Chapter 541

At the same time, several kilometers away from the village.

There was another house.

The Black Snake had already arrived before dawn.

At this moment, the Black Snake's phone rang. He answered the phone. "Black Snake, I've already sent Blake to the agreed village." "Is there no one else?" asked Black Snake.

"Don't worry. There is no one else."

Black Snake hung up the phone.

Then he made another phone call. "Head to the village to see."

After receiving the call, a Black Snake's subordinate dragged the fake James out of the village. Then, he found a car parked outside the village with a strange man.

Several of his subordinates stared at the fake James.

Black Snake quickly dodged and was furious. The middle-aged man got in the car with Blake and drove off.

Bang!

Gunshots echoed. Several kilometers away.

“F*ck...”

The Black Snake slammed the table, and the wooden table snapped in half. “Emperor! How dare you play me? This isn’t over.” The Black Snake’s face darkened terrifyingly.

“Black Snake...”

A subordinate hurried over and shouted, “Unknown forces have shown up and wiped out the village. They are heading in our direction!”

“Retreat.”

The Black Snake immediately gave an order. Then, he remembered James. He glanced at James, who was sitting calmly on the sofa, and grabbed onto his life-saving straw.

“James, only you can get me out of here now. Lead me out of this place. Call the Blithe King to come escort me!”

James smoked a cigarette calmly and said, “Are you giving me an order, Black Snake?”

“James, we agreed...” Before the Black Snake could finish speaking, a gun was pressed against his head. Little Sis, one of the top ten assassins, held a pistol to the Black Snake’s head. A dark expression flashed on her innocent face. She laughed coldly, “Black Snake, don’t move recklessly. I’m easily frightened and might kill you if my hands tremble.”

Chapter 542 The Black Snake did not dare to move with a gun against his head.

Although he ranked second on the assassins’ leaderboard, all the top assassins were present, and none were inferior to him in a duel.

“What do you mean by this, Black Dragon? I have been honest with you and even gave you the Dark Castle, but you’re turning against me?” The Black Snake said with a sullen expression.

James stood up and said calmly, “I don’t trust you. You’re hiding too much from me. Plus, you’re shrewd and scheming. From the moment you came to Cansington, you’ve been plotting against me and wanted to use me?”

“Never.

“I’m serious. I just want to save my boss. He saved my life. I would’ve died a long time ago if not for Blake. I would do anything to save him,” the Black Snake shouted.

“Kill him.”

The Black Snake's subordinates were frightened and did not dare to say a word. When the Black Snake died, his subordinates knelt directly on the ground. "Black Dragon, I'm willing to submit."

"Please spare me."

James did not have much sympathy for these people. Allowing them to live would only cause more harm to others.

"Kill them all."

Bang! Bang! Bang! Gunshots resounded in the house. Soon, the people he recruited walked out. "James, we've settled it." "Alright."

James nodded. Suddenly, a group of people approached them from a distance. The whole group was dressed in black suits and held on weapons. James observed their movements and immediately understood they were soldiers, not in military uniforms. Soon, hundreds of people appeared in front of the house and surrounded them.

The man in the lead frowned when he saw the man standing in front of the house. The middle-aged man's face darkened, and he whispered, "Emperor, the Black Dragon has been spotted."

Cansington, a secret room.

Chapter 543 The Emperor saw the Black Dragon standing in front of the house through the mini camera and he roared, "Damn it, Black Snake! How dare you play tricks on me?" "What should I do?" the man leading the team whispered. However, at this moment, another group of people rushed toward them from a distance,

“Put down your weapons and get on the ground!”

Aloud shout resounded.

The hundreds of people turned around and saw that they were surrounded by armed forces. Their expression changed immediately. These were the one thousand soldiers from the Black Dragon Army that James had brought from the Southern Plains.

Last night, he contacted Ronald to bring the team to lurk and wait for movements.

Ronald walked toward James and called, “James.”

took a deep breath. Finally, this

Thankfully nothing happened this time.

“James, what about those assassins? What arrangements do you have for them?” Ronald asked hesitantly.

James thought for a while and said, "Let's head back to Cansington first. After we're back, I'll ask the Blithe King to arrange legal identities for them. These people are incredibly strong and could come in handy in the future." "Alright." Ronald nodded.

James suddenly remembered something and ordered, "By the way, use the underground intelligence network to investigate Blake. I want all related information to him."

"Understood."

After James finished speaking, he closed his eyes and started to ponder. He was certain that the Emperor wanted him dead after this incident happened.

James was perplexed. He was no longer the Commander of the Southern Plains and no longer threatened the Emperor's position. Still, why did the Emperor want him dead?

At this moment, he began to doubt the King of Sol who was also the supreme commander of Sol, and the figure that stood on the top of the pyramid. The last time he entered the Capital, he had reached an agreement with Sol's Supreme Commander. The King of Sol wanted to use him to intensify the disputes in the government and have a big reshuffle in power. At this moment, James felt that he was also one of the targets to be gotten rid of. Even though he resigned, he had the Blade of Justice and the Black Dragon Army still obeyed his orders.

The Black Dragon Army guarded the Southern borders. The Southern Plains was a special place and perhaps only his death would allow the King of Sol to feel at ease. 'I hope it's different from what I'm thinking.' James let out a long sigh.

Chapter 544 James arrived in Cansington very soon. After arriving, he did not go home immediately. Instead, he brought the recruited assassins to the repair shop in the suburbs and to the headquarters of the underground intelligence network. Repair shop, secret underground basement. James sat on the sofa.

The assassins he recruited stood aside.

James' gaze swept over them one by one.

He felt a sharp pain in his wrist and the gun instantly fell to the ground. “I said I’ll give it to you. Then I’ll give it to you. Why are you trying to rebel against me? “Since there are no objections, we’ll go with it. Give me your accounts, and I’ll transfer the money first.”

The assassins did not dare to say anything and obediently gave their account numbers.

James kept his word and gave each of them 100 million.

After transferring the money, he instructed them, “You all stay here for the time being and don’t wander around. I’ll find a way to get you legal identities.”

“Understood.”

The assassins nodded and left one after another.

Sigh! After the assassins left, James sighed in relief. “James, what do we do next?” asked Ronald. James thought about it briefly and replied, “Investigate everything about Blake. The number one on the assassin leaderboard, the Assassin King, should be Blake, if I’m not mistaken. The Black Snake said this person had accumulated wealth for thirty years that was comparable to a whole country’s wealth. I need the money, so it would be best if I could get a hold of it.”

“Understood.”

“Also...”

Chapter 545 James ordered again, "Observe the Sovereign Antique Shop on Antique Street. See if there is any news about a box unearthed from the Prince of Orchid Mountain's ancient tomb from the Southern Plains. Notify me immediately if there is anything."

"Understood."

"By the way, check the backgrounds of those assassins. Bring their families to Cansington if possible. Also, buy them houses and find jobs for them. These assassins will be obedient if their families are in Cansington.

"Understood." Ronald nodded.

After James had made arrangements, he got up and left.

After walking out of the repair shop, a jeep drove by, and the car's window rolled down. The Blithe King showed his face and waved at James.

James walked over, opened the door, and got in the car. The Blithe King took out a cigarette and handed it over. Then, he asked, "Did anything happen last night?" James took the cigarette and smiled. "Do you think I'll still be here if something had happened?"

"The Red Flame Army was dispatched. Last night, some helicopters with the Red Flame Army soldiers and a prisoner landed in Cansington. I have no idea who it was, but the Red Flame has the privilege of enforcing the law anywhere in the county. I had no right to intervene."

After giving the order, James leaned back on the chair and closed his eyes.

Before arriving at the Callahans, May called James. “J– James, did everything go well?” “Yeah. It went well,” James replied.

“W–What about the Black Snake?” “Killed him.” James did not hide it from her and said, “That person is too scheming, and it’s not safe to keep him by my side.”

May, who was in Common Clinic, fell silent after hearing the news. After a few seconds, she pleaded, “C–Can I get his body back?” “I’m afraid that will be a bit difficult, The Emperor’s Red Flame Army cleaned up the battlefield, not mine. I’m no longer on duty and don’t have the right to request the Emperor for a corpse.”

“Alright. Understood.” May hung up the phone.

After hanging up, she cried,

She grew up with the Black Snake. They trained and fought side by side. The Black Snake had always taken good care of her, but now she could not even see him for the last time. James knew that May was grieving.

After thinking about it for a moment, James sent her a message.

(The Black Snake sent assassins to Mount Five Valley not just to capture me but also to kill you, ] James texted.

Quincy stayed with her throughout the night.

“It’s already ten o’clock. Why haven’t you come home yet?”

Thea paced around the room anxiously.

“Don’t worry, Thea. James will be fine.”

Quincy had complete faith in James because he was the Black Dragon. He was able to beat the 28-nation martial arts gurus and a hundred thousand troops. A few assassins were nothing to him.

“Then, why is his phone still turned off?” Thea sat down anxiously and took Quincy’s hand. “Quincy, let’s go to the police,” said Thea. Quincy was speechless. ‘Call the police? ‘Is calling the police going to be of any use?’ Although she did not know who captured them and James last night, she could tell from the conversation between James and the Black Snake that it was not something the police could intervene in.

“Darling, this...”

James said with a smile, “It’s a small injury and won’t be a problem. I already used medicine I carefully prepared last night, and it won’t threaten me.”

Thea was finally relieved.

James quickly pulled up his pants and glanced at Quincy, who was blushing. He smiled awkwardly and apologized, "I'm sorry you had to see that." "It's alright," Quincy replied.

Thea pulled James and asked, "Darling, who kidnapped us yesterday? How come Quincy was let go? Also, how did you escape?"

Thea asked several questions at once.

James smiled and replied, "When you came back yesterday, you should've seen the whole city full of army forces, right? They took action, and I was saved."

"Then, who are the people that captured us?" Before James came back, he had already thought of his excuse. He took a deep breath and pretended to explain with a gloomy expression. "They are assassins from overseas and enemies of the Black Dragon. They wanted to take revenge, but the Black Dragon was already dead. You were related to the Black Dragon, so they captured you. Meanwhile, I was a subordinate of the Black Dragon and was also captured. However, everything is fine now. They've all been wiped out."

"Is that so?"

After learning the story, Thea still felt fear from it.

She never expected people to come to Cansington to trouble her after the Black Dragon died.

Chapter 547 "I really have nothing to do with the Black Dragon. I simply saved him ten years ago. Now that he is dead, why are they still troubling me?" James shrugged. "How would I know? By the way, I haven't had anything to eat since last night. I'm starving!"

"Let's go out to eat." Thea grabbed James' hands.

James glanced at Quincy and asked with a smile, "Quincy, you're the vice president of the Transgenerational Group and must have a lot to do. It's already ten in the morning. Do you not have to leave for work?"

Quincy immediately understood James' intentions.

He did not want her to follow them.

She pouted her lips and smiled. "I've already asked for a leave and won't have to go to the company today. I also haven't had anything to eat yet. Let's go together." "Quincy, thank you for coming to accompany me last night. Otherwise, I really don't know what I would've done without you. I'll treat you to this meal!" Thea held Quincy's hand. Quincy glanced at James with a triumphant expression. James was speechless. He wanted to have a date with Thea, but Quincy insisted on joining.

He did not say anything else and turned to leave.

The three went out together. They went to a random restaurant and asked for a private room.

She quickly changed the subject and asked, "Thea, James spent so much money to increase your rating and make you famous. Isn't that a complete waste of money? What's the use of you being listed when you have no medical skills? You even entered the top one hundred. People are surely going to mock you." She would not have a chance if Thea did not divorce him.

Thea also replied seriously, "Quincy, I know you're doing it for my own good. I know that James lacks ambition and is a little lazy, but he treats me well."

Thea pouted.

While eating, Quincy's mind was deep in thought.

Thea was her best friend, and she did not want to rob Thea of her man.

She could only find a way to get them to divorce so that it would not damage their friendship.

However, she could not do anything if Thea refused to get a divorce.

After thinking for a moment, she pouted her lips and smiled.

"Actually, I think James is decent. At least last night, in the face of so many armed assassins, he was not afraid at all. Thea, I think I'm falling in love with him."

"What?"

Thea was stunned for a moment and looked at Quincy in shock.

Chapter 548 Seeing Thea's shocked face, Quincy pouted and smiled.

"I'm just kidding. He is a person that lacks ambition, and I don't like that. I like myself a man who is capable!"

Thea sighed in relief.

She thought Quincy was really interested in James. "Quincy, you almost scared me to death. You shouldn't spout such nonsense, especially in front of him. Otherwise, he will think he is someone again and feel overly proud."

"Alright, I know." Quincy pouted and chuckled.

They finished their meal quickly.

"Alright."

James felt helpless.

Quincy pointed nearby and said, "My car is over there. Let's go." James nodded reluctantly.

Quincy smiled and bid farewell to Thea.

"We've got some business at the company, so I won't be able to drop you." James muttered, "Didn't you say you were on leave before we headed out..." However, seeing Thea glaring at him, he immediately shut up. Thea said with a smile, "It's alright. I'll take a taxi back myself. Go ahead. Work is more important." "Bye-bye!" Quincy waved goodbye to Thea. James followed Quincy and got into her car. Quincy used to belong to the Xenoses, which was a huge household. Although her family was expelled, she was the vice president of a company abroad with an annual salary of tens of millions. Thus, she could afford a luxurious car. After getting into the car, James could smell a pleasing fragrance similar to the perfume on Quincy's body. He had been deprived of sleep from last night. He yawned while sitting in the passenger seat.

James felt drowsy. He took out a cigarette and lit it. Smoke filled the car. "Who allowed you to smoke in my car?" Quincy frowned and reprimanded him. "I don't think you've figured out the superior and subordinate hierarchy between us. I'm your boss, so be careful with your words. Believe it or not, I can fire you within seconds." "Pfft."

Chapter 549

Quincy looked at him disdainfully.

She would have been respectful with James was merely her boss.

However, apart from being her boss, he also had another identity—her first boyfriend. "James, shouldn't you give me an explanation?" Quincy turned to James.

James felt guilty but pretended to be calm. "Explain? Explain what? Have you seen a boss explaining something to an employee before?" "James, don't brush it off. What exactly happened?" "What do you mean what happened? Don't you need to go to the company? Hurry up. I'm sleepy. I'm going to sleep in the office." Quincy asked, "Why did you approach Thea? Not only did you marry into the Callahans, you have been secretly helping her but refuse to let her know about it. Also, what happened on Mount Thunder Pass? You're alive and well, but the news is that you have died. The whole nation grieved over you. I was depressed for a while to find out you were dead." "You're obviously alive, so why didn't you come back to look for me? Do you know I've waited ten years for you? You came back and knew I was around, but why didn't you look for me?" She questioned him in one breath. Quincy bombarded him with questions, and James felt a headache just by listening to them.

"It's none of your business. Why should I have to explain myself to you? I only dated you briefly ten years ago. Come on... It was just puppy love, and it was just for fun. Plus, I only held your hand and didn't even kiss you before. That wouldn't even be considered a relationship in this time and age."

James said casually.

You've been married for so long, but she doesn't know your identity at all. Moreover, she doesn't even know you're the one who has been

James hesitated.

Then, he replied, "She saved me ten years ago. She got burned in the inferno to save me back then. However, I abandoned her to survive, and she suffered the ridicule of others for ten years."

"I had gone to the Southern Plains and climbed the hierarchy from a soldier, step by step.

"The reason I came back this time was to repay her.

"However, being in my position, my every move is monitored by people. I don't want to cause trouble for Thea because of my identity. I came back and applied to resign because I wanted to use the identity of an ordinary person to protect her for the rest of her life. "I planned to tell her after I resigned.

"However, a series of things happened after I left. These things are beyond my ability. To be honest, I might not even be able to protect myself, and I don't want Thea to get involved."

Quincy listened attentively.

Hearing this, she could not help but feel envious. "I'm really jealous of Thea. I would rather be Thea if I could."

Chapter 550 James smiled. He closed his eyes and ignored Quincy.

He always had a good judgment of people, but he could not see through Quincy.

It was hard to read what was on her mind.

Moments ago, she was trying to seduce him.

Right after, she claimed not to want to steal Thea's husband.

Fortunately, he had a relatively strong endurance and was loyal to Thea. Thus, he was unwilling to mess around.

Otherwise, he might not have been able to resist Quincy's temptation and would have went to a hotel room with her.

Her mind was occupied with James. "Quincy, Quincy! What are you doing? What are you fantasizing

After James ate, he was able to sleep peacefully.

When he woke up, it was already seven in the evening. He got up and reached in his pocket, but it was empty. "Looking for your cigarette?"

A voice resounded

James heard the voice and glanced toward it. A woman was sitting in the office chair not far away. She was shaking his pack of cigarettes in her hand. She had curly hair and was dressed in a red dress with a low v-neckline,

"What are you doing here, Quincy?"

James got up, walked to her, and took the cigarette pack from her hands. He took one out and lit it.
Then, he glanced at her and said indifferently, "This is the chairman's office and it's off limits. You're a little bold, don't you think? Could it be you're interested in the chairman's position?"

Quincy pouted and smiled, "My ex-boyfriend is the boss of the Transgenerational Group. Whether I can have the position depends on your word."

James looked at the time and saw it was already seven in the evening. "Office hours are ove
