The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 5441-They were imprisoned?" James was stunned.

Qiyana and Jada listened carefully. These were events of the distant past, and even Qiyana, the Glacies' princess, was unaware of them. Jada, who was at the Holy Celestial Rank, also had never heard of these events before. In fact, only a handful of people knew about these secrets.

Shorru explained, "Yeah, they were imprisoned. According to our records, the defeated races were supposed to be killed. However, the heavens could not bear to let so many living beings perish. Countless races would've gone extinct.

Thus, the winning side's powerhouses decided to compromise and imprison the defeated races.

"During that battle, many races dispatched all their forces. Although their entire race was imprisoned, they evaded the fate of being wiped out. The Tellures, Silvae and Metalla were amongst the races that had gone all out in the war.

'There's only one place you can obtain the primitive inscriptions of the Tellures, Silvae and Metalla."

James asked, 'The place where they are imprisoned?"

Shorru nodded and said, "That's right. The place where they are imprisoned is called the Prison World. It's located somewhere in the Dark World's depths.

Nobody can forcibly open the formation to enter the Prison World, nor are the prisoners able to leave. However, while setting up the formation, a guiding lamp was created, just in case. It'll be able to lead you into the Prison World."

After a brief pause, Shorru continued, saying, 'The Yefteros were supposedly guarding the oil lamp. However, it was stolen."

James and Thea suddenly thought of something and looked at each other meaningfully.

"Who stole it?" asked James.

“My master,” Shorru replied honestly.

“Your master?” James and the others were shocked by the revelation.

Shorru answered, “Yeah. After the Ancient Four Races became the leading forces of the Dark World, many powerhouses came into existence. A few of them, including the Shadowers’ leader and my master, have even claimed to be the Dark World’s Lords.”

James and the others were very interested in these past events.

“Why did the Heavenly Secrets Pavilion’s Master steal the oil lamp?”

“We’ll have to go back to the Dark World’s turmoil. My master’s family was involved in that battle. Powerhouses from his family were detained inside the Prison World. After inheriting the Heavenly Secrets Pavilion, he devoted his time to cultivating. When he finally became a peerless powerhouse, he took action to steal the oil lamp. However, the oil lamp was kept by the Yefteros. Many powerhouses were guarding the oil lamp. By the time my master was ready to take action, these powerhouses had also grown even more potent. While stealing the oil lamp, he was discovered and engaged in a fierce battle with them.

Fortunately, he managed to escape but with heavy injuries. After that incident, his whereabouts have been unknown. Whether he is still alive or not is also uncertain. As for the oil lamp, it disappeared along with him.

“In the past few years, we’ve been searching for our master and the oil lamp.

However, we’ve been to no avail.”

James rubbed his chin and said, “So as long as I can find the oil lamp, I can enter the Prison World. If I find the powerhouses from the Tellures, Silvae and Metalla in the Prison World, I’ll be able to obtain their primitive inscriptions, right?” “That’s right,” Shorru smiled and said, “However, I’m not telling you this so you can find the oil lamp and enter the Prison World. We’ve been searching for it for a long time, but have not found any clues. It’s even more impossible for you to find it.”

“Then why did you tell me about it?” “Because you asked for the information.
