

Read The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 5571

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 5571-The improvement of his strength was only a bonus. The most worthy achievement was merging the countless Genesis Paths.

After combining the Genesis Paths, a brand-new Genesis Path was formed.

As the person who merged the planes, James had naturally mastered the new Genesis Path during the process.

Technically, he was the lord of the new world and could control its powers.

The new major world created by fusing the countless planes was terrifyingly strong. James, who was capable of controlling it, held great strength in his hands. Even if Xayvion were to show up, he did not need to fear.

James gradually descended from the void and landed outside the Elysium Hall's main hall.

Many powerhouses were gathered outside the main hall, including Xeraiah, Cairo, Qiyana, Jada, and others.

Everyone's eyes immediately fixed on James.

James looked at them and realized they had also benefited. Their cultivation ranks and strength had improved significantly.

He specifically tried to sense Qairo's strength. After finding that Qairo had not improved, he frowned and asked,"

Everyone had benefited from helping me, so why didn't your cultivation rank improve?"

Qairo replied smilingly, "Although my cultivation rank is the same, I benefited greatly. My cultivation base has stabilized, and I've grown stronger."

Although Qairo's cultivation rank had not changed, his strength was enhanced.

James looked at the other powerhouses present. Their cultivation ranks were raised. Xeraiah's improvements were quite noteworthy, and his aura was almost on par with Qairo.

James smiled and said, "We should be the strongest force now. Even the Dark World's Primevals won't be able to compare with our new world."

Quattro grinned and said, "I no longer have to fear an opponent at the Quasi Bliss Rank."

In the past, Quattro had always been quite arrogant. He even claimed to be able to be unbeatable by anyone below the Quasi Bliss Rank. Naturally, it was not quite true, and part of it was him exaggerating. However, his statement had become completely true now that his cultivation rank and strength had improved.

"What do you plan to do next?" Qiyana looked at James.

Qiyana's enemies were the Dark World's Four Ancient Race. Even though they had caused significant damage to the Yefteros, they still managed to survive.

The Glacies had deep hostility toward the Four Ancient Races. Thus, Qiyana was determined to get revenge for her race.

Qiyana asked, "Can we take action against the Four Ancient Races now?"

James waved his hand and said, "We can't rush it. The Four Ancient Races have existed for a very long time. Although I've successfully merged all the planes, our foundation is weak. We can't challenge them yet."

From James' perspective, rushing it was not a good idea.

However, Qiyana took it that James was unwilling to stand against the Four Ancient Races after he had benefited significantly.

"If you don't want to get involved, let's go our separate ways. I'll deal with the Four Ancient Races on my own. You saved Qairo, and I promised to let him be under your command for a while. I've already fulfilled my end of the promise." Qiyana turned to Qairo and ordered, "Let's go."

"Yes, Princess." Qairo nodded.

Qairo wanted to stay by James' side to learn more, thinking his chances of reaching the Transcendental Bliss Rank Tribulation were higher. However, he was from the Glacies, after all. Qiyana was the only other surviving member, and it was his duty to obey her.

James frowned as Qiyana and Qairo walked away.

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 5572=ames felt frustrated that Qiyana had left with Qairo. He had not given up on taking action against the Four Ancient Races. However, it was not yet the right time. The new world had just formed, and they lacked powerhouses.

The Yefteros alone had countless powerhouses. With the addition of the other races' powerhouses, the Four Ancient Races would easily overpower them.

With their new world's current strength, he could not stand a chance against the Dark World's major races. It was not a good time to take action.

James was not expecting Qiyana to be so impatient, even wanting to fight them alone.

"When will you take me to the Prison World?" asked Xeraiah.

Xeraiah was also eager to enter the Prison World.

"There's no rush." James gently waved his hand. Now that a new plane had formed, there was a lot he had to get done.

First, he had to return to the Human Universe to check on his family and friends.

It had been a long time since he had reunited with them. Even when he visited in the past, he always left in a hurry. There was nothing urgent, so he planned to use the opportunity to spend time with his family and friends.

"What position will you give me in the new world, General? I already requested in advance to be the Deputy Plane Lord," Quattro said anxiously, afraid James would go against his word.

Although Quattro was already at an impressive cultivation rank and had great strength, he still yearned for more. His greed for power was endless.

James replied, "Stay in the Elysium Hall for now. You have full authorization over the Elysium Hall's patrollers."

After leaving a few words, James disappeared.

"Woohoo!" Quattro rejoiced.

James appeared in the human's territory and headed straight to Mount Bane. At the same time, Xeraiah had also arrived in Mount Bane.

The two stood in front of Xeraiah's statue.

James looked at the statue, turned to Xeraiah, who arrived after him, and asked, "Is there anything special about this Progenitor Star?"

Xeraiah shook his head and replied, "I'm not too sure either."

"If you aren't sure, why did you erect a statue here?" James stared at him doubtfully.

Xeraiah answered, "The Ancestral Site is a legend to me. I've only ever read records about it in ancient books. I only decided to be reincarnated into the Endlos Plane because I deduced an undiscovered Progenitor Star existed in the Endlos Plane."

"Progenitor Stars were core pieces of the Ancestral Site. They are very mysterious existences. I left a statue here, just in case. I'm surprised I benefited from it."

James scanned Mount Bane's environment and sensed the magical powers in the area. Then, he asked, "Do you think I can restore the Ancestral Site if I merge the Prison World with the new world? Will the Halcyon Road that used to appear in the Ancestral Site reemerge?"

Xeraiah shook his head and said, "How would I know? I think it's worth a shot."

"Let's talk about it again when the opportunity arises," James said calmly.

Fusing the Prison World into their new world would be even more complicated.

The Prison World was sealed away by a formation made by the primitive inscriptions of various races. Its defensive powers were exceptional, making it impossible to be broken by force.

The only way to deactivate the formation was to master the primitive inscriptions of not one, not two, but tens of thousands of races. It was a difficult task that needed time.

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 5573-Shortly after James arrived in Mount Bane, a few people rushed over. They descended from the sky and landed next to him.

Hetsema, Jacopo, Winnie, Xainte, and his other children arrived.

Zavis, Gaius, Taran, Henrik, Yardos, and other human powerhouses also came to see him.

“James!”

With the increasing number of powerhouses appearing, the area around Xeraiah’s statue was soon overcrowded.

“James!” A man with tan skin, donning a dashing-looking armor, appeared. It was none other than James’ former confidant, Henry, who had been serving as the Heavenly Court’s General all this while.

“Hey there!” Seeing so many familiar faces, James smiled.

“Dad! Where’s Mom?” asked Jacopo.

James replied, “She’s cultivating in a very safe place.” Everyone’s gaze was fixated on James, evidently glad to see him again.

Zavis spotted Xeraiah and said, “It’s been a long time since we’ve last met, Xeraiah. I wasn’t expecting your cultivation rank to have improved so much when we met again. You’ve already surpassed me by so much.”

In the past, Zavis was on par with Xeraiah. Now, there was already such a massive gap in their cultivation ranks.

Xeraiah looked at Zavis and nodded lightly in response.

James interrupted, saying, “Let’s head back to the Heavenly Court first.”

The group left Mount Bane one after another and headed to the Heavenly Court.

After returning to the Heavenly Court, James gathered with his family and friends.

Meanwhile, the news of James merging all the planes into the Central Plane had reached the Dark World.

The Dark World's Primevals knew that a stable superplane had formed and was much more advanced than their worlds.

The superplane was almost comparable to the legendary Ancestral Site.

After the superplane formed, magical energies spread throughout its lands. In addition, countless Empyrean herbs had grown.

Naturally, the Primevals were attracted to the abundant cultivation resources.

The Yefteros, who had sealed away their spiritual mountain, paid attention to the outside world. Their remaining powerhouses gathered inside their main hall.

Hacathra sat in the highest seat, and the Yefteros' Grand Patriarch, Naveen, sat beside him.

"Is there still no news of Xayvion?" Hacathra asked with a grim expression.

A disciple replied, "Our spies have been working hard to gather information.

However, there hasn't been anything about his whereabouts yet."

Hacathra frowned and said, "A superplane has formed outside the Dark World.

It's almost on par with the former Ancestral Site, and many cultivation resources have emerged. We suffered a great blow and lost a lot of territory this time. We must seize control over this superplane."

The superplane was very tempting, and even the Yefteros had their eyes set on it.

Hacathra looked at Naveen and asked, "What do you think, Sir?"

Naveen replied solemnly, “The Mevryees and Shadowers have been making big moves in the Dark World, seizing the properties that used to belong to us. Thus, there aren’t any powerhouses with James in the Central Plane right now. It’s our chance. However, we can’t act recklessly since Xayvion hasn’t shown up yet.

Although Naveen also wished to seize the Central Plane, he knew they were in no place to take risks right now.

“As I said, we should wait until Xayvion returns.”

“I think we should gather the Dark World’s major races and launch another attack on the Central Plane,” Hacathra said grimly.

Read The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 5575

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 5575-The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 5575-James made an inventory of the materials he had looted from the Yefteros.

He had sufficient materials for a few dozen Boundarybreaker Runes capable of passing through various formations.

With the Boundarybreaker Runes, he could bring out dozens of powerhouses from the Prison World. However, James could not predict nor control these powerhouses. It was uncertain what kind of storms they would raise in the Dark World.

Now that the superplane had formed, many magical materials emerged. James collected them to make more Boundarybreaker Runes.

After roaming around for a while, James collected quite a lot of materials. Now, he had enough materials for about 50 Boundarybreaker Runes.

‘This should be enough,’ James murmured.

50 Boundarybreaker Runes to rescue 50 powerhouses from the Prison World.

“I wonder how Thea is doing in the Prison World.”

James missed Thea. Previously, he feared Thea would be in danger by being by his side. Now that the superplane had formed, he felt more confident and was no longer worried about being unable to ensure her safety.

As for the Yefteros and other Primevals, James was determined not to let them leave alive if they launched an attack on the Central Plane.

James decided to enter the Prison World. However, he had to settle things in the Central Plane before leaving.

The Central Plane was now a major world, almost as potent as the former Ancestral Site. Thus, mastering the Genesis Path of a major was a great boost to his own strength.

The new Central Plane's Genesis Path was equivalent to the strength of the Quasi Bliss Rank's peak. In other words, whoever controlled its Genesis Path would have the strength of the Quasi Bliss Rank's peak.

James was unsure how long he would be in the Prison World. He was worried the Dark World's Primevals would attack the Central Plane after he entered the Prison World.

Therefore, he wanted to delegate a reliable powerhouse to guard the Central Plane while he was gone.

"Who will be a good fit?" James fell into thought.

At that moment, many people came to mind. Among them, the most suitable would be Quattro. With Quattro's strength, he hardly had any opponents if he were to control the new world. However, he was not reliable.

James was worried Quattro might become out of control after being allowed to rule the new world.

Meanwhile, the humans were relatively weaker in cultivation and were not strong enough to master the new world's Genesis Path.

Suddenly, James thought of someone.

His previous student, Stephen, was a good option.

James made an inventory of the materials he had looted from the Yefteros.

He had sufficient materials for a few dozen Boundarybreaker Runes capable of passing through various formations.

With the Boundarybreaker Runes, he could bring out dozens of powerhouses from the Prison World. However, James could not predict nor control these powerhouses. It was uncertain what kind of storms they would raise in the Dark World.

Now that the superplane had formed, many magical materials emerged. James collected them to make more Boundarybreaker Runes.

After roaming around for a while, James collected quite a lot of materials. Now, he had enough materials for about 50 Boundarybreaker Runes.

‘This should be enough,’ James murmured.

50 Boundarybreaker Runes to rescue 50 powerhouses from the Prison World.

“I wonder how Thea is doing in the Prison World.”

James missed Thea. Previously, he feared Thea would be in danger by being by his side. Now that the superplane had formed, he felt more confident and was no longer worried about being unable to ensure her safety.

As for the Yefteros and other Primevals, James was determined not to let them leave alive if they launched an attack on the Central Plane.

James decided to enter the Prison World. However, he had to settle things in the Central Plane before leaving.

The Central Plane was now a major world, almost as potent as the former Ancestral Site. Thus, mastering the Genesis Path of a major was a great boost to his own strength.

The new Central Plane’s Genesis Path was equivalent to the strength of the Quasi Bliss Rank’s peak. In other words, whoever controlled its Genesis Path would have the strength of the Quasi Bliss Rank’s peak.

James was unsure how long he would be in the Prison World. He was worried the Dark World’s Primevals would attack the Central Plane after he entered the Prison World.

Therefore, he wanted to delegate a reliable powerhouse to guard the Cental Plane while he was gone.

“Who will be a good fit?” James fell into thought.

At that moment, many people came to mind. Among them, the most suitable would be Quattro. With Quattro’s strength, he hardly had any opponents if he were to control the new world. However, he was not reliable.

James was worried Quattro might become out of control after being allowed to rule the new world.

Meanwhile, the humans were relatively weaker in cultivation and were not strong enough to master the new world’s Genesis Path.

Suddenly, James thought of someone.

His previous student, Stephen, was a good option.

Before Stephen left the Endlos Plane, he had already reached the Martial Celestial Rank. It had already been a long time since then, and he must have already entered a higher cultivation rank.

James unleashed his Zen, trying to locate Stephen. As the lord of the new world, James could gain a perception of the entire place with just a thought.

Finding someone was a piece of cake for him.

Soon, he detected Stephen’s aura. At that moment, Stephen was in a mysterious place. He was sitting in a lotus position on the ground and was surrounded by magical inscriptions. It ap

James made an inventory of the materials he had looted from the Yefteros.

He had sufficient materials for a few dozen Boundarybreaker Runes capable of passing through various formations.

With the Boundarybreaker Runes, he could bring out dozens of powerhouses from the Prison World. However, James could not predict nor control these powerhouses. It was uncertain what kind of storms they would raise in the Dark World.

Now that the superplane had formed, many magical materials emerged. James collected them to make more Boundarybreaker Runes.

After roaming around for a while, James collected quite a lot of materials. Now, he had enough materials for about 50 Boundarybreaker Runes.

‘This should be enough,’ James murmured.

50 Boundarybreaker Runes to rescue 50 powerhouses from the Prison World.

“I wonder how Thea is doing in the Prison World.”

James missed Thea. Previously, he feared Thea would be in danger by being by his side. Now that the superplane had formed, he felt more confident and was no longer worried about being unable to ensure her safety.

As for the Yefteros and other Primevals, James was determined not to let them leave alive if they launched an attack on the Central Plane.

James decided to enter the Prison World. However, he had to settle things in the Central Plane before leaving.

The Central Plane was now a major world, almost as potent as the former Ancestral Site. Thus, mastering the Genesis Path of a major was a great boost to his own strength.

The new Central Plane’s Genesis Path was equivalent to the strength of the Quasi Bliss Rank’s peak. In other words, whoever controlled its Genesis Path would have the strength of the Quasi Bliss Rank’s peak.

James was unsure how long he would be in the Prison World. He was worried the Dark World’s Primevals would attack the Central Plane after he entered the Prison World.

Therefore, he wanted to delegate a reliable powerhouse to guard the Central Plane while he was gone.

“Who will be a good fit?” James fell into thought.

At that moment, many people came to mind. Among them, the most suitable would be Quattro. With Quattro’s strength, he hardly had any opponents if he were to control the new world. However, he was not reliable.

James was worried Quattro might become out of control after being allowed to rule the new world.

Meanwhile, the humans were relatively weaker in cultivation and were not strong enough to master the new world's Genesis Path.

Suddenly, James thought of someone.

His previous student, Stephen, was a good option.

Before Stephen left the Endlos Plane, he had already reached the Martial Celestial Rank. It had already been a long time since then, and he must have already entered a higher cultivation rank.

James unleashed his Zen, trying to locate Stephen. As the lord of the new world, James could gain a perception of the entire place with just a thought.

Finding someone was a piece of cake for him.

Soon, he detected Stephen's aura. At that moment, Stephen was in a mysterious place. He was sitting in a lotus position on the ground and was surrounded by magical inscriptions. It appeared that he was in seclusion to cultivate.

peared that he was in seclusion to cultivate.

Before Stephen left the Endlos Plane, he had already reached the Martial Celestial Rank. It had already been a long time since then, and he must have already entered a higher cultivation rank.

James unleashed his Zen, trying to locate Stephen. As the lord of the new world, James could gain a perception of the entire place with just a thought.

Finding someone was a piece of cake for him.

Soon, he detected Stephen's aura. At that moment, Stephen was in a mysterious place. He was sitting in a lotus position on the ground and was surrounded by magical inscriptions. It appeared that he was in seclusion to cultivate.