

Read The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 5305

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 5305-Latrusse continued, "In the outer planes, the Holy Celestial Rank is a legend for ordinary living beings, something passed down by the elders and recorded in ancient scrolls. Nobody has actually seen the Holy Celestial Rank. However, in the Primeval Races within the Dark World, the Holy Celestial Rank is not a legend. The legend is the Transcendental Bliss Rank."

"What is the Transcendental Bliss Rank?" Lemuel asked.

Latrusse explained, "The Transcendental Bliss Rank is exactly what it sounds like, being entirely free from emotions and sentiment. It is said that reaching this realm means one no longer experiences the seven emotions and six desires that living beings possess."

"Then why pursue this realm? Even if one reaches it, what's the point?" Lemuel responded, showing little regard for it.

Latrusse said, "Leaving aside whether this realm actually exists, even if it does, there would undoubtedly be powerhouses aspiring to attain it. Who wouldn't want to possess unrivaled power, to be the best? Even if one becomes emotionally detached, what difference would it make?"

Lemuel and Latrusse chatted in the tomb, delving into the Transcendental Bliss Rank.

Latrusse continued, "Perhaps the Transcendental Bliss Rank is the ultimate goal of cultivation, the endpoint. I can't imagine what one would need to cultivate or how to further enhance their power once they reach this rank."

Lemuel said, "Let's not talk about the Transcendental Bliss Rank. Even the Holy Celestial Rank is a dream for countless living beings. Among the Primeval Races of the Dark World, the Central Plane, and countless planes, how many living beings can actually reach such a realm?"

"That's true." Latrusse nodded and added, "The Holy Celestial Rank is already the top-tier rank among the Primeval Races. A single Holy Celestial Rank powerhouse can protect the entire Primeval Race, enabling them to stand firm in the chaotic Dark World."

While they chatted, the ice continued to accumulate on James' body, and he transformed into an ice sculpture. This scene persisted for a long while.

"It's happening," Latrusse said as he saw the scene. "This brat should be close to mastering the Ice Curse and comprehending the supreme inscriptions of the Glaciem Race."

Crack!

At that moment, a cracking sound resounded. The ice on James' body shattered, releasing an intense chill. Even Lemuel and Latrusse took a few steps back.

The ice on James' body cracked open, and the inscriptions around his body disappeared. He slowly stood up from the ground, dispersed the time formation around him, and stretched his muscles. He felt the power of the Sovereign Sixth Rank within his body. A smile played on his lips.

"Have you figured it out?" Lemuel asked.

Latrusse also looked at James. While he speculated that James had comprehended the Ice Curse, it was still an assumption because he had never seen what the Ice Curse was like.

"Of course," James said with confidence. "How can the inscriptions of a mere Primeval Races pose a challenge to me?"

"That's great," Latrusse could not contain his excitement. "With the mastery of the Ice Curse, we're getting closer to breaking the final seal. Once I get the Ice Sword, I will have a chance to confront the Flamma Race."

"Why all this talking? Quickly break the Seal Boundary," Lemuel said impatiently.

James glanced at Latrusse and asked, "Sir, if the Ice Sword is found after the final seal is broken, would you consider taking me into the Dark World to meet those Primeval Races?"

Upon hearing this, Latrusse furrowed his brow and replied, "Brat, I'd advise against it. The Primeval Races are all extremely arrogant, considering living beings from outer planes as inferior and insignificant. Going there won't earn you any favors, and survival will be challenging."

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 5306-The Primevals in the Dark World considered themselves superior and looked down upon the living beings from outside planes. They also scorned traveling to outside planes.

“I’m determined to confront these Primevals in the Dark World,” James said with a severe expression. He then asked, “Could you please share some information about the leader of the Four Ancient Races from the Dark World, the Yeftero Race?”

Latrusse looked at James and asked, “The Yeftero Race? Why are you asking about them?”

“Just curious.”

“Brat, curiosity can be lethal. I advise you not to dig too deep.”

On the side, Lemuel chimed in, “His wife is about to be taken by the Yefteros.”

“Oh?” Latrusse’s interest was piqued.

James wore a helpless expression as he said, “My wife is a princess of the Mevryees, and I’ve learned that the Mevryees intend to ally with the Yefteros through a marriage arrangement, which means they want to marry off my wife.”

“Your wife is Thea Mabins, the princess of the Mevryee Race?” Latrusse was surprised. “There have been rumors that the Mevryee Race has a princess who possesses the Tenebrous Body. However, no one has ever seen Thea Mabins until recently, when the rumors that she will marry Yui Yeftero from the Yeftero Race sprang up.”

“You’ve been guarding this place for a long time. How do you know all this?”

James looked at Latrusse with suspicion.

Latrusse smiled and said, “Although I’ve been stationed here for a long time, I still keep myself updated on some major events in the Dark World. The news about Thea Mabins has been widely discussed recently, and my race specifically sent me the news.”

“Tell me about the Yefteros then.”

“Okay, since you’re determined,” Latrusse said. ‘The Yeftero Race is the leader among the Four Ancient Races from the Dark World. Their clan leader has an extremely high cultivation base. It’s said that they reached the peak of the Consummation Holy Celestial Rank countless years ago and are rumored to have taken half a step into the Transcendental Bliss Rank, there are numerous powerhouses at the Holy Celestial Rank among the Yefteros, and even the young talents are close to reaching that rank.”

‘This time, Thea Mabins is supposed to marry one of Yefteros’ geniuses, Yui Yeftero. He’s known as the leader among the Four Princes from the Dark World and is proficient in the primitive inscriptions of different races.

According to the information I received, he’s currently on the verge of reaching the Holy Celestial Rank. If he marries Thea, he’s expected to achieve the peak of the Consummation Holy Celestial Rank in a very short time.”

With these words, he looked at James and said, “I admit you have some talent, but with your current cultivation realm level, any powerhouse from the Yefteros could defeat you many times over. If you don’t want to die, it’s best not to provoke them.” 1 Upon hearing this, James clenched his fist involuntarily.

“James, if it doesn’t work out, just give up. Given your potential and background, countless extraordinary talents would gladly come to you,” Lemuel consoled him.

“I’m determined to confront the Yefteros,” James said with a determined expression.

“You’re brave.” Latrusse gave him a thumbs-up.

James looked at Latrusse and said, “Senior, all you need to do is bring me to the Primevals in the Dark World.”

Latrusse looked at James and said, “With your current strength, going to the Yeftero Race is a death wish. Since you insist on seeking death, my advice won’t matter.” With these words, James felt reassured. He asked, “Do you know where I can find rare materials to refine a new physical body?”

Latrusse looked at James and asked, “Could it be that all your efforts to find the Ulus are so you can use it to create an immortal body?”

“Hmm?” James was momentarily surprised. He had not considered using the Ulus to create an immortal body. He simply wanted to use the myriad Genesis Paths to refine a new physical body. Now, Latrusse’s words sparked an idea.

“You could say that.” He nodded.

Latrusse continued, “Even if you manage to obtain the Ulus and collect unique treasures to craft a new body, it won’t be enough to contend with the Yefteros.

Your cultivation realm is too low.”

James responded, ‘Til take it one step at a time. Without finding a solution, I’ll never be able to stand against them.”

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 5307-“Very determined. I like that,” Latrusse smiled and said, “If you’re seeking rare materials, you’ll have to go to the Tenebrae’s black market. It’s filled with rare materials that are seldom found in the outside world. The arena in the black market has even more. As long as you have the strength, it’s possible to defeat a Tenebrae.”

“The arena in the black market?” James looked puzzled.

Latrusse explained, “As the name suggests, it involves fighting in the battle arena. Before the fights, they verify your cultivation realm, and then they match you with living beings of corresponding realms to fight. If you win, you continue, and of course, you can challenge opponents at higher realms for even greater rewards.”

Latrusse briefly described the Dark World’s black market arena.

“During the fights, many big shots place bets. If you win, you’ll get all the items that were wagered.”

Lemuel asked, “What if I lose?” “You die,” Latrusse answered flatly.

James silently took note of the information. He intended to explore the black market in the Dark World once he found the Ulus.

“Having said all that, can you please open the final seal?” Latrusse was growing impatient.

James nodded lightly and walked towards the stone door ahead, standing in front of it.

On the stone door, there were mysterious lines crisscrossing, giving it an air of enigma. James raised his hand, and some mysterious inscriptions appeared in his palm. With a flick of his hand, the inscriptions floated toward the door, then disappeared into it.

At that moment, a chilling sensation swept over them. The mystical lines on the stone door became active, constantly flickering and changing positions.

Crack!

Soon, a sound rang out. The Ice Curse on the stone door was dispelled, and some rocks fell off, revealing an ordinary stone door in their sight.

James was the first to walk over and gently pushed the door open. What they saw was a seemingly ordinary stone chamber.

Lemuel and Latrusse also entered the stone chamber.

Latrusse looked at the surroundings, furrowing his brows, and asked, "Why is there nothing here?" James also inspected the chamber. It was not large, with stone walls all around, and it appeared empty.

"There are hidden compartments," Lemuel pointed to a section of the stone wall.

Latrusse walked over and lightly pressed on the wall. At that moment, a small door opened. Inside was an exquisite box. He took it out and opened it. An ancient scroll was put inside. He curiously unrolled it.

James and Lemuel leaned in to see. The characters on the scroll were unique but familiar to all three of them. These were the last words left by the Glaciem Lord before he passed away. On the ancient scroll, the whereabouts of the three Glaciem treasures were recorded.

'Our race possesses three treasures. They are the Ulus, the Ice Spirit, and the Ice Sword. The clues to these three treasures lie within my daughter, who possesses the rare Glaciem Profound Body. My race may perish, but my daughter cannot die. Before the Glacies' calamity, I sealed my daughter in a safe location. If future generations come to this place and follow the map on this scroll to find my daughter, release her from her seal, and nurture her growth, then they will obtain the three treasures of our tribe.' At the end of the ancient scroll was a map.

After reading the contents of the ancient scroll, James, Lemuel, and Latrusse exchanged glances.

“What a hassle,” Latrusse grumbled with a touch of annoyance. “Making me run around again all just for an Ice Sword.”

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 5308-While the Ice Sword was a valuable treasure, it did not offer significant benefits to someone at Latrusse’s level. He needed the Ice Sword for his planned confrontation with the Flamma Race, as it was their bane.

James looked at the map on the ancient scroll and then at Latrusse, asking, “What place is this?” Latrusse carefully looked at the map for a while before responding, “The map marks a restricted zone in the Dark World called the Death Triangle.”

“What’s the history of the Death Triangle?” Lemuel could not help but ask.

Latrusse explained, “In the Dark World, dangerous regions, regions that are unpopulated by the Primevals or can threaten Holy Celestial Rank powerhouses are called restricted zones.

“I don’t know much about the Death Triangle. I’ve only looked through some records. There are rumors that it’s shaped like a triangle, hence the name. As for what it’s like inside, I have no idea. I’ve never been there, and I haven’t paid much attention to it.”

After hearing this, James said, “Let’s go explore the Death Triangle and find the Glaciem princess sealed within. We can obtain the Glacies’ three treasures from her.”

Latrusse nodded and said, “Yes, we can only go to the Death Triangle now. However, it’s a bit of a distance, so it will take some time. Since you’re looking for rare materials, we’ll pass through the area where the Yefteros reside on our way to the Death Triangle. The Yeftero Race is the leader among the Four Ancient Races from the Dark World, and within their territory, you’ll find the largest black market in the Dark World.”

Upon hearing this, James’ interest was piqued. He was confident in his ability to participate in the battle arena.

Although he was currently only at the early stage of the Sovereign Sixth Rank, he possessed various Supernatural Signature Skills, especially his Tressencia Completare Art, which was extremely powerful.

“Agreed.” James nodded.

“Let’s go,” Latrusse said as he put away the ancient scroll.

Subsequently, the three of them left the tomb.

As they exited the tomb, a powerful force erupted from within, causing the tomb to collapse instantaneously. Following this, the surrounding mountain ranges also crumbled and disappeared, leaving the area in disarray.

James and the others quickly left the area and soon found themselves in the Dark World. Guided by Latrusse, James and Lemuel swiftly navigated through the Dark World.

In the Dark World, it seemed that time could not be sensed. Time felt like it had passed for an eternity, yet it also felt like it had passed in an instant. During this journey, they encountered many regions in the Dark World. However, Latrusse chose not to enter any of them.

“We’ve arrived,” a voice suddenly sounded in the darkness.

Latrusse came to a halt and pointed at an area that had appeared in the Dark World. He said, “This is the place. It’s also the core area of the Dark World, and the most prosperous region.”

James looked at the spatial ahead, his expression filled with gravity, and muttered, “Is this where the Yefteros reside?” Latrusse glanced at him but did not say much, then continued walking. With a step forward, he entered the area. James and Lemuel followed closely behind.

As they entered, James immediately felt an intense and oppressive force emanating from the heavens and the earth. He sensed that the spatial structure here was extraordinarily sturdy, and he also felt a mysterious power in the surroundings

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 5309-“This is the Yeftero Race’s territory,” Latrusse explained. ” The regions in the Dark World are different from those in the outside planes. In each plane, there are countless galaxies and stars. However, the space here does not have universes or voids. It consists of one complete continent.”

He briefly explained the differences between the space in the Dark World and the outside planes. Other than this, there were not many differences.

“You probably haven’t been to the internal worlds of the Dark World yet. This time, I’ll show you around. Those so-called treasures and terrific secret Supernatural Art in the outside planes mean nothing among the Primevals of the Dark World. As long as you have the Genesis Path Stone, you can exchange them for everything you need.”

James could not help but ask, “What is the Genesis Path Stone?”

Lemuel was also curious. Although he was a Holy Celestial Rank powerhouse, he had never been to the Dark World and was not very familiar with the Primevals of the Dark World.

Latrusse explained, “Genesis Path Stone, also known as Dark Stone, is the universal currency in the Dark World. Each Genesis Path Stone contains extremely potent power that can be directly absorbed and refined. Inside the stone, there is also the Dark Genesis Path concealed within. In simpler terms, it’s somewhat akin to the Genesis Path in outside planes.”

After this explanation, both James and Lemuel understood. Guided by Latrusse, they traversed one city after another, eventually arriving outside a bustling and majestic city.

The city was vast, and at first glance, its end could not be seen.

‘This is Yeffero City, a city under the Yefferos’ control, and one of the top cities in the Dark World,” Latrusse introduced it to them.

James and Lemuel followed him into the city.

Upon entering, they found wide streets with shops lining both sides and vendors at the entrance of these shops, selling a variety of items. James looked around and was taken aback. At any random stall, he spotted a Genesis Holy Herb. He could not help but swallow hard.

Latrusse smiled and said, “It’s just a first-grade Genesis Holy Herb, nothing too prestigious. In the Yeffero Race’s treasure pavilion, eight or nine-grade Genesis Holy Herbs are abundant, and there are even Genesis Path Herbs that surpass the Genesis Holy Herb. As long as you have the strength and Genesis Path Stone, you can have anything you want.”

James took a deep breath. The Dark World was indeed extraordinary, and far more powerful than the outside planes.

“Shall we browse around or go directly to the black market?” Latrusse asked James.

“Let’s go to the black market,” James replied.

Right now, he only wanted to gather the materials needed for refining his new body as quickly as possible. Once he obtained the Ulus, he would find a place to seclude himself for the refining process.

“Alright, follow me,” Latrusse said with a smile and walked ahead.

Under his guidance, James and Lemuel arrived at a spiritual mountain in the city. This mountain was quite mystical.

When looked at from a distance, there were numerous folded spaces in the sky, with each space being a battle arena. Surrounding these arenas were various items and goods.

Latrusse stood outside the spiritual mountain and explained, ‘These are the battle arenas of the black market. Anyone can place bets, and if you win the bet, you can obtain more items. If you lose, you only lose your wager. This is a place for a fresh start, but it’s also a place where countless living beings have faced doom. In any case, this is a great place. As for how great, you’ll find out soon.”

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 5310-Guided by Latrusse, James and Lemuel followed the path toward the spiritual mountain. As they arrived at the foot of the mountain, they were blocked by some guards.

These guards had exceptionally strong cultivation realms, all of them reaching the peak of the Great Celestial Rank, and the captain of the guard was even the Martial Celestial Rank powerhouse.

James took a deep breath. A Martial Celestial Rank powerhouse, in the context of the outside planes, would be considered a high-level Plane Lord at the very least.

However, here in the deepest part of the Dark World, he was only guard captain.

Latrusse quickly explained to James and Lemuel, "They are just verifying your assets."

With that, he casually revealed a storage magical treasure and slightly opened it, revealing numerous Genesis Path Stones inside. When the guards saw this, they immediately understood that Latrusse was extraordinary and did not dare to be negligent. They promptly made their way.

"Let's go," Latrusse said and entered the mountain.

Upon entering the spiritual mountain, an alluring woman approached. She appeared very young, possibly in her twenties, wearing a colorful dress that revealed a bewitching allure.

"Three of you, what would you like to do?" the woman asked, swaying her alluring figure.

"We're here for a fight," Latrusse directly replied.

"You? Fight?" The woman glanced at Latrusse and smiled, "The clan leader of the Taeyton Race comes here to fight? How many living beings in the entire Dark World can accompany you in this endeavor?"

Latrusse's identity was recognized, but he remained calm. As a middle-stage Holy Celestial Rank powerhouse, his strength was one of the strongest in the Dark World.

Latrusse pointed at James and said, "Of course not me, it's this young man." The woman glanced at James, knowing that he was only at the early stage of Sovereign Sixth Rank. She smiled and nodded, saying, "Since you're here, you should know the rules. What kind of treasures can you bring to the table?"

James looked puzzled at Latrusse.

Latrusse explained, "What kind of treasures you can offer depends on what others are willing to stake against you."

"Let's go and assess your cultivation realm first," the woman said.

James nodded lightly and followed her.

Latrusse followed closely and explained, "Brat, don't underestimate this woman.

She's in charge of this spiritual mountain and the living beings of the Yeftero Race. She holds a high position among the Yefteros. Don't be misled by her beauty and try to woo her, or else you might find yourself in a tough spot."

James was not concerned about such matters. Latrusse continued to explain, "The fight is relatively straightforward. If you want to participate, you'll need to put up some treasures as your wager. The person in charge will match you with opponents according to your cultivation realm. The gamblers from the outside world may be interested in the treasures you wager, so they place their bets. Of course, the Yefteros will also put up equivalent treasures as stakes."

"The gamblers make their bets. If they bet on you to win, and you do, they receive the treasures put up by the Yeftero Race. If they lose, the treasures they wagered go into the prize pool. If you continue winning, the items in the prize pool will accumulate. This will attract more gamblers to bet."

After hearing Latrusse's explanations, James understood. Soon, he was taken to a room on the spiritual mountain.

Upon the woman's signal, James entered the room. It was a sealed room with mystical inscriptions covering the walls. As soon as he entered, these inscriptions came to life, as if they had a life of their own.

Then, a mysterious force swept over him. It did not harm him in any way, but James felt it entering his body and examined everything about him.

Outside the room, there was an illusionary screen on the wall.