the strength of the Petit Celestial Rank isn't that much big of a deal," Zavis said with a grin.

Keagan was infuriated by his words.

Gaius said smilingly, "It's the first time we've completed the Elemental Formation, and I haven't gotten used to this power yet. I should use this battle to get myself more accustomed to it."

Keagan's face ashened. He could not believe they planned to use him as a practice subject. He was the lord of a seventh-level plane, and he had never suffered such humiliation before.

"Die!" Keagan raised his sword and attacked.

James' comrades charged at him. However, James stepped away.

Although James refrained from participating in the battle, the blessing of the Elemental Formation was still active.

Thus, their elemental powers were supplying each other with energy. The Elemental Formation would not be deactivated unless one of them was killed.

The five figures flickered throughout the air, and rumbling sounds permeated the area.

Keagan had activated a secret art to increase his strength, but his four opponents had the strength at the Petit Celestial Rank's early stage.

Moreover,

they could use Elemental Inversion to call upon each other's elemental power.

At the beginning of the fight, they struggled slightly against Keagan. However, they were now calm and composed against him.

"Wood."

"Water."

"Fire."

"Earth."

They scattered in different directions. Their auras had improved significantly.

Their elemental powers emerged and formed into a pillar of light. The light shot up into the sky and permeated the area.

Immediately afterward, a formation emerged and trapped Keagan. He sensed the strange force surrounding him and tried to dodge it. Unfortunately, it was already too late.

He quickly summoned a protective barrier.

Meanwhile, the elemental powers underwent inversion and formed into a powerful force. Then, it struck Keagan's barrier.

Crack!

The protective barrier was shattered instantly, and Keagan was blasted away. At that moment, Taran quickly summoned Curse Inscriptions and converted them into a long sword.

This time, Taran's Curse Inscriptions were much stronger after he had fused them with the Genesis Path's Powers. His sword darted toward Keagan at breakneck speed.

Before Keagan could react, his body was already pierced. However, he had not been eliminated yet.

Zavis flashed behind him and thrust his palm forward. His attack contained the power of his Marciais Path, cultivation base, and the five elements.

Keagan was knocked away, and he spat out a mouthful of blood. His flesh was blasted apart, and his bones were exposed

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 5213-Keagan's injuries were quite severe. Despite that, his aura remained strong.

Thousands of Sword Energies suddenly emerged and revolved around him to form a terrifying Sword Formation.

Zavis, Gaius, Gurgun, and Taran were forced to retreat away from him. Despite that, they kept flickering in the sky, looking for opportunities to strike.

Their battle had caught a lot of attention. Powerhouses from the Deix Academy, the Central Plane, and the participants at the Petit Celestial Rank were spectating the match.

None of them had expected James' party, which consisted of members at the Sovereign Third Rank, to have forced a powerhouse at the Petit Celestial Rank into a corner with their mysterious formation. Moreover, their opponent was continuously injured.

Taran growled, "Damn it. He's using really powerful Sword Energy to shield himself. Not only do they have incredible defensive power, but their attack power is also terrifying. It's simply unpenetrable, and we don't have the chance to attack."

At that moment, they were at a stalemate since they could not get close. Not even their Elemental Formation could break through the Sword Formation.

James had backed away from the battle, and they were missing one crucial element to complete the formation. Without him, their powers were far inferior.

Swoosh!

Countless Sword Energies surrounded Keagan's body. His long sword pointed forward, and a few Sword Energies burst toward Taran.

Taran quickly backed away and summoned inscriptions to block the attack. The inscriptions formed a barrier and withstood the constant attacks, but it was gradually falling apart.

Meanwhile, James watched the battle from afar. He knew he had to participate in the battle. Otherwise, his comrades would not be able to win.

Keagan was at the Petit Celestial Rank, after all, and had many combat means.

Swoosh!

James appeared in front of Taran. His body suddenly transformed into countless inscriptions. Two figures appeared, one sitting above the inscriptions and one below.

Gradually, the inscriptions formed into a mysterious formation.

Suddenly, one of the figures inside the formation disappeared. He appeared before the Sword Energies and neutralized the attack with a power that did not belong to their current era.

Immediately afterward, James' past form appeared in front of Keagan.

Keagan was horrified. Before he could react, he was already struck in the forehead.

His body began to disintegrate and vanish. Afterward, his remaining soul was teleported out of the Arena World.

After James cast the Elemental Formation, his strength improved significantly.

As a result, his past form had also grown stronger.

James was not afraid of his former identity being exposed.

The past form of himself in the formation only consisted of the Supernatural Powers he had cultivated and did not have the aura of the Lord Supremus.

Moreover, the two figures changed according to his current body.

As long as he did not cast Supernatural Powers from the Genesis Path Scripture, his past identity would not be discovered.

In the Dieux Academy, a few powerhouses stood up in shock, including Xhemal and Jorah.

“What kind of Supernatural Power was that?”

“I’ve never seen or heard of such a thing before.”

“I can tell it’s from the past.”

The powerhouses expressed their surprise. Everyone could sense that James’ past form had exerted a power that did not belong to their era. However, they could not trace it back to where it originated from.
