

Read The Almighty Dragon General

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 5436-Halianor did not immediately leave the academy even after James had escaped.

The real purpose of Halianor traveling to the Dieux Academy was to verify the existence of Theognostos. It was pure coincidence that he had managed to stumble upon James.

Halianor stared at the entrance of the Dieux Academy's main hall.

On the other hand, the members of the Dieux Academy finally felt like they could breathe easier when Halianor stopped asserting his aura on them.

Lemuel said aloud, "All of you can continue with your work or duties."

'Yes, Sir Lemuel.'

Xhemal and the other elders gradually left the main hall to allow Lemuel and Halianor some privacy.

Halianor walked into the hall, and Lemuel followed behind him.

Halianor took a seat in an empty chair. Then, he directed his gaze at Lemuel. "I am still here because I want to ask more about Theognostos. You said you received guidance from one of their members previously. Then, you must know quite a few things about them, right?" Lemuel shook his head. "I have indeed received their guidance, but I don't know much about them. I know they have many competent cultivators as their members. Also, the leader of Theognostos is a Transcendental Bliss Rank cultivator. He's achieved a level of cultivation that exceeds all of our existing perceptions and knowledge."

Lemuel started making up stories by using what James had told the others as the basis.

"I haven't been to Theognostos, nor do I know where it is."

"James was attacked and killed during his previous life. Then, he was reincarnated as the saint of Theognostos."

Halianor furrowed his brows as he listened to Lemuel.

If Lemuel's words were true, then Theognostos would be a force to be reckoned with. It would mean trouble for the Yefteros if they hastily tried to capture James.

However, the Yefteros had just lost their thirty-six Umbraguards, and most of the Primevals had learned of the news. What would the others make of the Yeftero Race if they were to stay quiet and do nothing about their men's deaths?

Halianor was feeling slightly conflicted.

He felt that the issue had gone beyond the level of his authority. Halianor swiftly decided it was time to return to the Yefteros' territory and inform their leader for further actions.

The leader of the Yeftero Race was a Consummation Holy Celestial Rank cultivator. He had begun his closed-door meditation a long time ago, and he had declared only to end his training after he reached the Quasi Transcendental Bliss Rank. Even Halianor had not met his leader for a long time now.

"How is the Glaciem Race's princess acquainted with James Caden from Theognostos?" Halianor asked.

"How would I know?" Lemuel shrugged. "I only allowed James Caden to train at the Dieux Academy because of his affiliation with Theognostos. That was also the reason why we appointed him as an elder despite his low cultivation rank."

The Yefteros were still unaware that Lemuel was present during the battle at the Glaciem Holy Land. Lemuel had concealed his aura, and he did not perform any of his signature skills back then.

Lemuel continued, "The Heavenly Secrets Pavilion is a mysterious and powerful organization. The pavilion master even called himself the lord of the Dark World.

Perhaps the Heavenly Secrets Pavilion knew about Theognostos' existence.

Otherwise, why would they pick James' Tressencia Completare Art as the first place in the Supernatural Signature Skill Ranking."

Lemuel turned his gaze toward Halianor. “With James’ powers and cultivation rank, did you think he had the ability or talents to create the most powerful signature skill that could beat so many other beings from the Dark World and countless planes?”

Halianor raised his brows. “Are you saying the Tressencia Completare Art originates from Theognostos?”

Lemuel slowly nodded. “Mhm. I don’t think a Petit Celestial Rank cultivator like him has what it takes to create the art. I heard James was only on the Sovereign Rank when he unleashed the Tressencia Completare at the Yefteros’ arena.

Can a Sovereign Rank cultivator truly master the powers of the past and the future?”

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 5437-Halianor fell into deep thought.

Everything seemed to make more sense as he considered Lemuel’s words.

If it weren’t for the Temple of Theognostos, how would someone like James possess such a potent signature skill?

The Dark World had existed for over eons. Countless skilled cultivators and signature skills were born in this region during that time.

The only plausible explanation for the Tressencia Completare Art to top the Supernatural Signature Skill Ranking was that it had originated from Theognostos.

However, the Heavenly Secrets Pavilion probably had not disclosed anything since the information regarding the leader of Theognostos was most likely a top level secret. Therefore, they announced to the public that James was the creator of the Tressencia Completare instead.

Halianor thought he had figured out the truth of it all.

The thoughts about Theognostos’ existence filled Halianor with great indignation.

For many years, the Yefteros were the strongest group in the Dark World.

Suddenly, they were facing a seemingly far more formidable force, the Temple of Theognostos, which had appeared out of nowhere.

“Is there anything else you’re curious about?” Lemuel asked.

Halianor paused briefly. Then, he began, “Do you have any information regarding the man who’s claimed to be James Caden’s protector?” “Huh?” Lemuel seemed confused.

“I’m talking about the man who’s fought with Saint Yui and took out the thirty-six Umbraguards,” Halianor said.

“I know only a little about that man.” Lemuel pondered for a bit and continued, “He was a member of the Flamma Race, and he used to be a renowned cultivator in the past. At some point, he joined the Temple of Theognostos. Since then, he has not made any public appearances.”

Even though Lemuel did not follow James to the Flamma Race’s territory, he had nonetheless heard about that famous, intense battle. From the broadcast images, Lemuel also saw how the Flammae cultivator had claimed to be James’ protector.

Lemuel tried his best to make up a convincing story with what little information he had.

“If that is all, you should probably take your leave now.” Lemuel said frigidly, “I can’t seem to get used to your aura.”

Halianor got up and gave a slight nod. “Thank you for all the information. I’ll see you around.”

Then, Halianor teleported and vanished from the spot.

Lemuel let out a deep sigh.

“Luckily, that fellow managed to slip away safely. If a battle had broken out here, I might be able to keep him alive somehow, but the academy would no doubt be destroyed in the process.”

As Halianor’s aura had disappeared from their domain, the members of the Dieux Academy materialized in the main hall one after the other.

“Master!”

“Sir Lemuel!”

Lemuel waved his hand dismissively. “I know all of you have a lot of questions, but it’s best you don’t ask for the sake of your safety. Our worlds and the Dark World are about to face huge changes soon. The most important thing for us to do now is to improve our members’ cultivation and powers.” “I’ve acquired James Caden’s Genesis Path Scripture, and I will place it in our library. Anyone who’s contributed to the Dieux Academy’s growth and development is allowed access to the scripture.” Lemuel went on, “Also, James’ identity has been revealed to the world. He has a lot of enemies from his past. For all the cultivators or groups that have participated in exterminating James Caden during his previous life, our members are to stay away from those people. With his talent and skills, James will soon make a comeback. At that time, he would get revenge and restore order across the many planes of existence.”

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 5438-Previously, Lemuel thought that James was being overly ambitious when he declared to bring about a change in all the different planes, including the Central Plane.

However, their trip to the Dark World completely changed Lemuel’s perception.

Lemuel had witnessed how much of a talented cultivator James was and how quickly he could advance through the ranks.

He was convinced that James would be able to reset the order of their worlds, and it would happen very soon.

Many groups or clans had set bases in the Central Plane. Although people from the Dark World rarely came to the Central Plane, most of the major groups from the Dark World had nonetheless expanded their influence to this region.

If James were to attempt to restore the Central Plane to lawful order, it would inevitably affect some of the Dark World’s Primevals’ plans or arrangements in the Central Plane. Subsequently, James would most likely have to clash with those Primevals, who were displeased with his actions.

Lemuel was doing everything he could to keep the Dieux Academy and its members from getting involved in an imminent war.

‘The... The Genesis Path Scripture?!’

The others were excited to hear about the scripture.

However, Lemuel teleported and disappeared from the main hall after having given all the necessary warnings.

James was traveling through the regions of the Dark World as fast as he could.

He had changed his appearance and concealed his aura.

He had used up several Boundarybreaker Runes and ended up in a faraway location. Since he needed to head back to where he came from, James had no choice but to use a few more Boundarybreaker Runes even though he did not have much of those left.

The Boundarybreaker Runes were extremely rare and precious items. Only cultivators in and above the Holy Celestial Rank had the power and cultivation to produce the runes. The maker must also possess the skills to manipulate spatial powers and have a supply of precious materials to create these runes.

James was rushing back to meet up with Gaius and the others. The group of them needed his help to get back to the Endlos Plane safely.

Moreover, it was time for James to reinforce the formation cast over the Endlos Plane again to conceal its presence.

Soon enough, James was getting closer to the Central Plane. Then, he stopped somewhere near the Endlos Plane.

Eventually, Gaius and the others found James. All of them traveled back to the Endlos Plane.

James quickly updated them on several important matters. Then, he left the Endlos Plane again. James did not even have the time to meet his family.

James stopped just outside the Endlos Plane and reinforced the formation placed around it again. With the intricacy of the inscriptions James was using, even Holy Celestial Rank cultivators would not be able to detect the Endlos Plane’s location no matter how hard they looked.

Unfortunately, James had yet to realize that Xezal had recently left the Endlos Plane.

Xezal or Lady Wikolia knew the exact location of the Endlos Plane. Even though James had concealed the plane with his powers, Lady Wikolia could still locate and access the Endlos Plane by using a few tricks.

In the future, the lady would continue to cause more problems for James.

As soon as he had finished enhancing the formation, James departed for the Dark World yet again. He had promised to meet up with Qiyana and the others.

James arrived at the rendezvous point, a branch of the Heavenly Secrets Pavilion soon afterward.

“How did it go? Did you manage to settle everything?” Thea asked.

James sat down and replied, “Halianor, the Great Elder of the Yefteros, arrived at the Dieux Academy not long after I got there. I only managed to get away by using the Boundarybreaker Runes. I’m not sure whether Lemuel, the Dieux Academy’s founder, has been forced to battle Halianor. I wonder if the academy is alright?”

A small frown creased James’ forehead

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 5439-The last thing James would want to see was the Dieux Academy facing its destruction due to James’ affiliation with them.

“By the way, who’s in charge of managing this place?” James asked.

“That would be me.”

A man in a white robe who seemed to be in his forties took a few steps forward.

“It’s a pleasure to finally meet you, James. The Heavenly Secrets Pavilion’s headquarters has sent us a message.

After you escaped from the Dieux Academy, Halianor Yeftero left the place soon afterward. There were no signs of any battle happening at the academy.”

James felt slightly more relieved upon hearing the news.

He was also surprised by how efficiently the Heavenly Secrets Pavilion's communication network had relayed the news. Their headquarters managed to gather the information and send an update here quickly. Perhaps there were members of the Heavenly Secrets Pavilion that had infiltrated the Dieux Academy and remained there as informants.

"I am Lavrenti Meiin."

The man beamed at James. "I have also received the instructions to take you to the headquarters if you wish to go there. When would you like to visit the Heavenly Secrets Pavilion's headquarters?"

"Let's go there right away." James got to his feet.

James' true identity was exposed to the world. Even though he had tried his best to prevent more of his personal information from getting leaked, James was nonetheless worried that the Yefteros or his other enemies might find the Endlos Plane.

Thea would be in danger if those people learned of her relationship with James.

The Mevryees would inevitably be dragged into this mess as well.

James must acquire the primitive inscriptions belonging to the three remaining Elemental Primevals as soon as possible. If he could create the Elemental Curse and heal Qairo, James could literally take on any Primevals from the Dark World with Qairo's help.

"Sure. Follow me."

Lavrenti conjured an airship and boarded the ship. James and the others followed behind him.

As the airship started gliding through the air, it was traveling forward by making space leaps repeatedly. Each leap was equivalent to the distance one could travel by using a mini Boundarybreaker Rune.

After a while, James noticed something strange.

“Aren’t we heading to the Heavenly Secrets Pavilion’s headquarters? Why are we traveling in the direction of the Central Plane? We’re already in the peripheral regions of the Central Plane,” James asked.

Lavrenti gave a low chuckle. “No one ever said that the Heavenly Secrets Pavilion’s headquarters was located in the Dark World. In fact, our headquarters is located at the Central Plane. Only a select few from the major groups of Primevals are aware of this information.”

James had a look of bewilderment on his face.

As the founder of the Supremuseum, James thought he knew everything about the Central Plane or what was happening in and around the area. Yet, he had no idea an influential and secretive intelligence agency like the Heavenly Secrets Pavilion had set up base at the Central Plane.

Soon enough, the airship entered the space of the Central Plane. They were heading in the direction of an inconspicuous universe.

James could sense the aura of cultivators with ranks in and below the Ancestral God Rank inside the universe.

However, as the airship passed through layers and layers of formation cast around the universe, James could detect a slight change in the space around him as they felt more stabilized.

At long last, they landed in a flatland next to a mountainous area.

‘That’s the Heavenly Secrets Pavilion’s headquarters.’

Lavrenti turned his eyes to the spiritual mountains in the distance. “I haven’t visited the headquarters for years.” Meanwhile, James tried to examine his surroundings by releasing his Zen. To his surprise, James found that the furthest his Zen could travel was a few hundred meters away from him. An immense energy was preventing his Zen from extending further out.

“Come with me.”

Lavrenti led James and the others toward the group of tall mountains located not too far away.

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 5440—As they moved closer toward the Heavenly Secrets Pavilion's headquarters, James could see numerous buildings erected within the area. James also spotted people flying quickly through the air, seemingly occupied with each of their errands.

James grew extremely curious about the founder of the Heavenly Secrets Pavilion. That person must be immensely capable and talented to have created this organization.

James looked at Lavrenti and asked, "How long has the Heavenly Secrets Pavilion been established? Also, how did your group come to exist in the first place?"

Lavrenti merely smiled without offering them any explanation.

Soon afterward, Lavrenti showed James and his companions to the main hall located atop one of the spiritual mountains. Then, he took his leave.

While James and the others were discussing what they saw earlier, they eventually heard the sound of footsteps in the corridor.

A bald man who looked to be in his thirties stepped through the door the next instant. The man was wearing casual clothes.

He walked over to the seat placed on the podium and sat down comfortably. A big grin hung on his face as the man introduced himself.

"I am Shorru Yasar, the Deputy Pavilion Master of the Heavenly Secrets Pavilion."

Shorru directed his gaze at James. "It's an honor to meet you, James Caden."

James gave a slight nod. "Hello, Sir Shorru."

Shorru waved his hand dismissively. "You don't have to be so formal around me."

I know you're here to obtain information from us. You still have two chances to inquire about any information from us for free. Go on and ask away."

James asked straightforwardly, "I want to know the current whereabouts of the primitive inscriptions originating from the Metallum, Silva, and Tellus people."

“All of you should probably have a seat first,” Shorru suggested.

James and his companions took a seat in the empty chairs facing Shorru.

“The Metallum, Silva, and Tellus Races... The three major groups of Primevals...” Shorru let out a small sigh.

He gazed at James. ‘The Dark World’s long history was plagued with war and chaos. During that time of turmoil, one war stood out for its scale and intensity.

That war caused a redistribution of power among the people of the Dark World.

It had also brought about the rise of the Four Ancient Races.”

James was already aware of this part of the Dark World’s history. However, he was not sure why Shorru had started with this story.

James asked, “Is this somehow related to the primitive inscriptions that I’m looking for?”

“Mhm.” Shorru explained, ‘That devastating war affected the entire Dark World.

There were two teams of people waging war on each other back then. Both groups were slowly growing larger as they got more new allies to join their cause.”

James listened intently as Shorru continued, “In the end, the group which was led by the Four Ancient Races won the battle eventually. Meanwhile, all the cultivators who were on the losing side were imprisoned.