The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 5556-James had prepared a meticulous plan to take down the Yefteros. He felt they needed to remove those people once and for all.

However, he did not expect Xayvion to be able to escape despite the situation not being in his favor.

It was extremely bad news.

Once Xayvion had healed his injuries and returned to exact his revenge, James and his members might not be able to escape his wrath.

Meanwhile, the tide turned for James' side as soon as Xayvion left the battlefield.

The first cultivator that was subdued was Corrado. He did not manage to last long as he was wounded and outnumbered. Qairo and the others quickly placed a seal over him.

With their top two fighters gone, all that was left were the Consummation Holy Celestial Rank cultivators from the Yeftero Race.

James' comrades swiftly overpowered those top Yeftero cultivators and sealed their cultivation and powers.

Then, they handed all of the Yeftero cultivators over to James.

"We've subdued the rest of the Yeftero cultivators. You can decide what you want to do with them," Jurryt said.

After a moment's consideration, James placed all those men in his storage treasure.

On the other hand, Quattro had entered the main spiritual mountain within the Yefteros' territory to eliminate all the cultivators hiding there. Soon enough, he completed his task.

Not long after that, James and the others met up with Quattro inside the spiritual mountain.

All of them felt a slight sense of accomplishment as they looked at how the place was torn down and deserted now. Also, James' side only had several minor casualties during their mission to bring down the Yefteros.

Still, none of them felt exceptionally glad or satisfied. That was because Xayvion, the strongest Yeftero cultivator, had gotten away.

Furthermore, Hacathra, Naveen, and a number of their competent cultivators had left the Yefteros' territory. Those people were headed for the Central Plane.

They only managed to debilitate the Yeftero Race instead of eradicating the entire race.

Also, they had made a terrible enemy out of the Yefteros.

"Dragon General!"

Quattro came up to James. 'The Yefteros' treasury is protected with a formation, and I can't undo or break it. You are the expert in formations. Let's unlock the treasury and split up the resources the Yefteros have accumulated!"

James had traveled to the Yefteros' territory with the intent of acquiring more resources and items for training.

All of them made their way to the Yefteros' treasury. As he observed the formation cast around the treasury, James furrowed his brows.

'This is a very special formation. It was probably produced from the most cryptic form of inscription belonging to the Yeftero Race. It would require a long time for me to undo it.

I think it's better if all of you work together to break the formation."

The others nodded slowly as they listened to James.

The Quasi Transcendental Bliss Rank cultivators came forward and started attacking the formation placed around the treasury.

Outside the Yefteros' territory, countless beings had traveled out into the Dark World and taken shelter at a safe spot.

Those beings were the residents who lived in or around the Yefteros' territory.

They had watched how the intense battle unfolded and how the Yefteros' territory had been destroyed.

At that point, they all knew that this was it for the Yefteros.

Although some of the Yeftero cultivators managed to slip away, they had lost their spiritual mountain, which was a crucial location for the Yefteros.

In addition, James' group was trying to unlock their treasury.

Even if the Yefteros' leader and grand patriarch were to return here later, it would be difficult for them to rise back to glory after losing all their resources.

Some of the major Primeval groups would also probably try to seize the other territories belonging to the Yefteros following this.

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 5557-Boom!

The sounds of a loud explosion could be heard coming from inside the spiritual mountain.

Tremors could be felt thousands of meters away.

The Quasi Transcendental Bliss Rank cultivators succeeded in breaking the formation by directing their attacks on it nonstop.

James and the others entered the Yefteros' treasury at once. Everyone widened their eyes in awe as they looked at the abundant cultivation resources stored inside the room.

"We won't be splitting this."

James started, "I have some other use for these resources. Almost all of you have reached the pinnacle of your cultivation and training, so you don't really need these items."

"I need these resources!" Quattro grumbled angrily.

James sent a glance in Qairo's direction.

Qairo moved immediately. He teleported toward Quattro and placed a seal to trap him on that spot.

“James, how could you be so unreasonable! I did my part for this mission, and I almost died just now! Now, you’re trying to hog all the treasures here?!”

While Quattro was yelling at James, the other cultivators merely stood there and listened.

As James said, most of them had reached the pinnacle of their cultivation. No matter how rare or precious the treasures around them were, cultivators of their level did not have any use for those items.

James stepped forward and raised his palm. He generated a ball of energy at the center of his palm.

As James slowly released the energy, a gust of strong wind swept across the room. The energy picked up all the treasures in the room and transferred them into James’ storage treasure.

“Let’s check out the Yefteros’ library.” James smiled brightly. “I heard that the Yefteros had robbed several groups of Primevals of their inscriptions during the last war that broke out in the Dark World. We should check the library and split those inscriptions.”

James had persuaded all those cultivators to join his cause by offering them valuable items or opportunities. Still, it would be inappropriate for him to hog all the treasures of the Yeftero Race.

The group of them searched for the Yefteros’ library next.

Eventually, they arrived outside the library and found another formation protecting the room. Fortunately, destroying the formation was a simple task for the Quasi Transcendental Bliss Rank cultivators.

After a short while, the formation cast around the library broke and shattered as those cultivators blasted their attacks on the formation continuously.

Then, all of them rushed in to look around the Yefteros’ library. Soon enough, they found books and records of various Primevals’ inscriptions and the signature skills created by the Yeftero Race.

The people waiting outside the Yefteros' territory could see what was happening to the Yefteros' treasury and library. They could almost foresee the downfall of the Yeftero Race.

The contents of their treasury and library were what made the Yeftero Race the most powerful group among the Four Ancient Races. It would be impossible for them to retain their status and influence now that they had lost all those precious knowledge and resources.

It did not take James' group long to gather all the valuable items found inside the Yefteros' spiritual mountain.

Soon afterward, they gathered outside the mountain.

James' gaze drifted across the cultivators before him. 'The battle might have concluded for now. However, when the Yefteros' leader and his people have returned here and seen what we've done to the place, they will surely come after us for revenge.'

He continued, 'Therefore, our mission is still not over yet. I still need all your help to assist me at the Central Plane.'

Jurrt looked at James and said matter-of-factly, "I've accomplished my role for our deal, so my job is done here. What happens after this or what happens to you is none of my business anymore."

Then, he extended his hand.

"Since the job is done, you can hand over the remaining half of the primitive inscriptions belonging to the Human Race to me now."

James produced the other half of the Primal Mantra and passed it to Jurrt. He flashed Jurrt a grin. "I have the oil lamp that can be used to access the Prison World. Would you be interested in visiting the Prison World?"

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 5558-James wanted to persuade the Shadowers to join him if that were possible.

Even though they had ended the battle with the Yefteros for now, James would eventually have to face the Yeftero cultivators who got away. Also, James might face threats from the other Primevals of the Dark World soon.

The manpower he had at the moment was still far from enough. For those trapped inside the Prison World, that realm would be a horrendous place to them.

On the contrary, outsiders would mostly feel curious about what it was like in the Prison World. Therefore, a lot of people wished to visit and explore the Prison World if given the opportunity.

Unfortunately, the oil lamp that was required for the entry of the Prison World had gone missing ages ago.

Jurryt did not expect that the oil lamp would be in James' possession.

James explained, 'The cultivator who fought alongside the rest of you earlier is currently staying at the Prison World. He gave me an inscription back when I visited the Prison World. He told me I could summon a clone of him by using the inscription.'

Jurryt raised his brows and asked curiously, "Did you come across any cultivators of the Dragon Race in the Prison World?"

James shook his head. "I didn't stay in the Prison World long enough to explore the entire place. So, I'm not sure of who or what else is in there."

"Alright. I'll take you up on the offer." Jurryt replied, "I'll come along with you to the Central Plane. Once all of this is over, you are to bring me into the Prison World."

"Deal!"

James beamed broadly.

"I'm not going with you this time." Lemuel said, "I almost died earlier. Also, I have sustained serious injuries. I'll need time to heal and recuperate." "Mhm." James nodded.

"Why you!" Quattro fumed, "You selfishly took all those treasures! I won't follow you either!"

James let out a low chuckle. "There are many Yeftero cultivators still on the loose. We've just conquered and destroyed their home. Do you think you can survive alone out there?"

“I...”

Quattro stuttered as he could not come up with anything to rebuke James.

James turned his eyes to Xeraiah. “The Heavenly Secrets Pavilion has somehow gotten involved in this now. Will you be bringing the other members of your group to join our cause in exterminating the Yefteros?”

Xeraiah had a pensive look in his eyes. “This is a serious matter. I’ll need to head back to the Heavenly Secrets Pavilion and consider this carefully. I’ll meet you at the Central Plane afterward.”

Then, Xeraiah teleported and left right away.

James and his members departed from the ruins of the Yeftero World and headed for the Central Plane.

Meanwhile, Hacathra and Naveen brought cultivators of the Yeftero Race and other Primeval groups as they headed for the Elysium Hall to rescue Trevelyan.

However, they could not find anything there upon reaching the Elysium Hall. It did not take long before the Yefteros realized they might have fallen for the enemy’s trick.

Hacathra felt extremely frustrated. They came all the way to the Central Plane for nothing.

Soon enough, they were on the way back to the Dark World.

While they had reached halfway of their journey, their troop chanced upon a member of the Yeftero Race who had escaped from their homeland.

That man spotted the Yefteros’ airship and quickly went after it. Then, he asked to meet Hacathra.

“Sir... Sir Hacathra, I have bad news...”

As he remained in his seat, Hacathra’s face darkened. He asked, “What happened?”

Hacathra had a foreboding of danger. He shot to his feet.” What happened to our territory?”

“Most of our cultivators were killed. Those men also destroyed our lands and robbed our treasury and library!”

The man who was on his knees felt a wave of vicious energy wash over him the next instant.

“You imbeciles!”

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 5559-Hacathra shouted at the top of his lungs.

An immense energy was carried along with his voice. The man who had just informed Hacathra of the news was completely annihilated by that energy.

Other than the Yeftero cultivators, the cultivators from the other three ancient races and other Primeval groups were present in the room as well.

They heard what the man had said earlier, but all of them chose to remain silent.

Hacathra walked over to Naveen. A deep frown drew his brows together. “We fell for James Caden’s tricks this time. He captured Elder Trevelyan to lure us to the Central Plane. Then, he brought his men to invade our base. However...”

Hacathra raised a brow. “How is this possible? We have numerous skilled and seasoned cultivators back at our base.”

He continued, “There are at least ten Consummation Holy Celestial Rank cultivators who can fight. Also, Elder Corrado has achieved the Quasi Transcendental Bliss Rank. We also have Xayvion...”

Hacathra could not fathom how this had happened when they had so many competent cultivators guarding their base.

After that, the Yefteros’ airship traveled at a noticeably faster speed in the direction of the Yeftero World. The Yefteros wanted to return to their base as soon as possible.

When they had finally reached the Yeftero World, the members of the Yeftero Race were in a state of shock as they looked at the sight before them.

The other cultivators dropped their jaws as well.

The Yeftero World, the home to many exceptional cultivators serving the Yeftero Race, was in ruins.

Hacathra and the others swiftly headed into the main spiritual mountain.

“Aargh! James Caden! I will end you with my own hands!”

Hacathra’s deep voice reverberated through the entire Yefteros’ territory. Even those outside the area could faintly detect the hatred in his voice.

While the Yefteros were furious about what had happened to their base, those belonging to other Primeval groups just stood at the side quietly. Most of them were inwardly pleased with this situation.

That was because the Yefteros had enjoyed absolute power and control in the Dark World for far too long. The other races had lived under their oppression all this time.

They would be more than happy to see the Yefteros be met with their downfall.

‘What on earth happened here? Who can tell me what’s happened while we were gone?’ Hacathra bellowed furiously.

Some of the spectators of the battle were still waiting around the periphery of the Yeftero World at that moment. They were curious to see how the Yeftero Army would react to their destroyed homeland.

Upon hearing Hacathra’s aggravated voice, those people immediately scurried off as they feared they would have to face Hacathra’s wrath.

Meanwhile, some of the Yeftero cultivators, who survived the attack and hid in those areas, quickly gathered back at the spiritual mountain.

After some shared the details of the invasion, a few of those cultivators also showed their leaders the footage of those intense battles.

Other than James, Qairo, and Quattro, the other cultivators had changed their appearances. Talvelai, in particular, modified his appearance from the very beginning since he did not want to risk exposing the Mevryees' involvement.

"James Caden, the Glacies, the Shadows..."

Although Jurryt and his men had adopted different appearances, the top cultivators of the Yefero Race were able to see through their tricks.

"I, Hacathra Yefero, swear that I will exterminate every single one of you!"

At the same time, James' group had arrived at Elysium Hall back on the Central Plane.

James announced, "Everyone must be tired after that intense battle. All of you can take a good rest and focus on healing your injuries for now."

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 5560-Soon afterward, Hacathra used a superb signature skill to restore the lands and surrounding space of the Yeferos' territory. With his impeccable powers, Hacathra managed to restore the Yefero World to its original state.

A short while later, the Yeferos gathered inside the main hall. Most of these people had survived the attack since they were dispatched to the Central Plane in the first place.

They were all looking at a footage in the hall.

They could see how James had first appeared in the Yeferos' territory and started attacking their people. Following that, the Yefero cultivators stepped up to fend off the enemies.

Soon enough, they saw scenes of Xayvion's battle too.

Hacathra and Naveen were both looking at the scenes closely.

They could recognize James, the Glacies, and the Shadows' members.

However, they failed to identify the other cultivators.

Cultivators like Lemuel and Talvelai were very careful during the mission.

Talvelai, for instance, did not use any of his signature skills or even unleash his full powers back then.

“Sir Naveen.” After watching the entire battle, Hacathra had a hardened expression as he turned to Naveen. “What do you think we should do to take revenge for the deaths of our people?”

Naveen had a grim expression on his face.

“His Highness is injured, and we have no idea where he is right now. We need to find him as soon as possible. His Highness was able to fight against four competent cultivators simultaneously with his impeccable powers. If it weren’t because James Caden had cunningly struck him with Karma Power, our people would not have lost this battle.”

Naveen was rather surprised when he observed Xayvion’s performance during the battles.

Xayvion went up against four Quasi Transcendental Bliss Rank cultivators, and he almost managed to overpower his opponents. Regrettably, Xayvion eventually lost and escaped after being hit by James’ sneak attack using the Karma Power.

After a brief moment, Naveen instructed, “Also, we’ve suffered a great loss this time. We should keep a low profile for the time being. From now on, we will restrict entry into the Yefteros’ territory and cut off all communications with the other groups. All of us are to remain at our base.”

“Sir Naveen...”

Hacathra said quickly, “Our people have never suffered such great humiliation!

We should make those people pay for what they did. How could we just remain here and do nothing?”

Naveen explained, “We’ve lost a lot of manpower and resources this time.

Therefore, we should lay low and focus on preparing for our next action. There are many other Primevals with great power and influence in the Dark World.

We've made many enemies after all these years. Those people will definitely try to take advantage of us after learning what had happened."

"I disagree."

Hacathra's eyes narrowed. "Even though we've lost a lot of manpower and resources, we still have many elite cultivators with us. We have two Quasi Transcendental Bliss Rank cultivators. One is enough to take on an entire army of men." He said through gritted teeth, "We should announce to all that we would set out to exact revenge on our enemies.

Anyone who dares to defy us will face our wrath!"

"Face our wrath?"

Naveen looked at Hacathra. "If James Caden and his men decide to initiate a second attack on us now, what do you think we can do in response to that?"

Hacathra was rendered speechless by his question.

They had just observed the excellent battle performance showcased by James and his comrades. If they were to start another round of attack, it would be the end for the Yefteros.

Naveen could see the conflicted expression on Hacathra's face. "We will get our revenge, but that won't happen now. We must first locate His Highness. Once he's returned and achieved full recovery, it will be the time for us to make our move."

"Yes. I will heed your advice, Sir Naveen," Hacathra said in a slightly reluctant tone.

Once they announced that they would limit access in and out of the Yeftero World, the Yefteros would inevitably lose control over the other lands and people under their subjugation.

All of the time and effort they spent on widening their influence would be for naught.

Unfortunately, there was nothing Hacathra could do under their current circumstances.

After returning to Elysium Hall, James' comrades each found a quiet spot to focus on healing their injuries.

Meanwhile, James was still waiting for an update from the Heavenly Secrets Pavilion.
