The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 5551-Without needing James' command, Qairo, Yered, Talvelai, and Jurryt teleported and re-emerged in front of their group. The four of them stood side by side with some distance between each other, facing the Yefteros.

Xayvion's eyes blazed with murderous intent as he watched those four.

"Die!"

As soon as he said that, Xayvion rushed forward and conjured another three clones of himself. Xayvion and his clones each teleported toward one of their targets and directed an attack at them.

Boom!

As both sides clashed, the force generated from their attacks created numerous cracks in their surrounding space.

Meanwhile, the clones had disappeared, and Xayvion re-emerged some distance away.

Xayvion's eyes bulged with shock as he stumbled a few steps backward. He did not expect to be overpowered by Qairo and his comrades just now.

"Kill all of them!" Xayvion bellowed furiously.

Upon hearing his command, over ten Consummation Holy Celestial Rank cultivators standing behind Xayvion swiftly moved in James' direction.

Saeylla immediately led five cultivators from the Shadows to stop these men from advancing.

People were once again battling each other in that area.

Corrado fixed James with a malevolent gaze as he slowly stepped toward James.

James could sense the threatening aura coming from Corrado. He took a few steps backward instinctively.

With his hands on his back, Gustav moved to block Corrado's path. He cast an unfeeling gaze at Corrado. 'You need to get past me first if you want to kill him.' "Get lost!"

Corrado lifted his hand and conjured numerous inscriptions from his palm.

Those inscriptions layered above each other to form a gigantic ball of energy in the air.

Then, Corrado pushed his palm forward and directed the ball of energy swiftly toward Gustav.

Even Jurryt, the Great Commander of the Shadows who fought Corrado earlier, would not try to take Corrado's powerful attack directly.

However, Gustav seemed completely at ease as he gave a light wave of his hand in the air. A huge amount of energy was generated, and it deflected Corrado's attack successfully.

Meanwhile, things were not looking good for Saeylla and her members.

Most of the superior cultivators on James' side were working together to fight the Yefteros' prince. Moreover, Quattro and Lemuel were both injured.

Yet, there were only six of them in Saeylla's group, and they had to hold back a group of cultivators almost double their number.

Gradually, Saeylla and her comrades were getting cornered.

Just then, one of the Yeftero cultivators spotted an opening and teleported toward James.

James had placed Trevelyan back into his storage treasure, and he quickly moved backward.

At that very moment, Quattro materialized before James and stopped that cultivator from reaching James.

Just as James thought he could catch his breath, another Yeftero cultivator lunged at James to give him a lethal blow.

When they were only several meters away, Lemuel teleported and re-emerged between James and that cultivator. He unleashed the power of the Genesis Path and blocked the cultivator's attack.

James teleported to a spot some distance away to observe the battles.

He was the most concerned about the battle against Xayvion. The Yeftero prince was the strongest among his people. They could put an end to the Yefteros if they eliminated him this time.

However, if they failed to do that, their attempt to take down the Yefteros would be considered a failure. James and his comrades might even risk losing their lives here this time.

Then, James turned his eyes to Gustav and Corrado.

Both of them were skilled cultivators with exceptional powers and abilities.

Although the two of them appeared quite evenly matched, James nonetheless noticed Gustav was slightly overpowered by Corrado.

Still, James was not that surprised since the Gustav he was looking at was merely a clone of the real Gustav.

Meanwhile, Xayvion was still holding up fairly well even though he had to fight against four opponents. It seemed Qairo and the others could not manage to subdue him despite having outnumbered Xayvion.

Moreover, Saeylla and her men were clearly about to reach their limit.

Judging by the looks of things, the situation seemed rather pessimistic for James' side. They would lose if they continued battling in such conditions.

James furrowed his brows. It was time for him to step up and turn things around for his team

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 5552-James decided to join the battles.

He must quickly exterminate one of the Yeftero cultivators. That way, they could have a better chance at achieving their plan to thwart the Yefteros.

James scanned the battlefield.

Those who posed the most threat to their team were obviously Xayvion and Corrado.

Xayvion, in particular, was demonstrating spectacular skills and powers. He was able to battle four Quasi Transcendental Bliss Rank cultivators simultaneously without much difficulty.

Moreover, his opponents were no common Quasi Transcendental Bliss Rank cultivators.

Qairo had achieved the peak of the Quasi Transcendental Bliss Rank, whereas Talvelai possessed powers that exceeded his current cultivation rank.

James also observed that Xayvion had mastered various Primevals' inscriptions.

Xayvion could even generate and unleash those inscriptions in their highest form of power.

His four opponents were giving their all as they tried to defeat Xayvion.

Qairo had performed the Elemental Curse by generating the inscriptions of the Elemental Primevals. Still, Xayvion was able to deflect that attack from Qairo.

James tried to move closer to the group of five.

As soon as he stepped into close range, James felt the overwhelming aura generated by the battle between Xayvion and his opponents.

Although James' body was greatly enhanced, fine cracks started appearing everywhere in his skin. Blood oozed from those cracks and tainted his clothes red.

It dawned on James how those cultivators were on a completely different level when it came to power and cultivation.

James stopped moving closer toward those men and remained at the periphery of their battleground.

Then, he transmitted his voice to Qairo and the others." Allow Xayvion an opening so that he can move closer to me. I'll give him a critical blow."

“No.”

Talvelai quickly replied, “I don’t know what signature skills you’re planning to use. However, Xayvion’s powers are way superior to yours. It’ll be the end for you if he gets a chance to attack you.”

“Still, this is our only option now.”

Talvelai and the others were briefly distracted as they communicated through voice transmissions.

During a battle between cultivators of their caliber, a few seconds of distraction was enough for the opponent to make their move.

Xayvion conjured his clones again and blasted several attacks at those four men. Qairo and the others were forced to a corner.

In a flash, Xayvion teleported and reappeared before James. James could feel an overpowering aura wash over him the next instant. Xayvion’s aura was so immense that it made more cracks on James’ body almost instantaneously.

“Go to hell, bastard!”

Xayvion fixed James with a stony gaze. He raised his arm and directed an attack toward James’ chest. The energy he had generated at the center of his palm was powerful enough to cause harm to a Quasi Transcendental Bliss Rank cultivator.

James stared straight into Xayvion’s eyes.

Just as Xayvion’s palm landed over his chest, James unleashed the Karma Power he had sealed within his body at once.

The Karma Power traveled from Xayvion’s palm into his entire body.

Meanwhile, a huge crack was formed over James’ chest due to the force of Xayvion’s attack.

Although James’ body was made from various special and rare materials, it was not strong enough to withstand Xayvion’s strike.

James was in a lot of pain as the force of Xayvion's attack affected his entire body. He was beginning to feel lightheaded. The blow almost obliterated James' soul right away.

"Aargh!"

Xayvion let out a scream in agony. His face was pale and ashen.

James had released all the Karma Power stored inside his body just now.

He had incurred all that karma while trying to heal Qairo previously. Back then, after absorbing part of the karma, James sealed the rest of the Karma Power in his body.

Even Qairo, a Quasi Transcendental Bliss Rank cultivator, could not handle that amount of Karma Power.
