The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 5346-The group stood in the bleak and barren land.

James looked around and said, "According to the map, we've already arrived.

But this area looks like an ancient battlefield.

I don't see the Glacies' Princess." Latrusse observed their surroundings and said, "Back away." Lemuel pulled James, taking a few steps backward.

Latrusse activated his powers, and a powerful force permeated the air.

The gravel on the ground rolled into the air, and a bottomless pit appeared in their sight.

They walked over to the pit and stared down, finding no end in sight.

"It must be down there.

However, I sense a very powerful formation.

It should also be formed with the Glacies' primitive inscriptions.

We're counting on you, Forty-nine," said Latrusse.

James nodded lightly in response.

The group groped into the abyss, slowly descending to the bottom.

Soon, they reached a formation blocking their path.

The formation was made with Ice Curse.

Even great powerhouses would find it hard to break, but it was a piece of cake to James.

With some time, he could decipher the formation.

James set up a time formation and started to analyze the formation.

Hundreds of years passed by in the blink of an eye.

James had already understood the principles of the formation.

He explained it to Latrusse, entrusting him to break the formation.

Soon, the formation was shattered.

The trio continued descending the pit and soon reached the bottom.

A stone door appeared in their sight.

However, it was also protected by a profound formation.

Latrusse and Lemuel stared at the formation but could not identify the inscriptions.

James looked at Latrusse and asked, “What kind of inscriptions are they? Do you recognize them?” Latrusse shook her head lightly and said, “No, I don’t know what inscriptions they are.

They don’t look like the Glaciem Race’s primitive inscriptions.

This is so strange.

The Glacies sealed their princess here but didn’t use their own inscriptions.

Did the Glacies’ leader also master the primitive inscriptions of another race?” Latrusse was confused by the situation.

Lemuel looked at James and asked, “Can you decipher it?” James replied solemnly, “The inscriptions are profound.

They are so much more advanced than the inscriptions I’ve encountered in the past.

I don’t understand them.

Studying and comprehending them will take me a long time.” Latrusse massaged his forehead, saying, “This is a headache.

I thought getting the Ice Sword was going to be easy.

I wasn't expecting it to be so complicated." Swoosh! At that moment, a figure flashed past them.

Latrusse and Lemuel quickly turned around but found nothing behind them.

James asked, "What's wrong?" "IT sense a bizarre aura." Lemuel frowned.

Latrusse released his Zen to the surrounding area but found nothing unusual.

He said solemnly, "This can't be.

I definitely sensed something just now.

How did it disappear so fast and leave no traces behind?" "What's that?" James suddenly pointed at a stone wall in the distance.

Latrusse and Lemuel looked in the direction he pointed at.

On the stone wall, there was a dark shadow attached to it.

Swoosh! The shadow disappeared and suddenly manifested in front of them.

The three of them backed away.

After the shadow manifested, they could see it was a man dressed in a black robe.

He was expressionless, and his eyes emitted a faint red glow.

He stared at the group blankly.

James had goosebumps just from his gaze.

"What the hell is that? It's so strange." James took another step backward and stared at the man warily.

Latrusse noticed something and said, "It doesn't have a body under the black robe." "It's a fragmented soul," Lemuel continued his sentence.

At that moment, the shadowy figure suddenly attacked.

Latrusse and Lemuel quickly sprung into action to block his attack.

However, they were blasted away upon impact and slammed into the stone wall behind them.

The wall was destroyed and formed a pile of rubble.

They climbed out in disheveled states and spat out blood.

The shadowy figure managed to injure both of them with just one blow.

He stood motionless in the same spot.

Without saying a word, he stared at the uninvited guests before him.

Latrusse and Lemuel looked at each other with fear in their eyes.

Lemuel immediately performed the Feimsurge Art, and his aura transformed.

His physical strength, bloodline power, and overall strength improved significantly.

Soon, he had entered the Feimsurge Art's final stage, Eternity.

He could fight a powerhouse at the Holy Celestial Rank's late stage with his current strength.

The shadowy figure raised his hand and blocked the attack.

A powerful force rippled through the void and caused cracks to form around them.

The damage continued to spread but was quickly repaired by a mysterious force.

After the confrontation, Lemuel felt his arm go numb.

A potent force permeated his body, and he stumbled backward in pain.

The shadowy figure took a few steps backward to stabilize himself.

He then suddenly disappeared, seemingly afraid of Lemuel.

Lemuel's face twisted in pain.

"Are you alright?" James asked worriedly.

Lemuel dispersed the Feimsurge Art, shook his head, and said, "It's nothing serious."

That guy was really strong.

I used the Feimsurge Art and struck him with all my strength.

However, he managed to block my attack without much effort." Latrusse looked at where the man disappeared with a thoughtful expression.

James looked at him and asked, "What's wrong? Did you notice something?" Latrusse took a deep breath and said, "The mysterious powerhouse and this strange place remind me of something." "What is it?" James and Lemuel asked in unison.

Latrusse replied solemnly, "One of the Glacies' greatest treasures, the Ice Spirit." "The Ice Spirit?" James and Lemuel were dumbfounded.

Latrusse nodded lightly and said, "Yeah."

There are many myths about the Ice Spirit, but apart from the Glacies, nobody knows what it is.

I heard a rumor that the Ice Spirit is a living being.

He's a Glaciem powerhouse who's reached the Transcendental Bliss Rank.

However, he encountered some kind of accident.

After that, his mind seemed to have gotten corrupted, and he became like a walking corpse.

Eventually, he was no longer considered a living being, but a tool.” Countless stories about the Ice Spirit had been circulating for a long time.

However, it was a mystery.

After seeing the powerful but fragmented soul without a body, Latrusse suddenly thought about one of the Glacies’ greatest treasures, the Ice Spirit.

James and Lemuel looked at each other with incredulous expressions.

“He became like that once he stepped into the Transcendental Bliss Rank after an accident?”

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 5348-James and Lemuel could not believe a treasure passed down among the Glacies’ was a powerhouse that had turned into a walking corpse.

I can’t be sure yet,” Latrusse explained.

Lemuel asked, “What should we do now? That guy was trying to prevent us from entering the stone gate.

If we don’t leave, he’ll surely come back again.” Latrusse was also at a loss.

After thinking for a while, he said, “ Let’s ignore him.

Forty-nine, focus on understanding the inscriptions here.

If that guy is the Ice Spirit and returns to attack us, then Lemuel and I will join forces to get rid of him.” Latrusse knew the mysterious powerhouse was terrifyingly strong and could crush him and Lemuel.

However, he lacked a body and did not seem intelligent.

Even if he had some kind of consciousness, it was incomplete.

He was a being with very low intelligence.

Thus, Latrusse concluded they could destroy him if they joined forces.

“Alright.” James quickly sat in a lotus position and set up a time formation without hesitation.

He planned to completely decipher the inscriptions.

At the same time, he could cultivate and improve his rank as much as possible.

James took out some Empyrean herbs and began to refine them.

Concurrently, he studied the inscriptions recorded on the stone door.

Latrusse and Lemuel waited outside the formation.

They sat down on boulders and began chatting out of boredom.

However, they did not let their guard down and continued to pay attention to their surroundings.

Time passed by quietly.

Soon, it was an epoch later.

James had spent a long period inside the time formation, amounting to several epochs.

Back when he was at the Sovereign Rank, he could improve rather quickly.

However, his cultivation progress slowed down after entering the Petit Celestial Rank.

Even with the countless resources on hand, he still had to work hard to gain new insight.

Although he spent many epochs in the time formation, he had only improved to the Petit Celestial Rank’s middle stage.

He could enter the late stage if he were to gain new insight.

Then, he could use some Empyrean herbs to reach the peak of the Petit Celestial Rank.

As for the inscriptions on the stone wall, James had some understanding of them.

His Tressencia Completare Art could also grow more potent now that he could integrate the new inscriptions into the formation.

James dispersed the time formation after reaching the Petit Celestial Rank's late stage.

Latrusse looked at James and said smilingly, "Congratulations on reaching a higher cultivation rank.

You're already at the Petit Celestial Rank's late stage.

I'm sure you'll reach the Great Celestial Rank soon." Lemuel, on the other hand, did not care much about James' cultivation rank.

He was more concerned with whether James had understood the inscriptions.

He asked, "Did you decipher the inscriptions?" James nodded lightly and said, "Yeah.

I've already comprehended them.

These are actually the Glaciem Race's primitive inscriptions.

However, they were slightly modified.

Without prior knowledge of their primitive inscriptions, it'll impossible to notice." "Then why are you still standing there? Hurry and break the formation." Latrusse was excited.

"although I've comprehended the inscriptions, I need potent force to activate them.

I'm not strong enough.

I'll need you two to take action." James shared his understanding and instructed them on how to break the formation.

Latrusse and Lemuel urged their powers, broke the formation, and easily opened the stone door.

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 5349-The group thought the mysterious powerhouse would reappear after the stone door opened.

However, they were wrong.

The man they suspected to be the Ice Spirit did not make another appearance.

The trio carefully walked through the stone door.

Beyond the door was an ordinary stone chamber with a crystal coffin in the center.

They walked over and pushed open the lid.

A beautiful woman with long black hair was lying in the crystal coffin.

A white dress clung to her delicate body.

She had crystal clear skin, and a thin layer of frost covered her body.

“This should be the Glacies’ Princess, right?” “I remember she has a special physique.

I think it’s called a Glaciem Profound Body.” Lemuel and Latrusse stared at the woman lying inside the coffin.

James casually waved his hand and summoned a few inscriptions.

Mysterious powers emerged from the inscriptions and submerged into the woman’s body, gradually lifting the seal placed on her.

The group watched intently as the seal was deactivated.

The woman slowly opened her eyes.

She was startled when the three unfamiliar men came into view and shouted, “Ahh!” She flashed out of the crystal coffin, distanced herself, and stared at the three men warily.

After sensing their cultivation ranks, she became even more nervous.

James took the initiative to speak and reassured her, “Don’t be scared.

We came to save you.” Qiyana closed her eyes, and memories of her past life flashed by.

Her eyes moistened, and tears rolled down her face.

She knew the Glacies were wiped out, and she was the only one left.

Latrusse, however, paid no regard to her emotions.

He said straightforwardly, “We found you based on the clues left behind by the Glacies.

Your father left hints and a message that whoever saved you would be rewarded with the Glacies’ three great treasures.

I want the Ice Sword.

” James seized his chance and said, “I want the Illus.” Qiyana looked at Lemuel and asked, “Then I assume you want the Ice Spirit?” Lemuel replied calmly, “I’m not interested, but if you insist, I’ll have no choice but to take it.” Qiyana’s eyes filled with tears, and a sorrowful smile lingered on her face.

Despite the contradicting emotions on her face, she looked truly mesmerizing.

She looked at the three men and asked, “Did my father’s message also mention protecting me until I grow strong enough?” Latrusse replied, “I think so.” Qiyana said, “My cultivation rank is lacking right now.

If I were to return to the public’s eye, I would be hunted down by my enemies.

I don’t need you guys to protect me for too long.

I just need to be escorted safely to the Glaciem Holy Land.

After cultivating for some time, I’ll hand the three treasures over.” Latrusse suddenly thought of something and asked, “By the way, what exactly is the Glacies’ Ice Spirit?” “Come in,” Qiyana suddenly gave an order.

Aman stiffly walked into the stone chamber and stopped before them.

When the three men saw the man, they stepped back in shock.

“This is the Glacies’ Ice Spirit,” Qiyana said calmly.

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 5350-None of them were too surprised that the man before them was the Ice Spirit.

After all, Latrusse had already suggested the possibility before.

Latrusse turned to Qiyana and asked curiously, "There are countless myths about the Glacies' Ice Spirit.

Could you enlighten us about it?" Qiyana fell into thought.

After a while, she took a deep breath and said, "There are indeed many stories about the Ice Spirit.

Most of them are false rumors, but some are real." The three men's curiosity was immediately piqued.

Qiyana looked at them and said, "His real name is Qairo Burrein.

He was a super genius of our race.

We've been secretly training him and never allowed him to make any public appearances.

He didn't let us down and kept improving steadily.

He entered the Holy Celestial Rank and ultimately reached the Quasi Bliss Rank." She paused for a while, then said, "While trying to enter the Transcendental Bliss Rank, something unexpected happened.

We integrated our race's precious treasure, the Ice Spirit, into his body.

We managed to save him, but he seemed to have no consciousness of his own and became like a walking corpse." Qiyana shared the Glacies' past event.

The group immediately realized the man before them was not called the Ice Spirit.

His name was Qairo Burrein, and the Ice Spirit was within him.

They were surprised he had reached such a high cultivation rank.

He was at the Quasi Bliss Rank but encountered an accident when he tried to enter the Transcendental Bliss Rank.

Even though he failed, the Quasi Bliss Rank was already a terrifying achievement even in the Dark World.

Qiyana looked at the three men and said, "I can give you the Illus and Ice Sword.

However, I can't hand over the Ice Spirit.

Without it, Qairo will die instantly." James said, "I just want the Illus." Latrusse quickly joined in, saying, "I'll take the Ice Sword." Lemuel frowned and said, "Logically speaking, you can go anywhere in the Dark World since you have Qairo protecting you.

Why insist on going to the Glaciem Holy Land?" Before Qiyana could reply, Latrusse interrupted and explained, "The Glacies' territory was destroyed.

However, their core region didn't go down.

Unfortunately, the Four Ancient Races have powerhouses guarding that area, so we'll have to go against them.

It's a very troublesome task." James said nonchalantly, "I've nothing to worry about since I'm too weak.

It'll be up to you two to protect her." "Will that be alright with you two?" Qiyana looked at Latrusse and Lemuel.

She could sense they were at the Holy Celestial Rank's early and middle stages.

With them and Qairo, she should be able to enter the Glaciem Holy Land.

Latrusse replied, "Fine by me, as long as I get the Ice Sword.

Although I'm the Taeyton Race's Leader, I can change my appearance and aura." Qiyana turned to Lemuel, waiting for his response.

Lemuel looked at James and said, "I'll help you get the Illus.

However, you'll have to hand me the remaining Genesis Paths." "Deal," James replied with a smile.

"Thank you," Qiyana said gratefully.

Latrusse looked at her and asked, "What's worth the risk of entering the Glaciem Holy Land?" Qiyana answered, "I have an exceptional physique, and there's something there that can help me awaken it.

I must go there to awaken and understand my physique.

As long as I can activate it, I can enter the Holy Celestial Rank." James looked at Qiyana thoughtfully.

The Glacies had a feud with the Four Ancient Races.

Meanwhile, he had some beef with the Yefteros.

Thus, James began contemplating whether to join forces with Qiyana.

'An enemy of an enemy is an ally.' James quickly put away his thoughts.

Even if he joined forces, it was not the right time yet.
