

The Almighty Dragon General

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 5841-Yuraeceon Eighth Rank. This sword wielded immense power, and his understanding of swordsmanship was exceptionally high. The terrifying Sword Energy continuously transformed, forcing the Yuraeceon Ninth Rank powerhouses to retreat continuously.

‘This is a matter of the Yaquis Sect, brat. Do you want to be enemies with the sect?’ a Yuraeceon Ninth Rank living being shouted coldly after being forced to retreat.

hand emitted a brilliant white light as he fiercely slashed.

An incomparable Sword Energy materialized and directly slashed toward the numerous living beings in front of him.

A slash had an extremely dreadful power. Dozens of people joined forces to cast a protective barrier but could only barely resist it. However, they were all injured and started coughing up blood.

“Retreat!”

These living beings from the Yaquis Sect knew how formidable Stephen was, understanding that the sword in his hand was not ordinary. They dared not linger and quickly withdrew.

The woman finally breathed a sigh of relief.

James and the others arrived. Quattro moved to help the woman but was kicked away by Xzavion.

Xzavion held the woman’s hand, a handsome smile on his face, and asked, “Miss, are you okay?”

“Hurry, leave this place!” The woman looked anxious as she said, “They’re living beings from the Yaquis Sect. We won’t be able to escape once the powerhouses from the sect arrive.”

“It seems like the Yaquis Sect is everywhere,” complained Quattro.

“Let’s withdraw,” said James.

They quickly withdrew to a spiritual mountain in a certain Micro Genesis World.

Many people had gathered there. The woman sat in a lotus position on the ground to heal. She stood up after suppressing her injuries.

By the side were three people and a pig.

‘What exactly is the Shahrzad Treasure?’ asked Quattro.

“What’s your name?” asked Xzavion.

“My name is Thora Lheano,” said the woman.

James also inquired, ‘What is the Shahrzad Treasure you mentioned earlier?’

“You guys don’t even know about the Shahrzad Treasure?” Thora looked at James and the others in disbelief.

James, Xzavion, Stephen, and Quattro all shook their heads.

Thora explained, “Countless years ago, there was a powerful empire in the Ancient Genesis World called the Shahrzad Empire. However, the empire was destroyed, leaving behind the Shahrzad Treasure.”

Quattro impatiently said, “Just tell us what the Shahrzad Treasure is.”

Thora nodded gently and continued, ‘The Shahrzad Empire was one of the top ten in the Ancient Genesis World when it still existed. Although it was destroyed, the empire hid itself in the spatial rift. Numerous monsters were raised in this spatial rift under the Shahrzad Empire. This means that the Shahrzad Treasure is countless Genesis Cores.’

At these words, excitement lit up in James and the others’ eyes.

“What are you waiting for? Let’s go kill the monsters and obtain the Genesis Cores,” Quattro said eagerly.

However, Thora said, “I’m a descendant of the Shahrzad Dynasty royal family. In my hands, I have half of a treasure scroll left by my ancestor, and another part of the treasure scroll is held by one of my ancestor’s good friends. We need to get the other treasure scroll to obtain the treasure left by my ancestor.”

At this point, Thora's expression became serious.

Seeing this, James immediately understood and asked, "Getting the other half won't be easy, right?"

"Yeah." Thora nodded solemnly and continued, "When the Shahrzad Dynasty was destroyed, countless powerhouses pursued and killed my ancestor's good friend to obtain the Shahrzad Treasure. However, he had already passed the half treasure scroll to the next generation before his death."

"Then find it," said Quattro.

Thora said, "I only know that the other half of the treasure scroll is in the hands of someone named Juanne Qyrgal. I know nothing apart from that. We need to find him to complete the treasure scroll."

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 5842-"Where is Juanne?" asked Xzavion.

Thora took a deep breath and said, "I had arranged to meet him at a place to merge the treasure scrolls and then embark on the treasure hunt. However, before reaching the designated meeting point, an accident occurred, and I was chased."

Hearing this, Quattro commented, "This is clearly him betraying you. If I'm not mistaken, the other half of the treasure scroll has fallen into the hands of the Yauquis Sect." Thora shook her head slightly and said, "I don't know. This matter is a secret.

Only Juanne and I know about it. I've been in hiding for many years, and my whereabouts have not been disclosed. I believe he would not betray me."

After thinking for a moment, James replied, "To know the truth, we'll have to go to the agreed meeting place and see what happened."

"Let's not rush." Quattro looked at Thora and asked, "Let's make it clear first. If we find the treasure, how much are you giving us? This is a risky business, and too little won't be worth it."

Stephen raised his thumb because this pig proved useful in crucial moments.

“According to the agreement with Juanne, I get seventy percent, and he gets thirty percent after finding the treasure.

Since you saved me, I’m willing to give twenty percent as gratitude,” Thora said after some consideration.

Quattro was dissatisfied. He said, “That’s too little. Are you trying to fool us? We want at least fifty percent. Take it or leave it. If not, we’ll kill you and take the treasure scroll.

Then, we’ll find Juanne, kill him, and keep the treasure for ourselves.”

“Huh?” Thora frowned a bit.

James, Xzavion, and Stephen remained silent. Evidently, they agreed with Quattro’s proposal.

Thora fell into contemplation.

After thinking it over, she said, “Alright, I agree. I’ll give you fifty percent.”

She agreed too quickly, leaving Quattro momentarily unsure how to respond.

“Sir, something’s fishy here. She agreed too quickly.

Something must not be right. We should be cautious not to fall into her scheme,”

Quattro secretly transmitted his voice to James.

James understood.

He looked at Thora and said, “Show us the treasure scroll you have.”

Thora immediately took out the treasure scroll without hesitation.

The treasure scroll was large, with a diameter of a hundred meters when spread on the ground. It contained numerous markings of Genesis Time and some routes. However, they could not determine the exact location of the Shahrzad Treasure from this sole half of the treasure scroll. They needed the other half of the treasure scroll to pinpoint its location.

“What realm is Juanne’s cultivation at?” asked Xzavion.

“He has already reached the Yuraeceon Xaelm Rank,” replied Thora.

At these words, James and the others exchanged glances.

“Alright, I’ll help you find him,” said James.

‘Thank you,’ Thora expressed her gratitude.

“Alright, let’s continue on our journey,” James said casually.

Subsequently, they left and entered the vast gray space once again.

After walking for a while, Thora stopped and said, ‘This isn’t the route to the meeting place with Juanne.’

Xzavion smiled and replied, “Don’t worry. Let’s first search for some spatial rifts and hunt monsters in this gray space. We’ll kill them and obtain the Genesis Core.”

They had discussed this before. To have the upper hand in the treasure hunt, they needed to be strong.

Juanne had already reached the Yuraeceon Xaelm Rank. If they found him and things turned sour, James and the others could not do anything about it. They needed to make Stephen advance to the Yuraeceon Xaelm Rank first to take control.

James and the others were not in a rush. Thora did not say much but trailed along behind them.

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 5843-They navigated through the gray space but did not encounter any spatial rifts despite traveling for a long time.

“Damn it! It’s been so long, and we haven’t even encountered a single one.”

Quattro was growing a bit impatient. He sat down right in the gray space and said, “Sir, this searching method ain’t cutting it. We need to figure out another way.”

James glanced at him and replied, “Do you have a solution?”

Quattro’s eyes rolled around, and he said, “Let’s go for a raid.”

“A raid?” Both James and Xzavion looked at Quattro simultaneously.

Quattro continued, “Let’s target the Yaquis Sect. It is a Superorthodox of the Ancient Genesis World. They must have bases and shops in other Genesis Worlds. We’ll plan a raid, grab what we need, and escape. No need to keep blindly searching in the gray space, right?”

“What a joke!” Thora immediately said, “Do you know how terrifying the Yaquis Sect is? In the Three Thousand Great Genesis Worlds and countless Micro Genesis Worlds, no one dares to make a move against them. Some powerhouses take charge even in Micro Genesis Worlds’ bases.”

Quattro replied, ‘We need a strategy. Can’t we lure the Yaquis Sect powerhouses away and then make a move?’

Xzavion was intrigued. He looked at James and asked, “Wanna give it a try?”

Stephen chimed in, “It’s worth a try.”

James looked at them and said, “Since you want to try, then let’s give it a shot.”

“Great!” Quattro immediately perked up.

Thora was speechless. These people were too audacious, daring to provoke the Yaquis Sect and even considering robbing them. The Yaquis Sect was among the top ten forces in the Ancient Genesis World. Ordinary living beings would avoid them, yet these individuals were directly plotting against them.

They unanimously agreed.

Later, they asked Thora for a map of the Three Thousand Great Genesis Worlds and countless Micro Genesis Worlds. Then, they gathered around the map.

Quattro said, “If we’re doing this, let’s go all out. Let’s make it a memorable experience.” He pointed at a Great Genesis World on the map and said, “This Celestial Genesis World is ranked in the top ten among the Three Thousand Great Genesis Worlds. The Yaquis Sect must have many treasures in their shop here.”

“No way!” Thora immediately rejected, “In the Celestial Genesis World, there’s at least one Yuraeceon Xaelm Rank’s Ninth Tribulation powerhouse guarding the Yaquis Sect’s base. With your strength, attempting a robbery there is like seeking death. A Yuraeceon Xaelm Rank’s Ninth Tribulation living being can kill you countless times with a single move.”

‘We’ll figure it out,’ Quattro casually said. ‘We need to take risks to get substantial rewards. How do we know if it’ll work without trying?’ Xzavion looked at James and asked, “What do you think?”

After some thought, James replied, “Let’s first scout the Celestial Genesis World. We’ll make a move if we’re confident. If not, we’ll abandon the idea.”

James did not have a good experience with the Yaquis Sect. He wanted to snatch something from them too.

“I’m impressed by your audacity,” Thora said with an eye roll.

“Let’s go!” Stephen stood up.

“Let’s go to the Celestial Genesis World,” Quattro said excitedly.

Subsequently, James and the others stood up one by one, swiftly leaving the gray space and heading toward the Celestial Genesis World.

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 5844-ames and the others swiftly traversed the gray space and headed toward the Celestial Genesis World. After a considerable journey, they finally arrived at their destination.

The Celestial Genesis World ranked among the top ten of the Three Thousand Great Genesis Worlds. The Lord of the Celestial Genesis World was a super powerhouse.

Based on James and the others’ knowledge, the Lord had reached the Yuraeceon Daelm Rank’s Eighth Tribulation and would reach the peak of cultivation after one more tribulation.

The Celestial Genesis World was a bustling universe with a city that served as the Yaquis Sect’s base. This city contained various shops, all operated by the Yaquis Sect, selling a wide range of items.

There were no restrictions to enter the city. Disguised and with altered appearances, James and the others appeared in the Yaquis City of the Celestial Genesis World.

The city was teeming with countless living beings.

“Damn!” Quattro cursed loudly upon entering the city. ‘There are too many powerhouses. The Yuraeceon Xaelm Rank living beings are everywhere. If we take action, any random passerby could subdue us. What should we do about this?’

Thora rolled her eyes and said, “I told you not to come. Now you see, right?”

“No need to worry. Let’s just look around first,” James calmly interjected.

They strolled through the city, eventually reaching a spiritual mountain. In front of the entrance stood a massive stone tablet with the words written, “Sale Point for Genesis Cores”.

Upon seeing this tablet, James and the others exchanged glances and then entered the spiritual mountain.

A living being came forward to greet them as they entered. She was a beauty with a high cultivation realm, reaching the Yuraeceon First Rank.

She smiled to welcome them, asking, “What quality of Genesis Core do you need to purchase? In this spiritual mountain, we have various grades of cores, ranging from the first-grade Yuraeceon Rank to the ninth-grade Yuraeceon Xaelm Rank. If you want a Genesis Core of the Yuraeceon Daelm Rank grade, you’ll need to go to the Ancient Genesis World.”

The beauty explained patiently.

“We’re just browsing,” replied James.

Led by the beauty, they wandered through the spiritual mountain. Many guards, all formidable and at least at the Yuraeceon Ninth Rank, were present.

Numerous shops in the spiritual mountain offered Genesis Cores of different qualities.

James and the others left after casually browsing through the shops.

A certain spiritual mountain in the Celestial Genesis World became their temporary residence.

“What do you think? Shall we do it?” Quattro looked at James and said, “We’ll be set if we rob this spiritual mountain. With so many Genesis Cores, our cultivation base will skyrocket.”

Xzavion shook his head and replied, “It’s too difficult. There are tens of thousands of guards, all at the Yuraeceon Eighth or Ninth Rank. Moreover, everything in Yaquis City belongs to the Yaquis Sect. Once the Genesis Core sale point is compromised, guards from other spiritual mountains will quickly arrive.”

Stephen nodded gently and said, “Each cabinet where Genesis Cores are displayed in every shop has a Formation Boundary. With our strength, breaking through the formation is impossible.”
