The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 5389-A smile formed on the man's face. Then, he said, "Of course, I have a lot of information about them. However, can you afford to pay for it?"

James immediately summoned a few rare treasures and pushed them to the man without hesitation.

"Is this enough?" asked James.

"A Celestial Averile?!" the man exclaimed, evidently intrigued by one of the materials. His carefree attitude immediately vanished, and he said respectfully, "I'm Xael Marblemaw, the person in charge of the Heavenly Secrets Pavilion in the Flammaes' territory. May I ask for your names?"

James replied, "I'm Forty-nine. This is my senior, Qiya." "Oh, so you're Forty-nine?" Xael scanned James and said, "You're the person who won countless cultivation resources from the Yefteros' arena some time ago, right? It's a pleasure to meet you in person."

As the person in charge of the Heavenly Secrets Pavilion in the Flammaes' territory, it was only natural that Xael had heard about Forty-nine. He also knew Forty-nine was from the Central Plane and was an elder at the Dieux Academy.

"Yeah." James nodded lightly.

Xael said with a smile, "You're trying to gain information about the Flammaes because of the Taeytons, right?"

James looked at him and asked, "Do the two have some kind of grudge against each other?"

"Hold on. I'll go retrieve the information."

After speaking, Xael left the hall. A few moments later, he returned with an ancient scroll. He rolled the scroll open and said, "Many years ago, before Latrusse became the Taeytons' leader, he had gone on an adventure. While wandering the wild, he met with the Flammae's Saintess. The two fell in love and became partners."

“Unfortunately, their relationship was discovered by the Flammae, and she was forcibly brought back. The Flammae have a rule that their Saintess must remain a virgin.

However, she broke the rule and was detained in their forbidden area.”

Xoel briefly explained the series of events.

“After the Flammae’s Saintess was detained, Lactrusse worked hard to become the Taeytons’ Leader. He visited the Flammae many times, wanting to save his lover. However, his request was always met with rejection.

“Eventually, the Flammae made a condition for him to take their Saintess. They agreed to stop interfering with their relationship if he can break into their holy site and leave with her.”

“I see,” James replied.

Xoel continued, saying, “The Heavenly Secrets Pavilion knows Latrusse had been searching the Glacies’ ruins to find the Ice Sword, which can suppress the Flammae. His whereabouts have been unknown after he appeared with you at the Yefteros’ territory.”

He told him everything the Heavenly Secrets Pavilion knew about Latrusse.

Then, he looked at James and asked, “What else do you want to know?”

James replied, “I want to know about the Flammae’s situation. Has Latrusse shown up in the Flammaes’ territory yet?”

Xoel replied, “There’s not much movement in the Flammae’s territory right now, so he probably hasn’t come yet. Speaking of which...”

Suddenly, Xoel asked, “You were with Latrusse, right? Did he get the Ice Sword yet? From our intel, we know the Ice Sword is with the Glacies’ princess.

However, the princess’s whereabouts are unknown. We learned she had appeared in the Glaciem Holy Land very recently.

“She was accompanied by a man who claimed to be a disciple of Theognostos.

He fought with a few of the powerhouses of the Four Ancient Race, including the Yefteros' Saint.

"Some time ago, you had two powerhouses at the Holy Celestial Rank accompanying you, right? Was Latrusse one of them? Did you have anything to do with the incident at the Glaciem Holy Land?"

Xoel looked at James, waiting for his answer.

The Heavenly Secrets Pavilion's intelligence network was indeed terrifying. With just a few clues, they managed to connect the dots. They suspected the incident at the Glaciem Holy Land was related to James because Latrusse was trying to find the Ice Sword. On top of that, James had two powerhouses at the Holy Celestial Rank accompanying him. After putting two and two together, they hit the nail right on the head.

If the Heavenly Secrets Pavilion could have made such a guess, it was only natural the Yefteros had the same suspicion. However, nobody could be sure.

James replied calmly, "What does it have to do with me? I parted with them a long time ago."

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 5390-The Heavenly Secrets Pavilion's intelligence network was impressive. James had only revealed the Theognostos to powerhouses of the Four Ancient Races.

Yet, the Heavenly Secrets Pavillion had already acquired the information. That could only mean the Heavenly Secrets Pavilion's intelligent networks had penetrated the Ancient Races.

James quickly denied having anything to do with the incident to prevent becoming the prime suspect. Otherwise, it would be hard for him to get around in the Dark World.

"When I was with Latrusse, I learned about him having some kind of grudge against the Flammae, and he mentioned coming to the Flammae's territory. I suddenly recalled it when I arrived in the Flammae's territory, so I came to ask whether anything significant has happened here recently."

Xoel replied smilingly, "The Flammae's territory is relatively peaceful right now."

We've got insiders within the Flammae, so if Latrusse were to arrive, we would hear about it pretty soon."

"Do you have information about the other Elemental Primevals?" asked Qiyana.

"Oh?" Xoel turned to Qiyana and asked smilingly, "The Flammae are the last surviving race of the Elemental Primevals. Which race's information do you seek?"

Qiyana replied, "I'd appreciate it if you have information about the primitive inscriptions of the Tellures, Silvae, and Metalla."

Xoel smiled brightly and answered, "You've come to the right place. The Heavenly Secrets Pavilion knows everything about the Dark World. I can give you whatever information you need as long as the price is right."

James said, "I'm looking for the Elemental Primevals' primitive inscriptions.

However, the Tellures, Silvae, and Metalla have disappeared a long time ago.

Where can I find them?"

Xoel replied, "What's your offer?"

James asked, "What do you want?"

Xoel looked at James and said smilingly, "Everything you won from the Yefteros' arena."

James exclaimed, "Are you kidding me? Do you know how much resources I won from the arena? It amounts to the entire assets of a major race."

Xoel smiled faintly and replied, "I'm well aware. However, the information I can give you is really valuable. The information that will help restore a powerhouse at the Quasi Bliss Rank should cost as much. Once he recovers, the Dark World will be thrown into chaos. The power structure will also change significantly. It's quite a big matter. If you think about the aftermath it will bring about, we're not asking for much. Also, the information is confidential, so I'll have to bring you to our headquarters."

Qiyana's brows furrowed tightly.

'His deductive skills are exceptional. I only asked about the Elemental Primevals' primitive inscriptions, and he's already guessed my motive.' James was stunned.

Xoel said calmly, "You don't have to look at me like that. Although my cultivation rank is low, I'm the supervisor of a branch of the Heavenly Secrets Pavilion. I had to go through countless amounts of information and read a lot of ancient records in the headquarters to gain a vast knowledge of the Dark World's affairs.

"I know a great powerhouse was born in the Glacies. It was a secret to the world but not to the Heavenly Secrets Pavilion. We're aware the Glacies tried approaching the other Elemental Primevals to ask for their primitive inscriptions.

They needed the Elemental Curses to restore the powerhouse who had failed to break into the Transcendental Bliss Rank."

Xoel spoke very casually of these matters that were supposed to be secrets.

"We have information about the previous battle in the Glaciem Holy Land and a recording of it. The puppet refined by Theognostos is bullshit. We know he was the powerhouse that failed to enter the Transcendental Bliss Rank. Speaking of which..."
