The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 5601-James felt as though he was confronting the entire Dark World as he confronted Xayvion.

“What should I do?” James’ expression turned grave as he faced Xayvion and his Obsidian Body. Helplessness overcame him, and despair welled up inside.

Right then, he summoned living beings from his storage. They were Yeftero Race powerhouses that he had previously trapped and sealed.

“Stand down, Xayvion Yeftero. I’ll kill them if you take one more step.” James’ voice echoed.

However, Xayvion remained indifferent. His expression was solemn as he gazed at James and uttered each word deliberately, “I’ll help you in killing them.”

He acted as the words fell. The black longsword in his hand transformed into Sword Energy.

‘Your, your Highness.’

“No...Your Highness!”

The sealed Yeftero Race powerhouses were all left in a state of shock. Among them was Trevelyan Yeftero, who had attained the Quasi Bliss Rank.

Their faces reflected sheer horror. Enveloped by fear, a dreadful Sword Energy pervaded the surroundings. They did not resist while facing Xayvion’s attack.

Their bodies were consumed as they were struck by the terrifying Sword Energy, disappearing into the darkness.

Xayvion was ruthless. His only thought was to kill James, and no one could stop him.

Seeing this scene, James could not help but frown.

“The Transcendental Bliss Rank? Has he truly lost his emotions?”

In that instant, he dodged just in time. The terrifying Sword Energy shattered the space as he disappeared from the area, causing the region to collapse instantly.

James appeared in the distance and looked at Xayvion. He wondered if Xayvion had truly entered the Transcendental Bliss Rank. He pondered if achieving this rank meant being completely without feelings and desires, and if it was as heartless as the Heavenly Path.

Xayvion launched another attack. Meanwhile, James had not figured out a way to defeat Xayvion. Currently, he did not dare to confront Xayvion head-on and could only choose to evade, avoiding his fierce attacks.

The dark space where Xayvion's Sword Energy struck would inevitably crumble.

However, James never chose to clash head-on with Xayvion. Instead, he engaged in evasion and contemplated a counter-strategy while making his escape.

In a distant region, numerous powerhouses from the New Endlos Plane and representatives of various major races from the Dark World gathered. They opted to stand idly by, merely observing the unfolding battle.

No one had expected that James, who was only at the Martial Celestial Rank, could contend with Xayvion. This demonstrated his prowess, even as he was being pursued by Xayvion.

However, their primary focus was still on Xayvion. They witnessed him exterminating many Yeftero Race powerhouses, including one at the Quasi Bliss Rank.

"Has he truly entered the Transcendental Bliss Rank? Has he truly become heartless and unfeeling? He even wiped out powerhouses of the Yeftero Race."

Doubts filled the hearts of powerhouses from various races of the Dark World.

In the New Endlos Plane, Wynton and Zella swiftly traveled to find Stephen Yaman.

“Zella, is James really going to die this time? Is the New Endlos Plane going to be destroyed?”

Zella shook her head slightly and said, “I don’t know.”

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 5602-For the time being, James could not figure out a way to defeat Xayvion. His only recourse was to passively evade. However, he was currently in his strongest state. Therefore, if he escaped, Xayvion would not be able to do anything to him.

At the same time, Wynton and Zella arrived at the place where Stephen was in seclusion.

Before leaving, James had instructed Stephen not to come out, regardless of what happened in the outside world. He was to first comprehend the Genesis Path of the new world.

There was a formation here. Wynton and Zella could not break it due to their limited cultivation realm.

“Stephen Yaman, James is in trouble and needs your help,” Zella called out loudly while looking toward the spiritual mountain ahead. Her voice resonated in the area, piercing through the formation, and reached Stephen’s ears.

At this moment, Stephen was in the midst of comprehending the Genesis Path of the New Endlos Plane. This profound understanding resulted from the convergence of countless planes’ Genesis Paths. Even for Stephen, it was impossible to fully comprehend it in a short time. Currently, he had only grasped about half of it.

Upon hearing this, he could not help but furrow his brow. He remembered that James had instructed him not to come out, regardless of what happened in the outside world.

Hence, he chose to ignore it. Sitting in a lotus position, he continued his comprehension.

“Stephen Yaman, your Master will die if you don’t come out. Not only will he die, but the entire New Endlos Plane will be doomed,” a voice echoed in his ears.

Stephen became uneasy upon hearing this. Unable to focus on his comprehension, he stood up and disappeared on the spot. In the next moment, he appeared outside the spiritual mountain, looking at Wynton and Zella before asking, "What happened?"

Stephen was in seclusion and remained unaware of events in the outside world.

Zella explained, recounting the incident.

"The Yefteros' prince, Xayvion Yeftero, is too powerful. Even James can't match up when he uses his full strength. Right now, his only chance of winning is to break through Xayvion's Obsidian Body."

"How can I break his Obsidian Body?" asked Stephen. "As you mentioned, James' strength is comparable to the peak of the Quasi Bliss Rank, and he's almost reaching the Transcendental Bliss Rank. I'm only at the Holy Celestial Rank. I'm not even a match for James. How can I break through the Obsidian Body?"

Zella promptly responded, "In the New Endlos Plane, there's a divine weapon that can shatter it."

"What divine weapon is that?" Stephen asked.

Zella shook her head and said, "I don't know. I can only sense its location. It's in an ancient ruin within the New Endlos Plane. I sense that this place is dangerous, and only powerhouses above the Holy Celestial Rank can enter.

Currently, all the powerhouses from the New Endlos Plane are engaged in battle, leaving only you. You're the sole one who can retrieve this sword."

"Where is it? Hurry, take me there," Stephen urged.

"Alright." Zella nodded. Following her sensing ability, she led Stephen to retrieve the sword.

They left the area and entered the vast cosmic starry sky. After traversing a considerable distance, they arrived in an unknown universe. This universe was relatively advanced, with living beings at the Celestial Rank present.

Under Zella's guidance, Stephen appeared outside a ruin. This place had collapsed, with numerous spiritual mountains and land shattered.

Some mysterious formation existed in this ruin. As they walked toward it, they soon reached the area where the formation was present. Stephen could not help but furrow his brow upon sensing it.

"What's wrong?" asked Wynton.

"This formation was laid out by the Genesis Path. It's impossible," Stephen said in disbelief. "The Genesis Path of the new world has recently taken shape.

Currently, only James has mastered it, and he has only grasped approximately half of it."

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 5603-The place was evidently a ruin. It had existed for countless years, leaving Stephen puzzled as to why a formation from the New Endlos Plane's Genesis Path would appear here.

"Don't worry about that. Can you open the formation and retrieve the divine weapon?" asked Zella.

Stephen nodded and said, "I've comprehended half of the Genesis Path. I can open this formation, as it is created by an incomplete Genesis Path."

"Hurry," Wynton urged.

Stephen nodded gently. He walked to the front and conjured some inscriptions of the Genesis Path in his palm with a casual wave. The inscriptions transformed and entered the formation ahead.

The formation cracked open, and Stephen walked inside. However, Wynton and Zella did not follow him as they could not endure the terrifying spatial pressure in the area.

Stephen entered the formation and stepped into the ruin. The place had intense spatial pressure, but it posed no threat to him.

He swept his gaze around. In the formation was a spiritual mountain that was relatively intact. At the foot of the mountain was a tomb. It was ancient, with no words on the tombstone, and Stephen did not know whose tomb it was.

“Where’s the sword?” he furrowed his brow and muttered, “Wasn’t it said that there’s a divine sword here capable of breaking Xayvion’s Obsidian Body?”

Stephen scanned the surroundings with his Zen but did not find any sword. The only area his Zen could not reach was the tomb in front of him.

“Could it be in this tomb?” he wondered. After contemplating for a moment, he walked over. He conjured a powerful force with a wave of his hand that fell directly on the tomb.

Boom!

The tomb was instantly shattered, and dust billowed suddenly. Inside, Stephen saw a simple coffin with no inscriptions or any power fluctuations on it.

He casually waved his hand, and the coffin opened. Inside the coffin lay a set of white bones. These bones were mysterious. Despite being devoid of any life force, there were countless magical inscriptions on them, as if the bones themselves had transformed from these inscriptions.

There was also a sword before the bones. This sword was white and faint, with some inscriptions circulating within the blade.

“The Supremusse Sword?” Stephen furrowed his brow upon seeing the sword.

It was evidently the Supremusse Sword, but its aura was different. It was much stronger than the Supremusse Sword.

“What’s going on?” Stephen was a bit bewildered.

Nevertheless, he did not dwell on it too much. He took the sword from the coffin and swiftly left.

Soon, he appeared outside the ruins. He looked at Wynton and Zella, who were waiting in this place. Raising the white longsword, he asked, “Is this the sword?”

“Exactly.” Zella nodded and said, “This sword can break through Xayvion’s Obsidian Body. We need you to take this sword to the dark space outside the plane and break his Obsidian Body. Once it is broken, James will have a chance to defeat Xayvion. Otherwise, James will die, and the entire plane will be over.”

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 5604-Under Zella’s perception, breaking through Xayvion’s Obsidian Body was the only way for James to have a chance at defeating him. However, it was not a guaranteed victory.

Stephen looked at the white longsword in his hand and asked, “Does this sword seem familiar to you guys?” “Is it?” asked Wynton.

Zella wore a puzzled expression too.

Stephen spoke, ‘This sword is identical to the Supremusse Sword, and it contains thousands of Genesis Paths.

However, it’s much more terrifying than the Supremusse Sword. It has countless inscriptions that even I can’t comprehend.”

“Is the Supremusse Sword the divine weapon forged by James in his past life?”

Zella was dumbfounded.

“Never mind, forget about it. I’ll go ahead,” Stephen said without further inquiry and disappeared from Zella and Wynton’s sight.

Stephen’s speed was incredibly fast as he had mastered half of the Genesis Paths of the new world. He could instantly reach any place he wanted with just a thought.

He appeared at the border of the new world and immediately sensed a formidable power emanating from the distant dark void, which sent a shiver down his spine, despite being at the Holy Celestial Rank.

The battle between James and Xayvion surpassed the level of the Holy Celestial Rank, and even a Quasi Bliss Rank powerhouse would not dare to casually intervene. Their current strength represented the pinnacle of combat power in both the Dark World and the New Endlos Plane.

James continued to evade in the darkness by employing the Blithe Omniscience to escape. Terrifying forces struck each time he appeared, instantly annihilating the dark space he occupied.

Fortunately, his current strength was formidable enough. Otherwise, he would not even have a chance to escape.

Stephen appeared in the darkness and saw the collapsed dark spaces.

Terrifying residual battle waves emanated from those collapsed spaces, and even he dared not be careless or approach. He cautiously moved forward.

Soon, Stephen reached the battle zone. The moment he sensed James' aura, James disappeared, and the area where James' aura had been situated immediately collapsed.

He could not contribute much in such a battle and could not even keep up with the pace of James and Xayvion.

"What should I do?" Stephen found himself in a dilemma.

At that moment, he activated the Quasi Genesis Path with a thought. The majestic power of the new world flowed into his body, and his aura and strength ascended in that moment.

Despite being only at the Holy Celestial Rank, he now emitted an aura akin to a Quasi Bliss Rank. His speed improved significantly with the increased power, and he quickly chased after.

James continued to evade amidst the boundless darkness. He had been evading for some time, and his strength had depleted considerably. At this moment, he sensed a decrease in his power and realized that part of the new world's energy had been absorbed by Stephen.

'What is he up to?' James frowned.

Countless inscriptions materialized in the air as he was in a daze. The inscriptions converged to form a super encirclement formation. Although he immediately used the Blithe Omniscience to escape, it proved ineffective against the Sealing Formation.

'Try to escape, brat,' a cold, indifferent voice echoed from the distant darkness.

With that, Xayvion dressed in black robes appeared. He held a black longsword, and numerous powerful black auras surrounded him. At that moment, he looked like an unrivaled demon king.

Stephen appeared behind Xayvion just as he focused all his attention on James.

Although Xayvion seemed in the state of the Transcendental Bliss Rank, he had reduced awareness of his surroundings. His Zen was solely on James, harboring the singular intention to extinguish him.

Xayvion was unaware of Stephen's presence. Stephen appeared behind Xayvion and stabbed the white longsword directly into Xayvion's back.

Out of nowhere, Stephen appeared unexpectedly and attacked Xayvion with the white longsword in his hand.

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 5605-Xayvion's aura surged as he glared at James, who was sealed and unable to escape. His face wore a terrifyingly grim expression. Raising the black longsword in his hand, he coldly declared, 'Til send you on your way, brat.'

Before he finished speaking, the longsword in Stephen's hand had already pierced through his back, penetrating his body. In that instant, Stephen's longsword erupted with a mysterious power, transforming into countless magical inscriptions. These inscriptions swiftly flowed into Xayvion's body.

Numerous magical inscriptions appeared on Xayvion's body surface. These were the inscriptions of the Obsidian Body. It was because of these inscriptions covering his body that he could ignore attacks from any Supernatural Signature Skills or countless inscription powers.

As the white longsword transformed into countless inscriptions, the Obsidian Body inscriptions on Xayvion's body surface began to dissolve and disappear.

His Obsidian Body was shattered.

This scene left James, sealed in the dark void, dumbfounded.

'The Obsidian Body has been broken?' James was momentarily stunned.

Xayvion became furious as his Obsidian Body shattered.

“Damn it!” He wore a solemn expression, unleashing a sword attack with a casual slash. Stephen’s sword had already transformed into inscriptions, and he had no weapon to resist Xayvion’s attack. He quickly evaded and appeared in another area in an instant.

However, Xayvion’s Sword Energy surpassed time and spatial restrictions, hitting Stephen as soon as he appeared in another area. Struck by the Sword Energy, Stephen’s body disintegrated at a visible speed. Despite absorbing some power from the new world and attaining strength rivaling that of the Quasi Bliss Rank, he found himself with no resistance against Xayvion.

At that moment, James broke the Sealing Formation and appeared before Stephen, who was on the verge of destruction. He scolded, “Didn’t I tell you not to come out, no matter what happened? Why did you run out, brat?”

“Master, the Obsidian Body of the Yefteros’ prince has been broken.” Stephen’s thought was diffused.

Although James was scolding him, he summoned the Ulus from his body and instantly merged it into Stephen.

Simultaneously, he took out an oil lamp and handed it to Stephen. “I’ll rely on you to guard the new plane.”

He then used the Supernatural to forcibly teleport Stephen away. Xayvion approached just as Stephen left.

Swish!

A dreadful Sword Energy pervaded the surroundings. James wielded the Supremusse Sword to resist and unleashed another slash.

Boom! The collision of two Sword Energies sent both James and Xayvion flying.

James once again sustained injuries. However, Xayvion was also injured this time.

With the Obsidian Body shattered, James’ Sword Energy could now harm Xayvion. Although Xayvion’s physical body was robust, it was only at the Quasi Bliss Rank, similar to James’.

“Xayvion Yeftero, your Obsidian Body has been broken.”

A glimmer of hope finally rose as James saw Xayvion injured.

Xayvion was no longer invincible, and James now had the strength to fight against him.
