

Read The Almighty Dragon General

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 5526-James was surprised Jurryt was an elegant and noble-like man.

Jurryt pointed to a chair nearby and said, "Have a seat."

James made himself comfortable.

Jurryt asked, "Why did you put so much effort into finding me?"

James replied, "I have something important I'd like to discuss with you, Sir."

After speaking, James tried to sense Jurryt's cultivation rank. However, Jurryt's aura was well hidden, and it was impossible to detect his cultivation rank.

Jurryt asked calmly, "What's so important?" Although he knew James had tried to sense his cultivation rank, he let it slide.

James was sure the Shadows' Great Commander was a peerless powerhouse. He said truthfully, "I came to request your help to destroy the Yefteros."

"Oh?" Jurryt's curiosity was piqued. He scanned James up and down, then asked, "You want to destroy the Yefteros? Do you understand what you're saying? Have you any clue what kind of existence the Yefteros are?"

James said seriously, "Of course. I've already devised a plan. As long as you join us, we'll surely be able to take down the Yefteros."

Jurryt said calmly, "Really? Do elaborate."

James knew the Shadows had beef with the Yefteros. Thus, he was not worried about them leaking his plan. To win over Jurryt, James honestly shared the details of his operation.

"So you're involved in Yui's death," Saeylla said surprisedly.

Jurryt said calmly, "You're underestimating the Yefteros. They are compelling and are not as simple as they look. The Yefteros' Leader isn't their strongest member. From what I know, the Yefteros have two elders at the Quasi Bliss Rank. Moreover, back then...”

After a brief pause, Jurryt continued, saying. “To ensure the Yefteros remained the rulers of the Dark World, one of the Yefteros’ powerhouses, who was at the Quasi Bliss Rank, did not enter the Halcyon Road. Nobody knows his current rank or whether he has entered the Transcendental Bliss Rank.”

Jurryt looked at James and advised him, “It’s not too late to stop now. There’s no way you can destroy the Yefteros.”

James never expected the Yefteros to have other trump cards. Even the Heavenly Secrets Pavilion had no access to this information.

However, James was not going to give up. He said firmly, “I’m fully prepared. As long as you join us, we’ll succeed.”

“Really? Who’s already on your side?” asked Jurryt.

James said, “A powerhouse that failed to enter the Transcendental Bliss Rank but is currently at the Quasi Bliss Rank. There’s another powerhouse at the Quasi Bliss Rank. Also, there’s one at a rank beyond the Quasi Bliss Rank but at the Holy Celestial Rank’s Consummation.”

James briefly mentioned the strengths of his party’s members but did not disclose their identities.

He looked at Jurryt and asked, “If I lure the Yefteros’ powerhouses to the Central Plane, do you think we’ll successfully destroy the Yefteros’ headquarters with these powerhouses?”

Jurryt fell into deep thought. After a while, he looked at Saeylla and asked, “Are there already this many powerhouses in the Dark World?”

Saeylla shook her head and replied, “Not that I know of. Our intelligence networks did not get a hold of such information.”

James said, “I’m telling the truth. I know your enmity with the Yefteros, and I’m sure you’re much more eager than me to destroy them, right?”

Jurryt nodded lightly and said, “Indeed. I’d love to destroy them. If it weren’t for the Yefteros, I wouldn’t have to stay in hiding here for so long. Back then, the Yefteros gathered the other Ancient Races and some other major forces and severely injured me, causing the Shadows to suffer significantly.”

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 5527-James said, “It’s the perfect opportunity for you, Sir. As long as the operation succeeds, you won’t have to hide anymore and can lead the Shadows to become one of the most potent forces in the Dark World. The Shadows can finally return to the public eye.

“Haha!” Jurryt laughed. Then, he looked at James and said, “The Shadows are an assassination organization. How can we freely move around in the Dark World? We’ll become the target of all the Dark World’s races.

“You should head back, James. The Shadows will stay out of it.”

James was unwilling to give up after coming so far. He attempted to persuade Jurryt, saying, “I heard the Shadows will accept a job to wipe out the Yefteros if the price offered is right.”

“You’re interesting. I didn’t expect you to use this to get me on board. Sure, I can take your job. However, the Shadows have gathered countless resources, including many scarce treasures. So what can you offer me?”

James replied, “A long time ago, the Dark World had countless races. However, a few were wiped out and were slowly forgotten with time. Naturally, their primitive inscriptions have also disappeared. In the past, there was a powerful race called the Abodas. Would their primitive inscriptions be enough to get you to take action?”

Jurryt said, “The Abodas? That’s a very tempting offer. If it were some other ordinary race, I would’ve agreed. However, we’re talking about the Yefteros.

They are compelling, and I don’t want to take chances. In other words, the Aboda Race’s primitive inscriptions alone aren’t enough for me to take the risk.”

“What if I also give you another race’s primitive inscriptions? There’s a new race called the Aveswines. The Primogenitor of the Aveswines is only at the Holy Celestial Rank’s early stage, but he killed the Yefteros’ Saint, Yui.”

James upped his offer, using the Aveswines’ primitive inscriptions to win over Jurryt.

“That’s not enough,” Jurryt shook his head and said, “At my cultivation rank, no matter how many primitive inscriptions you offer me, it wouldn’t be of much help to my strength. However...”

Jurryt suddenly paused.

After sensing an opportunity, James asked eagerly, “Yeah?”

Jurryt said, “I heard you mastered the Human Race’s primitive inscriptions. It’s rumored the Human Race’s primitive inscriptions are the core of all inscriptions.

If you can give me the Human Race’s primitive inscriptions, I’ll take this job.”

“Deal,” James agreed without hesitation.

“However, I’ll need you to take action before I give you the Human Race’s primitive inscriptions.”

Saeylla interjected, saying, “It’s our rule to receive payment before the job.”

Jurryt remained silent, agreeing with Saeylla’s words.

James was unwilling to hand over the Primal Mantra so easily. After all, there was nothing he could do if Jurryt went against his word.

“I’ll give you half,” James compromised and said, “After the operation, I’ll hand you the rest.”

Jurryt fell into thought. After a while, he nodded lightly and said, “Alright, deal.”

James looked at Saeylla and said, “I’ll also give you the Abodas and Aveswines’ primitive inscriptions first.”

“Alright,” Saeylla agreed.

James waved his hand, and the five Elemental Curses emerged.

“This?” Jurryt and Saeylla were dumbfounded.

James continued, saying, “These are the primitive inscriptions of the Elemental Primevals. Please ask a few more of your powerhouses to take action.”

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 5528-James wanted to get more of the Shadowers' powerhouses to take action.

He looked at Jurryt and said, "How does the primitive inscriptions of the Elemental Primevals for the help of five powerhouses at the Holy Celestial Rank sound?" Jurryt said, "It's quite a tempting offer. You're quite generous. I'll take it.

However, I have one condition."

James looked at him and asked, "What is it?" Jurryt answered, "If we successfully destroy the Yefteros, I want half of their resources." "No," James refused instantly and said, "I'm going to such great lengths to destroy them. How can I give you half of their resources?"

Jurryt contemplated for a while. Then, he said, 'Then, you can have their resources. But I'd like to have their lands.' 'You're quite greedy, aren't you?"

James said calmly, "The Mevryees will also participate in this operation. Even if I agree, the Mevryees wouldn't allow it." "Don't worry. I can deal with the Mevryees."

James fell into thought. After all, he still had some relationship with the Mevryees. No matter what, Thea's biological father was the Mevryees' Leader.

Thus, he did not want them to be harmed.

"How about the Shadowers and the Mevryees split the Yefteros' land?" James asked tentatively.

James was paying the Shadowers to take action. Naturally, he did not want the Shadowers to get more than they deserved.

"Alright, deal. Hand over half of the Human Race's primitive inscriptions," Jurryt immediately demanded payment.

James summoned half of the Primal Mantra.

Half of the Primal Mantra materialized in front of Jurryt.

Jurryt reached out and began to observe them. After a while, he marveled," Amazing! They look simple but are mysterious. As expected from the fundamentals of the primitive inscriptions, they're amazing. Even with my current cultivation rank, I can't completely understand them."

James looked at him and said, "I've already given you half."

Jurrit put away half of the Primal Mantra, looked at James, and said smilingly, "Give me the Abodas and Elemental Primevals' primitive inscriptions as well."

Then, I'll bring Saeylla and five more powerhouses to participate in the operation."

James summoned the Abodas and Elemental Primevals' primitive inscriptions without hesitation.

Jurrit put them away.

James instructed, "You lead the Shadowers' powerhouses to the Yeftero World."

When it's time for action, I'll contact you." Afterward, James summoned an inscription and said, "I'll contact you through this."

Jurrit put away the inscription and said, "Sure, no problem."

I'll see you in the Yeftero World." James bid farewell and turned to leave.

After he was out of sight, Saeylla's face darkened. Then, she said, "Are we really going to take action so recklessly, Father?"

Jurrit took out the incomplete Primal Mantra and held it like a treasure. Then, he said smilingly, "It's only half the Human Race's primitive inscriptions, but it's worth it. There are rumors the Human Race's primitive inscriptions are the core of all inscriptions. With these primitive inscriptions, I can understand supreme Cultivation Paths. If I study them carefully, I might be able to reach the Transcendental Bliss Rank."

Then, Jurrit turned to Saeylla and ordered, "Notify our powerhouses to prepare to depart to the Yeftero World and wait for James. Even if we can't wipe out the Yefteros, we'll ensure they suffer severe losses. I'm also curious to see what other powerhouses James has gotten on his side." "Alright." Saeylla quickly left to inform their top powerhouses.

James quickly left and reunited with Shorru.

Seeing James, Shorru asked, "How did it go?"

James replied smilingly, "Good." "How did you get him to help?" Shorru was surprised.

James smiled faintly, not replying to his question. He changed the subject and said, "Let's go."

Then, he stepped into the white mist.

This time, they easily passed through and appeared in the dark space outside the Dragon Abyss.

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 5529-ames clasped his hands, then said, 'Thank you, Mr. Shorru. If it weren't for you, I never would've found the Shadowers' Great Commander. Let's part ways here.

Do notify me if the Yefteros and other major forces show abnormal activities."

Shorru replied, "All the best. If you destroy the Yefteros, the Dark World will undergo a major change."

James said smilingly, "By the way, I need some Boundarybreaker Runes. I've been traveling a lot recently and am running out."

Shorru took out some Boundarybreaker Runes and handed them over to James.

James used one of the runes and left the area. Soon, he arrived in the Central Plane.

He quickly changed his appearance and aura. Then, he secretly approached the Elysium Hall.

The Elysium Hall was normal, and it did not seem like anything had happened recently.

James entered the Elysium Hall and quickly looked for Quattro.

When James found Quattro, he was with Jada. The two seemed very intimate, and it was evident their relationship had changed while James was away.

"You're back?" Quattro looked at James. Then, he waved at Jada and said, "You head out for a while."

Jada looked at James and then replied, "Alright."

After Jada had left, James sat down and asked, "Has Halianor not shown up yet?" Quattro shook his head and said, "Nope. I'm getting impatient as well. He should've arrived a long time ago. Why hasn't he?" "There's no rush. Let's wait a bit more," said James.

James contacted Shorru and inquired about the recent activities of the Yeferos and the Dark World's other major races.

Soon, he received an update. The Yeferos had not taken any action yet. As for the other races, they were also very silent and had not been doing anything out of the ordinary.

James was slightly confused. He fell into thought, 'The death of the Yeferos* Saint should have caused a huge uproar. Why is the Dark World so peaceful?

Are they waiting for the Yeferos to take action?' After a while, he contacted Shorru again and asked, "Does the Heavenly Secrets Pavilion know where the Yeferos' Great Elder, Halianor, is right now?"

Shorru replied, "Our spies have been secretly watching him. However, he disappeared after passing through a forbidden zone. We've lost track of him ever since."

James' brows furrowed.

"Be careful, James. Halianor has been the Yeferos' Great Eler for many years.

He had been in command for quite some time while their leader was in seclusion. He isn't a simple character and can read the situation well. He is probably aware of the danger of coming to the Central Plane and might have chosen to hide. Perhaps he might appear in the Elysium Hall when you least expect it." "Alright. I understand. As long as he shows up, I'll ensure he doesn't leave," said James.

James turned to Quattro and ordered, "Be on the watch out, and don't fall into the Yefteros' trap."

Quattro smiled and replied, "Don't worry. Everything is under control."

James stood up and left to find Qairo.

Qairo quickly stood up and greeted him, "James."

Although Qairo's cultivation rank was high, he remained respectful toward James. After all, he recovered because of James.

"Mhm." James sat beside him and said, "I came to chat for a while. Do you know there is a rank above the Quasi Bliss Rank? I heard it's bizarre, and one's strength is very unstable at that rank."

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 5530-ames learned from Talvelai about a strange rank beyond the Quasi Bliss Rank, the Ritual Rank.

At the Ritual Rank, one's strength would alternate between strong and weak.

James was curious about the Ritual Rank and came to ask Qairo about it.

Qairo frowned and asked, "Is there such a rank? Why don't I know about it?" "Did you not sense the rank when you tried to break into the Transcendental Bliss Rank?" "No." Qairo shook his head.

"That's strange." James was puzzled as to why Qairo had not sensed the Ritual Rank. Yet, somehow, Talvelai had entered the rank.

James asked a series of questions, all of which were related to the Ritual Rank.

However, Qairo could not answer any of them.

After chatting for a while, James stood up and said, "I'll take my leave first."

James left with so many unanswered questions. The answers seemed very far away, and it did not seem he would understand them soon. He was only at the Great Celestial Rank's peak and had not even reached the Martial Celestial Rank. It would take a long time before he was even close to unraveling these questions. Trying to understand them right now would be a waste of time. His top priority was to find out what the Yefteros' Great Elder, Halianor, was up to.

Judging from how much time had passed, the Yefteros' Great Elder should have appeared in the Central Plane's Elysium Hall by now. However, there were no traces of him. James was incredibly puzzled.

Meanwhile, a meeting was happening in the Yefteros' main hall.

"Sir Hacathra, I can't get in contact with our Great Elder."

An elder of the Yefteros clasped his hands and reported respectfully, "I've already tried to contact him many times through the rune. However, he has not responded. According to our intelligence networks, he did not head to the Central Plane. The Central Plane is quite peaceful right now." Hacathra's expression stiffened, and he murmured, "What on earth is Halianor trying to do? I asked him to investigate Yui's death. It's already been so long, but he's not in the Central Plane yet?"

Hacathra scanned the main hall and asked, "Is anyone willing to go to the Central Plane to investigate the situation and find out who killed Yui?" His gaze swept across the elders in the hall. However, everyone stepped backward, evidently reluctant to go to the Central Plane.

"What's wrong?" Hacathra's face darkened, and he said, "The Central Plane is just an outside plane. There are hardly any powerhouses at the Holy Celestial Rank. Are you guys that scared?"

Many elders were inside the hall, but nobody dared to speak. They were aware of how complicated the current situation was.

Yui was the Yefteros' Saint and was supposed to become their future leader. He was already at the Holy Celestial Rank's middle stage when he left for the Central Plane. In addition, he mastered countless Supernatural Powers, including the Tethralis Art. Even a powerhouse at the Holy Celestial Rank's Consummation might fail to kill him. Yet, he was killed in the Central Plane's Elysium Hall. It was evident there was someone specifically targeting the Yefteros.

The current situation was very unclear. The Primevals secretly ruled all the Central Plane's major forces. After James reclaimed the Supremusmuseum, he sent letters of challenge to the Central Plane's major forces. However, the Primevals behind these forces have not yet shown any signs of taking action. It seemed they were waiting for the Yefteros to make the first move.