The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 5261-Thea looked at her children adoringly and said, "After I leave, don't neglect your cultivation. With the Supernatural Power James left behind and the Endlos Plane's resources, all of you will be able to reach the Great Celestial Rank or even higher."

Outside the South Heaven Gate, a group from the Mevryee Race was waiting for Thea to make arrangements in the Endlos Plane.

Thea bid farewell to the Heavenly Court's members. Soon, she walked out of the Heavenly Court.

The group greeted her in unison, "Princess." The powerhouse at the Martial Celestial Rank approached, bowed, and asked respectfully, "Can we leave now, Princess?"

"Yeah." Thea nodded gently.

A flying battleship immediately appeared outside the Heavenly Court. The group welcomed Thea on board.

After Thea and the group of powerhouses from the Mevryee Race arrived, the flying battleship departed and entered the darkness.

Thea was inside a room on the battleship. An old man stood before her and said respectfully, "My name is Xzander Quantz, Princess."

Thea nodded and responded, "Alright. Can you tell me the origin of the Dark World's Four Ancient Races?"

Xzander thought for a while and asked, "How much do you know about this world, Princess?"

Without hesitation, she replied, "From what I know, there are countless planes, including the Central Plane."

"That's it?" Xzander looked at her in confusion.

Thea returned his gaze and asked, "Yes. Am I wrong?"

Xzander explained, "You're right, but that's only a tiny fraction of our world. The Dark World is much deeper and broader than we will ever know. All planes are formed within the Dark World.

"Nobody knows where the darkness leads to, nor where its borders are. What other things that are hidden in the darkness is also uncertain. Not even the Dark World's Four Ancient Races can say for sure."

Thea asked again, "What are the Four Ancient Races? Which planes do they belong to?"

Xzander replied, "The Four Ancient Races don't belong to any plane, but at the same time, they also belong to all planes since every plane that exists is born within the Dark World."

Thea's brows furrowed.

Xzander elaborated, "Apart from the planes we know of, there are some other spaces within the Dark World suitable to be inhabited. They aren't planes. In fact, they are much more advanced. The living beings in these spaces have existed before the first plane was even born. They are known as the Primevals.

The Four Ancient Races are the strongest among them.

"In all of the planes, there are hardly any people who know about the Dark World's Four Ancient Races since they were born in their respective planes.

Even though they have reached great heights in their cultivation, their knowledge is limited to planes. They don't have the chance to get in contact with the Primevals or the Four Ancient Races.

"Only top powerhouses can leave their planes, and only those who have ventured into the Dark World can learn about the Primevals and the Four Ancient Races."

Thea had a clearer picture of the Dark World's situation.

"How does the strength of the Dark World's Four Ancient Races compare to the countless planes?" asked Thea.

Xander replied, "An ordinary being from a Primitive Race can't compare to one from a powerful plane. The Central Plane is full of powerhouses. However, there are many different powerful races amongst the Primevals. They've been around for a long time, and even if they had average potential, they would be quite strong after living for so long."

The Primevals and the countless planes were both powerful. It was impossible to say which one was stronger than the other.

"How does the Dark World's Four Ancient Races compare to the different planes?" asked Thea.

Xzander replied, "Any of the Four Ancient Races can easily crush several planes."

With just a few words, Thea had a rough understanding of the Four Ancient Races' strength.

"However, there are a few powerhouses born in the countless planes that even the Four Ancient Races are wary of."

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 5262-From the brief conversation, Thea learned the Dark World's Four Ancient Races' were incredibly powerful. Despite that, the countless planes were not to be underestimated either since there were powerhouses that even the Four Ancient Races were wary of.

Suddenly, Thea recalled something and asked, "Have you ever heard of the Genesis Path Scripture?"

Thea was confused as to how James had so many Supernatural Powers that came from outside of the Endlos Plane. He never explained it to her, so she wanted to find out the truth.

Xzander was stunned. He looked at Thea and asked, "The Genesis Path Scripture? You know about it?"

Thea nodded lightly. "Yeah, I've heard about it."

Xzander explained, "There are many talented powerhouses in the countless planes. The person who created the Genesis Path Scripture was a genius with great potential. He acquired great strength within just a short period, and he created the Genesis Path Scripture."

Unfortunately, he died in an incident. Otherwise, with his potential, he would've become an existence that even the Four Ancient Races would fear."

Intrigued, Thea asked, "What kind of person was he?"

Xzander was from the Mevryee Race. Although most Primevals do not move around in planes, they have their intelligence networks in the different planes. Thus, they knew about the significant events in the planes.

He explained, "The person who created the Genesis Path Scripture is called James Caden. He's also the founder of Supremusseum, one of the strongest forces in the Central Plane. I remember that before he perished, he was at the Martial Celestial Rank's peak. Even when compared to someone from the Four Ancient Races, he is quite powerful. I'm sure he could crush many of the Primevals."

"J-James Caden?" Thea's expression stiffened.

In the past, she had speculated many possibilities. However, James, being the Genesis Path Scripture's creator, was never one of them. She also never thought James could be the founder of the Supremusseum in his past life, either.

"What's wrong, Princess?" asked Xzander.

Thea answered, "N-Nothing."

After learning about James' true identity, she stopped asking questions.

The battleship quickly traveled through the Dark World for many years.

Soon, a glimmer of light shone through the darkness, and a vast land appeared in sight. Although it was not a plane, its size was comparable to a plane.

Xzander pointed at the land that had appeared and said, "That's the Mevryees' territory."

"Mhm." Thea nodded lightly.

Xzander led Thea into the Mevryees' territory and toward a majestic building on a spiritual mountain.

At that moment, the powerhouses of the Mevryee Race gathered inside the main hall. A middle-aged man sat in the highest seat. Although he looked relatively ordinary, he exuded a domineering aura.

Thea walked into the hall under Xzander's guidance.

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 5263-Thea immediately became the center of attention when she entered the hall.

She felt uncomfortable by their gazes, so she refrained from speaking.

Xzander knelt on the ground and said, "My lord, I've brought the princess back." The man in the highest seat looked at Thea and said, "She looks almost identical to her mother." Thea looked at the black-robed man and asked, "A-Are you my biological father?" The man stood up, descended from the platform, and stopped before Thea. He held her hand and said tenderly, "You've suffered a lot all these years. I'm glad you made it back." Thea was unfamiliar with facing the father she had never met before. She pulled her hand from his grasp and stepped backward.

The black-robed man was Talvelai Mabins, the Mevryee Race's Leader and also a powerful cultivator.

Talvelai was not angry that Thea refused his affection. Instead, he said smilingly, "Bring the princess to rest."

Soon, a maid approached and led Thea away.

After Thea left the hall, a powerhouse of the Mevryee Race stood up and said, "Now that the princess has returned, we can proceed with the alliance with the Yeftero Race. We've just resolved our internal conflict, and if we don't ally with them, it'll be hard for us to gain a foothold among the Primitive Races."

"I agree, my lord. The Yeftero Race is also one of the Four Ancient Races. We must form the alliance as soon as possible."

Many of the Mevryee Race's powerhouses expressed their opinions.

Talvelai frowned and massaged his forehead. He replied, "The princess has just returned. If I ask her to marry into the Yeftero Race right away, I'm afraid she won't agree to it."

“The princess doesn’t have a say in this matter.”

“As a descendant of the Mevryees, it’s required of her to make sacrifices.”

“Moreover, the Yefteros are one of the Four Ancient Races. They are a powerful force. Many Primevals would die for a chance to marry into the Yefteros. It’s a blessing for the princess.”

A few of the Mevryees’ powerhouses spoke out.

Talvelai responded, “We’ll discuss this later.”

After arriving in the Mevryees’ territory, Thea was treated with the utmost respect as deserved by the princess. Even the maids serving her were at the Petit Celestial Rank, which was much higher than hers.

After staying in the Mevryees for some time, Talvelai came to speak with her.

‘Thea.’ Talvelai smiled brightly.

Thea sat in a yard and looked at Talvelai, who was approaching. She responded to him with a light nod.

Talvelai walked over, sat beside her, and started a conversation. He talked about the Mevryees’ history and the internal conflict that had happened recently.

“Although the internal conflict has been solved, the Mevryees’ foundation is the worst amongst the Four Ancient Races. We urgently need to ally with either of the other three Ancient Races. I’ve already formed an alliance agreement with the Yefteros. To show my sincerity, I’ll have to marry you off into the Yefteros.”

Thea immediately stood up and said, “No! I’m not marrying anyone!”

Talvelai also stood up and attempted to calm her, saying, “Don’t be mad, Thea.”

The Yefteros are a potent force. So many other women would die for a chance to marry into them. It’s a great blessing for you.”

Thea stared at Talvelai and said, “Even so, I’ll immediately leave if you force me to get married.”

Talvelai's face darkened, and he said coldly, "As a member of the Mevryees, you have no right to refuse. Whether you like it or not, you must marry into the Yefteros. Think about your children in the Endlos Plane. Don't force me to kill them."

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 5264-Although James had hidden the Endlos Plane, the Mevryees were one of the Dark World's Four Ancient Races. Thus, it was easy for them to find the place.

Talvelai had already investigated Thea thoroughly. He knew she had a very high status in the Endlos Plane and already had children.

Despite Talvelai's reluctance to force Thea, he had to as it concerned the survival of the Mevryees. For the sake of their race, he was willing to sacrifice anything. Moreover, Thea's marriage to the Yefteros was not much of a sacrifice in his eyes.

"You..." Thea trembled with anger.

Talvelai's cold expression eased up, and he said, "I don't want to do this either, Thea. Everything I do is for our race. As a descendant of the Meevryees, you must shoulder the responsibility of revitalizing the race. Your future husband is a terrifying genius from the Yefteros. It's not a loss for you.

"For the sake of your family, you should think about it carefully."

Thea's eyes became moist, and she instantly fell to her chair. Not long ago, she thought she was strong enough to protect her children. However, she was far from strong enough.

'What should I do?' Thea felt helpless. She did not know much about the Mevryees except that they were incredibly powerful. She would be unable to stop them from harming her loved ones if she refused to marry.

'I have to find James and discuss this with him.' Thea thought hard about it and finally decided to meet James. After making up her mind, she took the initiative to meet with Talvelai.

She looked at Talvelai and said, "I agree to the marriage, but you must give me some time. I'd like to go to the Central Plane."

Talvelai immediately saw through Thea's plan. He said calmly, "You shouldn't place too much hope on James. I admit he was indeed an amazing powerhouse in his past life. However, he wouldn't stand a chance against us or the Yefteros even in his past life's prime. If you go look for him, the Yefteros will find out about your relationship, and he will be in trouble. You'll also be doomed."

Thea was stunned. After a while, she shouted, "Why me?!" She stared at Talvelai and said, "As the Mevryees' Leader, you should have other descendants as well. You already know I have a partner and a family. Why do you insist I get married into the Yefteros?"

Talvelai replied helplessly, "If there were someone else who could've taken up the responsibility, I wouldn't let you marry into their race. You have a Tenebrous Body and can absorb any kind of power without needing to refine it. Your body is a great vessel. Whoever marries you will be able to continuously extract powers from your body, and it'll save one a lot of hard work."

A Tenebrous Body was the most magical physique in the Dark World, which mostly only existed in ancient texts. It was a rumor that long ago, a peerless powerhouse among the Primevals gained tremendous strength and improved rapidly because he had a maid with a Tenebrous Body and could continuously extract power from her.

Talvelai would have never agreed to marry Thea off if it were not for their race's instability. He knew the leaders of the Ancient Races, the Yefteros, were behind the internal conflict within their race. However, there was nothing he could do.

The Mevryees were so much weaker than the Yefteros. They would face a crisis if Thea did not marry into the Yefteros. For the peace of the Mevryees, Talvelai had no other choice.

Thea fell silent. After a while, she said, "I want to go to the Central Plane to see James."

Talvelai replied, "I would advise you not to. The Yefteros aren't aware that you grew up in the Endlos Plane and are clueless about your life there. If you go to the Central Plane to meet James right now, everything about you will be exposed. Even if James were at his past life's prime, the Yefteros could still easily obliterate him." 4

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 5265-“I...” Thea’s eyes became watery. Shortly after, crystal tears rolled down her cheeks.

Talvelai sighed and said, “Yui Yeftero is the Yefteros’ greatest prodigy. The Yefteros will do whatever it takes to help him improve. If they find out about your life, they will kill James and destroy the entire Endlos Plane. You should think about it carefully.”

Thea froze on the spot. Initially, she planned to see James and discuss a countermeasure. However, she understood it was already out of the question.

She asked with tears in her eyes, “Then, can I at least see him one last time? I won’t approach him. I’ll just look at him from afar.”

Thea wanted to know how James was coping in the Central Plane.

Talvelai said, ‘You can secretly see him from afar. I’ll send powerhouses to escort you to the Central Plane. However, remember you’re not allowed to make any contact with James. To the Yefteros, you’re already their asset. If they find out you’ve come in contact with another man, they won’t let him live.’”

Thea left with a burdened heart, returning to the spiritual mountain where she resided. She thought coming to the Mevryees was a blessing, but instead, it was a nightmare.

She was resolute to only be with James, and no other man was allowed to lay hands on her.

Therefore, she planned to see James one last time. Then, she would pretend to go along with the marriage and take her life on the wedding day. She would never lay with another man.

Her only last concern was James. She already knew about James’ past life.

After learning about the Supremusseum’s battle, she understood how much hatred was in James’ heart and was angry that she could not share his burden.

Thea sat in the manor’s yard in a daze. Talvelai suddenly appeared and was accompanied by an ordinary middle-aged man wearing a gray robe.

Talvelai pointed at the man beside him and said, "Thea, this is a confidant of mine. He is at the early stage of the Holy Celestial Rank and is among the best powerhouses in the Mevryees. He'll be escorting you to the Central Plane. You can ask him to help you with anything as long as it isn't unreasonable or overboard."

"The Holy Celestial Rank?" Thea looked at the man beside Talvelai. She never expected the Mevryees to so casually send her an escort at the Holy Celestial Rank. He was even stronger than James in his past life.

"It's an honor to meet you, Princess." The middle-aged man knelt on one knee.

Thea quickly responded, "Please stand."

The man obeyed and stood up.

Talvelai waved his hand and said, "Go on. But I must remind you, don't expose yourself for the sake of James and the Endlos Plane. If the Yefteros found out, the consequences will be grave."

Thea nodded gently in response.

"Let's go, Princess," the middle-aged man said.

Thea quickly left the area and rushed to the Central Plane without hesitation.
