The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 5565-The first to merge with the Central Plane was a ninth-level plane.

James knew he must merge the Central Plane and the ninthlevel plane's Genesis Paths. Only by doing so could he successfully fuse the two planes.

At that moment, James activated the ninth-level plane's Genesis Path and merged it with the Central Plane's Genesis Path.

He could even fuse the Elemental Primevals' primitive inscriptions. Thus, merging the two Genesis Paths was relatively easy.

As the Genesis Paths merged, the two planes gradually began to connect.

However, the backlash also grew stronger.

James forcibly endured the intense pressure.

"I won't let you do as you please, James!" Suddenly, a potent aura came from the plane. Then, a powerhouse at the Martial Celestial Rank rushed out.

The plane was the foundation of this powerhouse's existence. Losing the plane would mean losing his title as a Plane Lord. As a result, he would lose countless cultivation resources.

"Get lost." Before James could even respond, Quattro knocked the powerhouses away.

James ignored them and continued the merging process.

Qairo and Xeraiah were not idle either. Their task was to watch the Dark World and prevent its powerhouses from intervening. At the same time, they had to help James with the resistance force from the merging of planes.

While merging the two planes, James sustained some backlash. However, he was still able to endure it. Thus, there was no need for Qairo and Xeraiah to intervene.

Qairo and Xeraiah stood outside the Elysium Hall.

Xeraiah turned to Qairo and asked, “What do you think about the world that will be born after the countless planes are merged with the Central Plane?”

Qairo shook his head and replied, “I don’t know. I heard all the planes were initially core pieces from the Ancestral Site. No matter how strong this new world is, it won’t compare to the Ancestral Site.” Xeraiah said thoughtfully, “The current Prison World is the former Ancestral Site’s ruins. After James merges the countless planes with the Central Plane, then with the Prison World, he can restore the Ancestral Site.”

“Restore the Ancestral Site?” Qairo murmured thoughtfully.

To him, the Ancestral Site was a legend that existed only in ancient books. It was destroyed a long time ago. If it were restored, it would become a historical event.

Qairo and Xeraiah were looking forward to the future.

At that moment, the ninth-level plane rapidly merged with the Central Plane. The two powerful planes overlapped, and countless areas were destroyed.

“Fuse!!!” James used all his strength to urge the fusion of the two planes.

A mysterious force emerged and crushed James. His knees bent, unable to fully withstand the force.

Qairo took notice and immediately helped James.

With Qairo’s assistance, the pressure on James’ body subsided significantly.

James focused on merging the two planes and was met with success shortly after. The Central Plane had grown more extensive, and its Genesis Paths more potent.

After fusing the ninth-level plane with the Central Plane, James gained some experience.

He moved on to fuse the next plane. This time, he chose a low-level plane and faced no backlash. The process was relatively smooth and fast

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 5567-One after another, James merged the different planes into the Central Plane.

The Central Plane's lands extended, and its Genesis Path grew more potent. As a result of the fusion, its space also became more stable.

As more planes merged into the Central Plane, many strange phenomena happened.

Some magical instructions appeared in the Central Plane. At the same time, abundant Empyrean Spiritual Energy, which was ancient and pure, permeated the air.

The Central Plane's living beings were surprised.

"T-The power is so magical."

"I didn't think such potent power would be born after the fusion of planes."

"There's so many mysterious inscriptions."

"A brand-new plane is in the making! Countless opportunities will arise!"

"The birth of a superplane means more boons! We must seize these opportunities! We'll rise to the top if we acquire them!"

The Central Plane's living beings were excited and eager to snatch the new boons.

However, the fusion process was not over yet.

James continued to merge the planes, yet there were too many of them. It was easy for him to merge the smaller and lower-ranked planes. However, the eighth and ninth-level planes posed quite a difficulty for him. Thus, it would take some time.

At that moment, James' energy was almost exhausted. He had to restore his strength before he continued to merge the remaining planes.

James paused and began to regain his strength.

Although the Dark World was in chaos, the Central Plane had always been the focus of countless races.

In the past, the Central Plane was not much of a threat.

However, James, who was from the Central Plane, stirred up quite a storm. He wiped out many of the Yefteros' powerhouses, forcing them to seal off their spiritual mountain and refrain from moving around in the Dark World.

Therefore, many of the Dark World's races paid special attention to the Central Plane and Elysium Hall.

"James is merging the outside planes."

"He already fused a few of them into the Central Plane."

The spies from the Dark World's various races quickly reported the news to their headquarters.

The Dark World's major races were shocked after learning of the news.

"He's merging the outside planes?"

"Is he so capable?"

"This is bad. We can't let James merge the planes. He's very close with the Glacies' survivors. Once he successfully creates a superplane, our race will be doomed."

After the Suuntelis, Zoltrumms, and other major races learned of the news, their first reaction was shock. However, they quickly came to their senses and knew letting James merge the planes would not end well for them. They concluded that it was necessary to get in his way.

However, James managed to cause severe damage to the Yefteros. Thus, they were worried about getting in his way. All of them felt helpless after recalling how James managed to damage the Yefteros. They did not dare to intervene and had no choice but to let James do as he pleased.

In the Central Plane, James quickly recovered his strength. Then, he continued to merge the remaining planes with the Central Plane.

The Central Plane's space kept growing more advanced.

The process became more difficult as the number of planes merged into the Central Plane increased. The resistance force produced during the process grew more potent, and Qairo began to struggle.

Qairo shouted hurriedly, "I need some help, Xeraiah! I won't be able to hold on much longer."

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 5568-Qairo could no longer withstand the increasing backlash from merging planes.

He looked at Xeraiah beside him and asked for help.

Xeraiah instantly took action, bearing part of the force. With Xeraiah's help, Qairo's burden was relieved significantly.

Qairo frowned and said, "There are still many more planes left. The resistance force is already so strong. If this continues, we won't be enough to withstand it."

Xeraiah's brows also furrowed.

"You still have me." At that moment, Quattro approached them and slumped at the main hall's threshold.

Qairo and Xeraiah looked at Quattro.

Unfortunately, there were insufficient powerhouses to withstand the resistance force, even with Quattro.

James' goal was to merge all the planes, and the resistance force was potent.

The resistance force was similar to Karma Power but was even stronger.

They needed more than just three powerhouses to withstand the force.

"I can help too," Qiyana walked over and said, "I'm also at the Holy Celestial Rank. I'll be able to withstand some of the resistance force."

Jada, a powerhouse at the Holy Celestial Rank from the Medicuse Race, also walked over and said, "Count me in as well."

Qairo said, "This should be enough for now."

The group stood at the Elysium Hall's entrance.

James, on the other hand, continued merging the remaining planes.

The Central Plane grew, the space became even more stable, and its Genesis Path strengthened.

The pressure withstood by Qairo and the others also increased.

The group sat in lotus positions and struggled to endure the pressure.

Qairo and Jada, who were slightly weaker, were soon at their limits. Their bodies were covered with injuries, and their clothes were soaked with blood.

"This is bad. If this continues, we're all going to die." Jada had a pained expression. The resistance force from fusing the planes was too potent. Even though a few of them shared the burden, it was not enough.

Meanwhile, James sat in the sky above the Elysium Hall. The pressure on his body had grown significantly. A powerful force circulated him, submerging into his body. At that moment, his body was already covered in injuries.

The Central Plane's powerhouses watched him attentive. Some wanted to help him but feared being tainted by a potent Karma Power and their souls being wiped out.

Lemuel, who was watching from the Dieux Academy, could no longer bear it. He appeared in the academy's main hall and sat in the highest seat. He looked at his academy's powerhouses and ordered, "Let's help James share some of the backlash."

"Yes, Sir," the powerhouses replied in unison.

Everyone sat on the floor in lotus positions and absorbed some of the resistance force.

With the help of Lemuel and the Dieux Academy's powerhouses, the burden on James, Qairo, Xeraiah, and the others was reduced significantly.

James took a deep breath. Then, he summoned the Endlos Plane that had been sealed away for some time.

The Central Plane's powerhouses instantly sensed the Endlos PLane.

Previously, James had left the Genesis Path Scripture for the Endlos Plane's humans. A long time had passed, and many powerhouses had risen from the Human Race.

Although they were not comparable to the Dark World's powerhouses, they were pretty impressive if compared to the Central Plane.

The Endlos Plane was considered quite powerful now.

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 5569-In the Endlos Plane's Heavenly Court, Jacopo suddenly cheered excitedly, "It's Dad's aura! He deactivated the seal around the Endlos Plane! He's merging the outside planes!"

"You're right! It's Dad!" James' children rejoiced.

"The merging of the outside planes has given birth to a potent force. It seems James is unable to resist it and has sustained some injuries."

James was from the Endlos Plane. Thus, the powerhouses in the Endlos Plane easily sensed his aura. They quickly analyzed the Central Plane and understood the situation.

The Endlos Plane, far from the Central Plane, rapidly moved closer.

"Hurry, let's take action to help James resist the power!"

"Let's help Dad!"

James' children and the powerhouses of the Heavenly Court quickly sat in lotus positions and took on a portion of the resistance force.

The Endlos Plane moved closer to the Central Plane and began to merge. As a result, many of the Endlos Plane's border regions collapsed, and countless lives were lost.

However, James paid them no attention. After completely integrating the planes, he could revive these deceased beings.

As the Endlos Plane merged with the Central Plane, abundant Empyrean Spiritual Energy emerged within the Human Universe and Mount Bane.

In Mount Bane, there was a statue of Xeraiah. It had been eons since the statue was erected, yet it was still in good condition. As the Endlos Plane merged with the Central Plane, divine lights containing magical powers materialized near the statue.

Xeraiah, who was in the Central Plane, immediately benefited significantly. His injuries from withstanding the resistance force began to heal rapidly. At the same time, his cultivation rank and strength improved steadily. In just a short moment, he reached the Quasi Bliss Rank.

“Argh!!!” Xeraiah could not help but roar after his strength suddenly skyrocketed.

In Mount Bane, tremendous amounts of primitive power formed, and several primitive inscriptions appeared.

The humans living on Mount Bane received blessings from heaven and earth.

As a result, their physical strengths and cultivation ranks were boosted.

Some cultivators who had not broken through for a long time suddenly reached higher ranks.

Mount Bane received a great blessing. As for the Human Race’s Heavenly Court, which was directly above Mount Bane, also benefited significantly.

Soon, James had successfully merged the Endlos Plane with the Central Plane.

Afterward, he moved on to another plane.

The Heavenly Court’s members were overjoyed. They received a divine blessing from heaven and earth, which improved their cultivation ranks.

Hetsema quickly ordered all the humans in the Endlos Plane to share the resistance force born from the merging of planes.

With the help of countless humans, the initial group tasked with shouldering the resistance force was instantly relieved significantly.

James continued with the merging process. One after another, he merged the planes into the Central Plane.

The process lasted for a long time.

Finally, the Central Plane transformed into a superplane. After all the planes were merged, a magical power emerged above the Central Plane's Heavenly Court. Countless magical inscriptions also materialized and surrounded James' body.

Those who had helped James withstand the resistance force were also shrouded in mysterious halos, receiving a blessing from heaven and earth.

"What's this?"

"I never expected to receive benefits after the superplane was completed."

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 5570=-James had successfully merged all planes into a major world. During the process, a resistance force was born. Fortunately, many powerhouses joined in to help James share the burden.

After the superplane's completion, abundant Emyrean Spiritual Energy filled the plane.

Those who had helped James were enveloped by magical Emyrean Spiritual Energy and received blessings resulting in their physical bodies, strength, and cultivation ranks being enhanced.

James, however, was the one who benefited the most. He sat in a lotus position above the Elysium Hall. His body was surrounded by colorful light rays containing pure Emyrean Spiritual Energy and mysterious inscriptions.

He entered a mysterious state, and his body underwent extreme changes under the dazzling light rays.

It was different from when he cultivated. Instead, he felt like he had entered a magical world with potent heaven and earth inscriptions that contained unpredictable and mysterious powers.

A force from the past suddenly emerged. A spectral figure stood in the distance, looking toward the present era.

Shortly after, power from the future also materialized, and another figure appeared along with it. The figure stood in the distant and unreachable future, also staring directly at the present era.

The past, future, and present forces were intertwined.

James felt incredible. While in the mysterious state, he tried to understand the past, future, and present. Gradually, his comprehension of the three powers grew.

After a long time, the divine light rays around his body dissipated.

James opened his eyes, and a dark space filled with stars entered his view. He was still floating in the void above the Elysium Hall.

He quickly sensed his strength and found that his physical strength had improved after being bathed by the divine light. Previously, his physical strength was equivalent to the Holy Celestial Rank's late stage. Now, it was at the Quasi Bliss Rank.

Unfortunately, his cultivation rank remained at the Martial Celestial Rank's early stage.

Although his cultivation rank had not improved, he could now utilize his physical body's full potential.

In other words, he could unleash the explosive physical strength of the Quasi Bliss Rank without activating his cultivation power.

Previously, James was incapable of exerting his physical body's true strength due to his lacking cultivation rank.

Even though his cultivation rank had not changed, he was pleased about being able to unleash his physical body's true powers. He could take on an opponent at the Quasi Bliss Rank despite only being at the Martial Celestial Rank's early stage.

"Not bad." James clenched his fists and marveled at the power flowing through his body. A satisfied smile formed on his face. Now, he was finally standing at the top of the world and was capable of fighting against the powerhouses of the Dark World.
